(ii) The following compounds are members of the class of organic phosphates:

EPN
Methyl homologue of parathion (Metacide).
Parathion.

(iii) Where residues from two or more chemicals in the same class are present on a fruit or vegetable the tolerance for all such residues shall be the same as that for the chemical having the lowest numerical tolerance, with the exception that if there are available chemical or biological methods that permit quantitative determination of each residue, the quantity of combined residues that are within the tolerance may be determined as follows:

(a) Determine the quantity of each residue present.

(b) Divide the quantity of each residue by the tolerance that would apply if it occurred alone, and multiply by 100 to determine the percentage of the permitted amount of residue present.

(c) Add the percentages so obtained for all residues present.

(d) The sum of the percentages shall not exceed 100 percent.

(d) Residues of the following poisonous or deleterious substances should not remain on fruits or vegetables as prepared for market:

Calcium cyanide.
Dinitro-O-sec. butylphenol.
Dinitro-O-cresol.
Hexaethyl tetraphosphate.

(e) Each subparagraph of this paragraph lists, under the names of the fresh fruits and vegetables specified, the substances found to be required in their production and the tolerances for the residues of these substances remaining in or on such fresh fruits or vegetables. The abbreviation "p. p. m." means parts per million.

[1] Compliance with these standards does not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. The product covered by these standards is essentially sweetened concentrated grape juice usually with acid added but is generally marketed under the name "Frozen Concentrated Grape Juice."

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION, TYPES, STYLES, AND GRADES

§ 52.2451 Product description. Frozen grape juice concentrate for grape beverage, hereinafter called grape juice concentrate is the frozen product of concentrated, unfermented juice obtained from sound properly matured, fresh grapes. The product is prepared from unfermented single strength grape juice, which, with or without aging, depectinization, is then concentrated. Single strength grape juice, or a combination of single strength grape juice and natural grape essence is then mixed to the concentrate and packed with the addition of nutritive sweetening ingredient and with or without ascorbic acid. Fruit acid may be added to adjust the flavor. The product is then frozen in accordance with good commercial practice and maintained at temperatures necessary for the preservation of the product.

§ 52.2452 Types of frozen grape juice concentrate—(a) Type I. Concord type (prepared from grapes of the slip-skin varieties of the Concord type of the Labrusca species).

(b) Type II. Any type other than Concord type (prepared from a single variety of grapes other than Concord type).

(c) Type III. Blended type (prepared from two or more varieties of grapes).

§ 52.2453 Style of frozen grape juice concentrate. Frozen grape juice concentrate shall have a Brix value of the finished concentrate (exclusive of added sweetening ingredient) and a Brix value of the finished concentrate (including added sweetening ingredient) of not less than the following:

Dilution factor	Brix value of the finished concentrate exclusive of added nutritive sweetening ingredient and fruit acid (minimum Brix value)	Brix value of the finished concentrate including added nutritive sweetening ingredient and fruit acid
		Minimum Brix value	Maximum Brix value
1 plus 3	30.0 degrees	42.5 degrees

Frozen grape juice concentrate of any dilution factor of more than "1 plus 3" shall have had a Brix value exclusive of any added sweetening ingredient (upon reconstitution as prescribed by the processor or as prescribed by the label on the container, if labeled) of not less than 8.5 degrees; and the finished frozen grape juice concentrate shall result in a Brix value including any added sweetening ingredient (upon reconstitution as prescribed by the processor or as prescribed by the label on the container, if labeled) of not less than 12.0 degrees.

§ 52.2454 Grades of frozen grape juice concentrate. (a) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of frozen grape juice concentrate which reconstitutes properly; possesses a good color; is practically free from defects; possesses a good flavor; and scores not less than 85 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(b) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Choice" is the quality of frozen grape juice concentrate which reconstitutes properly and of which the reconstituted product possesses a reasonably good color; is reasonably free from defects; possesses a reasonably good flavor; and scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(c) "Substandard" is the quality of frozen grape juice concentrate that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice.

FILL OF CONTAINER

§ 52.2455 Recommended fill of container. The recommended fill of container is not incorporated in the grades of the finished product since fill of container, as such, is not a factor of quality for the purpose of these grades. It is recommended that the container be filled with frozen grape juice concentrate as full as practicable without impairment of quality.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.2456 Ascertaining the grade. (a) The grade of frozen grape juice concentrate is ascertained by considering the factors of quality which are not scored and those which are scored as follows:

(1) Factors which are not scored. Ease of mixing into grape beverage.

(2) Factors which are scored. The relative importance of each factor which is scored is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

Factors:	Points
Color	40
Defects	20
Flavor	40
Total score	100

(b) The scores for the factors of color, defects, and flavor are determined immediately after the beverage has been prepared by thoroughly mixing the frozen grape juice concentrate with a specific volume of water as directed by the manufacturer.

§ 52.2457 Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is scored is inclusive (for example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points).

§ 52.2458 Color—(a) (A) classification. Frozen grape juice concentrate of which the prepared beverage possesses a good color may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Good color" has the following meanings with respect to the types of frozen grape juice concentrate:

(1) Type I. A bright purple or bright reddish-purple characteristic color that reflects the appearance of a beverage properly prepared from juice of Concord type grapes.

(2) Types II and III. A bright characteristic color that reflects the appearance of a beverage properly prepared from juice of any varietal type or varietal types of grapes other than Concord type grapes.

(b) (B) classification. If the prepared beverage possesses a reasonably good color, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Frozen grape juice concentrate that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good color" has the following meanings with respect to the types of frozen grape juice concentrate:

(1) Type I. A purple or reddish-purple characteristic color that reflects to a reasonable extent the appearance of a beverage prepared from juice of Concord type grapes and which color may be slightly dull purple, slightly dull bluish-purple, or slightly dull reddish-purple but which is not off color for any reason.

(2) Types II and III. A characteristic color that reflects to a reasonable extent the appearance of a beverage prepared from juice of any varietal type or varietal types of grapes other than Concord type grapes and which color may be slightly dull but not off color for any reason.

(c) (SStd.) classification. Frozen grape juice concentrate that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2459 Defects—(a) General. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from sediment and other residue, from tartrate crystals, from particles of skin, particles of seed, and from other defects.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen grape juice concentrate of which the prepared beverage is practically free from defects may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Practically free from defects" means that there may be present not more than a slight amount of sediment and residue of an amorphous nature; may possess not more than a trace of sediment and residue of a nonamorphous nature; is practically free from tartrate crystals; and is free from particles of skin, particles of seed, and from other defects.

(c) (B) classification. If the prepared beverage is fairly free from defects, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Frozen grape juice concentrate that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that there may be present not more than a slight amount of sediment and residue of an amorphous or non-amorphous nature; may possess a slight amount of tartrate crystals; may possess not more than a trace of particles of skin, particles of seed, and other defects.

(d) (SStd.) classification. If the prepared beverage fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section, a score of 0 to 13 points may be given. Frozen grape juice concentrate that falls into this classification shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2460 Flavor—(a) (A) classification. Frozen grape juice concentrate of which the prepared beverage possesses a good flavor may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Good flavor" means that the flavor is a fine distinct and normal flavor, typical of well-matured grapes for the variety or varieties and is free from any objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind. To score in this classification the prepared beverage shall meet the following additional requirements:

Brix—not less than 13.0 degrees.
Acid—not less than 0.40 gram per 100 milliliters nor more than 0.60 gram per 100 milliliters, calculated as tartaric acid.
Brix acid ratio—the ratio of Brix value to acid is not less than 26 to 1 nor more than 36 to 1.

(b) (B) classification. If the prepared beverage possesses a fairly good flavor, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Frozen grape juice concentrate that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good flavor" means a reasonably typical flavor of reasonably well matured grapes for the varietal type of varietal types and is free from objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind. To score not less than 28 points the prepared beverage shall meet the following additional requirements:

Brix—not less than 12.0 degrees.
Acid—not less than 0.30 gram per 100 milliliters nor more than 0.60 gram per 100 milliliters, calculated as tartaric acid.
Brix acid ratio—the ratio of Brix value to acid is not less than 22 to 1 nor more than 40 to 1.

EXPLANATIONS

§ 52.2461 Definition of terms used in these standards. (a) "Brix" means the degrees Brix of the reconstituted grape juice when tested with a Brix hydrometer calibrated at 20 degrees C. (68 degrees F.). If used in testing grape juice at a temperature other than 20 degrees C. (68 degrees F.), the applicable temperature correction shall be made to the reading of the scale as prescribed in "Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists." The degrees Brix of grape juice may be determined by any other method which gives equivalent results.

(b) "Acid" means the grams of acid (calculated as tartartic acid) per 100 milliliters of the reconstituted grape juice determined by titration with standard sodium hydroxide solution using phenolphtalein as an indicator.

(c) "Brix-acid ratio" means the ratio between the degrees Brix as determined in this section and the acid in grams per 100 milliliters of reconstituted grape juice.

(d) "Dilution factor" is the value obtained by dividing a volume of grape juice by the volume of concentrate grape juice used in its preparation when such grape juice is prepared in accordance with the manufacturer's directions.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.2462 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of frozen concentrated grape juice the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if all containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification, and with respect to those factors which are scored:

(a) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(b) None of the containers falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(c) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(d) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

These rate filings have been designated as Rate Schedule 1 and Supplement No. 1 (Letter dated March 1, 1954) and Supplement No. 2 (Notice of change).

Christie proposes in Supplement No. 2 to increase its rate from 6 cents to 10 cents pursuant to schedule of periodic increases provided in the basic rate contract. Christie has not filed any substantive support for the proposed rate increase, but merely states such increase is to be made in accordance with the terms of its contract. The total annual increase is estimated at $48,000. The proposed effective date of the increase is July 23, 1954. The proposed increase has not been shown to be justified and may be unjust, unreasonable, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of such act, concerning the lawfulness of Supplement No. 2 of Christie's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and that said proposed change be suspended as hereinafter provided and the use thereof be deferred pending hearing and decision herein.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by further order of the Commission concerning the lawfulness of rates, charges, and classifications contained in the aforesaid Rate Schedule as proposed to be amended.

Louisiana proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $18,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds __ Percent Series, due 1984. The declaration states that the net proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to redeem and retire Louisiana's First Mortgage Bonds, 4 percent Series, due 1983, presently outstanding in the aggregate principal amount of $12,000,000; to pay for the cost of constructing new facilities; and to provide Louisiana with funds for other corporate purposes. The filing states that the proposed issuance and sale of securities are subject to no state or Federal regulatory body or agency other than this Commission.

The record is not completed in respect of all fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions.

Louisiana has requested that the Commission's order herein become effective upon issuance.

FEDERAL REGISTER

Washington, Thursday, October 21, 1954

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 994—PECANS GROWN IN GEORGIA, ALABAMA, FLORIDA, MISSISSIPPI, AND SOUTH CAROLINA

ORDER SUSPENDING CERTAIN PROVISIONS

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), Marketing Agreement No. 111 and Order No. 94 (7 CFR, 1953 Rev., Part 994) regulating the handling of pecans grown in Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, and South Carolina, it is hereby found and determined that the provisions of § 994.6 (b) (2) and (3) of said agreement and order and, § 994.501 (7 CFR, 1953 Rev., 994.501) of the supplementary regulations, no longer tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act and that said provisions should be suspended.

The aforesaid provisions require all pecan handlers to furnish to the Secretary on specific days information with respect to prices which they have paid and received for pecans during the then current week. Experience under order operations indicate that it is impracticable to obtain full compliance of all handlers with these provisions. Some large handlers purchase few, if any, pecans directly from growers, and for that reason have not been able to furnish the required information on prices paid to growers. Throughout the five-State area, numerous itinerant truckers and small dealers carry on handling operations, and it has been found extremely difficult and impracticable to obtain the weekly reports regularly from many of the handlers.

The order is principally concerned with the requirement that all pecan shipments from the five-States for inshell distribution meet minimum standards of quality and size rather than with supplying price information to growers and others. The discontinuance in effect of these price reporting requirements will not seriously interfere with future administration on the basis of these minimum standards. It is, therefore, concluded that the mandatory price reporting provisions should be suspended.

It is hereby ordered, That § 994.6 (b) (2) and (3) of Marketing Agreement No. 111 and Order No. 94 regulating the handling of pecans grown in Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, and South Carolina (7 CFR 1953 Rev., Part 994) and § 994.501 (See 7 CFR 1953 Rev., 994.501 of the supplementary regulations) be, and they hereby are, suspended.

Notice of proposed rule making, public participation therein and delay in making this order effective later than the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (see section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that the effect of this action is to remove requirements imposed upon handlers and it is desirable that the removal of such requirements be made effective as soon as practicable. No prior preparation in this regard on the part of handlers will be necessary.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

meanor. An alien shall not be ineligible to receive a visa under the provisions of section 212 (a) (9) of the act (i) solely by reason of the conviction of a single offense which, if committed in the United States, would be a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment not to exceed one year, and for which the penalty actually imposed was imprisonment not to exceed six months or a fine not to exceed $500, or both; or (ii) solely by reason of the admission of the commission of a single offense or the commission of acts constituting the essential elements of a single offense which, if committed in the United States, would be a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment not to exceed one year.

(2) Political offenses. The term "purely political offense", as used in sections 212 (a) (9) and (10) of the act, shall include offenses which, the evidence presented to the consular officer clearly establishes, were involved in convictions obviously based on trumped-up charges or predicated upon repressive measures against racial, religious, or political minorities. The admission by an immigrant that he has committed acts which would not constitute a crime under the laws of the United States, but which would have been punishable under the laws or decrees of a foreign country which, the evidence presented to the consular officer clearly establishes, were predicated upon the repression of racial, religious, or political minorities shall be considered as the admission of the commission of a purely political offense within the meaning of section 212 (a) (9) of the act. The mere fact that an alien is or was a member of a racial, religious, or political minority shall not be considered as sufficient in itself to warrant a conclusion that the crime of which he was convicted was a purely political offense.

The regulations contained in this order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. C. 1003) relative to notice of proposed rule making and delayed effective date are inapplicable to this order because the regulations contained therein involve foreign affairs functions of the United States.

Dated: October 14, 1954.

Administrator of the Bureau of Inspection, Security, and Consular Affairs.

(b) For the purposes of this part all references in Part 232 of this chapter to section 207 of the National Housing Act shall be deemed to refer to section 220 of the National Housing Act.

§ 263.2 Location of property. The mortgaged property must be located in:

(a) The area of an existing slum clearance and urban redevelopment project covered by a Federal-aid contract executed or a prior approval granted (pursuant to Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended), before the effective date of the Housing Act of 1954, or

(b) An urban renewal area in a community which has a workable program to eliminate and prevent the spread of slums and urban blight, and respecting which the Housing and Home Finance Administrator has made the findings prescribed in Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended.

§ 263.3 Certificate by Administrator to Commissioner. Except as to property located in an area as described in § 263.2 (a), no mortgage may be insured until a redevelopment or urban renewal plan has been approved for the area by the governing body of the locality involved and by the Housing and Home Finance Administrator and the Administrator has certified to the Commissioner that:

(a) The redevelopment plan or the urban renewal plan conforms to a general plan for the locality as a whole, and

(b) There exist the necessary authority and financial capacity to assure the completion of such redevelopment or urban renewal plan.

§ 263.4 Standards and conditions of acceptability. The mortgaged property must meet such standards and conditions as the Commissioner shall prescribe to establish the acceptability of such property for mortgage insurance. These will include standards and conditions designed to restore the quality of the area to a condition which would justify mortgage insurance.

§ 263.5 Development of property. At the time the mortgage is insured the mortgagor shall be obligated to construct and complete new housing accommodations on the mortgaged property or to rehabilitate existing housing accommodations thereon designed principally for residential use, conforming to standards satisfactory to the Commissioner, and consisting of not less than five rental dwelling units on one site and may be detached, semi-detached, or row houses, or multi-family structures; except that the Commissioner may insure a mortgage on a completed project constructed pursuant to a commitment to insure upon completion. Such dwelling units, including improvements, if any, must not violate any material zoning or deed restrictions applicable to the project site, and must comply with all applicable building and other governmental regulations; and any project may include such commercial and community facilities as the Commissioner deems adequate to serve the occupants.

§ 263.6 Maximum mortgage amount; dollar limitation. (a) The dollar amount of the mortgage on a structure without elevators shall not exceed, for such part of such property or project as may be attributable to dwelling use, $2,250 per room (or $8,100 per family unit if the number of rooms in such property or project does not equal or exceed four per family unit).

(b) Where the project consists of elevator type structures, the Commissioner may, in his discretion, increase the dollar amount limitation of $2,250 per room to not more than $2,700 per room and may also, in his discretion, increase the dollar amount limitation of $8,100 per family unit to not to exceed $8,400 per family unit, as the case may be, to compensate for the higher costs incident to the construction of elevator type structures of sound standards of construction and design. The Commissioner may increase the foregoing limits by not more than $1,000 per room, in any geographical area where he finds that cost levels so require.

(c) A mortgage executed by a private mortgagor may involve a principal obligation not to exceed $5,000,000 and a mortgage executed by a public mortgagor may involve a principal obligation not to exceed $50,000,000.

(d) The dollar limitation set forth in this section is in addition to the loan-to-value limitation as set forth in § 263.7.

§ 263.7 Maximum mortgage amount; loan-to-value limitation. In addition to meeting the dollar limitation set forth in § 263.6 the mortgage shall be in an amount not to exceed 90 percent of the estimated value of the property or project when the proposed improvements are completed. The value of the property or project may include the land, the proposed physical improvements, utilities within the boundaries of the property or project, architect's fees, taxes, and interest during construction, and other miscellaneous charges incident to construction and approved by the Commissioner.

§ 263.8 Maximum mortgage amount; leaseholds. The maximum mortgage amount is subject to reduction by an amount equal to the capitalized value of the ground rent in the event the mortgage is on a leasehold estate rather than on a fee simple holding.

§ 263.9 Alaska, Guam and Hawaii requirements. The Commissioner may, if he finds that because of higher costs prevailing in the Territory of Alaska, in Guam or in Hawaii, it is not feasible to construct dwellings on property located in Alaska, in Guam or in Hawaii, without sacrifice of sound standards of construction, design and livability, within the limitations as to maximum mortgage amounts provided in §§ 263.6 to 263.7, prescribe by regulation or otherwise, with respect to dollar amount, a higher maximum for the principal obligation of mortgages otherwise meeting the requirements covering property located in Alaska, in Guam or in Hawaii, in such amounts as he shall find necessary to compensate for such higher costs but not to exceed, in any event, the maximum otherwise applicable by more than one-half thereof.

§ 263.10 Effective date. The provisions of this part are effective as to all mortgages on which the commitment to insure is issued to an approved mortgagee on or after October 15, 1954.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 930]

HANDLING OF MILK IN TOLEDO, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Toledo, Ohio, on March 29 through April 1, 1954, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on February 24, 1954 (19 F. R. 1120) and March 3, 1954 (19 F. R. 1289).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service on August 13, 1954, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in this proceeding. The notice of filing such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 18, 1954 (19 F. R. 5229).

The material issues and the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision (19 F. R. 5229, F. R. Doc. 54–6403) are hereby approved and adopted as the material issues and the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein subject to the following revision:

1. Insert after the paragraph ending at the top of column 1, page 5230, the following:

One of the parties filing exceptions requested that official notice be taken of new milk sanitation regulations adopted subsequent to the hearing by Lucas County. Such notice could be taken, but would not constitute an adequate basis for enlarging the marketing area to include the entire county. The only serious competitive situation which was claimed to have existed in Lucas County was in that portion of the county which is already in the marketing area, and the ability of any handler to rely principally on other source milk has been dealt with by changing the definition of a fluid milk plant.

2. In the first paragraph beginning in column 2, page 5230, change "10 days" to "15 days" and "five or more days" to "seven or more days".

3. After the first paragraph beginning in column 2, page 5232, insert the following:

Several handlers who are regulated under the Detroit order filed exceptions to that feature of the recommended decision which would delete from the Toledo order the requirement that payments as made on milk sold in other Federal marketing areas, under specified conditions. Under the Detroit order the stated Class I differential, exclusive of the supply-demand adjustment, is the same in all months of the year, and the incentive for even production is provided by a base rating plan. Under the Toledo order, by contrast, the stated Class I differential varies seasonally. Commonly, therefore, the Toledo Class I price has been below the Detroit price in the flush months and above it in the short months. Toledo handlers selling in the Detroit marketing area have had to meet the Detroit price during the flush months, through payments to their own producers. However, neither the Toledo nor Detroit order has required the Detroit handlers to equalize Class I prices in the short months when they have had a Class I price advantage. During the 12-month period preceding the hearing, the Class I prices under the Toledo order averaged 11.7 cents below the Class I price payable to plants located in the Detroit marketing area. The Class I price at Adrian, Michigan, one of the competitive points, is 16 cents below the Detroit marketing area price and, therefore, 4.3 cents below the Toledo price. During the 12-month period ending July 31, 1954, the Toledo Class I price was 12.1 cents below the Detroit marketing area Class I price. It is concluded that the exceptions filed by the Detroit handlers should be denied.

Rulings. Within the period reserved for filing exceptions to the recommended decision, exceptions were submitted on behalf of interested parties. These exceptions have been fully considered and to the extent to which the findings and conclusions of this decision are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled.

Determination of representative period. The month of July, 1954 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of amendments to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order, as hereby amended.

Marketing agreement and order. Amended hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Toledo, Ohio, Marketing Area," and "Other Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Toledo, Ohio, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of October 1954.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Toledo, Ohio, Marketing Area

§ 930.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Toledo, Ohio, on March 29 through April 1, 1954, upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as set forth below:

1. Amend § 930.6 to read as follows:

§ 930.6 Fluid milk plant. "Fluid milk plant" means a milk plant (a) where milk is processed and packaged and from which milk is disposed of as Class I milk in the marketing area, either on the premises or to wholesale or retail stop(s) or (b) from which transfers of milk, skim milk, or cream to a plant(s) described in paragraph (a) of this section are made on 15 or more days in any of the months of September through December or on 7 or more days in any of the months of January through August; and all or a portion of the milk, skim milk, or cream so transferred is assigned to Class I utilization in the transferee plant.

2. Delete paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 930.42, and substitute therefor the following:

(c) Skim milk and butterfat disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream by a handler to a nonhandler's plant located 250 miles or more from the City Hall at Toledo, by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, shall be Class I milk.

(d) For the purposes of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, skim milk and butterfat shall not be deemed to have been "disposed of" to a nonhandler's plant if merely retained in or transferred between trucks or other vehicles which enter the premises or come within the orbit of such plant in the course of movement elsewhere.

3. Delete the last phrase of § 930.75 (a) and substitute therefor the phrase "and a certification that the association has an unterminated membership contract with each producer, which contract authorizes the claimed deduction."

4. Delete § 930.80 (c).

[F. R. Doc. 54–8280; Filed, Oct. 20, 1954; 8:54 a. m.]

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

[Docket No. 9288; FCC 54–1293]

RESTRICTED RADIATION DEVICES

FURTHER EXTENSION OF TIME FOR FILING COMMENTS

The Commission having under consideration the promulgation of rules and regulations governing restricted radiation devices:

It appearing, that a notice of further proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter was adopted by the Commission on April 14, 1954, providing that written comments in connection therewith be filed by interested persons on or before June 16, 1954; and

It further appearing, that as a result of several requests from interested parties the time for filing comments was extended to August 16, 1954, and again to October 15, 1954; and

It further appearing, that the Commission has recently received an additional petition for more time in which to file comments from the Radio-Electronics-Television Manufacturers Association. The reason given for this request is that additional time is needed for the completion of technical studies now under way by the Engineering Department of this organization. The Radio-Electronics-Television Manufacturers Association has stated that these studies are being actively pursued and will form the basis for comment on the technical aspects of the Commission's proposed rule making; and

It further appearing, that in view of the foregoing facts, the public interest would be served by extending the time for filing comments to the above-entitled proceeding for a period of 80 days but that in order to enable the Commission to complete its consideration of the proceeding at the earliest possible date, parties not filing their final comments prior thereto should advise the Commission as to their interim views on the matters set forth in this proceeding on or before November 15, 1954.

It is ordered, This 15th day of October 1954, that the date for filing of formal comments in this proceeding is hereby extended until January 3, 1955.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] WM. P. MASSING,
Acting Secretary.

UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS FOR RADIOTELEGRAPH, WIRE-TELEGRAPH AND OCEAN-CABLE CARRIERS

CONTINUOUS PROPERTY RECORD REQUIRED

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. It is proposed to amend the uniform systems of accounts for radiotelegraph carriers and for wire-telegraph and ocean-cable carriers (Parts 34 and 35, respectively) with respect to requirements pertaining to continuous property records, to become effective six months after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of the final order herein; Provided, however, That the carriers may, if they so desire, place this amendment into effect immediately upon the issuance of the final order herein.

3. The proposed amendment set forth below provides relief to the carriers by elimination of the following reporting requirements: "* * * and shall include material lists for assemblies, together with the quantity-unit designation applicable to each property unit and to the integral or associated parts thereof." The Commission is of the opinion that these data need no longer be filed and that should data be needed with respect to any individual carrier's plant or segment thereof, they could be obtained from the records of the carrier.

4. The proposed amendment is issued under authority of sections 4 (i) and 220 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

5. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the manner proposed herein, may file with the Commission on or before November 10, 1954, a statement or brief setting forth his comments. At the same time, persons favoring the amendment as proposed may file statements in support thereof. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments or briefs may be filed within ten days of the last day for filing said original comments. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission, or (2) good cause for filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments that are presented before taking action in the matter and, if any comments are submitted which appear to warrant the holding of oral argument, notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given.

6. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and fourteen copies of all statements or briefs filed shall be furnished to the Commission.

Adopted: October 13, 1954.

Released: October 14, 1954.

[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

1. Delete from the second sentence of paragraph (b) of § 34.1–8 Continuous property-record required the following words: " • • • and include material lists for assemblies, together with the quantity-unit designation applicable to each property unit and to the integral or associated parts thereof."

Paragraph (b) as revised will read as follows:

(b) Not later than June 30, 1940, each carrier shall submit to this Commission, for consideration and approval, a complete plan of the methods to be used in the compilation of the continuous property-record, the installation and maintenance of which are prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section. The plan shall include a list of the property units proposed for use, classified to conform with the operated plant accounts prescribed in this system of accounts. A narrative statement shall accompany such list of proposed units, describing in detail the content and method of maintenance of all forms and other records which are designed for use in compiling the continuous property-record, to the end that a ready analysis with respect to the sufficiency thereof may be made.

Notice is hereby given in accordance with section 8 of the Plant Quarantine Act of August 20, 1912, as amended (37 Stat. 318, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 161), that the Administrator of the Agricultural Research Service has information that the khapra beetle (Trogoderma granarium Eberts), a dangerous insect not heretofore widely prevalent or distributed within or throughout the United States, has recently been discovered in certain parts of Arizona, Californa, and New Mexico.

It is therefore proposed under the authority of said section 8 of the Plant Quarantine Act to quarantine the States of Arizona, California, and New Mexico, and to restrict or prohibit the movement from said States, or from any localities therein designated as infested, of (1) all grains and grain products (such as barley, corn, oats, rye, and wheat) whether moved as such or in connection with other articles or things; (2) dried seeds and seed products of field and vegetable crops (such as alfalfa seed, cottonseed, cottonseed meal and cake, flax seed, sorghum seed, soybean meal, pinto beans, and black-eyed peas); (3) bags and bagging; (4) dried milk, dried blood, fish meal, and meat scraps; and (5) any other article or thing which by reason of exposure constitutes a hazard of spreading the khapra beetle in any stage of development.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER AMENDING ISSUES

In re applications of Times-World Corporation, Roanoke, Virginia, Docket No. 10655, File No. BPCT-1056; Radio Roanoke, Incorporated, Roanoke, Virginia, Docket No. 10656, File No. BPCT-1743; for construction permits for new television broadcast stations.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a variety of pleadings arising from the consequences of the death, on March 24, 1954, of J. P. Fishburn (Decedent), a principal stockholder of Times-World Corporation, presently competing with Radio Roanoke, Incorporated, for Channel 7 in Roanoke, Virginia. According to the Times-World application of June 30, 1952, the voting rights in 100 percent of the stock and the legal title to 98 percent of the stock were owned by various members of the J. B. Fishburn family of Roanoke, J. B. Fishburn being the father of Decedent. Decedent was legal and beneficial owner of 49 percent of the stock which he also voted. In addition, he voted 2 percent of the stock the legal title to which was in the First National Exchange Bank of Roanoke (Bank) as Trustee under the will of Decedent's mother. Finally, he and George S. Shackelford, Jr., a brother-in-law, held the legal title and voting rights to 4 percent of the stock as co-trustees under inter vivos trusts created by Decedent's father. The taking of testimony in the above-entitled proceeding began on March 16, 1954, and, as previously noted, Decedent passed away on March 24, 1954. As a result of the death, Times-World, on April 22, 1954, filed an application requesting involuntary transfer of control (BTC-1718) which application was granted by the Commission on May 12, 1954.[1] On May 17, 1954, Times-World petitioned the Examiner for leave to amend its application to reflect, principally, the changes occasioned by Decedent's death. This petition was unopposed and, on May 25, 1954, the Examiner accepted the amendment.

2. Under Decedent's will, legal title to the 49 percent interest mentioned above passes to the Bank as Executor-Trustee for the benefit of Decedent's wife and children. Voting rights to the 49 percent, however, are vested in Decedent's father, J. B. Fishburn, and, "upon his death, refusal, declination or incapacity to exercise such voting rights", in the Bank. J. B. Fishburn has full and complete rights to an additional 40 percent and now, therefore, votes 89 percent of the stock. With respect to the 2 percent of the stock held by the Bank but voted by Decedent, George S. Shackelford, Jr. now has the voting rights. With respect to the 4 percent which was held and voted by Decedent and Shackelford as co-trustees, 0.8 percent passed to a beneficiary on her twenty-fifth birthday (January 19, 1954) and the remaining has passed to the Bank to be held in trust and to be voted by the Bank. The Bank thus holds legal title to 54.2 percent of the stock, 3.2 percent of which it votes itself, and appears to have unrestricted authority, under the terms of the trusts in question, to sell all of the stock in the trust estates. The Bank has a total of 25 Directors, three of whom are Henry E. Thomas, Robert Lynn and B. J. Fishburn.[2] According to Commission records, Thomas is Vice President and Lynn and B. J. Fishburn are two of nine Directors of Shenandoah Life Insurance Company. Shenandoah Life Insurance Company is, at present, a stock company; Mr. Lynn, however, is one of a group of five Directors which holds approximately 93.4 percent of the stock as Trustee under a plan of mutualization. Mr. Thomas is Vice President, Assistant Secretary and Director of Shenandoah Life Stations, Inc., licensee of WSLS, WSLS-FM and WSLS-TV, Roanoke, and all of whose stock is owned by the insurance company.

3. On June 1, 1954, Radio Roanoke filed a "Motion to Dismiss Application and for Immediate Grant of Application of Radio Roanoke, Incorporated." The principal contention advanced in the foregoing pleading is that, by reason of the above amendment of May 25, 1954, the Times-World application became, in substance and in fact, a new one. Thus, argues Radio Roanoke, the application must be dismissed under the provisions of § 1.387 (b) (3) of the Commission's rules, which provides that applications, to be eligible for comparative hearing, must be filed at least 30 days prior to the date on which the hearing is scheduled to commence. In partial support of its contention that the amendment makes the Times-World application a new one, Radio Roanoke relies upon the changes in the legal ownership and voting rights of the Times-World stock set forth in the preceding paragraph; upon the fact that the Bank, as Trustee, apparently has the power to convey a majority of the Times-World stock; and upon an allegation that the transfer application of April 22, 1954, lists the Bank as transferee of control. In further support, Radio Roanoke points to what it terms material and substantial changes in the officers and board of directors of Times-World. In this connection the amendment of May 25, 1954, shows that M. W. Armistead, who owns

[1] Times-World is licensee of WDBJ and WDBJ-FM, Roanoke, Virginia.

[2] B. J. Fishburn is a resident of Roanoke; his relationship, if any, to the other Fishburns is not disclosed.

and votes no stock, has been advanced from Vice President and Associate Publisher to President and Publisher, succeeding Decedent; that J. B. Fishburn, formerly a Vice President, is now Chairman, of the Board; that Decedent's wife, who formerly held no office, is now Vice President; that W. B. Smith is no longer a Vice President and that John W. Eure and Cranston Williams, Jr. have been elected Assistants to the President and to the General Manager, respectively [3]; and that the number of directors has been increased from 5 to 6, with Decedent's wife and Armistead being added and Decedent being dropped.[3a] Radio Roanoke asserts that the amount and type of Decedent's testimony is further indication that the applicant is not the same without him. Thus, it is stated, although Times-World has completed a substantial part of its affirmative case, having presented 10 witnesses, Decedent has been the only stockholder called. Decedent's importance is further illustrated, it is said, by the fact that he testified with respect to such matters as the editorial policies of the Times-World newspapers, the advertising policies of the newspapers and radio stations, and the policies of the proposed television station.

4. The second contention made by Radio Roanoke is that a grant of the Times-World application is prohibited by the Commission's multiple ownership rules. In support of this contention Radio Roanoke calls attention to the fact that three of the Bank's Directors have interests in WSLS, WSLS–FM, and WSLS–TV in Roanoke. At the same time, says Radio Roanoke, the Bank is the legal owner of a majority of the stock of a television applicant having an AM and an FM station in Roanoke (WDBJ and WDBJ–FM). In connection with its contentions that the Times-World application is in violation of §§ 1.387 (b) (3) and 3.636 (a), Radio Roanoke asserts that Times-World has not requested a waiver of those rules under § 1.361 (c), and that the application must, under the latter rule, be dismissed.

5. In connection with its position that Times-World is now a different applicant, Radio Roanoke contends that its original Points of Reliance were cast with an eye to the dominance of Deceased in the Times-World organization. Now, says Radio Roanoke, the applicability of its Points of Reliance to the facts in the case have been materially altered. Radio Roanoke also contends that the Commission's finding of the legal qualification of Times-World has now been vitiated and that before a redetermination can be made, it must obtain full and complete information concerning officers, directors and stockholders of the Bank. Radio Roanoke maintains that it has a right to recast the whole framework of its case, including its Points of Reliance; that the previous proceedings have been rendered a nullity; and that the hearing, if one indeed be necessary, will have to commence ab initio.

6. The Broadcast Bureau takes the position [4] that the May 25th amendment does not constitute a new application within the meaning of the Commission's rules, pointing out that no new stockholders have been added and that there is no allegation that program and policy proposals of the applicant will be changed as a result of the death of J. P. Fishburn. The Bureau also points out that by letter of May 1, 1954, filed with the application for transfer of control, an officer of the Bank swears that all of the officers and directors of the Bank are U. S. citizens and that it is not an agent of a foreign government. In this connection the Bureau recites that the Bank's legal qualifications have been passed upon and that no doubt has been raised with respect to the previous findings that Times-World is legally, financially and technically qualified. The Bureau feels that Radio Roanoke's rights will be protected if Times-World makes available to it such additional information as may reasonably be said to be required by the changed circumstances and if Radio Roanoke is afforded reasonable opportunity by the Examiner to modify the matters upon which it proposes to rely.

7. With respect to the multiple ownership question, the Bureau states that neither the Times-World application as of the time it was designated for hearing nor the application for involuntary transfer of control called the Commission's attention to the duality of directorships in the Bank and in the Shenandoah Life stations in Roanoke. Although these facts, in the view of the Bureau, are not sufficient to justify dismissal of the Times-World application, they do raise a serious question as to whether Times-World is violating the rules of the Commission. Accordingly, the Bureau requests enlargement of the issues to include an issue designed to determine whether the Commission's rules and policies with respect to multiple ownership are being violated.

8. Times-World denies [5] that the May 25th amendment constitutes a new application, contending that control of the applicant is still vested in the same individuals who were principals of the application prior to the amendment. Further, says Times-World, there has been no change in the policies or intentions with respect to the television application and the only new person added as an officer and director as a result of J. P. Fishburn's death is his wife, who is now a Director and a Vice President. Times-World contends that a corporation has a legal entity entirely separate and distinct from the individuals who compose it and that it has a capacity of continuous existence or succession notwithstanding changes in its membership. In this connection, Times-World points out that J. P. Fishburn's testimony with respect to the plans and policies of the applicant was given in his capacity as President and that the applicant is still bound by this testimony. With respect to the question of control, Times-World maintains that the Bank is not a stockholder in the true sense of the word, calling attention to the fact that J. B. Fishburn has the voting rights to the stock formerly owned by his son. Further, says Times-World, the distinction between the legal ownership and the voting rights was called to the Commission's attention in the transfer application, and the Commission's Public Notice of May 12, 1954 states that the Commission "Granted involuntary transfer of control of licensee corporation from J. P. Fishburn, deceased, to J. B. Fishburn (BTC-1718)."

9. Times-World asserts that inasmuch as Radio Roanoke did not oppose Times-World's Petition for Leave to Amend, it cannot now be heard to complain. Further, it is argued, Radio Roanoke has presented no facts not before the Commission at the times of the previous actions taken upon the Times-World matters. With respect to the question of possible violation of the Commission's multiple ownership rules, Times-World insists that its application cannot be dismissed inasmuch as only a hearing can adduce the facts to support a conclusion that Commission rules would or would not be violated. Times-World requests that "oral argument on the instant motion be permitted before the Commission en banc before any final decision, order or dismissal of the Times-World application is entered in this proceeding."

10. With respect to the Broadcast Bureau's position that the issues be enlarged, Times-World asserts [6] that the Bureau's "Opposition" raises questions not raised in Radio Roanoke's Motion to Dismiss. Times-World contends that under Section 1.730, parties have 10 days in which to oppose petitions to enlarge filed under Section 1.389, and 5 days to reply to oppositions. Thus, states Times-World, by incorporating a petition to enlarge within an opposition, the Broadcast Bureau cut to 5 days the time within which parties must reply.[7]

11. Radio Roanoke replies [8] that Times-World's arguments with respect to a corporation's power of immortality ignore the Commission's long-standing practice of looking beyond a specific corporate structure to determine the background and qualifications of those who will, in fact, be responsible for the operation of a licensee of the Commission. Thus, it is stated, inasmuch as the Bank has "the right to determine the repository of actual control" of the Times-World stock, the amendment constitutes a new application. Radio Roanoke repeats the assertion that the duality of interests in the existing and the proposed Roanoke television stations makes mandatory a dismissal of the Times-World application.

12. On July 13, 1954, pursuant to an order of the Examiner entered June 9, 1954, a further hearing conference was held in the above-entitled proceedings. On July 19, 1954, the Examiner issued a Memorandum Opinion and Order (FCC 54M–884) in which he, inter alia, made certain findings of fact, and, on the basis of those findings, ordered Times-World to furnish Radio Roanoke with certain specified information with respect to the Bank, its stockholders, officers and directors. On July 22, 1954, Times-World filed a "Petition for Review and Request for Reversal of Examiner's Ruling and Order", contending that the Examiner erred in certain of his findings and conclusions and that it should not be required to furnish all of the information requested by the Examiner.

13. In paragraph 4 of the Memorandum Opinion and Order, after setting forth certain of the contentions of the parties, the Examiner found that "under the terms of the J. P. Fishburn will Bank will become trustee owner with voting rights of the 49 percent interest when settlement of the estate is completed." In paragraph 5 he concludes that the Bank has a majority interest in the Times-World stock; that it is a principal stockholder in the applicant; that, although their legal qualifications are not to be challenged, the comparative qualifications of the Bank and its principals are appropriate mattters for inquiry; and that "Bank's relationship to Times-World will be changed in that its fiduciary ownership of 49 percent of the stock will later become a trustee ownership with broad powers of control, sale, and transfer of the Times-World stock." For these reasons the Examiner ordered Times-World to furnish certain information, including:

> (c) The names and addresses of all officers, directors and stockholders in First National Exchange Bank, provided that if there are more than 50 stockholders then only those having 1 percent or more of Bank's stock are to be listed.
> (d) As to each individual referred to in subparagraph (c), there shall be shown the name and nature of each and every business enterprise in which such individual either owns a 25 percent or greater interest or is an officer or director.
> (e) A list of the names and types of any other businesses in which Bank has a direct interest of 25 percent or more by reason of stock ownership or trustee relationships or other estate administrations.

At the hearing conference of July 13, 1954, the Examiner specified (Tr. 1175) that "I would point out in connection with this matter, that of course the requirement to supply information extends to that information which can be supplied. Your inability to comply with the requirements, for good and sufficient reason, of course relieves the applicant of responsibility provided the failure is for good and sufficient reason."

14. It is Times-World's principal contention that the Examiner erred in requiring the information set forth in the subparagraph (c), (d), and (e), quoted above. Times-World argues that the Examiner bases these requirements upon a faulty premise that the "Bank will become trustee owner with voting rights of the 49 percent interest when settlement of the estate is completed." In support of this argument, Times-World asserts that the voting rights in the stock are vested in J. B. Fishburn by the terms of the will. Times-World insists that the Bank is not "a party to the application" (within the meaning of the application form) and that a bank functioning as an executor is a separate and distinct entity from the bank acting in its commercial capacity. Times-World maintains that the Bank, in its commercial capacity (by virtue of the Federal Reserve Act), can never own stock in the applicant and that, in its fiduciary capacity, must be viewed as a mere collection agent until J. B. Fishburn dies or abandons his voting rights. As further reason for reversing the Examiner's order, Times-World claims that Radio Roanoke has made no showing with respect to the materiality or relevance of the information requested.

15. Times-World also contends that it is not within its power to furnish the information requested and that the Examiner erred in making the requirement mandatory and without qualification in the order. In this connection it has attached a letter from the Vice President and Trust Officer of the Bank in which it is stated that the Bank "does not have and possess the information requested with respect to the directors and stockholders of the Bank, and hence is not in a position to furnish to you such information"; that the "stock and other business interests which it holds in a fiduciary capacity with respect to other trusts and estates is of a highly confidential nature and cannot, with propriety and without violating its confidential relationship, be disclosed"; that the Bank will furnish "the names and addresses of all of its officers and the name and nature of each business enterprise in which such individual officer owns a 25 percent or greater interest or is an officer or director"; and that the Bank will furnish "a list of the names and types of any other business in which said Bank has a direct proprietary interest" of 25 percent or more. Times-World contends that to make public the private business interests of the directors and stockholders of the Bank as well as the Bank's fiduciary accounts gives an unfair advantage to their business competitors in Raleigh and that to require production of the information is a violation of the rights of the parties under the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution.[9]

16. Times-World also urges that Radio Roanoke's request for information are related to and tied to its pleadings previously filed and that the contentions advanced there and here should have been advanced at the time of Times-World's application for transfer of control and petition for leave to amend. Times-World feels that it should not be required to produce any information until the motion previously filed by Radio Roanoke has been disposed of by the Commission. Accordingly, it is of the view that joint consideration should be given all the matters that have been brought before the Commission as a result of J. P. Fishburn's death. In its prayer, Times-World asks that the Examiner be reversed in his Opinion and Order of July 20, 1954; that, because of the new and novel questions raised herein, oral argument be permitted; that all pleadings arising out of J. P. Fishburn's death be considered at the same time; and that further proceedings be stayed until these pleadings are disposed of.

17. The Broadcast Bureau is of the view [10] that the Examiner's finding that the Bank will have voting rights in the 49 percent after settlement of the estate is not supported by the record, but that the Bank will have sufficiently broad powers over the stock to warrant the furnishing of information required by the subparagraphs of the Examiner's order set forth above. The Bureau contends that the Examiner has the authority to require information supplementary to the applications and that the Examiner has made it clear in the record that Times-World will be relieved for "good and sufficient reason" from a failure to comply with the requirements of the order. With respect to the requirement (subparagraph (e)) that Times-World furnish the list of businesses in which the Bank has a 25-percent interest "by reason of stock ownership or trustee relationships or other estate administrations", the Bureau agrees with Times-World that such requirement is too broad in scope and appears to require the public disclosure of business over which the Bank's activities are purely that of a fiduciary. With respect to the request for stay, the Bureau points out that the hearing has been continued indefinitely pending determination of the previous pleadings and that, therefore, the application for stay is premature at this time.

18. Radio Roanoke maintains [11] that the Bank, being a stockholder of record, is a party to the Times-World application within the meaning of FCC Form 301, and that, accordingly, the same information should be furnished as is required from all other corporations owning the stock of broadcast applicants. Radio Roanoke contends that even though the Bank does not have voting rights to the stock, it has a duty, as a fiduciary, to make certain that the stock is voted for the best interests of the trust estates. With respect to the disclosure by the Bank of information which it considers confidential, Radio Roanoke feels that the Bank should resign as trustee of the Times-World stock if it thinks its position inconsistent with its obligations to other bank customers. Radio Roanoke states that the Examiner's requirements cannot be considered an unlawful search or seizure inasmuch as there has been no order issued subpoenaing the records of the Bank.

19. In reply to the Broadcast Bureau, Times-World contends [12] that the conditions orally stated by the Examiner for the production of the information were not included in the written order and that the failure to so include them was error. Times-World also contends that the position taken by the Bureau with respect to the requirement of subparagraph (e) is equally applicable to the requirements of subparagraphs (c) and (d), especially since the relevance of the information requested has not been shown.

20. In reply to Radio Roanoke,[13] Times-World contends, in the main, that a bank acting in a fiduciary capacity as the executor of an estate is different than the bank acting in its ordinary commercial banking capacity; that Federal laws prevent the Bank acting in its commercial capacity from owning stock in any corporation; that, accordingly, it cannot be made subject to the same conditions as an ordinary legal stockholder of an applicant; and that Radio Roanoke's requests constitute a fishing expedition into confidential matters that the Bank has a duty not to disclose.

21. We turn first to a consideration of the question of whether the Times-World amendment of May 25, 1954, constituted a new application the dismissal of which is required by § 1.387 (b) (3) of our rules.[14] In our view, the changes in the make-up of the Times-World applicant, reflected in the said amendment, are not of such magnitude as to persuade us to Radio Roanoke's position. Times-World contends that a corporation has a legal entity entirely separate and distinct from the individuals who compose it and that it has a capacity of continuous existence of succession notwithstanding changes in its membership. We agree, however, with Radio Roanoke that a corporation's power of perpetual existence is not a bar to the Commission's looking beyond a specific corporate structure to determine the effect of changes in stock ownership and related matters. In so looking, we note that no new stockholders have been added to the Times-World applicant. It is true that legal title to a majority of the stock is vested in the Bank as Executor-Trustee and that the Bank appears to have unrestricted authority to dispose of the stock it holds. It is also true that a transfer of the right to convey a majority of a licensee's stock is one requiring prior Commission approval. The Commission is more deeply concerned, however, with the disposition of the voting rights in a licensee's stock, for it is the holder of the voting rights who must be said to exercise the greatest influence in determining the licensee's operating policies.[15] Prior to his son's death, J. B. Fishburn owned and voted 40 percent of the Times-World stock, served as a Vice President and a Director, and thus occupied a prominent position in the applicant corporation. His succession to the voting rights, then, of an additional 49 percent of the stock, held in trust for the benefit of his son's wife and children, is not so substantial a change as to constitute Times-World a new applicant. Nor can the other changes complained of by Radio Roanoke be so regarded. Thus, M. W. Armistead's promotion from Vice President and Associate Publisher to President and Publisher, and the addition of Decedent's wife as a Vice President and a Director do not materially alter the make-up of the Times-World applicant. And, with respect to the changes which occurred of January 18, 1954, Radio Roanoke had previous notice and cannot now be heard to complain. Finally, on this question of whether the Times-World application must now be considered to be a new one, we do not believe that the amount and type of Decedent's testimony has been such as to support Radio Roanoke's position. Although he has testified with respect to such matters as the plans and policies of the proposed television station, this testimony appears to have been given in his capacity as President of the company. Times-World is as bound today by this testimony as it was at the time it was offered, and we cannot assume that changes in program and policy proposals will be effected.

22. We next consider Radio Roanoke's contention that a grant of the Times-World application is prohibited by § 3.636 of the Commission's rules and that the application must, therefore, be dismissed. As heretofore noted, three of the Bank's twenty-five directors have interests in WSLS, WSLS-FM and WSLS-TV in Roanoke. Times-World, in addition to being a television applicant herein, is the licensee of WDBJ and WDBJ-FM, also in Roanoke. In support of its contention, Radio Roanoke relies, principally, upon language appearing in a letter dated December 3, 1952 and addressed by the Commission to Macon Television Company, at that time an applicant for a new television broadcast station. The stock of Macon Television Company was owned equally by two competing standard broadcast stations in the same community. In the above letter, written pursuant to the provisions of section 309 (b) of the Communications Act, the Commission declared that, "as a matter of general policy, the Commission has required that there be complete divorcement of management, ownership and other interests between stations of the same class in the same community or serving substantially the same area." Macon Television Co., 8 RR 703, 704 (1952). Times-World insists that there is nothing in § 3.636 which requires, per se, the dismissal of its application, and that only a hearing can adduce the facts to support a conclusion that the Commission's Rules would or would not be violated. The Broadcast Bureau agrees that the duality of interests as set forth herein are insufficient to justify outright dismissal of the Times-World application and that a definitive conclusion as to whether Times-World is violating the Commission's Rules and policies on multiple ownership should await a full determination of all the pertinent facts. In this connection, the Broadcast Bureau points out that the letter in the Macon Television case, supra, contains additional language to the effect that if the deficiencies noted by the Commission therein could not be eliminated, the applicant would be designated for hearing. In view of its foregoing position, the Broadcast Bureau requests that the issues in this proceeding be enlarged to include an issue designed to determine whether the Commission's Rules and policies with respect to multiple ownership are being violated. We are of the view that the facts already developed raise serious questions as to whether a grant of the Times-World application would be consistent with our Rules and policies on multiple ownership. We do not believe, however, under the circumstances here present, that the Times-World application can be summarily dismissed. Accordingly, we feel that the issues in this proceeding must be enlarged to include issues designed to permit inquiry into the question of whether a grant of the Times-World application would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.636 of the Commission's rules and policies promulgated thereunder. With respect to Times-World's procedural objections to the Broadcast Bureau's request for enlargement of issues (see paragraph 10), we observe that the Commission has no prescribed form for the presentation of such a request. The fact that the Bureau included in one document an opposition to Radio Roanoke's motion and a petition for enlargement of the issues did not cut to 5 days the time within which Times-World was required to file an opposition. Times-World's lack of conviction in its argument in this regard is illustrated by the fact that its response to the Broadcast Bureau's pleading was filed 7 days after the filing of that document.

23. In what must be considered an alternative request to its motion that the Times-World application be dismissed, Radio Roanoke urges that the proceedings already held with respect to the above-entitled applications have been rendered a nullity and that the hearing will have to commence ab initio. In this connection, Radio Roanoke asserts that it has a right to recast the whole framework of its case, including its Points of Reliance. We agree with the Broadcast Bureau's position that Radio Roanoke's rights will be adequately protected if Times-World makes available to it such aditional information as may reasonably be said to be required by the changed circumstances and if Radio Roanoke is afforded reasonable opportunity by the Examiner to modify the matters upon which it proposes to rely. The Examiner's Memorandum of Opinion and Order of July 19, 1954 (FCC 54M-884) appears to be consistent with this position, and the major question presented by Times-World's petition for review is whether the information requested by the Examiner "may reasonably be said to be required."

24. We are of the view that even though the Bank can vote but 3.2 percent of Times-World's stock, its legal ownership of an additional 51 percent is an interest of sufficient importance to require the furnishing of information with respect to the Bank, its officers, stockholders and directors. We have given careful consideration to the Examiner's requests for information contained in subparagraphs (c) and (d) of paragraph 6 of his Memorandum Opinion and Order and hold that they are reasonable and wholly proper under the circumstances of this case. With respect to subparagraph (e), however, we agree with Times-World and the Broadcast Bureau that the requests contained therein appear to require the public disclosure of business over which the Bank's activities are purely that of a fiduciary. Accordingly, we feel that Times-World should be relieved of the requirement of furnishing information with respect to businesses in which the Bank has an interest only by virtue of a trustee or other fiduciary relationship. Times-World contends that it is not within its power to furnish the information requested and that the Examiner erred in making the requirement mandatory and without qualification in the order. The Examiner has made it clear in the record, however, that Times-World will be relieved for "good and sufficient reason" from a failure to comply with the requirements of the order. Accordingly, there was no error in not repeating the qualification in the written order.

25. The sole remaining questions concern Times-World's requests for stay and for oral argument before the Commission en banc. The question raised in the pleadings here under consideration are, of course, interlocutory, and it is the Commission's policy not to allow oral argument on interlocutory matters. Times-World has set forth no facts justifying a departure from this policy in the instant case. Times-World's request for stay would appear to have been rendered moot by our simultaneous consideration of all pleadings presently pending before us.

26. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the "Motion to Dismiss Application and for Immediate Grant of Application of Radio Roanoke, Incorporated", filed June 1, 1954 by Radio Roanoke, Incorporated, is denied.

27. It is further ordered, That the "Petition for Enlargement of the Issues", filed June 15, 1954 by Chief, Broadcast Bureau, is granted insofar as it requests the addition of issues designed to permit inquiry into the question of whether a grant of the Times-World application would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.636 of the Commission's rules and the policies promulgated thereunder.

28. It is further ordered, That the Examiner's Memorandum Opinion and Order of July 20, 1954 (FCC 54M-884), insofar as it is not inconsistent with the rulings and determinations expressed herein is affirmed, and that, accordingly, the "Petition for Review and Request for Reversal of Examiner's Ruling and Order", filed July 22, 1954 by Times-World Corporation, is denied,

29. It is further ordered, That the issues in the above-entitled proceeding are enlarged by the addition of the following issues:

To determine the stock ownership and management interests of The First National Exchange Bank of Roanoke, Virginia, its stockholders, officers and directors in existing television broadcast stations.

To determine whether, in light of the evidence adduced at the hearing with respect to the preceding issue, a grant of the application of Times-World Corporation would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.636 of the Commission's rules and the policies promulgated thereunder.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

ORDER ASSIGNING MATTER FOR HEARING

In the matter of the application of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company

[12] "Reply of Times-World Corporation to Opposition of Chief, Broadcast Bureau, to Petition for Review and Request for Reversal of Examiner's Ruling and Order Filed by Times-World Corporation", filed August 4, 1954. "Notice of Correction to Reply", filed August 5, 1954.

[13] "Reply of Times-World Corporation to Opposition to Petition for Review and Request for Reversal of Examiner's Ruling and Order," filed August 9, 1954.

[14] Times-World asserts that Radio Roanoke's contentions in this regard are matters which should have been advanced in opposition to the petition for leave to amend, filed May 17, 1954. Under § 1.730 of the Commission's rules, oppositions to petitions must be filed within 10 days from the filing of the petition. In view of the fact that the Examiner did not wait until the expiration of the 10-day period before passing upon the petition, and in view of the filing of Radio Roanoke's motion shortly thereafter, it would not be appropriate, in our view, to dispose of the motion on this procedural ground.

[15] In its application for involuntary transfer of control, filed April 22, 1954 (BTC-1718), Times-World designates as transferee "The First National Exchange Bank of Roanoke, and J. B. Fishburn, (both of) Roanoke, Va." In granting consent to the said transfer of control on May 12, 1954, the Commission listed only J. B. Fishburn as transferee.

RADIO CLEVELAND (WCLE)

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of J. A. Gallimore tr/as Radio Cleveland (WCLE), Cleveland, Tennessee, for construction permit; Docket No. 11205, File No. BP-9197.

1. The Commission has before it a protest filed on September 17, 1954, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, by Robert W. Rounsaville (hereinafter referred to as WBAC), licensee of Station WBAC, Cleveland, Tennessee, protesting the Commission's action of August 18, 1954 granting without hearing the above-entitled application of J. A. Gallimore, tr/as Radio Cleveland (hereinafter referred to as J. A. Gallimore) for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1570 kilocycles with 1000 watts power, daytime only at Cleveland, Tennessee; and an opposition to the protest filed by J. A. Gallimore on October 8, 1954.

2. In the protest, WBAC alleges in substance that protestant's station, WBAC, and the station authorized by the Commission's action in question are the only two local radio stations assigned to Cleveland, Tennessee; that protestant and J. A. Gallimore "will be in direct competition for the radio advertising dollar"; that "any revenue received by J. A. Gallimore will be at the expense of [protestant], and will cause serious economic injury to [protestant]"; that as a result of the grant of the above-entitled application WBAC has been economically injured and will continue to suffer economic injury; and that, therefore, it is a "party in interest" within the purview of section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

3. In support of its protest WBAC alleges that the Commission erred in finding J. A. Gallimore to be financially qualified to construct and operate the proposed Cleveland station and that the proposed program structure is not one arrived at on the basis of time and care devoted to its preparation as is required by the Commission. For these reasons WBAC asks the Commission to set aside the grant in question and to designate the above-entitled application for hearing on issues set forth in its protest, together with such further issues as the Commission may prescribe; and to designate the protestant as a party to said hearing.

4. Petitioner has submitted the results of a comprehensive study and analysis of the potential demand for radio advertising in the Cleveland, Tennessee, area in support of his contention that he will suffer economic injury as a result of the Commission's action. This analysis indicates that the potential advertising revenue may be limited and that it is improbable that a second station can derive revenue from the area without decreasing that now flowing to the protestant's station. In light of this showing and the fact that the protestant is the licensee of Station WBAC, Cleveland, Tennessee; that the protestant derives operating revenue from the Cleveland, Tennessee area; that the grant herein protested establishes the second standard broadcast station in Cleveland, Tennessee in direct competition with WBAC; and that protestant has alleged that it has been and will continue to be financially injured by the grant complained of, it is the Commission's opinion that WBAC is a "party in interest" within the meaning of section 309 (c) of the Communications Act.

5. It is clear that once a protestant has established standing to protest as a party in interest, it must then meet the further jurisdictional requirements of section 309 (c) that the protestant "shall specify with particularity the facts, matters, and things relied upon, but shall not include issues or allegations phrased generally". As the Commission stated in the Allen [1] and Salinas [2] cases, "The clear import of this requirement is that a protestant must do something more than set forth in his protest vague, non-specific, conclusionary arguments and allegations, he must allege those facts upon which his conclusions as to the impropriety of the Commission's grant without hearing are predicated. These facts must be alleged with specificity; they must be concrete, basic facts".

6. Protestant has set out in detail the specific points relied upon concerning the questions as to the financial qualifications and the "basic character" qualifications of the permittee and has specified the following issues on which he asks for an opportunity to present evidence:

1. To determine whether the Cleveland market will provide sufficient revenues to the proposed station so as to permit the applicant to adequately serve his public.

To determine whether the advertising potential of the Cleveland market is such as may indicate that both stations, the existing and the proposed, will go under with the result that a portion of the listening public will be left without adequate service.

3. To determine whether the advertising potential of the Cleveland market is so slight that by a division of the field both stations, the existing and the proposed, will be compelled to render inadequate service.

4. To determine whether the applicant is financially qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed station.

5. To determine whether the applicant possesses the basic character qualifications necessary to permit him to be the licensee of the proposed station.

6. To determine whether, considering the above issues, a grant of the application would serve the public interest, necessity and convenience.

7. Issues 1, 2 and 3 as specified by WBAC all relate to economic injury. An analysis of potential broadcast revenue and an economic study of the Cleveland, Tennessee market area form the factual basis of these three issues. These issues, however, designed to show that the public interest would suffer by the establishment of a second station in Cleveland, Tennessee, in all likelihood, are not pertinent because of considerations already set out by the Commission in re Voice of Cullman, 6 RR 164 (1950). In a more recent case, in re Van Curler Broadcasting Corporation, 11 RR 215, the Commission stated "There is a grave doubt as to whether a showing of economic injury on the part of a protestant would entitle him to a hearing on an issue related to the competition which the protestant would suffer from the operation of another station in his community." Pending further consideration of the general problem, the Commission will not exclude Issues 1, 2 and 3 in this case. However, these three issues are not being adopted by the Commission and the burden of proof thereon both in proving the facts alleged and in demonstrating their materiality and relevency will be on the protestant.

8. With respect to Issue 4 the protestant points out that J. A. Gallimore estimated the cost of constructing the proposed Cleveland Station to be $22,900 and that conceding J. A. Gallimore's ability to finance the construction and initial operation of the proposed Cleveland station, the fact remains that J. A. Gallimore has heretofore committed himself to finance the construction and initial operation of Station WLFA, Lafayette, Georgia. On October 7, 1953, the Commission granted J. A. Gallimore and Virginia F. Gallimore (his wife) doing business as Radio Dixie, a construction permit for a new station (WLFA) to operate on 1590 kilocycles with 5 kilowatts power daytime only at Lafayette, Georgia. The grant required the permittee to submit an application for modification of construction permit to specify a transmitter site and antenna system meeting the requirements of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice. On January 12, 1954, the Commission approved an application specifying a transmitter site and antenna system for Station WLFA. Subsequently, on September 10, 1954, the Commission granted an application to modify further the WLFA construction permit to change the type of transmitter and to change studio location. Station WLFA has not commenced either equipment or program tests. The original estimated cost of construction of Station WLFA was $30,150; the actual costs are yet to be determined. While J. A. Gallimore submitted a personal balance sheet with the Cleveland application indicating a net worth of approximately $65,000 as of November 30, 1953, WBAC properly raises the question as to whether the assets listed by Mr. Gallimore are sufficiently liquid to enable J. A. Gallimore to finance the construction and initial operation of the proposed Cleveland station after he has contributed his share for the construction and initial operation of Station WLFA. In the Commission's opinion the protestant has stated with particularity sufficient facts, matters and things relied upon as required by the provisions of section 309 (c) to warrant the designation of the above-entitled application for hearing upon the issue of financial qualifications. Accordingly said issue is adopted by the Commission and the burden of proof thereon is placed upon J. A. Gillimore.

9. In support of Issue "5" quoted above, WBAC maintains that the programming and staffing plans of the subject Cleveland proposal submitted on March 1, 1954, are completely identical with the programming and staffing proposals submitted by J. A. Gallimore in his application filed March 3, 1953 for Station

[1] In re Application of T. E. Allen & Sons, Inc., 9 RR 590a.

[2] In re Application of Salinas Broadcasting Corporation et al., 9 RR 595.

WLFA, Lafayette, Georgia. Upon the basis of such facts WBAC contends that J. A. Gallimore is completely indifferent to the programming needs of the Cleveland community he proposes to serve and that therefore he does not possess the basic character qualifications necessary to be a broadcast licensee. Therefore, with respect to Issue "5" it is the Commission's opinion that the protestant has stated with particularity the facts, matters and things relied upon as required by the provisions of section 309 (c) to warrant the inclusion of Issue "5". However, in making this finding we do not determine or imply that even if the facts with respect to such issues are as alleged by the protestant, they are such that they would result in a determination that the grant to the applicant herein was improper, contrary to the public interest or should be set aside. Accordingly, said issue is not being adopted by the Commission and the burden of proof thereon both in proving the facts alleged and in demonstrating their materiality and relevancy will be on the protestant.

10. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That, insofar as the subject protest requests reconsideration of the Commission's action of August 18, 1954, it is denied, except with respect to the hearing provided for below; that pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, effective immediately, the effective date of the grant of the above-entitled application is postponed pending a final determination by the Commission with respect to the hearing described below, and that the above-entitled application is designated for hearing at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., on the following issues:

1. To determine whether the Cleveland market will provide sufficient revenues to the proposed station so as to permit the applicant to adequately serve his public.

2. To determine whether the advertising potential of the Cleveland market is such as may indicate that both stations, the existing and the proposed, will go under with the result that a portion of the listening public will be left without adequate service.

3. To determine whether the advertising potential of the Cleveland market is so slight that by a division of the field both stations, the existing and the proposed, will be compelled to render inadequate service.

4. To determine whether the applicant is financially qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed station.

5. To determine whether the applicant possesses the basic character qualifications necessary to permit him to be the licensee of the proposed station.

6. To determine, in light of the evidence adduced with respect to the foregoing issues, whether the public interest, convenience or necessity require that the Commission's action of August 18, 1954 granting the above-entitled application should be vacated.

The burden of proof as to Issue "4" is placed on J. A. Gallimore. The burden of proof as to Issues 1, 2, 3, and 5 is placed on Robert W. Rounsaville.

11. It is further ordered, That the protestant and the Chief of the Broadcast Bureau are hereby made parties to the proceeding herein and that:

(a) The hearing on the above issues shall commence at 10:00 a. m. on November 15, 1954, before an Examiner to be specified by the Commission; and

(b) The parties to the proceeding herein shall have fifteen (15) days after the issuance of the Examiner's decision to file exceptions thereto and seven (7) days thereafter to file replies to any such exceptions; and

(c) The appearances by the parties intending to participate in the above hearing shall be filed not later than November 1, 1954.

Adopted: October 13, 1954.

Released: October 18, 1954.

the said price-support program with respect to barley; and

WHEREAS I find and declare that the imposition of the quantitative limitations hereinafter proclaimed is shown by such investigation of the Tariff Commission to be necessary in order that the entry, or withdrawal from warehouse, for consumption of barley, hulled and unhulled, including rolled barley and ground barley, and barley malt will not render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, the said price-support program:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the said section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, do hereby proclaim that the total aggregate quantity of barley, hulled and unhulled, including rolled barley and ground barley, and barley malt entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption during the period from October 1, 1954, to September 30, 1955, both dates inclusive, shall not exceed 27,500,000 bushels, which permissible total quantity I find and declare to be proportionately not less than 50 per centum of the total average aggregate annual quantity of such barley and barley malt entered, or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption during the representative period from July 1, 1948, to June 30, 1953, both dates inclusive; and that, of the said permissible total quantity not more than 27,225,000 bushels shall be imported from Canada, and not more than 275,000 bushels shall be imported from other foreign countries.

For the purposes of this proclamation, 48 pounds of barley, hulled or unhulled, including rolled barley or ground barley, shall be considered equal to one bushel, and 34 pounds of barley malt shall be considered equal to one bushel.

The provisions of this proclamation shall not apply to certified or registered seed barley for use for seeding and crop-improvement purposes, in bags tagged and sealed by an officially recognized seed-certifying agency of the country of production: Provided, (a) that the individual shipment amounts to 100 bushels (of 48 pounds each) or less, or (b) that the individual shipment amounts to more than 100 bushels (of 48 pounds each) and the written approval of the Secretary of Agriculture or his designated representative is presented at the time of entry, or bond is furnished in a form prescribed by the Commissioner of Customs in an amount equal to the value of the merchandise as set forth in the entry, plus the estimated duty as determined at the time of entry, conditioned upon the production of such written approval within 6 months from the date of entry.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 18th day of October in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and [SEAL] fifty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-ninth.

N. V. HANDELMAATSCHAPPIJ BLESSING-ETRA AND E. T. R. A. TECHNISCHE ONDERNEMING N. V.

ORDER MODIFYING DENIAL ORDER AND DELETING THE NAMES OF TWO COMPANIES THEREIN

In the matter of: N. V. Handelmaatschappij Blessing-Etra, E. T. R. A. Technische Onderneming N. V., Oostzeedijk 218, Rotterdam, Netherlands, petitioners; Case No. 166.

The Bureau of Foreign Commerce issued an order on November 6, 1953 (18 F. R. 7179) denying United States export privileges for the duration of export controls to Handelshuis J. M. A. Klaasen & Co. et al., Rotterdam, Netherlands, and to such other persons and firms as might be related to said company by ownership, control, position of responsibility or other connection in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith. By its terms said order applied to N. V. Handelmaatschappij Blessing-Etra, and E. T. R. A. Technische Onderneming N. V., of Rotterdam, Netherlands, reported to be companies with which said J. M. A. Klaasen & Co. was then associated.

It is established by due proof that on or about June 3, 1954, said N. V. Handelmaatschappij Blessing-Etra and E. T. R. A. Technische Onderneming N. V. disassociated themselves from J. M. A. Klaasen & Co. and since that date have not been related to the latter firm within the meaning of the terms and conditions of the aforesaid denial order; that they have petitioned the Bureau of Foreign Commerce by affidavit dated September 22, 1954 for removal of their names from the said order and for relief from the applicability thereof as to them.

It appearing from said petition and from the affidavit and documents in support thereof that said firms are no longer connected with J. M. A. Klaasen & Co. and that they are therefore entitled to relief as requested, and there appearing to be no reasonable basis to continue to extend the prohibitions of said order to them,

Now, therefore, it is ordered, as follows:

The Bureau of Foreign Commerce order of November 6, 1953 (18 F. R. 7179) is hereby amended and modified by deleting therefrom the names of N. V. Handelmaatschappij Blessing-Etra and E. T. R. A. Technische Onderneming N. V., Rotterdam, Netherlands, and vacating the terms and provisions of said order as they apply to said companies, and each of them. Except as so amended and modified the said order shall continue in full force and effect.

Dated: October 18, 1954.

IRVING H. MILLER ET AL.

ORDER REVOKING EXPORT LICENSES AND DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES

In the matter of: Irving H. Miller, t/a Dixie Auto Parts, Dixie Export Company, Parts Sales Company, 1630 N. W. 20th Street, Miami, Florida, respondent; Case No. 190.

The respondent, Irving H. Miller, engaged in the export business and doing business under the firm names and styles of Dixie Auto Parts, Dixie Export Company and Parts Sales Company, at 1630 N. W. 20th Street, Miami, Florida, was charged by the Director of the Investigation Staff, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, Department of Commerce, with having violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and regulations promulgated thereunder, in that, as alleged, during the period May 1951–September 1952, (1) he applied for two export licenses to ship carbon steel rope to a named ultimate consignee in Cuba, which licenses were granted, and thereafter he shipped quantities of such wire rope under said licenses and export declarations related thereto, to a consignee or consignees other than the one named in the licenses and declarations; (2) he shipped steel wire or wire rope to a number of consignees in Cuba without first obtaining necessary export licenses and without filing necessary declarations; (3) under an export license granted to him and an export declaration executed and filed by him in connection therewith, he shipped a quantity of automotive lubricating oil to a consignee in Cuba other than the one named in his license and export declaration and (4) he attempted to ship to Cuba a large quantity of miscellaneous merchandise under an export declaration in which he did not disclose the true values or nature of the merchandise to be shipped, which merchandise was seized by U. S. Customs.

Respondent duly appeared in this proceeding, was represented by counsel and attended a formal hearing before the Compliance Commissioner, at which evidence in support of the charges was presented.

At the completion of the presentation of evidence in support of the charges, respondent's attorney moved that they be dismissed and his motion was denied on the ground that a prima facie case had been established as to all the charges. Following the denial of the motion to dismiss and during the course of the hearing but before any substantial evidence in opposition to the charges was presented, respondent's counsel requested a recess for the purpose of offering a proposal that a consent order be entered herein. Negotiations for that purpose had been conducted sporadically prior to and at intervals during the hearing. The proposal made by respondent's counsel, in his presence, on the record, was concurred in by the attorney for the Director of Investigation, and it has been approved by the Compliance Commissioner who has recommended that this order be made on the basis of said proposal.

Now, after careful consideration of the entire record, upon the consent of the respondent, Irving H. Miller and the Director of the Investigation Staff, and also upon the recommendation of the Compliance Commissioner, and being of the opinion that this order is necessary to achieve effective enforcement of the law:

It is hereby ordered:

I. All outstanding validated export licenses held by or issued in the name of Irving H Miller, or in any of his trade names, Dixie Auto Parts, Dixie Export Company Parts Sales Company, or any other trade name or corporate successor thereto, or in which they appear or participate as purchaser, intermediate or ultimate consignee, or otherwise, are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

II. For the period of one year, commencing October 25, 1954, respondent, individually and t/a Dixie Auto Parts, Dixie Export Company, and Parts Sales Company and his agents, servants and employees, be and they hereby are suspended from and denied all privileges of participating, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, in an exportation of any commodity from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing denial of export privileges, participation in an exportation is deemed to include and prohibit respondent's participation, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application, (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control documents, (c) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing in any foreign country of any commodities in whole or in part exported or to be exported from the United States, and (d) in storing, financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of such exports from the United States.

III. Such denial of export privileges shall extend not only to respondent, but also to any person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which he may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith.

IV. Upon condition that, during the period commencing October 25, 1954 and until October 24, 1955, the respondent complies in all respects with this order, permits freely and without restriction the inspection by agents of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce and the Bureau of Customs of all records relating to the business of exporting in any capacity, answers all reasonable inquiries by such agents and complies fully with all other requirements of the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and all regulations promulgated thereunder, respondent may, commencing November 15, 1954, engage in the limited business of representing exporters named in export licenses or exporting under general licenses for the sole purpose of forwarding or transporting the commodities exported or being exported by such persons from the United States provided that he, the respondent, shall have no interest in or profit from any such exportation and his only function in connection therewith shall be the usual, normal and ordinary function of a forwarding agent for which service he shall receive no compensation greater than the usual, normal and ordinary compensation paid by exporters for such services.

V. Upon condition that, during the period commencing October 25, 1954 and until October 24, 1955, the respondent complies in all respects with this order, permits freely and without restriction the inspection by agents of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce and the Bureau of Customs of all records relating to the business of exporting in any capacity, answers all reasonable inquiries by such agents and complies fully with all other requirements of the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and all regulations promulgated thereunder, respondent may, commencing February 7, 1955, engage in all export privileges otherwise denied to him under Part II hereof.

VI. The privileges conditionally restored to respondent, under Parts IV and V hereof may be revoked summarily and without notice upon a finding by the Director of the Office of Export Supply, or such other official as may at that time be exercising the duties now exercised by him, that the respondent has, during any portion of the period commencing October 25, 1954 and prior to October 25, 1955, failed to comply with any of the conditions or provisions upon which or whereby, by Parts IV and V hereof, he has been permitted to engage in any phase of the export business otherwise denied to him under Part II hereof, without prejudice to any other action which may be taken by reason of any such new or additional violation. In the event that it be so determined that respondent has breached the conditions of Parts IV or V hereof, the suspension and denial of respondent's export privileges shall be deemed to commence on the day of such determination and shall continue for thirty-seven weeks thereafter or until October 24, 1955, whichever is later.

VII. No person, firm, corporation, or other business organization, during any time when the respondent is prohibited under the terms hereof from engaging in any activity within the scope of Part II hereof, shall, without prior disclosure to, and specific authorization from, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity (a) apply for, obtain, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any such prohibited activity, (b) order, receive, buy, use, dispose of, finance, transport or forward, any commodity on behalf of or in any association with the respondent while he is engaging in any activity prohibited hereunder, or (c) do any of the foregoing acts with respect to any commodity or exportation in which the respondent may have a proprietory interest of any kind or nature, direct or indirect, during any time when he is denied any export privileges.

[Case No. 192]

BOOSTERS IRON & METAL CORP. ET AL.

ORDER REVOKING LICENSES AND DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES

In the matter of Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation, Melville B. Boorster, J. George Fox, 2104 East Fifteenth Street, Los Angeles 21, California, Respondents; Case No. 192.

Compliance proceedings were instituted on March 23, 1954, by the transmission of a charging letter issued by the Investigation Staff of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, United States Department of Commerce, to Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation, Melville B. Boorster and J. George Fox, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, as well as managing principals of said corporation. After receiving said charging letter said respondents conferred by and through their counsel with officials of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce and thereafter submitted to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, with the advice of and through such counsel, a statement dated September 22, 1954, admitting, for the purpose of this compliance proceeding only, the charges in said charging letter, waiving a hearing thereon, and consenting to the entry of an export-privilege denial order, the terms of which are set forth below.

The charges to which said respondents have entered their consents, as aforesaid, are that they violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and the regulations promulgated thereunder in substance as follows:

In connection with the proposed exportation to Japan of 8,000 tons of No. 1 heavy melting steel scrap and No. 2 melting steel scrap and 2,000 tons of baled sheet melting scrap valued at $450,000 for which respondents held an order, they applied to the Office of International Trade (predecessor of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce) on July 24, 1953 for a validated license authorizing the exportation of said quantity of material. In the application respondents represented they had purchased the material from numerous suppliers, mainly auto wreckers, although without submitting evidence thereof as then required by § 373.3 of the export control regulations (15 CFR 373.3).

By reason of having failed to append to the license application the evidence of availability as aforesaid, and for other reasons, OIT returned the application to respondents without action. Thereafter, respondents filed with the Appeals Board of the Department of Commerce an appeal from the action of OIT. In support of the appeal respondents submitted, through counsel, on August 7, 1953, a signed appeal brief in which it was represented, inter alia, that Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation then had on hand ready for immediate delivery 10,000 tons of scrap steel which the corporation had acquired in January 1953.

At the hearing on appeal held before the Appeals Board at Washington, D. C. on September 1, 1953, counsel for respondents was requested by the Board to have respondents furnish the Board with evidence of the availability of the quantity of steel scrap which respondents represented they had acquired in January 1953. Pursuant thereto, respondents transmitted to the Board on October 14, 1953, photostats of three documents purporting to be renewals of original purchase orders entered into between Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation and three separate scrap metal suppliers, all located in the Los Angeles area, covering the sale to Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation of 2,500 tons of No. 1 heavy melting steel and No. 2 heavy melting steel by each named supplier. Each of the aforesaid photostated order renewals was a one-page document on Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation letterhead and bore the date of January 10, 1953; two of the documents were executed by the sellers on September 30, 1953; the other on October 3, 1953.

The facts, however, are that respondents had not purchased 10,000 tons of steel scrap in January 1953 as represented on the license application and in the brief filed with the Appeals Board, as aforesaid. The purported renewal orders submitted to the Board in October 1953 were mere options granted to Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation, on the respective dates of execution by the alleged sellers, cancellable at the will of either party thereto without liability or recourse, and the parties to the option arrangements had not entered into scrap sales contracts on January 10, 1953 or at any other time. Moreover, it was developed that the option agreements between Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation and the alleged sellers, as aforesaid, were two pages in length, the second page thereof, which had been severed by respondents and not submitted to the Board, containing the clear and unmistakable language of the option. It was also established that at the time the license application was filed with OIT, and when the brief was submitted to the Board, that respondents had on hand for delivery only a small part of the scrap under consideration.

The charging letter and the above-stated proposal for a consent order were submitted to a Compliance Commissioner of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for review as provided in § 382.10 of the export control regulations (15 F. R. 382.10), and the Compliance Commissioner informally reviewed the evidence presented by the Investigation Staff in support of the charges as well as the extenuating circumstances claimed by respondents at a hearing held before him at Washington, D. C. on September 8, 1954. Thereafter he issued his report to the undersigned Director of the Office of Export Supply, therein making the finding that the charges were fully supported by the evidence and that the respondents had violated the Export Control Act and regulations as charged. He also made the finding that the terms and conditions of the proposed denial order as consented to by respondents were fair and reasonable and recommended that such order be issued.

In his report the Compliance Commissioner discussed the deliberate violations of the respondents, as aforesaid, and pointed out that they constituted flagrant misrepresentations to OIT as well as to the Appeals Board. He stated therein that had not the respondents admitted the charges and consented to an order and thereby saved the Government the time and expense of a contested hearing, he would have recommended more serious administrative action than that taken herein. He rejected the extenuating circumstances claimed by respondents as unworthy of credence, pointing out that their alleged inexperience with export transactions offered no excuse for their wilful falsifications and could not be condoned under any circumstances.

The findings and recommendations of the Compliance Commissioner have been carefully considered, together with the charging letter, the evidentiary material, the proposal for a consent order, and the entire record, from all of which it appears that the Compliance Commissioner's findings are in accordance with the evidence and that his recommendations are reasonable and should be adopted.

Now, therefore, it is ordered as follows:

(1) All outstanding validated export licenses held by or issued in the names of respondents, Boosters Iron & Metal Corporation, Melville B. Boorster, or J. George Fox, or any of them, or any person, firm, corporation, or other business organization with which they, or any of them, are now related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection, in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith, are revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

(2) Respondents and each of them are hereby denied all privileges of participating directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity in an exportation of any commodity from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing denial of export privileges participation in an exportation shall be deemed to include and prohibit respondents' participation (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application, (b) in the obtaining, applying for, or using of any validated or general license or other export control document, (c) in the receiving in any foreign country of any commodities in whole or in part exported from the United States during the period of this order or to be exported from the United States, and (d) in the financing, forwarding, transporting or other servicing of exports from the United States.

(3) Such denial of export privileges shall apply not only to said respondents, their officers, directors, agents, representatives and employees, but also to any person, firm, corporation, or other business organization with which they, or any of them, may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith.

(4) This order shall extend for a period of twenty four (24) months from the date of issuance, or for the duration of export controls, whichever expires earlier: Provided, however, That during the last six (6) months of said period the export privileges which are denied by the terms of this order shall be restored to said respondents without further order of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, but no validated export licenses revoked under this order shall thereby be restored. In the event, however, that any of the named respondents or persons or firms covered by (3) above shall knowingly violate the terms and provisions of this order or any of the laws or regulations relating to export control during the entire twenty four (24) months period of this order, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce may summarily and without notice to the person or firm responsible for such violation, at such time as it shall determine that such violation has occurred, issue a supplemental order which shall deny to such person or firm all export privileges for the said period which has been held in abeyance with respect to him or it, and shall revoke and cancel all validated export licenses then outstanding and as to which such person or firm may be a party, without thereby limiting the Bureau of Foreign Commerce from taking such other and further action based on such violation as it shall deem warranted.

(5) No person, firm, corporation, or other business organization shall knowingly apply for or obtain any export license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to an exportation of any commodity from the United States to any foreign destination under validated or general export licenses, or of exportation to Canada, or finance, transport, forward, receive, or otherwise service any commodities thereunder, to or for the named respondents, or any of them, or any person, firm, corporation or other business organization covered by (3) above, without prior disclosure of such facts to, and specific authorization from, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

Director,
Office of Export Supply.

Whereas such Obligations will be the several Obligations of the respective Obligor Companies and will not provide for any form of joint liability on the part of any of them within the meaning set forth in Annex 15 to the Plan, and

Whereas Kreditanstalt fur Wiederaufbau has agreed to undertake its unconditional guaranty for the fulfillment of the said Obligations and of the Declaration as set forth in the Plan, and

Whereas The National City Bank of New York and Irving Trust Company have, by letter dated 10 December 1953, agreed to act in accordance with the terms of the Plan as Depositaries of the Obligations to be issued by the above-named Obligor Companies, and

Whereas the Combined Steel Group has determined that the Plan provides fair and equitable treatment to the claimants under the Old Bond Issues in compliance with Article 5 of Law No. 27 without prejudicing the rights of other claimants to such fair and equitable treatment.

The combined steel group hereby orders as follows:

ARTICLE I

(1) The "Plan for the Treatment of Claimants under United States Dollar Bond and Debenture Issues of Vereinigte Stahlwerke Aktiengesellschaft in Liquidation"[1] attached hereto and incorporated herein, is approved and enters into force. The refunding and the transfer of the debt so refunded as provided for in the Plan becomes effective as from 1 January 1953. If an Obligor Company was not yet in existence at that date, the debt allocable to it is being transferred to it as of 1 January 1953, effective as of the date of its registration in the commercial register.

(2) Vereinigte Stahlwerke AG i. L., each of the Obligor Companies, each of the Mortgagor Companies, The National City Bank of New York, Irving Trust Company and Kreditanstalt fur Wiederaufbau shall forthwith take, each in its own capacity, all action necessary for the implementation and execution of the Plan. The National City Bank of New York and Irving Trust Company, as Depositaries, shall, in particular, accept and hold the Obligations to be issued by the Obligor Companies subject to the terms and provisions of the Plan and of the Declaration and shall distribute to the claimants under the Old Bond Issues Participation Certificates and Scrip in the form and manner provided in the Declaration.

ARTICLE II

(1) The Mortgagor Companies shall secure the liabilities resulting from the respective Obligations by registering in favor of The National City Bank of New York and Irving Trust Company security mortgages on operating properties (real estate and mining properties) of such mortgagor companies as provided in Article VII of the Plan. These mortgages shall be in the respective amounts set out in Column (2) of Annex 10 of the Plan in currency of the United States of America; no consent of any German authority will be required for the entry of the mortgages in currency of the United States of America; Paragraph 15 of the "Verordnung uber die Entragung von Hypotheken in auslandischer Wahrung vom 13. Februar 1920 (RGBl. S. 231) in der Fassung des Gesetzes vom 12. Marz 1931 (RGBl I S. 31)" shall not be applicable. The mortgages shall be entered as first mortgage liens in the land registers of the real estate to be mortgaged and in the mining registers of the mining properties to be mortgaged; in the cases specified in Article VII, Paragraph 2, sentence 2 of the Plan, the mortgages shall be registered at the rank immediately after the existing liens referred to in Annex 13 to the Plan, but they shall move up to the first rank as soon as and to the extent that the prior liens are either cancelled or revert to the owner, and, in order to assure this result, preliminary notices of cancellation shall be registered in favor of The National City Bank of New York and Irving Trust Company.

(2) The transfer of the mortgages and of the claims secured thereby to successors and assigns of The National City Bank of New York and Irving Trust Company is governed by the general rules of law.

ARTICLE III

(1) To the extent that reservations of priority (Rangvorbehalte) or preliminary notices (Vormerkungen) provided for in previous orders of the Combined Steel Group and the Combined Coal Control Group have been entered in the land registers, the mortgages shall be entered in exercise of such reservations of priority or in cancellation of such preliminary notices.

(2) To the extent that such reservations of priority or such preliminary notices will not be fully utilized by the entry of a mortgage, or will not be made use of for the entry of a mortgage, the reservation of priority or the preliminary notice, ranking after such mortgage, will remain in existence in such a way that the owner shall be entitled to make use of the remaining reservation of priority or of the remaining preliminary notice in favor of any creditor, without prejudicing, however, the rights of any person other than the creditors of the refunded debt to claim a rank below that required for securing such debt.

ARTICLE IV

(1) To prove to the land registry that a real estate or a mining property of a Mortgagor Company is or is not a real estate or a mining property to be mortgaged in accordance with Article II of this Order, the written statement of the Managing Directors (Vorstand) or of the Managers (Geschaeftsfuehrer) of such company shall be sufficient, which statement is not required to be in the form prescribed in Paragraph 29 of the land register ordinance (Grundbuchordnung).

(2) No consent of the party in interest will be required either for the cancellation of a preliminary notice entered pursuant to a previous order of the Combined Steel Group or for the correction of the land register to the extent that such notice was not utilized for the entry of the mortgage.

ARTICLE V

Pursuant to the provisions of Article 5 of Regulation No. 6 under Law No. 27, Vereinigte Stahlwerke AG i.L., is hereby released from any and all liability under any of the Old Bond Issues as from 1 January 1953 and from any and all liability under the refunded new debt as from the date of its transfer to the Obligor Companies. Neither The National City Bank of New York nor Irving Trust Company as Trustees nor any holder of any bond or debenture including interest coupons pertaining thereto under the Old Bond Issues, or of any claim based thereon, shall have any right to enforce the same or any of the provisions of any of the indentures referred to herein against either Vereinigte Stahlwerke AG i.L., or its Liquidators, or against any of its successor companies, or against any of the properties of either Vereinigte Stahlwerke AG i.L. or any of its successor companies or of any subsidiary of any such successor company, and no holder of any such bond or debenture, including interest coupons, under the Old Bond Issues or of any claims based thereon shall have any other right or claim by reason of the holding or ownership thereof, or otherwise, except to surrender the said bond or debenture or interest coupons in exchange for Participation Certificates or Scrip, or both, in the manner provided in the Declaration, after such bond or debenture or interest coupons shall have been validated pursuant to the Validation Law for German Foreign Currency Bonds, dated 25 August 1952, or, in the case of non-validation, to claim compensation uder Part V of said Law against the Obligor Companies, severally, in the respective percentages indicated above.

ARTICLE VI

The term "Taxes and other duties" used in Law No. 27 will include turnover taxes and transfer taxes as well as other duties, fees and costs, which otherwise would have to be paid in consequence of these measures, subject to the provisions of the following sentence. The treatment of the deconcentration measures for profit and property taxation purposes is determined by the orders of the competent highest fiscal authority of the Land which will establish them in agreement with the persons subject to taxation.

ARTICLE VII

The English and German texts of the Plan and its Annexes are equally authentic.

TRIAD TELEVISION CORP. ET AL.

FIRST STATEMENT CONCERNING PRE-HEARING CONFERENCES AND ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

In re applications of Triad Television Corporation, Parma, Michigan, Docket No. 11169, File No. BPCT-1846; Booth Radio & Television Stations, Inc., Parma, Michigan, Docket No. 11170, File No. BPCT-1866; Television Corporation of Michigan, Inc., Onondaga, Michigan, Docket No. 11171, File No. BPCT-1870; Jackson Broadcasting & Television Corporation, Parma, Michigan, Docket No. 11172, File No. BPCT-1871; Michigan State Board of Agriculture, Onondaga, Michigan, Docket No. 11173; File No. BPCT-1885; for construction permits for new television stations Channel 10).

1. Pre-hearing conferences were held herein on October 8 and October 11, 1954, and the following agreements were reached among the parties and are found to be acceptable and approved by the Hearing Examiner:

(a) The direct cases, in written form, shall be prepared as follows:

(1) The testimony of each witness shall be prepared in narrative form and shall be submitted under the affidavit of the particular witness.

(2) All narrative statements shall be prepared in double-spaced form. Carbon copies will not be acceptable.

(3) Parties shall be designated by abbreviated names, as follows: Triad, Booth, Michigan, Jackson, Board and Commission Counsel.

(4) Each party shall mark its exhibits with its name and a number. Narrative statements shall be numbered in series, beginning with one. An exhibit connected with a narrative statement shall be given the same number as the narrative statement, plus an identifying letter in series, such as "Triad No. 1-A."

(b) The "direct case" will include the affirmative proposals of each of the parties with respect to its own application, i. e., all data desired to be submitted by the applicant in connection with his qualifications and proposals, and will not include testimony or exhibits in the nature of rebuttal with respect to the proposals of the other parties.

(c) Where the direct case in written form contains testimony of witnesses whose direct testimony appropriately could have been taken by deposition, parties will not object to taking cross-examination of such witnesses through deposition procedures rather than requiring those witnesses to be brought to Washington.

(d) With reference to program proposals, each applicant will submit, as a minimum: (1) Complete program schedule of programs, including the classification of each program by type and source, (2) non-network program descriptions, (3) analyses of proposed typical week by type and source, together with information on spot announcements as required by FCC Form 301.

(e) Each applicant will furnish a minimum of 2 copies (3 copies, if possible without re-doing material already prepared) of its exhibits to each of the other applicants and 1 copy, each, to Commission Counsel and the Examiner.

(f) All parties stipulated that syndicated and feature film is available to all applicants.

(g) Requests for additional information, if needed, should be made at the first pre-hearing conference following the exchange of the exhibits comprising the "direct case." [1]

2. Commission Counsel stated his views as to the showing necessary for the applicants to make in order to meet the issues regarding "overlap" (see Tr. 91-94, 120).

3. After discussion of possible petitions to change the issues, which are contemplated by some of the parties, the Examiner ruled that parties should proceed to prepare their direct cases on the issues as presently constituted, and that, if new issues are added, parties would be given an opportunity to supplement their direct cases to the extent of furnishing exhibits to cover the new issues that are added.

4. In view of heavy and conflicting commitments of some counsel in other pending cases, which were due to circumstances beyond their control, the Examiner found that good cause had been shown for some continuance of the hearing beyond its presently scheduled date. In view of this determination, a series of dates for conferences and for hearing was scheduled, as set forth below. It is recognized, however, that it may be necessary to postpone further the actual hearing date in order to accomplish the pre-hearing procedures contemplated in the Commission's new rules.

[1] After discussion, the Examiner ruled that material not included in an applicant's exhibits, which was later furnished by such applicant on request, could not properly be offered by such applicant as part of its "direct case." Whether it may properly be offered as part of such applicant's rebuttal case will be ruled on if and when a specific offer is made.

October 29, 1954, 2:00 p. m.: Pre-hearing Conference.

December 1, 1954, 2:00 p. m.: Pre-hearing Conference at which parties will exchange exhibits comprising their direct cases on issues as presently constituted.

December 9, 1954, 10:00 a. m.: Pre-hearing Conference for purposes of § 1.841 (c).

December 10, 1954, 10:00 a. m.: Hearing for receiving exhibits and taking testimony.

It is ordered, This 15th day of October 1954, that the foregoing agreements and requirements shall govern the course of the proceeding to the extent indicated, unless modified by the Examiner for cause or by the Commission upon review of the Examiner's ruling.

It is further ordered, That the hearing, heretofore scheduled for November 22, 1954, is hereby continued until December 10, 1954, and that pre-hearing conferences are scheduled at the dates and times specified in paragraph 4, above.

MINERS BROADCASTING SERVICE, INC., ET AL.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATIONS FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc., Ambridge, Pennsylvania, Docket No. 11202, File No. BP-9102; Louis Rosenberg, Tarentum, Pennsylvania, Docket No. 11203, File No. BP-9192; Theodore H. Oppegard and Carl R. Lee, doing business as Somerset Broadcasting Company, Painesville, Ohio, Docket No. 11204, File No. BP-9358; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 13th day of October 1954;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled applications of the Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc.; Louis Rosenberg and the Somerset Broadcasting Company, for construction permits for new standard broadcast stations to operate on 1460 kilocycles with a power of 500 watts, daytime only, at Ambridge, Pennsylvania; Tarentum, Pennsylvania, and Painesville, Ohio, respectively;

It appearing, that pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicants were advised by letter dated August 6, 1954, of deficiencies in their respective applications and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of any of the applications would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing, that each applicant replied and requested a comparative hearing; and

It further appearing, that each applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate the proposed station, but that the operation of Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc. is mutually exclusive with the proposal of Louis Rosenberg; would cause interference to the proposal of the Somerset Broadcasting Company; and may not provide the recommended minimum of interference-free service within its normally protected daytime contour (0.5 mv/m) because of interference from Station WBNS, Columbus, Ohio, and the proposal of the Somerset Broadcasting Company; that the operation of Louis Rosenberg is mutually exclusive with the proposal of the Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc.; and would cause interference to the proposal of the Somerset Broadcasting Company; that the proposed operation of the Somerset Broadcasting Company would cause interference to the proposal of the Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc.; and would cause borderline interference to the proposal of Louis Rosenberg; and

It further appearing, that the Commission, after consideration of the replies, is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

It is ordered, That pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed stations, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the operations proposed by the Somerset Broadcasting Company and the Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc., would involve objectionable interference with each other, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the installation and operation of the station proposed by Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc., would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations with particular reference to providing the required minimum of interference-free service within its normally protected daytime contour (0.5 mv/m) because of interference from Station WBNS, Columbus, Ohio, and the proposal of the Somerset Broadcasting Company.

4. To determine whether the operations proposed by Louis Rosenberg and the Somerset Broadcasting Company would involve objectionable interference with each other, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

5. To determine whether the operations proposed by Louis Rosenberg and the Somerset Broadcasting Company would involve objectionable interference with each other, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

6. To determine, on a comparative basis, which of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would best serve the public interest, convenience or necessity in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues and the record made with respect to the significant differences between the applicants as to:

(a) The background and experience of each of the above-named applicants to own and operate the proposed stations.

(b) The proposals of each of the above-named applicants with respect to the management and operation of the proposed stations.

(c) The programming service proposed in each of the above-mentioned applications.

It is further ordered, That the issues in the above-entitled proceeding may be enlarged by the Examiner on his own motion or on petition properly filed by a party to the proceeding and upon sufficient allegations of fact in support thereof, by the addition of the following issue: To determine whether the funds available to the applicant will give reasonable assurance that the proposals set forth in the application will be effectuated.

ORDER POSTPONING HEARING

OCTOBER 18, 1954.

On July 7, 1954, this Commission issued its notice of and order for hearing in these proceedings (Investment Company Act Release No. 1990) ordering that hearings herein be held July 27, 1954. On July 19, 1954, Alleghany Corporation filed a motion to postpone said hearings until a date to be subsequently determined, and pursuant to stipulations between Alleghany and the Commission said hearings were postponed from time to time until October 19, 1954.

Alleghany having renewed its motion to postpone, on October 15, 1954, it was further stipulated between Alleghany and the Commission that the hearings in these proceedings be further postponed subject to call of the Trial Examiner but with not less than 15 days notice to Alleghany: Provided, however, That if the Interstate Commerce Commission, before call of the Trial Examiner, revokes, modifies or suspends its order dated June 5, 1945, entered in Finance Docket 14692, in such manner as to relieve Alleghany from compliance with certain provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act specified in said order, then until the conclusion of the hearings herein Alleghany will not, without first obtaining the approval of this Commission, engage in any act or consummate any transactions which, if Alleghany were registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, would by the terms of that Act either be prohibited or require an order of this Commission exempting or approving such transactions before their consummation.

The Commission being of the opinion, on the basis of the stipulation of October 14, 1954, above recited, that the motion to postpone the hearings in these proceedings may appropriately be granted in the public interest and the interest of investors:

It is hereby ordered, That the motion to postpone the hearings ordered to be held on October 19, 1954, in these proceedings be, and the same hereby is granted and said hearings be and the same are hereby postponed subject to call of the Trial Examiner but with not less than 15 days notice to Alleghany.

[File No. 812-894]

DETROIT AND CLEVELAND NAVIGATION CO.

NOTICE OF FILING REQUESTING ORDER EXEMPTING TRANSACTION BETWEEN AFFILIATED PERSONS

OCTOBER 20, 1954.

Notice is hereby given that Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company ("D & C"), a registered closed-end, non-diversified investment company, has filed an application pursuant to the provisions of section 17 (b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "act") for exemption from the provisions of section 17 (a) (2) of the participation by any affiliated person of D & C or an affiliated person of such a person in a proposed exchange of securities.

Subject to the affirmative vote of 2/3 of its shareholders, D & C proposes to partially liquidate by offering to each of its shareholders the opportunity to surrender part or all of his holdings of shares of the company for cancellation and redemption, and to receive in exchange certain of D & C's portfolio common stocks and cash having an aggregate value of $16.25 for each of D & C's shares surrendered. The portfolio securities to be exchanged and the price per share assigned for such purpose are as follows: Fruehauf Trailer Company at $28¼, American Optical Company at $37⅞ and Denver Chicago Trucking Company, Inc. at $13. Approximately 90 percent of D & C's assets of about $7,000,000 consists of 115,900 shares of Fruehauf Trailer Company, 54,100 shares of American Optical Company and 150,000 shares of Denver-Chicago Trucking Company, Inc.; the other assets consist of certain vessels and a small amount of cash and cash items.

Shareholders of D & C will have the right to specify first and second choices of the stocks which they will accept in exchange and such choices will be honored in order either in full or pro rata. No fractional shares of portfolio stocks will be exchanged and any balances will be paid in cash. The right of shareholders to effect exchanges will expire 20 days after mailing of the notice thereof.

The application indicates that the exchange offer represents a compromise between D & C shareholders desiring an immediate liquidation of the company in its entirety (represented by a majority of the Board of Directors) and George J. Kolowich, former President of the company, and his associates, who are opposed to immediate liquidation.

Kolowich has agreed with the Board of Directors of D & C to vote his shares in favor of the proposed exchange offer and to take certain steps in implementation thereof. Kolowich has further agreed not to accept the exchange offer and to endeavor to persuade his associates to do the same. It is a condition to Kolowich's agreement that a derivative law suit brought against Kolowich and others on behalf of the company and its shareholders, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, be dismissed: In accordance with this condition a Motion for Dismissal has been filed by the Plaintiffs and will be heard on October 26, 1954. The application states that the fairness of the proposed exchange will of necessity be submitted to and scrutinized by the Court prior to the entry of an order dismissing said action. The agreement with Kolowich also provides that upon dismissal of said suit D & C will pay the attorneys for the Plaintiffs the sum of $40,000 for their service to D & C.

The price of $16.25 at which D & C's shares are proposed to be exchanged is stated to have been arrived at in arm's-length negotiations between the various interests in said law suit.

The price of the stocks of Fruehauf Trailer Corporation and American Optical Company is the closing price of these stocks on the New York Stock Exchange on September 22, 1954. The price of the Denver Chicago Trucking Company stock, which is not listed on any stock exchange, is stated to have been arrived at by arm's-length negotiations.

Section 17 (a) (2) of the act prohibits, among other things, an affiliated person of a registered investment company or an affiliated person of such a person, from purchasing any security from such registered company, subject to certain exceptions not here material, unless the Commission, upon application pursuant to section 17 (b) of the act, grants an exemption from the provisions of section 17 (a). Under the terms of section 17 (b) an exemption shall be granted by the Commission if evidence establishes: that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned; that the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of each registered investment company concerned, as recited in its registration statement and reports filed under the act; and that the proposed transaction is consistent with the general purposes of the act. D & C has requested that the Commission issue an order exempting the transaction from the provisions of section 17 (a) (2) to the extent applicable, pursuant to an order under section 17 (b) of the act.

D & C represents that the terms of the proposed transaction are reasonable and fair; that the partial liquidation to be effected by the exchange is consistent with the only policy stated in its registration statement, namely that of possible liquidation of the company, and consistent with the purposes of the act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may not later than November 1, 1954, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

By the Commission.

NEW JERSEY

DECLARATION OF DISASTER AREA

Whereas, it has been reported that beginning on or about October 15, 1954, because of the disastrous effects of hurricane, floods and excessive rainfall, damage resulted to residences and business property located in certain areas in the State of New Jersey; and

Whereas, the Small Business Administration has investigated and has received other reports of investigations of conditions in the areas affected; and

Whereas, after reading and evaluating reports of such conditions, I find that the conditions in such areas constitute a catastrophe within the purview of the Small Business Act of 1953;

Now, therefore, as Acting Administrator of the Small Business Administration, I hereby determine that:

1. Applications for disaster loans under the provisions of section 207 (b) of the Small Business Act of 1953 may be received and considered by the office below indicated from persons or firms whose property situated in the following counties (including any areas adjacent to the counties below named) suffered damage or other destruction as a result of the catastrophe above referred to:

Counties of: Mercer, Ocean, Burlington, Camden, Gloucester, Atlantic, Salem, Cumberland, Cape May.

Small Business Administration Regional Office, 1015 Chestnut Street, Room 1118, Philadelphia 7, Pa.

DISPOSITION OF RAW OPTICAL GLASS BLANKS HELD IN NATIONAL STOCK PILE

Pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (e) of the Strategic and Critical Materials Stock Piling Act, 60 Stat. 597, 50 U. S. C. 98b (e), notice is hereby given of a proposed disposition of 668 pieces of raw optical glass blanks now held in the National Stock Pile.

This quantity of raw optical glass blanks is no longer needed in the National Stock Pile because of a revised determination on October 4, 1954, by the Office of Defense Mobilization that newer and better designs render the present material no longer useful in time of war. The material is therefore obsolescent within the meaning of said section 3 (e).

The Department of the Air Force which has a requirement for optical glass has expressed itself as interested in acquiring this material for current requirements. Accordingly, it is proposed to transfer the 668 pieces of raw optical glass blanks to the Air Force on and after April 22, 1955, on the basis of reimbursement for actual costs to stockpile funds. The proposed disposition will have no disruptive effect on the market for raw optical glass blanks.

Disposition of the 668 pieces of raw optical glass blanks as outlined above has been proposed in order to avoid (1) expensive and costly waste of this material, and (2) continuing storage charges.

Dated: October 20, 1954.

[Valencia Orange Reg. 27]

PART 922—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF HANDLING

§ 922.327 Valencia Orange Regulation 27—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Order No. 22 (19 F. R. 1741), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective March 31, 1954, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The Valencia Orange Administrative Committee held an open meeting on October 21, 1954, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Valencia oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Valencia oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date of this section.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., October 24, 1954, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., October 31, 1954, is hereby fixed as follows:

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 18 F. R. 6767), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona.

Order as amended. The provisions in paragraphs (b) (1) (ii) and (iii) of § 953.666 (Lemon Regulation 559; 19 F. R. 6674) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(ii) District 2: 245 carloads.
(iii) District 3: 20 carloads.

C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of lemons, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Lemon Administrative Committee on October 20, 1954, such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., October 24, 1954, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., October 31, 1954, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: Unlimited movement;
(ii) District 2: 230 carloads;
(iii) District 3: 10 carloads.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said amended marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached to Lemon Regulation 559 (19 F. R. 6674) and made a part of this section by this reference.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," "prorate base," "District 1," "District 2," and "District 3," shall have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

PART 42—IRREGULAR AIR CARRIER AND OFF-ROUTE RULES

MAINTENANCE-TIME LIMITATIONS

The purpose of this revision is to reflect a change in policy with respect to the establishment and revision of maintenance-time limitations. Language similar to that used in CAM 40 and CAM 41 has been incorporated to standardize the establishment and revision of maintenance-time limitations for all air carrier aircraft irrespective of the basis for certification.

1. Section 42.31–3 is deleted.

2. Section 42.32–5 is changed to a policy and paragraph (b) revised to read as follows:

§ 42.32–5 Maintenance manual (CAA policies which apply to § 42.32 (d) (1)).

(b) Maintenance-time limitations. The approved time limitations for inspection and overhauling of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, and appliances must be those time limitations substantiated by, and approved for, the air carrier operator by the Administrator. Initial approval of the time limitations or approval of amendments to the time limitations will be accomplished by the regional office of the region in which the principal maintenance base is located. This approval will be based, to a large extent, on the recommendation of the Aviation Safety Agent—Aircraft Maintenance assigned to the operation. The inspection and overhaul time limitations applicable to airframes, powerplants, propellers, and appliances will be revised on the basis of service experience. When the service records indicate that any component or subcomponent consistently requires repair, adjustment, or other maintenance because of damage, wear, or deterioration, within the current time limitations, the air carrier will be responsible for initiating corrective action. The procedures for amendment of such time limitations are as follows:

(1) Notification of intent to amend time limitations. An operator desiring to amend the currently approved time limitations should advise the Aviation Safety Agent—Aircraft Maintenance assigned to his operation at least 15 days prior to the submission of his intention to amend the time limitations indicating the components involved and the desired change.

(2) Application for amendment. The operator shall submit a written application in the form of a letter outlining the desired changes and attaching complete substantiating data. The letter shall include a statement to the effect that the operating, service, and overhaul records of the involved components for the past 90 days indicate that the changes requested will not adversely affect the continuous condition of airworthiness and safety of operation of the involved component. The substantiating data to be submitted with this letter will include a record of all mechanical irregularities, and malfunctions, and flight interruptions experienced during the preceding 90 days of operation. It will also include overhaul and inspection records pertaining to the most recent overhauls and inspections conducted on the involved components, under the currently approved time limitations.

(3) Procedure for establishing initial or revised time limitations. Time limitations may be established in terms of hours of operation, multiples of engine overhaul periods, or multiples of inspection periods. Time limitations for components on which deterioration is not necessarily a function of operating hours, such as electronic units, pitot tubes, and emergency flotation equipment, may be established in terms of calendar months. Certain items may be maintained on an on-condition overhaul basis. On-condition overhaul is applicable to components on which a determination of airworthiness may be made by visual inspection, measurements, tests, or other means without a teardown inspection or overhaul.

(i) Airframe, initial time limitations. The initial time limitations for overhauls, inspections, or checks of airframes may be established on a recurrent fixed time basis or by adoption of a structural inspection specification covering procedures, such as pattern inspections, block overhauls, or progressive inspections. Regardless of the basis upon which the time limitations are established, the same basic standards will be applicable. The maintenance program must specify checks, inspections, and overhauls to be performed and times at which they will be performed.

(ii) Appliances, initial time limitations. Initial time limitations for inspections, bench checks, major inspections, or overhaul, as applicable, to the appliance involved, should not be greater than those limitations applicable to the same or similar appliances used in existing aircraft operated by the air carrier. When the usage or installation of such appliances differs to a substantial extent from the previous usage or installation, the time limitations shall be adjusted to reflect the extent of such difference. When new usage or installation is involved, conservative time limitations should be established until service experience shows that more liberal time limits can be used. In those cases where an appliance has a subcomponent which is subject to wear with time in service, the air carrier will establish maintenance procedures for periodic inspection of such subcomponent to insure its continued airworthiness.

(iii) Powerplants; initial time limitations. (a) The initial overhaul time limitations for any engine used on multi-engine aircraft which has never been used in air carrier service will tentatively be established at 1000 hours. However, a sample overhaul of a representative number of engines, but not less than three, will be accomplished at each increment of 100 hours, beginning at 800 hours, unless such new model engine incorporates certain unconventional features not previously employed in air carrier operations, in which case, the initial overhaul period will be established by the Administrator. Satisfactory teardown inspection will be necessary before increasing the fleet overhaul period to the next higher increment. This sample overhaul procedure and evaluation of service experience will provide the operator with necessary information to substantiate the basic 1000-hour overhaul.

(b) The initial time limitations for overhaul of an engine model which has received substantial air carrier service experience, but not by the applicant, will tentatively be established at 1000 hours. An engine model will not be considered as having substantial air carrier service experience unless it has been satisfactorily operated by another carrier on an approved 1000-hour or higher overhaul period. However, it will be required that the basic 1000-hour overhaul period be substantiated on the same basis as outlined for a new engine except that sample overhauls of a representative number of engines will be accomplished in increments of 100-hour periods beginning at 900 hours. The initial time limitations for overhaul of accessories which are a part of the power package, including propellers, will be established at the overhaul period fixed for the engine itself, unless service experience permits or requires higher or lower overhaul periods.

(c) The following procedures will be applicable in establishing initial overhaul time limitations for engines used in single-engine air carrier aircraft:

(1) Initial overhaul time limitation for single-engine aircraft powerplants will be established in accordance with the manufacturer's recommended periods for new air carrier operators using such equipment. Where the manufacturer does not recommend specific periods for overhaul of the engine, one of the two following conditions will be applicable.

(i) Operators who have previously operated and satisfactorily maintained the engine in question (as revealed by service and overhaul records) may have the initial overhaul time limitation for that engine established at a figure not to exceed 600 hours.

(ii) Operators who have not had the experience necessary to demonstrate the ability to operate and maintain the pertinent engine in accordance with (i) of this subdivision, may have initial overhaul time limitations established at a figure not to exceed 500 hours for the engine concerned.

(iv) Airframe; revision of time limitation. The increases of time limitations for overhaul (or major inspection in case of pattern system, etc.) of airframes will be based on evaluation of all pertinent service records and examination of at least one aircraft, of the model involved, that has been overhauled at the currently approved time limitations. When a pattern or block overhaul type of maintenance system is used, it will be permissible to reschedule individual items in another block or pattern, if performance and condition of the specific item warrants such an increase.

(v) Powerplants and associated mechanical appliances; revision of time limitations. Increases in engine overhaul periods will not be approved in inerements greater than 100 hours. Increases in time limitations above the 1000-hour basic engine overhaul period will be considered on the basis of satisfactory service experience at the currently approved time limitations. The operator may make application to amend the currently approved time limitations by submitting a letter to the assigned CAA agent, indicating the desired time limitations on the particular engines involved and designating three to five engines for disassembly inspection by the CAA agent. The engines chosen for exhibit must have operated in a satisfactory manner for the maximum time permissible, under currently approved time limitations, in relation to the established operation schedules. If, after disassembly and inspection of the exhibit engines and related components, it is found that the new time limitations are justified, the air carrier may then submit a formal application requesting the extension of the overhaul period on the components of the same type and model. Engine accessories may be operated to double or triple the approved engine overhaul time limitations if it is found that previous satisfactory service and overhaul experience, including the service to be performed at each engine change period, would justify the increase as not adversely affecting the continuous condition of airworthiness of the component involved. The procedure for requesting, and granting, increases in overhaul time limitations, for such components, will be the same as used for the basic engine.

(vi) Appliances, general; revision of time limitations. Increases in established times for inspections, bench tests, or overhaul periods will be based on consideration of the following factors: (a) Geographical area or areas of operation; (b) number of landings, long haul versus short haul; (c) maintenance organization and inspection procedures; (d) manufacturers' recommendations; (e) service history, particularly of known or evident trends toward malfunctioning. When electrical/electronic appliances are overhauled on an on-condition basis, special consideration will be given to the continued airworthiness of mechanical components of such equipment.

(vii) Emergency equipment. The inspection periods for first aid kits, flotation equipment, and other emergency equipment will assure the continued serviceability and immediate readiness of such equipment for its intended emergency purposes. Major inspection periods will be established for the purpose of determining that all components of the emergency equipment are complete and airworthy and may be expected to remain in this condition until the next major inspection or actual use under emergency conditions. Routine inspection periods will be established to assure that such equipment (or any component thereof) is installed or stored properly, has not been tampered with, damaged, or had articles removed since the last inspection. All inspection periods will be adjusted in accordance with service experience and pertinent operating conditions.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 984]

HANDLING OF WALNUTS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON

BUDGET OF EXPENSES OF WALNUT CONTROL BOARD AND RATES OF ASSESSMENT FOR MARKETING YEAR BEGINNING AUGUST 1, 1954

Notice is hereby given that the Department is considering the issuance of the proposed administrative rule set forth herein pursuant to the provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 105, as amended, and Order No. 84, as amended, regulating the handling of walnuts grown in California, Oregon, and Washington (19 F. R. 4214), effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

Prior to the final issuance of such administrative rule, consideration will be given to data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., and which are received not later than the close of business on the tenth day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except that if said tenth day after publication should fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday, such submission may be received by the Director not later than the close of business on the next following work day.

The proposed budget of $130,000, the assessment rate of 0.15 cent per pound of merchantable unshelled walnuts handled or certified for handling, and the assessment rate of 0.18 cent per pound of shelled walnuts handled during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, were unanimously recommended by the Walnut Control Board, the administrative agency under said amended agreement and order, at a duly called meeting in San Francisco on September 20, 1954.

The proposed budget and assessment rates appear to be reasonable.

The proposed budget is approximately $44,000 above the actual expenses of the Walnut Control Board (under both the Federal and State of California orders) for the 1953–54 marketing year. However, it is expected that the expenses of the Control Board in the 1954–55 marketing year will be substantially greater than in 1953–54 in view of the fact that it will be operating for the first time the amended agreement and order which provides for overall surplus control as well as merchantable inshell control.

Section 984.65 of the amended agreement and order provides for a finding by the Secretary of the reasonable and likely expenses to be incurred by the Walnut Control Board during each marketing year, and that such expenses shall be prorated between merchantable unshelled walnuts handled or certified for handling and shelled walnuts handled on the general basis of the respective estimated costs of operation. In § 984.66, it is required that the assessment rates on these two categories be fixed separately and with the view of insuring that each category will provide sufficient funds to pay its prorated part of the estimated costs of operation. Of the estimated total expenses of $130,000, it is anticipated that the regulation of the first category mentioned will cost about $95,000, and that the regulation of the second category mentioned will cost about $35,000. As indicated above, it is believed that the respective volumes of the two categories, when multiplied by the respective proposed assessment rates, should provide sufficient revenue to cover the estimated expenses.

Therefore, the proposed administrative rule is as follows:

§ 984.306 Budget of expenses of the Walnut Control Board and rates of assessment for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954—(a) Budget of expenses. Expenses in the amount of $130,000 are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Walnut Control Board for its maintenance and functioning, and for such purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the provisions of amended agreement and order, determine to be appropriate for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954.

(b) Rate of assessment. Each handler shall pay to the Control Board on demand from time to time 0.15 cent per pound of merchantable walnuts handled or certified for handling and 0.18 cent per pound of shelled walnuts handled by him during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 20th day of October 1954.

[SEAL] S. R. SMITH,
Director,
Fruit and Vegetable Division.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS FOR RAILROAD COMPANIES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

OCTOBER 12, 1954.

Having under consideration the accounting procedure to be observed by railroad companies to record changes in transportation property, the Commission by Division 1 has approved changes in the prescribed accounting regulations as shown below. These modifications prescribe a list of accounting units to designate those items of property the cost of which shall be written out of property accounts when the property is retired, and also rules to be followed to record changes in line of roadway, relocation of yard tracks, and major renewals of roadway facilities and rolling stock.

Any interested party may on or before November 22, 1954, file with the Commission a written statement of reasons why the attached modifications should not be made, and may request oral argument thereon. Unless otherwise decided after consideration of objections so filed, an order will be entered making the modification effective January 1, 1955.

[SEAL] GEORGE W. LAIRD,
Secretary.

1. In § 10.01–7 Road property retired cancel paragraph (e) and substitute the following for it:

(e) The term "unit of road property" means those items of road property that are listed in § 10.01–15.

2. After § 10.01–7 Road property retired insert the following additional instruction:

§ 10.01–8 Property changes—(a) Changes in line of road. When changes are made in a line of road for the purpose of reducing curves or grades, or to eliminate bridges, tunnels, or other physical features, the part of the line so changed shall be considered property retired and its ledger value credited to the property accounts. The new line of road, including land, grading, ballast, track elements, and other transportation facilities serving it, shall be considered an addition and its cost charged to the property accounts. The cost of such track changes which do not involve change in the existing roadbed shall be charged to operating expenses, even though the tracks may be dismantled in the process, but resulting track extensions or reductions shall be accounted for as additions or retirements, as appropriate, and the betterment cost of improved parts applied shall be charged to property accounts.

(b) Relocation of yard tracks. The cost of shifting or rearranging tracks within a yard shall be charged to operating expenses, even though the tracks may be dismantled in the process, but resulting increases or decreases in grading, ballast, or track length shall be accounted for as additions or retirements, as appropriate, and the betterment cost of improved parts applied shall be charged to the property accounts. However, dismantled tracks which are replaced by other tracks outside the existing yard shall be retired from the property accounts. In that case the replacement tracks plus any net increase in trackage due to the yard reconstruction shall be accounted for as additions.

(c) Major renewals. When the cost of renewals of a unit of road property, or of a unit of equipment, exclusive of the expense of dismantling and of repairs of old parts reused exceeds fifty percent of the replacement cost new of the kind and class as rebuilt at the time of rebuilding, the unit shall be considered as rebuilt. This rule does not apply to renewal of a unit of roadway property the replacement cost new of which does not exceed $35,000.

(1) The rebuilt unit shall be accounted for as an addition and the old unit accounted for as retired from service. The term "cost of renewals" means the cost of material (other than second-hand parts remaining in the rebuilt unit) plus the cost of labor used in the rebuilding process, exclusive of the expense of dismantling and repairing old parts reused.

(2) The charge to the appropriate road and equipment account for the rebuilt units shall be the sum of (i) the value of the reused parts determined by deducting a fair allowance for depreciation from current prices of new material, and (ii) the cost of labor and additional material applied; both exclusive of the expense of dismantling and repairing old parts reused.

3. After § 10.01–14 Submission of questions insert the following additional instruction:

§ 10.01–15 List of accounting units of property for railroads. (a) This list of units is established for the purpose of designating the items of property the cost of which shall be written out of road and equipment accounts when the property is retired and replaced. When property is retired and not replaced the cost thereof shall be written out of road and equipment accounts whether or not it constitutes a unit as established in this list.

(b) The cost of replacing minor items, i. e., the component parts of which units of property are composed, shall be charged to operating expenses except for betterments.

(c) The cost of additional units of property, or of additions to units of property in the form of minor items, shall be charged to road and equipment accounts, except as excluded therefrom under the minimum rule.

(d) The units listed are to be considered representative and not as excluding from any account analogous units which are omitted from the list. Where additional units are desired in a given account, appropriate designations may be selected, preferably from a list in other accounts. It is contemplated that the list of units contained herein will be revised and amended from time to time as experience and conditions warrant. All items listed are subject to the effective minimum rule.

BRIDWELL OIL CO.

ORDER ACCEPTING RATE SCHEDULE AND SUPPLEMENT FOR FILING AND SUSPENDING OTHER SUPPLEMENTS

On September 16, 1954, Bridwell Oil Company (Applicant) tendered for filing with the Commission, pursuant to Order No. 174-A issued August 6, 1954, in Docket No. R-138, a certain contract, together with two changes therein, which have been designated as FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3, and Supplements Nos. 1 and 2 thereto, respectively. A further change, tendered for filing on September 27, 1954, has been designated Supplement No. 3 thereto.

Additionally, on September 24 and 27, 1954, Applicant tendered for filing two letters providing for certain changes in its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4, which have been designated as Supplements Nos. 1 and 2 thereto.

Applicant's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 is a contract dated January 23, 1953, covering the sale of natural gas by Applicant to Tennessee Gas Transmission Company (Tennessee). Supplement No. 1 thereto is a supplemental agreement dated November 27, 1953. Supplement No. 2 is a request that the charge for the gas sold be increased by approximately 1.54574 cents per Mcf, effective August 1, 1954, based upon redetermination provisions in the basic contract. Supplement No. 3 is a further request that the charge for the gas sold be increased by approximately 0.35763 cent per Mcf because of favored-nation provisions in the basic contract. The foregoing increases would raise the price of gas to Tennessee to 11.54574 cents and 11.90337 cents per Mcf, respectively. Applicant requests that Supplement No. 3 become effective November 1, 1954.

Supplements Nos. 1 and 2 to Applicant's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 provide for increases of 1.76505 cents and 0.35763 cent per Mcf for gas sold to Tennessee due to redetermination and favored-nation provisions, respectively, in the basic contract. Such increases are proposed to be effective August 1 and November 1, 1954. The supplements raise the price of gas to Tennessee to 11.76505 cents and 12.12268 cents per Mcf, respectively.

The gas sold by Applicant to Tennessee, pursuant to the foregoing rate schedules and supplements thereto, is transported and sold in interstate commerce.

In view of the fact that Applicant's only justification for the increases requested is based on the redetermination and favored-nation provisions of the basic contracts, such increases may be unjust, unreasonable, and otherwise unlawful and should be suspended, as hereinafter provided.

The Commission finds:

(1) Bridwell Oil Company is a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act, and its sale of gas to Tennessee Gas Transmission Company under FPC Gas Rate Schedules Nos. 3 and 4, and supplements thereto, is a sale in interstate commerce of natural gas for resale for ultimate public consumption.

(2) FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3, and Supplement No. 1 thereto, filed by Applicant on September 16, 1954, should be accepted for filing.

(3) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of such act, concerning the reasonableness of the increases in rates and charges proposed by Applicant in Supplements Nos. 2 and 3 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 filed on September 16 and 27, 1954, and in Supplements Nos. 1 and 2 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 filed on September 24 and 27, 1954, and said supplements be suspended as hereinafter ordered and the use thereof deferred pending hearing and decision thereon, except as they may become effective as provided by the Natural Gas Act.

The Commission orders:

(A) FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 and Supplement No. 1 thereto filed by Bridwell Oil Company on September 16, 1954, be and the same hereby are accepted for filing.

(B) Nothing contained in this order shall be construed as a waiver of the requirements of section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act; nor shall it be construed as constituting approval by this Commission of any service, rate charge, classification, or any rule, regulation, contract or practice affecting such service or rate, nor shall this be deemed as recognition of any claimed contractual right or obligation affecting or relating to such service or rate.

(C) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by further order of the Commission, concerning the reasonableness of the rates and charges contained in Supplements Nos. 2 and 3 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 filed on September 16 and 27, 1954, and in Supplements Nos. 1 and 2 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 filed on September 24 and 27, 1954.

(D) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Supplements Nos. 2 and 3 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 and Supplements Nos. 1 and 2 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 be and the same are hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until further orders of the Commission, but not beyond March 17, 1955, with respect to Supplement No. 2 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3, March 25, 1955, with respect to Supplement No. 1 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4, and April 1, 1955, with respect to Supplement No. 3 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 and Supplement No. 2 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4, and until such further time as such supplements may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(E) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(F) This order is without prepudice to any finding or orders which have been or may hereafter be made by this Commission in any proceeding now pending, or hereafter instituted, by or against Bridwell Oil Company.

Adopted: October 14, 1954.

Issued: October 19, 1954.

Wisconsin Electric Power Company ("Wisconsin Electric"), a registered holding company, and one of its public utility subsidiaries, Wisconsin Michigan Power Company ("Wisconsin Michigan"), have filed a joint application-declaration with this Commission pursuant to sections 6, 7, 10, and 12 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rules U-43, U-46 and U-50 thereunder with respect to proposed transactions which are summarized as follows:

Wisconsin Michigan proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $3,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, -- percent Series due 1984, to be dated October 15, 1954, and to mature October 15, 1984. The bonds will be issued under and secured by the company's Mortgage and Deed of Trust dated July 15, 1936, as heretofore supplemented and amended and as to be further supplemented by a Sixth Supplemental Indenture to be dated October 15, 1954.

Wisconsin Michigan also proposes to issue an additional 125,000 shares of its Common Stock of the par value of $20 per share of which 50,000 shares are to be sold to Wisconsin Electric for $1,000,000, the aggregate par value thereof, and the remaining 75,000 shares are to be issued to Wisconsin Electric as a stock dividend. As to the proposed stock dividend, Wisconsin Michigan will, by the issuance of such stock, convert its capital surplus amounting to $42,942 and $1,457,058 of its earned surplus into an equivalent aggregate amount of additional par value common stock. Wisconsin Michigan states that at June 30, 1954, it had earned surplus of $2,725,983 and believes that the remaining earned surplus, estimated at over $1,200,000 after completion of the proposed transactions, will be adequate for Wisconsin Michigan's needs.

According to the filing Wisconsin Michigan desires to effect the proposed sale of bonds and stock to secure capital funds needed to meet expenditures required for additions, extensions and improvements to its utility plant and to retire short-term promissory notes aggregating $1,700,000 which will mature on November 30, 1954, and December 5, 1954.

Hereafter, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine, from or through quarantined areas, contained in 9 CFR, 1953 Supp., Part 76, Subpart B, as amended, will not apply to such areas. However, the restrictions pertaining to such movement from non-quarantined areas, contained in said Subpart B, as amended, will apply thereto.

The amendment imposes certain further restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of vesicular exanthema, and relieves certain restrictions presently imposed. It must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest and to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to the restrictions which are relieved. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amendment may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In Part 373 of Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations, § 373.9 (17 F. R. 4281) is hereby revoked, and a new Subpart B is added as follows:

SUBPART B—SALE OF FARM BY BORROWER

Sec.
373.21 General.
373.22 Delegation of authority to State Field Representative.
373.23 Consent of Government to sale.
373.24 Special policies applicable to section 503 loans within first five years of loan.
373.25 General terms and conditions of transfers.
373.26 Preparation of transfer docket in county office.
373.27 Closing.

AUTHORITY: §§ 373.21 to 373.27 issued under sec. 510 (g), 62 Stat. 438; 42 U. S. C. 1480 (g). Statutory provisions interpreted or applied are cited to text in parentheses.

§ 373.21 General. This subpart provides the authority, policies, and procedures for the transfer or sale by Farm Housing borrowers of farms which are security for loans made under Title V of the Housing Act of 1949, for the assumption of Farm Housing debts by the purchasers of such farms, and for the release of the Farm Housing borrowers from liability. When a sale involves such assumption and release, the transaction for the purposes of this subpart will be known as a "transfer."

(a) Policy. When a borrower sells or asks the consent of the Government to the sale of his mortgaged farm, it will be the policy to require payment of the loan in full, or transfer of the indebtedness to an eligible applicant.

(b) Requirements. Consent may be may be given to the transfer and the borrower released from liability provided:

(1) The purchaser:

(i) Is a citizen of the United States.

(ii) Has shown a proper attitude toward meeting his debt obligations.

(iii) Possesses the character, ability, and experience necessary to carry out successfully the undertakings required of him under the Farm Housing program.

(iv) Is not under legal disability of minority.

(v) Is willing to cooperate with the Farmers Home Administration in making satisfactory arrangements with respect to farm development which was planned in connection with the making of the Farm Housing loan.

(vi) Is without sufficient resources on his own account to purchase the farm and pay off the Farm Housing loan, and is unable to secure the necessary credit from other sources upon terms and conditions which he could reasonably be expected to fulfill.

(vii) Has income from the farm and other sources which is sufficient to meet (a) reasonable farm operating expenses, normal capital replacements, and usual family living expenses, (b) payments required on any existing loans, and (c) payments required on the Farm Housing loan.

(viii) Assumes the entire outstanding Farm Housing indebtedness and all the covenants of the mortgage.

(2) The Government will retain a mortgage interest in the property when the transaction is closed at least as favorable as its position prior to the transfer.

(3) Consent is obtained from the holder of any prior mortgage which requires such consent.

(c) Authority of Administrator. The Administrator, subject to the conditions set forth in Title V of the Housing Act of 1949 and such further conditions as he determines, may adjust and modify the terms and conditions of Farm Housing mortgages, contracts, agreements, and other loan instruments, including the compromise of indebtedness in connection with the transfer of a farm by a borrower.

§ 373.22 Delegation of authority to State Field Representative. The State Field Representative is authorized to approve the transfer of a Farm Housing farm, release the transferor from personal liability for his Farm Housing indebtedness, and cause instruments of record to be modified, released, or discharged.

§ 373.23 Consent of Government to sale—(a) Consent not required. A Farm Housing mortgage prepared prior to October 1, 1950, does not contain a provision requiring the consent of the Government to sale of the farm covered thereby. When a borrower plans to sell or has sold his farm subject to such a mortgage, the County Supervisor will request, first, payment of the loan in full if possible or, second, transfer of the Farm Housing debt to the purchaser if eligible. If payment in full cannot be obtained, and if the purchaser is not eligible or is not willing to assume the debt, the account will be carried in the name of the borrower and all correspondence, notices, and statements of account will be addressed and sent to the borrower, unless the borrower requests in writing that they be sent to the purchaser. Payments may be accepted from the purchaser and scheduled for application on the account of the borrower. In such cases, the County Supervisor will issue Form FHA–37, "Receipt for Payment," in the name of the borrower, will indicate thereon that the remittance was received from the purchaser (by name) for application on the borrower's Farm Housing loan account, and will deliver the receipt to the purchaser.

(b) Consent required. A Farm Housing mortgage prepared on or after October 1, 1950, contains a provision requiring the consent of the Government to sale of the farm covered thereby. When a borrower plans to sell or has sold his farm subject to such a mortgage, the County Supervisor will first try to obtain payment of the loan in full. If unsuccessful, he will next try to transfer the Farm Housing debt to the purchaser if eligible. If the purchaser is ineligible or unwilling to assume the debt, the County Supervisor will require full payment of the loan.

§ 373.24 Special policies applicable to section 503 loans within first five years of loan. (a) Whenever a section 503 borrower sells his farm within five years from the date of such loan, Form FHA–441C, "Farm Housing Contribution Agreement," will be cancelled to avoid future benefits under the agreement from accruing to the purchaser. The cancellation will be effected as of the date of the sale by the use of Form FHA–942, "Notice of Cancellation of Farm Housing Contribution Agreement."

(b) Whenever a section 503 borrower sells his farm or plans to sell his farm within five years from the date of such loan and contributions have been made, the County Supervisor will determine whether the borrower (1) has acted in good faith, (2) has diligently carried out the farm developments or improvements that were planned to increase his income, and (3) has complied with the other requirements of the contribution agreement. If the County Supervisor makes favorable findings on all these points, contributions already made on the loan will remain as a credit to the account. If the finding is unfavorable on any one or more of these points, the contributions already made will be voided and the County Supervisor will add on Form FHA–942 the following sentence: "The Government also voids the credit heretofore made on the said indebtedness pursuant to the Agreement."

§ 373.25 General terms and conditions of transfers—(a) Transferee's repayment schedule. A Farm Housing debt assumed by a transferee will be paid within the remaining period of time provided in the notes, bonds, or agreements executed by the transferor.

(1) Any delinquency on the transferor's account will be collected by the County Supervisor prior to or at the time of the transfer whenever possible. If any delinquency cannot be collected, the transferee will execute Form FHA–941, "Transfer Supplementary Payment Agreement," providing for the payment of the delinquency within an agreed period of time in addition to the regular payments called for in Form FHA–97, "Agreement for Assumption of Indebtedness." The time allowed the transferee to pay a delinquency existing at the time of transfer should be the shortest period needed, in no case exceeding five (5) years from the date of Form FHA–97.

(2) The amount of each annual installment provided for in Form FHA–97 will be the same as that provided for in the note of the transferor. The transferee's first installment provided for in Form FHA–97 will be made payable on December 31 following the date of Form FHA–97.

(b) Disposition of Farm Housing funds unexpended by transferor. Any Farm Housing funds remaining in the supervised bank account of the transferor, to the extent necessary to cover approved expenditures, will be transferred to a supervised bank account established for the transferee at the time of closing the transfer. Any additional Farm Housing funds remaining in the transferor's supervised bank account will be returned as a refund on the transferor's Farm Housing indebtedness prior to requesting a statement of the transferor's Farm Housing account from the National Finance Office.

(c) Collections on pending transfers. All collections made after the date of the certified statement of account obtained in connection with the transfer will be scheduled and receipted for in the name of the transferee. If the collection is made from some one other than the transferee, the fact will be indicated on Form FHA–37, the nature of and disposition to be made of the payment will be outlined, and the receipt will be given to the party making the payment.

(d) Title evidence. Title to the farm will be examined for the period subsequent to the date of closing the Farm Housing loan and any liens against the property that have occurred without the consent of the Farmers Home Administration subsequent to recording of the Farm Housing mortgage must be removed prior to consummation of the transfer unless upon the advice of the representative of the Office of the Solicitor satisfactory arrangements are made with respect to the disposition of the claims. Title evidence may be any type authorized for a Farm Housing loan. When there is mortgagee's title insurance on the farm, a new policy need not be obtained unless the representative of the Office of the Solicitor advises that the transaction will cause the existing policy of the mortgagee's insurance to become void.

§ 373.26 Preparation of transfer docket in county office—(a) Preliminary arrangements between transferor and transferee. The transferor and the transferee, in consultation with the County Supervisor, should reach an agreement with respect to such matters as payment of taxes and property insurance, disposition of rent if farm is rented, transfer expenses, and so forth. Such agreements will be reflected on Form FHA–922, "Farm Transfer Information."

(b) County committee recommendations. If the County Supervisor finds that (1) the transferee is eligible for Farm Housing assistance, (2) the transferee does not have sufficient resources to provide necessary housing and other farm buildings, and (3) the transfer of the farm will carry out the purpose of Title V of the Housing Act of 1949, and (4) recommends that the transferee be permitted to assume the Farm Housing indebtedness, it will execute Form FHA–439, "County Committee Recommendations."

(c) Tentative transfer date. In selecting a tentative date for effecting the transfer, reasonable allowances must be made for all foreseeable time requirements. The transfer will be closed, if possible, on the date entered on Form FHA–97. If it is not possible to consummate the transfer on this date, it will be closed as soon thereafter as possible, effective as of the tentative date selected. In no event will the closing be effected prior to the date entered on Form FHA–97.

§ 373.27 Closing—(a) New mortgages. Ordinarily the transferee will not be required to execute a mortgage or other security instrument to secure the obligations covered by the assumption agreement except in Louisiana. However, in particularly complicated cases, a promissory note, bond, mortgage, or other security instrument in addition to Form FHA–97 may be required. In Louisiana the transferee will execute a new mortgage, which will be effective simultaneously with the deed of conveyance, as security for the obligation assumed and will execute such supplementary evidence of debt as may be necessary for proper identification of the debt with the new mortgage.

(b) Procedure. After all requirements of closing have been met, the County Supervisor will execute on behalf of the Government Form FHA–97 and Form FHA–437, "Release from Personal Liability." The original of Form FHA–437 will be delivered to the transferor as evidence of his release from personal liability and one signed copy of Form FHA–97 will be delivered to the transferee.

(Secs. 502 (b), 510 (c), 63 Stat. 433, 437; 42 U. S. C. 1472 (b), 1480 (c))

TITLE 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

Subchapter C—Regulations Under Specific Acts of Congress

[File No. 205-4]

PART 302—RULES AND REGULATIONS UNDER FLAMMABLE FABRICS ACT

REASONABLE AND REPRESENTATIVE TESTS OF CERTAIN TEXTILE FABRICS

On September 21, 1954, a notice of proposed rule making by the Federal Trade Commission was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Such notice stated that the Commission would, on October 7, 1954, give consideration to an amendment of § 302.7 (a) (2) of the regulations under the Flammable Fabrics Act. A draft of the proposed amendments was made part of the notice.

Interested parties participated by submitting in writing their views, arguments or other pertinent data, and these have been made a part of the record.

After due consideration of the proposed amendments to § 302.7 (a) (2) of the regulations under the Flammable Fabrics Act, together with all views, arguments and other data submitted, § 302.7 (a) (2) of the regulations under the Flammable Fabrics Act is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 302.7 Reasonable and representative tests under section 8 of the act. • • •

(2) Plain surface textile fabrics weighing less than two ounces per square yard. (i) When, on the initial test of any plain surface textile fabric weighing less than two ounces per square yard, such fabric exhibits a burning time of between 3½ and 6 seconds, both inclusive, such test may suffice for any fabric of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type. This class of fabric shall be tested at least once at intervals of not more than three months thereafter while in production.

(ii) When, on the initial test of any plain surface textile fabric weighing less than two ounces per square yard, such fabric exhibits a burning time in excess of 6 seconds, such test may suffice for any fabric of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type. This class of fabric shall be tested at least once at intervals of not more than six months thereafter while in production.

(iii) When, on the initial test of any plain surface textile fabric weighing less than two ounces per square yard, none of the specimens ignite, such initial test may suffice for any fabric of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type.

(iv) When, on the initial test of any plain surface textile fabric weighing less than two ounces per square yard, such fabric ignites but the flame is extinguished before the stop cord is burned, such test may suffice for any fabric of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type. This class of fabric shall be tested at least once at intervals of not more than one year thereafter while in production.

Promulgated and made effective as of October 26, 1954, by reason of necessity for the rules and regulations to conform with the amended act, and need of reasonable and representative test under section 8 of the act for plain surface textile fabrics weighing less than two ounces per square yard which ignite but immediately extinguish.

(Sec. 5, 67 Stat. 112; 15 U. S. C. A. 1194)

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

PART 6—AIR COMMERCE REGULATIONS

The regulations in §§ 6.1 to 6.13, inclusive, in this part have been issued, and amended from time to time, jointly by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, with the approval of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, and the Commissioner of Customs, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, and have been codified in Subpart K of Part 71, Title 42, Code of Federal Regulations, as well as in this title and part. Although the regulations have been issued jointly, the legal authority of each agency for prescribing them is separate. It has been determined that the disadvantages of joint issuance outweigh the advantages and that issuing and amending such regulations jointly should be discontinued. Therefore, the regulations in this part are amended as set forth below for the purpose of eliminating the provisions relating only to matters administered by the Public Health Service. The elimination of these provisions from this title shall not affect them as they appear in Title 42.

Part 6 is amended to read as follows:

§ 6.1 Scope and definitions. (a) The regulations in this part shall not be applicable in the islands of Guam, Midway, American Samoa, Wake, and Kingman Reef, the Virgin Islands and other insular possessions not specified herein.

(b) The term "United States" when used in a geographical sense means the territory comprising the several States, Territories, possessions, and the District of Columbia, including the territorial waters thereof and the overlying air space, but shall not include the Canal Zone.

(c) The term "area" shall mean any one of the following parts of the United States:

(1) The mainland.
(2) Alaska.
(3) Hawaii.
(4) Puerto Rico.

(d) The term "aircraft" means civil aircraft, that is, any aircraft not used exclusively in the governmental service of the United States or a foreign country, and includes any government-owned aircraft engaged in carrying persons or property for commercial purposes.

(e) The term "aircraft commander" means the person serving on the aircraft having charge or command of its operation and navigation.

(f) The term "scheduled airline" means any individual, partnership, corporation, or association engaged in air transportation upon regular schedules to, over, or away from the United States, or from area to area, and holding a Foreign Air Carrier Permit or a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity issued pursuant to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938.

(g) The term "international airport" means any airport designated by the Secretary of the Treasury or the Commissioner of Customs as a port of entry for aircraft arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof and for the merchandise carried on such aircraft, by the Attorney General as a port of entry for aliens arriving on such aircraft, and by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare as a place for quarantine inspection.

§ 6.2 Landing requirements—(a) Place of landing. Every aircraft coming into any area from any place outside thereof shall land in such area unless exempted from this requirement by the Administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C. The first landing shall be at an international airport unless permission to land elsewhere shall first be granted by the Commissioner of Customs, in cases of aircraft operated by scheduled airlines, and in all other cases by the collector or other customs officer in charge at the port of entry or customs station nearest the intended place of first landing. When the Commissioner of Customs grants permission to land elsewhere than at an international airport, he shall immediately notify the heads of the Public Health Service, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and of any other agency likely to be concerned with the landing, and, when a collector or other customs officer grants such permission, he shall immediately notify the principal local officer of each such agency. In cases where such permission is given, the owner, operator, or person in charge of the aircraft shall pay the additional expenses, if any, incurred in inspecting the aircraft, passengers, employees, and merchandise, including baggage, carried therein. When such permission is granted to a scheduled airline to land aircraft operating on a schedule, no inspection charge shall be made except for overtime service performed by customs officers.

(b) Advance notice of arrival. (1) Except as hereinafter provided for, no aircraft coming into any area from any place outside the United States may land in such area unless timely notice of the intended flight shall have been furnished previously, either by or at the request of the aircraft commander, to the collector or other customs officer in charge at or nearest the intended place of first landing in such area, who shall notify the officers in charge of the other services concerned at or nearest the intended place of first landing. Such advance notice will not be required in the case of aircraft of a scheduled airline arriving in accordance with the regular schedule filed with the collector of customs for the district in which the place of first landing in the area is situated. If dependable facilities for giving notice are not available before departure any radio equipment the plane possesses shall be utilized to give notice during its approach so far as feasible. If timely notice has not been given, or if the Government officers have not arrived, the aircraft commander on landing shall hold the aircraft and any merchandise, including baggage, thereon intact and keep the passengers and crew members in a segregated place until the inspection officers arrive. Except where the uncertainty of communication facilities is already known to the Government officers in charge, any aircraft commander for whose aircraft timely notice has not been given shall furnish a statement of the reasons for his failure to do so.

(2) Each notice of an intended flight shall specify the type of aircraft, the registration marks thereon, the name of the aircraft commander, the place of last departure, the international airport or other place at which landing has been authorized, number of alien passengers, number of citizen passengers, and the estimated time of arrival; and shall be sent so as to be received in sufficient time to enable the officers designated to inspect the aircraft to reach the international airport or such other place of first landing prior to the arrival of the aircraft.

(c) Permission to discharge or depart. No aircraft arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or in an area from another area carrying residue foreign cargo (see § 6.9) shall depart from the place of landing, or discharge any passengers or merchandise, including baggage, without receiving permission from the customs officers in charge.

(d) Permit to proceed; foreign aircraft. (1) Aircraft are subject to customs entry when brought in for repairs or when otherwise treated as imported articles. Before an aircraft which is not treated as an imported article, which is registered in a foreign country, and which arrives in the United States carrying passengers for hire or merchandise is ferried (proceeds in ballast) from the airport of first arrival to one or more airports in the United States, its commander shall obtain from the collector of customs at the airport of first arrival a permit on customs Form 4449 allowing the aircraft to proceed from airport to airport in the United States, which shall be retained on board such aircraft while in the United States. At each airport visited, the customs officer there, or, if there is none, the airport manager, shall make an endorsement on the back of such permit showing the name of the airport, date and time of arrival, date and time of departure, and purpose of the visit. The permit shall be surrendered to the collector of customs at the port of final clearance for a foreign destination, who shall satisfy himself prior to the issuance of clearance that the aircraft received proper customs treatment while in this country. The permit shall then be returned to the collector of customs at the port of issue.

(2) A copy of the permit shall be retained by the collector at the port where issued. If within 60 days after the issuance of such permit the said collector does not receive a report of the outward clearance of the aircraft covered thereby, the matter shall be reported to the supervising customs agent for investigation.

(3) Civil aircraft registered in the United States and arriving from a foreign country with passengers carried for hire or merchandise, after proper customs treatment of all such passengers and merchandise, may be allowed to proceed upon their identity being established.

(e) Monthly and annual requests for overtime services and licenses to unlade and lade. A special license on customs Form 3851 running for any period up to 1 month and in multiples of months thereafter, but not to exceed 1 year nor longer than the period of the supporting bond, may be granted to a scheduled airline to unlade passengers or merchandise, including baggage, or to lade merchandise, including baggage, in the case of any or all of its planes at night or on a Sunday or holiday when customs supervision is required. The application for such a special license shall be on customs Form 3851 and shall be supplemented by a request on customs Form 3853 (modified) for overtime services of customs officers. Such request for overtime services must show the exact times when overtime services will be needed unless arrangements are made so that the proper customs officer will be notified during official hours in advance of the services requested as to the exact times that the services will be needed. The special license shall not be granted until the required bond on customs Form 3627, 7567, or 7569 shall have been filed.

(f) Monthly and annual permits to unlade and lade. The collector may also issue a permit running for any period up to 1 month and in multiples of months thereafter, but not to exceed 1 year, to unlade or lade during official hours any or all of the planes of a scheduled airline. Customs Form 3851 shall be used for such purpose.

(g) Emergency or forced landing. Should any aircraft coming into the United States from any place outside thereof, or into any area from any other area, make an emergency or forced landing in the United States, the aircraft commander shall not allow any merchandise, including baggage, to be removed from the landing place without permission of the customs officer, nor allow any passengers or persons employed thereon to depart from the landing place without permission of the customs officer, unless such removal or departure is necessary for purposes of safety, communications with customs authorities, or the preservation of life, health or property. As soon as practicable, the aircraft commander, or a member of the crew in charge, or the owner of the aircraft, shall communicate with the customs officer at the intended place of first landing or at the nearest international airport or other customs port of entry in that area and make a full report of the circumstances of the flight and of the emergency or forced landing. Mail carried as such may be removed from such aircraft upon making an emergency or forced landing, but if so removed shall be delivered at once to a responsible officer or employee of the Postal Service.

§ 6.3 Entry and clearance. (a) Aircraft coming into any area from any place outside the United States shall be entered in such area if landing is made therein and if carrying passengers for hire or commercial cargo (see § 6.7). Aircraft proceeding from one area into another shall be entered in the latter area if landing is made therein and if carrying residue cargo. Aircraft not required to enter under this paragraph are subject to other customs requirements (see § 6.2).

(b) Entry shall be made by the aircraft commander, or by any other authorized agent of the owner or operator of the aircraft (hereinafter referred to as an authorized person),[1] at the international airport at which the first landing is made in the area. If, pursuant to § 6.2 (a), the first landing occurs at a place not an international airport, entry shall be made at the nearest international airport or customs port of entry, unless some other place is designated for that purpose by the Commissioner of Customs.

(c) Aircraft departing for any area for foreign territory, or to take aboard or discharge persons or merchandise anywhere outside the United States, or departing from any area for another area carrying merchandise destined to or through Puerto Rico or residue cargo shall be cleared (see § 6.8) in the area from which departing. Clearance is not required of aircraft not carrying passengers for hire or merchandise, but such aircraft are subject to certain requirements under the export and import licensing regulations of the Department of State relating to international traffic in arms.[2]

(d) The clearance shall be obtained by the aircraft commander or an authorized person at the customs port of entry (whether or not an international airport) at or nearest the place of last takeoff from the area, unless some other place is designated for that purpose by the collector of customs.

(e) This section shall not apply to the entry of aircraft of scheduled airlines complying with the terms of § 6.4 nor to the clearance of such aircraft complying with the terms of § 6.5, nor to the clearance of any aircraft holding a permit issued by the Secretary of Commerce authorizing departure without clearance.

§ 6.4 Entry of aircraft of scheduled airlines. (a) Aircraft operated by scheduled airlines coming into any area from any place outside the United States shall be entered in the area of first landing.

(b) Aircraft operated by scheduled airlines coming from one area into another area shall be entered therein if carrying residue cargo (§ 6.9).

(c) Entry required by this section in an area shall be made at the place of landing provided for under § 6.2.

§ 6.5 Clearance of aircraft of scheduled airlines. (a) Aircraft operated by scheduled airlines departing for any place outside the United States may clear from the area of departure, but clearance shall be mandatory only during any period covered by a proclamation of the President that a state of war exists between foreign nations, or the aircraft is—

(1) Beginning a flight in that area; or

(2) Carrying from that area merchandise which must be listed in its general clearance declaration (§ 6.8).

(b) Aircraft operated by scheduled airlines departing from any area for another area shall clear in the area from which departing if carrying merchandise destined to or through Puerto Rico or residue foreign cargo.

(c) Clearance required by this section may be obtained by the aircraft commander or an authorized person at the customs port of entry (whether or not an international airport) at or nearest each place at which merchandise or passengers, or both, are taken aboard for discharge beyond the area. In such case the clearance shall be limited to the passengers and merchandise taken aboard at such place. Otherwise the clearance shall be obtained at the customs port of entry (whether or not an international airport) at or nearest the place of last take-off in the area unless some other place for clearance is designated by the collector of customs.

§ 6.6 Documents; form. (a) The forms described in §§ 6.7 and 6.8 shall be the primary documents required for entry and clearance of aircraft and the listing of passengers and merchandise carried thereon. The forms shall be approximately but not to exceed $8\frac{1}{2}$" wide and 14" long and shall be on white bond paper that will not discolor or become brittle within 20 years. If these forms are dittoed or if the entries on them are to be dittoed, the paper must be substance 40, 17" x 22", 1,000-sheet basis; if printed or typewritten, at least 25 percent rag, substance 26, 17" x 22", 1,000-sheet basis. These forms and the entries thereon must be dittoed, typewritten, or printed in the English language, with ink or dye that will not fade or "feather" within 20 years. The forms to be used for the entry and clearance of the aircraft, passengers, crew members, and merchandise carried thereon shall be forms approved by the Commissioner of Customs.

(b) The forms described in §§ 6.7 and 6.8, except the air passenger manifest, may be obtained from collectors of customs upon prepayment by the owner or operator of the aircraft. A small quantity of each of such forms shall be set aside by collectors of customs for free distribution and official use. The form of air passenger manifest may be obtained upon prepayment from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. The forms of general declaration and air passenger manifest may be printed or dittoed by private parties, provided the forms so printed or dittoed conform to the officially manufactured forms currently in use, with respect to size, wording, arrangement, style and size of type, and paper specifications.

§ 6.7 Documents for entry. (a) At the time any aircraft arriving from outside the United States lands in any area in which entry is required by § 6.3 or 6.4, the aircraft commander or an authorized person shall deliver a general declaration on customs Form 7507 in accordance with this section. If an aircraft arrives in an area from another area, the documents specified in § 6.9 (b) shall be delivered.

(b) A general declaration shall contain or have attached thereto the following information:

(1) A crew manifest. This manifest is not required if the aircraft is arriving directly on a trip which originated in Canada.

(2) A passenger manifest, which shall show the surname, given name, and middle initial of each arriving passenger. This manifest is not required if the aircraft is arriving directly on a trip which orginated in Canada.

(3) A cargo manifest. The cargo manifest on the general declaration, properly executed and having airway bills or consignment notes attached, will be acceptable if it bears a notation such as "Express as per airway bills attached" and shows the airway bill or consignment note numbers, if any. If the airway bills or consignment notes are not attached to the general declaration or to the separate form of cargo manifest, the full information indicated in the cargo manifest on the general declaration shall be furnished. Customs Form 5119 may be used in lieu of the cargo manifest if the baggage or other merchandise consists of a single shipment and does not exceed $250 in value. No cargo manifest or store list shall be required for merchandise, including baggage, arriving from a foreign country and departing for the same or another foreign country on the same through flight, although any such documents on board may be inspected if necessary. (For rule applicable to arrival in an area from another area, see § 6.8 (e).)

(4) In the case of aircraft arriving in the United States on a trip which started in contiguous foreign territory, the total number of pieces of accompanied checked baggage on board shall be shown on the air cargo manifest, unless the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each passenger and crew member appears opposite the name of the respective passenger or crew member on any passenger or crew manifest required under the regulations in this part. In the case of aircraft arriving in the United States on a trip which started in noncontiguous foreign territory, the collector may require the pertinent baggage declaration number, or, in the absence of such declaration, the number of pieces of accompanied baggage belonging to each passenger and crew member, to be shown opposite the name of the respective passenger or crew member on the passenger and crew manifest, or, if passenger and crew manifest is not required, on a separate baggage list. At ports where this information is not required, a rubber-stamp endorsement reading "Baggage as per baggage declarations filed on entry" shall be made upon the passenger and crew manifest or the baggage list, as the case may be. The baggage list, if required, shall contain, in addition to the information mentioned above, information identifying the flight as specified in the heading of the form of air passenger manifest, and that form, appropriately modified, may be used for this purpose. Unaccompanied baggage arriving in the United States under a check number from any foreign country by air shall be shown on the air cargo manifest under the following headings:

Unaccompanied unchecked baggage arriving as air express or air freight shall be manifested as other air express or freight.

(5) Such other information and statements as are indicated on the general declaration form.

(c) The general declaration required by this section shall be filed in three copies with one copy of each attached passenger manifest and three copies of each attached cargo manifest. These documents shall be disposed of as follows:

(1) Two copies of the general declaration, one copy of each attached passenger manifest, and two copies of each cargo manifest shall be delivered by the aircraft commander or an authorized person immediately to the customs officer in charge at the airport or other place of arrival. One copy of the general declaration and one copy of each cargo manifest shall be retained by the aircraft commander or authorized person and forwarded promptly by him to the comptroller of customs in whose district such airport or place is located.

(2) One copy of the general declaration and one copy of each attached cargo manifest delivered to the customs officer shall be forwarded by him to the comptroller of customs mentioned in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph with appropriate notations thereon showing the disposition of the merchandise covered thereby. One copy of the general declaration delivered to the customs officer shall be retained by him as a record of the entry of the aircraft.

(d) The provisions of section 466, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U. S. C. 257, 258), are applicable to any aircraft of United States registry engaged in trade and arriving in the United States, as defined in section 401 (k), Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U. S. C. 1401 (k)), whether from a contiguous or noncontiguous foreign country, and a notation as to any equipment installed on, or repairs made to, any such aircraft in a foreign country shall be made in the aircraft journey log book, which shall set forth a general description of the equipment or repairs and a statement of any necessity therefor. The aircraft commander or an authorized person, on the first subsequent arrival of the aircraft in the United States, shall exhibit the journey log book to the customs officer at the place of arrival. In no case is the filing of customs Form 3417 required for any such aircraft. Except as specified hereafter in this paragraph, any such equipment purchased or repairs made shall be subject to entry and deposit of duty as prescribed by § 4.14 of this chapter, but the following may be added to the entry in lieu of the filing of customs Form 3415:

This entry contains a complete account of the equipment purchased for and the repairs made to the within-mentioned aircraft during the flight covered hereby, together with the cost of such equipment and the expenses of such repairs (including the cost of installation of equipment and the cost of repair parts and material used). Application is hereby made for the ascertainment of the amount of duty due under section 466, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended.

The filing of customs Form 3415 and entry and deposit of duty on such equipment or repairs shall not be required if (1) the aircraft belongs to a scheduled airline, or to an air carrier generally authorized to operate contract passenger or cargo flights and operating between the United States and foreign territory, (2) the aircraft commander or an authorized person executes and files with the entry of the aircraft a certificate in the form set forth below, and (3) the collector is satisfied from an inspection of the journey log book and such further investigation as he may deem necessary that the facts with respect to the installation of the equipment and making of repairs were as set forth in such certificate.

(c) When the aircraft is departing from the United States, the general declaration required by this section shall be prepared in duplicate, with a single copy of each cargo manifest. (e) One extra copy of the general declaration and one copy of the air cargo manifest shall be prepared if the aircraft is carrying merchandise other than residue cargo between the mainland and Puerto Rico. Such declaration and manifest shall be delivered to the customs officer in the area from which the aircraft is departing and shall be retained by him. If the aircraft is carrying residue cargo, a copy of the general declaration retained on board at the time of departure must have the endorsement of the customs officer in the area from which the aircraft is departing that permit to proceed is granted. (For residue cargo see § 6.9.)

§ 6.9 Residue cargo.[4] (a) Aircraft arriving in the United States with cargo on board shown by the manifest to be destined to other ports in the same or in some other areas of the United States or outside the United States may be permitted to proceed with such cargo from port to port in the United States or to a foreign country for the unlading thereof under the procedure prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section, upon the giving of a bond on customs Form 7567 or 7569. When an aircraft arriving from outside the United States has on board no cargo and immediate clearance is requested, it may be permitted to proceed if a bond on customs Form 7567 or 7569 is on file covering such aircraft.

(b) When applying for clearance from the airport or place of first entry in the United States, the aircraft commander or an authorized person shall present to the collector (1) two copies[5] of a general declaration and two copies of each manifest[6] forming a part thereof (referred to hereinafter as abstract general declarations and manifests), covering all foreign residue cargo, or passengers, not yet cleared by customs or other interested governmental agency and manifested or destined for discharge at other domestic or foreign airports and of all crew members, and (2) one certified copy of the original complete general declaration which was filed upon the arrival of the aircraft at such airport or place, and of the manifests forming a part thereof[7] required on entry of aircraft from noncontiguous foreign territory (referred to hereinafter as the traveling general declaration and manifest). If clearance is in order, a permit to proceed from one airport to another, which may be stamped, mimeographed, or printed on one of the abstract general declarations or on a separate sheet of paper attached thereto, shall be dated and signed by the appropriate customs officer at the airport of clearance. The documents presented by the aircraft commander or authorized person when applying for clearance shall be delivered to the aircraft commander, together with the permit to proceed, for deposit at the next international airport. (c) Upon arrival of the aircraft at the next airport, the aircraft commander or an authorized person shall make entry by presenting the abstract general declarations and manifests and the traveling general declaration and manifest, together with the permit to proceed, to the customs officer after the declaration at the bottom of the permit to proceed has been properly executed. The declarations and entries of crew members (customs Form 5123) who leave the aircraft at that airport with their purchases shall be detached from the traveling manifest and retained at that port. Upon departure from the second airport of arrival with foreign residue cargo, passengers, or crew members and their purchases not yet cleared by customs or other interested governmental agency, the procedure shall be the same as at the airport of first arrival, except that no new traveling general declaration and manifest shall be prepared, but the traveling general declaration and manifest as certified at the first international airport shall be delivered to the aircraft commander for deposit at the next airport of entry.

(d) The same procedure as set forth in paragraph (c) of this section shall be followed at any following airport to which the aircraft may proceed with foreign residue cargo, passengers, or crew members and their purchases not yet cleared by customs or other interested governmental agency. The traveling general declaration and manifest shall be retained by the collector of customs at the last domestic port of discharge.

(e) The provisions of this section shall be applicable to aircraft arriving in the United States from either contiguous or noncontiguous foreign territory. Except as specified in this section, the customs requirements applicable to residue vessel cargo (see § 4.85 of this chapter) shall apply to residue aircraft cargo.

§ 6.10 General provisions. Except as otherwise provided for in this part, aircraft arriving from contiguous foreign territory and the persons and merchandise, including baggage, carried thereon shall be subject to the customs laws and regulations applicable to vehicles arriving from contiguous foreign territory; and aircraft and the passengers and merchandise, including baggage, carried thereon, arriving from any other place, shall be subject to the customs laws and regulations applicable to vessels so arriving, insofar as such laws and regulations are applicable to aircraft.

§ 6.11 Penalties. (a) Any person violating any customs requirements prescribed in this part or any provision of the customs laws or regulations made applicable to aircraft by § 6.10 shall be subject to a civil penalty of $500, and any aircraft used in connection with any such violation shall be subject to seizure and forfeiture, as provided for in the customs laws. Such penalty and forfeiture may be remitted or mitigated in accordance with the provisions of §§ 23.23 to 23.25 of this chapter.

§ 6.12 International airports; regulations. (a) International airports will be designated after due investigation to establish the fact that a sufficient need exists in any particular district or area to justify such designation and to determine the airport best suited for such purpose.

(b) A specific airport will be designated in each case, rather than a general area or district which may include several airports.

(c) The designation as an international airport may be withdrawn if it is found that the volume of business clearing through the port does not justify maintenance of inspection equipment and personnel, if proper facilities are not provided and maintained by the airport, if the rules and regulations of the Federal Government are not complied with, or if it is found that some other location would be more advantageous.

(d) International airports shall be municipal airports, unless particular conditions which prevail warrant a departure from this requirement.

(e) Each international airport shall provide without cost to the Government suitable office and other space for the exclusive use of Federal officials connected with the port. A suitable surfaced loading area shall be provided by each airport at a convenient location with respect to such office space. Such loading area shall be reserved for the use of aircraft entering or clearing through the airport.

(f) International airports shall be open to all aircraft for entry and clearance purposes and no charge shall be made for the use of said airports for such purposes. However, in any case where an international airport authorizes any such aircraft to use such airport for the taking on or discharging of passengers or cargo, or as a base for other commercial operations or for private operations, this paragraph shall not be interpreted to mean that charges may not be made for such commercial or private use of such airport.

(g) All aircraft entering or clearing through an international airport shall receive the required servicing by airport personnel promptly and in the order of arrival or preparation for departure without discrimination. The charges made for such servicing shall in no case exceed the schedule of charges prevailing at the airport in question. A copy of said schedule of charges shall be posted in a conspicuous place at the office space provided for the use of Federal officials connected with the port.

(h) International airports shall adopt and enforce observance of such requirements for the operation of airports, including airport rules, as may be prescribed or recommended by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

(i) Requirements in addition to all the foregoing may be imposed at a particular airport as the needs of the district or area to be served by the airport may demand.

Subchapter A—Income and Excess-Profits Taxes

EXCLUSION FROM GROSS INCOME OF PROCEEDS OF SPORTS PROGRAMS CONDUCTED FOR AMERICAN RED CROSS

On July 2, 1954, a notice of proposed rule making regarding amendments to conform Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) Part 39) to the provisions of sections 1, 2, and 3 of Public Law 465, 82d Congress, approved July 8, 1952, relating to exclusion from gross income of proceeds of sports programs conducted for the American Red Cross, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 4035). No objections to the rules proposed having been received, the amendments set forth below are hereby adopted:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately preceding § 39.22 (c) the following:

§ 39.22 (b) (16)–1 Proceeds from certain sports programs conducted for the benefit of the American National Red Cross—(a) In general. Under section 22 (b) (16), a corporation primarily engaged in the furnishing of sports programs may exclude from its gross income amounts received as proceeds from a sports program conducted by such corporation if each of the following requirements is met:

(1) The corporation agrees in writing with the American National Red Cross after July 8, 1952, to conduct such sports program exclusively for the benefit of the American National Red Cross;

(2) The sports program is conducted after July 8, 1952;

(3) The corporation turns over to the American National Red Cross all the proceeds from such sports program, less only the expenses paid or incurred by such corporation which would not have been paid or incurred but for such sports program and which would be allowable as deductions under section 23 (a) (1) (A) but for the last sentence of such section; and

(4) The facilities of the corporation used in conducting such sports program are not regularly used during the taxable year for the conduct of sports programs to which section 22 (b) (16) applies.

(b) Certain corporations ineligible. Section 22 (b) (16) does not apply in the case of a corporation organized or operated primarily to conduct or furnish, or to participate in the conduct or furnishing of, one or more sports programs for the American National Red Cross.

(c) Proceeds from a sports program. The proceeds from a sports program conducted for the benefit of the American National Red Cross include all amounts received by the conducting corporation, irrespective of when received, on account of such sports program, which amounts would be includible in the gross income of such conducting corporation, except for the provisions of section 22 (b) (16). Where the activities carried on in connection with the sports program include the sale or rental of radio, television, or movie rights, refreshments, souvenirs, parking facilities, programs, advertising, or other goods and services, whether sold or rented directly or through concessionaires, the amounts received by the conducting corporation from such sports program include all amounts received from such activities, but only where such amounts would not have been received by the conducting corporation but for the presentation of the particular sports program. Where the conducting corporation receives payments for concessions on an annual or seasonal basis, and such payments are not increased because of the particular sports program, such payments are not considered as proceeds from such sports program, and any expenses paid or incurred by the conducting corporation on account of such concession operations are not deductible under section 22 (b) (16) (B) in determining the amount of the proceeds from such sports program which the conducting corporation is required to turn over to the American National Red Cross; nor are the proceeds of a sports program considered to include amounts received by the conducting corporation for the State and turned over to the State, such as taxes or the breakage on a pari-mutuel wagering pool.

(d) Sports programs. (1) Section 22 (b) (16) applies where the program furnished by the conducting corporation consists of sports events such as baseball, football, or basketball games, racing programs, or the like, but it does not apply to programs or events such as motion pictures, circuses, dance programs, or the like, which are primarily amusements rather than competitive athletic sporting events.

(2) A sports program includes all of the events normally making up a full program in the particular sport. A single race of a racing program consisting of more than one race would not constitute a sports program, nor would one baseball or basketball game of a doubleheader program constitute a sports program.

PAR. 2. Section 39.23 (a)–1 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "In the case of any sports program to which section 22 (b) (16) applies, expenses described in section 22 (b) (16) (B) shall be allowable as deductions under section 23 (a) only to the extent that such expenses exceed the amount excluded from gross income under section 22 (b) (16)."

PAR. 3. Section 39.23 (q)–1 (a) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "For the purposes of section 23 (q), amounts excluded from the gross income of the taxpayer under section 22 (b) (16) are not to be considered contributions or gifts."

COMPUTATION OF NET INCOME

On January 29, 1954, notice of proposed rule making with respect to amendments conforming the income tax regulations to section 203 of the Technical Changes Act of 1953, approved August 15, 1953, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 514). After consideration of such relevant suggestions as were presented by interested persons regarding the proposals, the following amendments to Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) Part 39) are hereby adopted:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 39.113 (a) (5) is amended as follows:

(A) By inserting immediately after the words "revoke the trust" in the second sentence of section 113 (a) (5) the following: "or to make any change in the enjoyment thereof through the exercise of a power to alter, amend, or terminate the trust".

(B) By adding at the end of the historical note immediately preceding the closing bracket the following: "; sec. 203 (a), Technical Changes Act of 1953. Under sec. 203 (b), Technical Changes Act of 1953, the amendment made by sec. 203 (a) shall apply (1) only in the case of property transferred by grantors dying after December 31, 1951, and (2) only with respect to taxable years ending after December 31, 1951."

PAR. 2. Section 39.113 (a) (5)–1 is amended by inserting immediately at the end thereof the following:

(h) Property acquired by certain transfers in trust. Property shall, for the purposes of section 113 (a) (5) and of this section, be considered as property passing under an instrument which is treated as though it were a will executed on the day of the grantor's death if:

(1) The property was transferred in trust to pay the income for life to or upon the order or direction of the grantor, with the right reserved to the grantor at all times prior to his death to revoke the trust, or

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 989]

HANDLING OF RAISINS PRODUCED FROM RAISIN VARIETY GRAPES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

FREE, RESERVE AND SURPLUS PERCENTAGES FOR 1954–55 CROP YEAR

Notice is hereby given that there is being considered a proposed rule to establish free tonnage percentages, reserve tonnage percentages, and surplus tonnage percentages, as hereinafter set forth, in connection with raisins produced from raisin variety grapes grown in California and acquired by handlers during the 1954–55 crop year. These percentages are proposed after consideration of the recommendation submitted by the Raisin Administrative Committee and other information available to the Secretary, in accordance with applicable provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 109 and Order No. 89 (7 CFR, 1953 Rev., Part 989) regulating the handling of raisins produced from raisin variety grapes grown in California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). It does not appear from data currently available that average returns to California producers of 1954 crop raisins will exceed the price level specified in section 2 (1) of the act.

Consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are filed in triplicate with the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., and received not later than the close of business on the tenth day after the date of the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except that, if said tenth day after publication should fall on a legal holiday, Saturday, or Sunday, such submission should be received by the Director not later than the close of business on the next following business day.

The proposed rule is as follows:

§ 989.208 Free, reserve, and surplus tonnage regulation for the 1954–55 crop year. The percentages of each varietal type of raisins acquired by handlers during the crop year beginning August 15, 1954 and ending August 14, 1955, which shall be free tonnage, reserve tonnage, and surplus tonnage, respectively, are as follows: (a) Natural (sun-dried) Thompson Seedless raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 82 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, 18 percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (b) natural (sun-dried) Muscat raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (c) natural (sun-dried) Sultana raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (d) natural (sun-dried) Zante currant raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (e) artificially dehydrated Sultana raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (f) artificially dehydrated Zante Currant raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (g) Layer Muscat raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (h) Golden Bleached raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 80 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, 20 percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (i) Sulfur Bleached raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; (j) Soda Dipped raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent; and (k) Valencia raisins: Free tonnage percentage, 100 percent; reserve tonnage percentage, zero percent; and surplus tonnage percentage, zero percent.

Issued this 21st day of October 1954.

[47 CFR Part 3]

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING AND ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations; docket No. 11206.

1. Notice is hereby given that the Commission has received a proposal for rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. Tri-County Broadcasting Company, permittee of television station WFTL-TV operating on Channel 23 at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, filed a petition on October 14, 1954, requesting that the Commission's Table of Assignments set forth in § 3.606, rules governing broadcast stations, be amended, alternatively, as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Delete	Add
(a) Miami, Fla.	27+, 33	29, 35.
(b) Miami, Fla.	27+	39.
(c) Miami, Fla.	27+	Any UHF channel above 40.

3. Television Station WMIE–TV is authorized to operate on Channel 27 at Miami, and Station WMFL–TV is authorized to operate on Channel 33 at Miami. Tri-County further requests that the Commission issue an Order to Show Cause why each of the above permittees should not be required to shift its operations to a channel specified in the alternatives above.

4. In support of its petition Tri-County submits that Miami and Fort Lauderdale are about 23.8 miles apart; that due to intermodulation effects, Channel 23 at Fort Lauderdale and Channel 27 at Miami must be separated by 20 miles; that this limits the permittees in the selection of suitable sites; that the selection of a site with high antenna height is further limited by the requirement of the Civil Aeronautical Authority that such high antennas, in the order of 600–1,000 feet, be placed within an "antenna farm" located 14 miles north of Miami and 10 miles south of Fort Lauderdale; that the amendments as proposed would afford permittees greater latitude in selection of sites for greater coverage; and that these amendments conform to the Commission's rules and standards.

5. As noted above, petitioner points out that the CAA has provided that tall antennas in the Miami area be located within an "antenna farm" located 14 miles north of Miami. However, it appears that the alternative UHF channels suggested by petitioner for Miami could not be utilized from the "antenna farm" because of sub-minimum spacings. The Commission believes that petitioner's objective can be achieved by making a simple channel change in two communities; and the Commission is therefore proposing to amend its Table of Television Channel Assignments as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Delete	Add
Belle Blade, Fla.	25–	27+
Miami Fla.	27+	39

Under this proposal only one existing authorization would have to be altered.

6. WMIE–TV, Inc., is presently authorized to construct a station on Channel 27 at Miami, and the Commission's rule-making proposal herein would substitute Channel 39 for Channel 27 in that city. It should be noted that Channel 39 can be utilized from the "antenna farm" in the Miami area. WMIE–TV, Inc., is ordered to show cause in this proceeding why its outstanding authorization should not be modified to specify operation on Channel 39 in lieu of Channel 27. A reply in writing to the aforesaid Order to Show Cause should be filed on or before the same date for filing comments in this proceeding.

7. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r), and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

8. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the amendment proposed should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before November 1, 1954, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed on or before November 5, 1954. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments before taking final action in this matter, and if any comment appears to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

9. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: October 21, 1954.

Released: October 21, 1954.

STATIONS ON LAND AND SHIPBOARD IN MARITIME SERVICES

FIFTH FURTHER NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of amendment of Parts 7 and 8 of the Commission's rules to delete authority for operation by coast stations, ship stations and aircraft stations on currently assignable frequencies for telephony within the band 4000 kc to 18000 kc; and to include authority for operation by such stations on other frequencies for telephony within the same band.

1. On May 6, 1953, the Commission adopted a report and order in the above-designated docket finalizing a plan of assignment for all areas other than the Mississippi River and connecting inland waters (except the Great Lakes) which would be used as a basis for carrying out the maritime mobile radiotelephone portion of the Geneva Agreement (1951) in the frequency bands between 4000 kc and 18000 kc. However, the effective dates of deletion of existing frequencies and the availability of new frequencies were to be made the subject of later proceedings. First, Second, Third, and Fourth Further Notices of Proposed Rule Making in this Docket specifying such dates for many of the frequencies under the above-referred to plan have heretofore been promulgated and finalized.

2. This Fifth Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making is issued because it is now deemed feasible to propose a specific date for the deletion of certain existing frequencies and the availability of additional frequencies listed in the plan. These frequencies are set forth below. It is proposed to make the effective date of the deletion and the availability of the frequencies coincide with the effective date of the Order finalizing the proposed rule. This notice is issued under the authority recited in the original notice of proposed rule making in this docket.

3. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendments should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, may file with the Commission on or before November 22, 1954, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendments may also be filed on or before the same date. Replies to original comments may be filed within ten days from the last day for filing original comments. The Commission will consider all comments and briefs presented to it before taking final action in this matter.

4. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs or comments should be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: October 20, 1954.

Released: October 21, 1954.

Central proposes to enter into certain transactions with Compania Electrica de Matamoros, Sociedad Anonima, a Mexican corporation (also known as Matamoros Electric Company, and herein called "Matamoros").

All the outstanding shares of stock of Matamoros are owned by Central and South West Corporation. Matamoros is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of Mexico. It owns and operates an electric distribution system in Matamoros, Mexico, and a transmission line across the Rio Grande connecting on the north side of the river in the State of Texas with Central's electric transmission system, and is engaged primarily in furnishing electric service in Matamoros, Mexico. Matamoros derives no part of its income, directly or indirectly, from sources within the United States and is not a public-utility company operating in the United States. It has no subsidiaries and does not own any securities of any public-utility company or holding company operating, directly or indirectly, in the United States and by order of this Commission dated February 5, 1942, is exempt from all provisions of the act applicable to it as a subsidiary of a registered holding company.

Central proposes to acquire five (5) notes payable of Matamoros aggregating $98,534.53 in principal amount and bearing interest at the rate of 8 percent per annum from date. One of said notes will be in the principal sum of $19,706.53, due September 15, 1955; and the other four notes will be in the principal sum of $19,707 each, due respectively on the 15th day of September, 1956 to 1959, inclusive. Said notes will be issued by Matamoros and accepted by Central in payment of (a) the purchase price ($70,-594.53, representing the cost to Central) of certain substation equipment, materials and related facilities owned by Central, which Central has agreed to sell to Matamoros, and (b) a portion ($27,940) of the cost to Central of certain poles, line materials and supplies heretofore delivered by Central to Matamoros.

It is stated that no State commission, and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. No fees or commissions have been or are to be paid and it is estimated that expenses relating to the transactions will be nominal.

Due notice having been given of the filing of the application and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that the application should be granted, effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act, that said application be, and the same hereby is, granted effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

COLONIAL FUND, INC.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR EXEMPTION OF PURCHASE OF SECURITIES FROM UNDERWRITING SYNDICATE

OCTOBER 19, 1954.

Notice is hereby given that The Colonial Fund, Inc. ("Colonial"), a registered, open-end, investment company, has filed an application pursuant to section 10 (f) of the Investment Company Act of 1940, for an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of section 10 (f) the proposed purchase by Colonial of not exceeding 7,000 shares of common stock of Peerless Casualty Company ("Peerless").

The application recites that Stedman Buttrick, one of the seven directors of Colonial, is a partner of Estabrook and Co., an investment banking firm, which expects to be a member of a group of investment bankers who will underwrite the unsubscribed portion, if any, of the 170,000 shares of common stock of Peerless which are to be offered to its common stockholders through subscription rights.

It is represented that the Board of Directors of Colonial has authorized the purchase by the Applicant of not exceeding 7,000 shares of any unsubscribed shares of the common stock of Peerless, subject to market conditions at the time of the offering. Such purchase is to be made from underwriters or members of the selling group, if any, other than Estabrook and Co., except to the extent that the latter might be included if a purchase were to be made from Kidder, Peabody & Co., Representative, for the account of the several underwriters.

Section 10 (f) of the act provides, among other things, that no registered investment company shall knowingly purchase or otherwise acquire, during the existence of any underwriting or selling syndicate, any security (except a security of which such company is the issuer) a principal underwriter of which is a person of which a director of such registered investment company is an affiliated person, unless the Commission by order grants an exemption therefrom. Since Buttrick is by definition under the act an affiliated person of Estabrook and Co. the proposed transaction is subject to the provisions of section 10 (f) of the act.

Peerless is engaged in a general casualty insurance, fire insurance and bonding business, both as a direct underwriter and as a re-insurer of other insurance companies writing direct lines of business. It is regarded as a multiple-line company as it is qualified to write all lines of insurance except life insurance. Peerless now owns 70.71 percent of the outstanding common stock of United Life and Accident Insurance Company of Concord, New Hampshire which is engaged in the life insurance business.

The application further states that from time to time Colonial's investments have included securities of insurance companies and Applicant considers it desirable to be in a position to purchase said common stock of Peerless during the underwritten offering in order to have reasonable assurance of being able to obtain a substantial block of the stock, and to avoid the possibility of a higher price after the underwriting syndicate has been dissolved.

The application further states that if the Applicant were to purchase the entire 7,000 shares of common stock, it would acquire 4.1 percent of the total offering, and on the basis of the current market price of $25 per share, the purchase would represent an investment of $175,000 or less than 1 percent of the total assets of the Applicant as at September 30, 1954.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 28, 1954, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

By the Commission.

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Reg. SR-408]

PART 60—SCHEDULED AIR CARRIER RULES

SPECIAL CIVIL AIR REGULATION; DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY TO THE ADMINISTRATOR TO ESTABLISH RULES APPLICABLE TO A HIGH DENSITY AIR TRAFFIC ZONE IN THE WASHINGTON, D. C., AREA

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 20th day of October 1954.

Currently effective Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations contains air traffic rules for aircraft operating anywhere in the United States or in its several Territories and possessions. In general terms, the Civil Air Regulations provide for the conduct of two types of flight: Visual Flight (VFR) and Instrument Flight (IFR). Aircraft operated in control areas in accordance with the Instrument Flight Rules are required to be operated under air traffic control. The procedures employed in this control of air traffic have been designed to provide a safe and orderly flow of the traffic being operated under IFR conditions. The philosophy behind the Visual Flight Rules is that aircraft being flown in accordance with these rules are operated in "see and be seen" weather conditions permitting the pilots to observe and avoid other traffic. Only a few rules have to be observed even in control zones under VFR conditions.

A number of problems that affect the movement of air traffic become more critical in areas of high traffic density. Because of the congestion of traffic in the vicinity of certain large metropolitan airports, the increase in use of high speed aircraft, the wide range of speeds in aircraft, and the many different types of aircraft in use, it appears necessary to establish additional means of affording safety and efficiency in the movement of all aircraft in such critical areas.

Recent studies have disclosed that traffic congestion in certain major terminal areas is not only the prime cause for delays, confusion, and disarrangement of traffic throughout the air traffic system but also the cause of near misses. In an effort to find a solution to some of the problems relating to areas of high density traffic, a special working group of the Air Coordinating Committee, Air Traffic Control and Navigation Panel, has developed recommended procedures which, if applied, will constitute an important step toward implementation of the "common system" of air navigation and result in increased safety and efficiency of VFR operations in high density areas. On February 18, 1954, the Panel recommended proposed standards for an experimental high density air traffic zone plan for the Washington, D. C., area.

The purpose of this regulation is to delegate to the Administrator sufficient authority to permit him to designate a "High Density Air Traffic Zone" in the Washington, D. C. area and to establish procedures for the zone on a temporary basis. These proposed procedures are expected to facilitate movement of traffic in the zone under VFR conditions in a safer and more efficient manner and to the benefit of all users. The authorization provided by this regulation does not permit the Administrator to alter the rules applicable to IFR operations. The delegation does, however, permit the Administrator to establish additional rules for VFR operation within the zone. Such rules will be promulgated in accordance with the notice and public procedure requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act.

This regulation further provides that the delegation of authority to the Administrator shall be for a period of one year. This will enable the Administrator to obtain necessary experience with these procedures, or such modifications thereof as he may make from time to time as experience dictates. The Board may later make such procedures applicable to other high density zones, if it is found that a need exists and that they will, in fact, contribute to safer and more efficient control of air traffic. A special working group of the Air Traffic Control and Navigation Panel will closely observe the procedures established by the Administrator under this regulation and make recommendations with respect to problems which may arise during this experimental period. There is hereby delegated to the Administrator authority to prescribe such additional rules to be applicable in the Washington High Density Air Traffic Zone during VFR weather conditions as he shall find are necessary or desirable, for the purpose of conducting experiments with respect to procedures and rules necessary for the safe and efficient movement of air traffic in high density air traffic zones.

All operations of aircraft within the Washington High Density Air Traffic Zone shall be in compliance with the rules and procedures prescribed by the Administrator.

This special civil air regulation is to be effective for a period of one year.

PROCEDURE ALTERATIONS

The standard instrument approach procedure alterations appearing hereinafter are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety of the flying public. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore is not required.

Part 609 is amended as follows:

NOTE: Where the general classification (LFR, VAR, ADF, ILS, GCA, or VOR), location, and procedure number (if any) of any procedure in the amendments which follow, are identical with an existing procedure, that procedure is to be substituted for the existing one, as of the effective date given, to the extent that it differs from the existing procedure; where a procedure is canceled, the existing procedure is revoked; new procedures are to be placed in appropriate alphabetical sequence within the section amended.

1. The low frequency range procedures prescribed in § 609.6 are amended to read in part:

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter I—Agricultural Marketing Service (Standards, Inspections, Marketing Practices), Department of Agriculture

PART 29—TOBACCO INSPECTION

SUBPART D—ORDERS OF DESIGNATION OF TOBACCO MARKETS

TOBACCO AUCTION MARKET OF NEWPORT, TENN.

Upon a referendum conducted, pursuant to prior notice (19 F. R. 5667), during the period October 7, 1954–October 9, 1954, both dates inclusive, among tobacco growers, who during the 1953–54 marketing season, sold tobacco at auction on the market at Newport, Tennessee, it is found that more than two-thirds of the growers voting in such referendum favor the designation of such market under section 5 of the Tobacco Inspection Act (7 U. S. C. 511 et seq.) for the free and mandatory inspection and certification of tobacco sold on such market. Therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service, and for the purposes of said act, the orders of designation of tobacco markets (7 CFR 29.601) are amended by adding thereto at the end thereof the following paragraph (qq):

§ 29.601 Designation of tobacco markets. * * *

(qq) The tobacco market at Newport, Tennessee. Effective 30 days after October 27, 1954, no tobacco of any type shall be offered for sale at auction on the market at Newport, Tennessee, until such tobacco shall have been inspected and certified by an authorized representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture according to standards established under the Tobacco Inspection Act (7 U. S. C. 511 et seq.): Provided, however, That such requirement of inspection and certification may be suspended at any time when it is found impracticable to provide inspection or when the quantity of tobacco available for inspection is not sufficient to justify the cost of such service.

(Sec. 14, 49 Stat. 734; 7 U. S. C. 511m)

Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service.

AUTHORITY: §§ 51.2510 to 51.2524 issued under sec. 205, 60 Stat. 1090, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1624.

GRADES

§ 51.2510 U. S. No. 1. "U. S. No. 1" consists of heads of lettuce of similar varietal characteristics which are fresh, which are not soft, split, or burst, and which are free from decay, doubles, and from damage caused by tipburn, opening, seedstems, broken midribs, freezing, dirt, sunburn, discoloration, disease, aphis or other insects, or mechanical or other means. Each head shall be fairly well trimmed unless specified as closely trimmed. Not less than 75 percent of the heads in any lot of Iceburg type lettuce shall be hard or firm, unless a lower percentage is specified in connection with the grade statement. Heads of Big Boston type lettuce shall be fairly firm. (See § 51.2515.)

(a) In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the heads in any lot may fail to meet the requirements of this grade, including therein not more than one-fifth of this amount, or 2 percent, for decay affecting any portion of the head exclusive of wrapper leaves. No part of any tolerance shall be allowed to reduce the percentage of hard or firm heads required in the grade.

§ 51.2511 U. S. No. 2. "U. S. No. 2" consists of heads of lettuce of similar varietal characteristics which are not split or burst and which are free from decay, and from serious damage caused by seedstems, wilting, tipburn, freezing, disease, insects, or mechanical or other means. There are no solidity requirements in this grade for Big Boston type lettuce, but heads of Iceberg type lettuce which are distinctly open and leafy with practically no head formation shall not be permitted.

(a) In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the heads in any lot may fail to meet the requirements of this grade, including therein not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, for decay affecting any portion of the head exclusive of wrapper leaves.

UNCLASSIFIED

§ 51.2512 Unclassified. "Unclassified" consists of heads of lettuce which have not been classified in accordance with either of the foregoing grades. The term "unclassified" is not a grade within the meaning of these standards but is provided as a designation to show that no grade has been applied to the lot.

APPLICATION OF TOLERANCES

§ 51.2513 Application of tolerances. (a) The contents of individual packages in the lot, based on sample inspection, are subject to the following limitations: Provided, That the averages for the entire lot are within the tolerances specified for the grade:

(1) For a tolerance of 10 percent or more, individual packages in any lot may contain not more than one and one-half times the tolerance specified, except that when the package contains 30 specimens or less, individual packages may contain not more than double the tolerance specified; and.

(2) For a tolerance of less than 10 percent, individual packages in any lot may contain not more than double the tolerance specified, except that at least one defective specimen may be permitted in any package.

STANDARD PACK

§ 51.2514 Standard pack. Heads of lettuce shall be fairly uniform in size, and tightly packed in uniform layers according to the approved and recognized methods, except that a "bridge" may be used with sizes smaller than 5-dozen count.

(a) In order to allow for variations incident to proper packing, not more than a total of 15 percent of the containers in any lot may not meet the requirements for Standard Pack, but no part of this allowance shall be permitted for packs which are excessively loose in the layers.

[1] Packing of the product in conformity with the requirements of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

SOLIDITY

§ 51.2515 Solidity. (a) The following terms are used in describing the solidity of lettuce:

(1) Hard. "Hard" means that the head is compact and solid. This term represents the highest degree of solidity.

(2) Firm. "Firm" means that the head is compact, but may yield slightly to moderate pressure.

(3) Fairly firm. "Fairly firm" means that although the head is not firm, it is not soft and spongy. A fairly firm head has good head formation and edible content.

(4) Soft. "Soft" means that the head is easily compressed or spongy.

DEFINITIONS

§ 51.2516 Similar varietal characteristics. "Similar varietal characteristics" means that the heads in any container have the same characteristic leaf growth. For example, lettuce of the Iceberg and Big Boston types shall not be mixed.

§ 51.2517 Fresh. "Fresh" means that the head as a whole has normal succulence but the wrapper leaves and the outermost head leaves may be slightly wilted.

§ 51.2519 Doubles. "Doubles" means two heads on the same stem.

§ 51.2520 Damage. "Damage" means any defect which materially affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the lettuce except defects affecting wrapper leaves as restricted under definitions of "fairly well trimmed", and "closely trimmed". Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as damage:

(a) Tipburn when more than one spot is present, or when the area of any spot exceeds that of a rectangle one-fourth inch in length and one-eighth inch in width;

(b) Opening in a hard or firm head which has one-fourth or more of the head separated from the remainder, or any degree of opening in a fairly firm head;

(c) Seedstems which are apparent upon external examination of the head;

(d) Broken midribs when more than 2 of the outer head leaves have midribs broken in two;

(e) Freezing when the head leaves show a brown discoloration over more than half of the crown, or when more than 3 of the head leaves are materially blistered or show appreciable injury by freezing;

(f) Dirt when the head is smeared with mud, or when wrapper leaves are badly smeared with mud, or when the basal portion of the head is caked with mud or dry dirt;

(g) Sunburn when the head leaves show a brown discoloration over more than half of the crown of the head; and,

(h) Aphis when the head proper is infested, or when the wrapper leaves are badly infested.

§ 51.2521 Fairly well trimmed. "Fairly well trimmed" means that the butt is trimmed off close to the point of attachment of the outer leaves; that wrapper leaves are free from serious injury by any cause; that, on a head of Iceberg type lettuce, wrapper leaves do not exceed 8 in number, not more than 6 of which may be excessively large and coarse, and, that the outermost leaves of the head show some shade of green color on a part of the leaves. "Wrapper leaves" means all leaves which do not fairly closely enfold the compact portion of the head. A head shall not be considered fairly well trimmed when the wrapper leaves show yellow or brown discoloration or brown margins to an extent that the appearance of the head is seriously injured. Any blistering except that causing yellow or brown discoloration which seriously affects the appearance of the wrapper leaves or any tearing of wrapper leaves shall not be considered as serious injury.

§ 51.2522 Closely trimmed. "Closely trimmed" means that the head meets all requirements of "fairly well trimmed" except that the wrapper leaves shall be not more than 3 in number, none of which may be excessively large and coarse.

§ 51.2523 Serious damage. "Serious damage" means any defect which seriously affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the lettuce. The loss of crispness due to freezing shall not be considered serious damage. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as serious damage:

(a) Seedstems which have caused the head to split or which are protruding through the outer head leaves; and

(b) Tipburn when any spot is more than 1½ inches in length or three-fourths inch in width.

§ 51.2524 Fairly uniform in size. "Fairly uniform in size" means that not more than 10 percent, by count, of the heads in any one container may be one standard size smaller than the standard size head for the count packed.

(a) Example of standard size head. The standard size head for a 4-dozen pack is that size which will pack tightly 4 rows with 4 heads of uniform size in each row in a layer in a standard crate, assuming that the head has the average number of wrapper leaves found on all the heads in the crate.

The United States Standards for Lettuce contained in this subpart shall become effective 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and will thereupon supersede the United States Standards for Lettuce which have been in effect since March 15, 1934.

PART 728—WHEAT

SUBPART—WHEAT MARKETING QUOTAS FOR 1954 CROP

WAIVER OF BOND OF INDEMNITY FOR STATE, STATE INSTITUTION OR OTHER STATE AGENCY, OR FEDERAL AGENCY

The amendment herein is based on the marketing quota provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, applicable to wheat and is made for the purpose of amending paragraph (d) of § 728.482 to permit the waiver in the case of a State, or State institution or other State agency, or Federal agency of the bond of indemnity to secure the payment of the penalty where the farm marketing excess has been stored.

Since the bulk of the 1954 wheat crop has already been harvested, it is imperative that this amendment be approved and made effective as soon as possible. Therefore, it is hereby determined that compliance with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act with respect to notice, public procedure thereon, and effective date is unnecessary and contrary to the public interest, and the amendment herein shall become effective upon the date of filing of this document with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

Section 728.482 of the 1954 wheat marketing quota regulations is hereby amended by adding the following new sentence at the end of paragraph (d) thereof: "The bond of indemnity provided for in this paragraph may be waived by the county committee, with the approval of the State committee, if the excess wheat was produced by a State or State institution or other agency of a State or Federal agency: Provided, That as a condition of the waiver of the bond of indemnity the head of the State institution or other State agency or Federal agency shall agree in writing to comply with all other provisions of the regulations in § 728.450 to 728.496 with respect to the stored farm marketing excess."

R. 6480), Parts 1 and 8, as amended, of Chapter I of Title 17, Code of Federal Regulations (17 CFR Parts 1, 8; 17 CFR, 1953 Supp., Part 8), are hereby amended as follows:

1. By inserting "wool," after the comma following "Irish potatoes" in the definition of "commodity" in § 1.3 (e).

2. By inserting "Wool and" before "Wool Tops" in the caption of Part 8, so that it reads as set forth above.

3. By amending § 8.00 to read as follows:

§ 8.00 Definitions: "Cash wool"; "spot wool"; "cash wool tops"; "spot wool tops." The term "cash wool" shall have the same meaning as the term "spot wool," and the term "cash wool tops" shall have the same meaning as the term "spot wool tops." These terms shall refer to transactions in actual wool and wool tops, respectively, as distinguished from wool futures and wool top futures.

4. By inserting "wool or" before "wool tops" in the first and third sentences of § 8.01.

5. By inserting "wool and" before "wool tops" in the second sentence of § 8.01.

6. By amending § 8.01 (c) and (d) to read, respectively, as follows:

9. By inserting "wool and" after "open contracts in" in the second sentence of § 8.10.

10. By inserting "wool and" before "wool top" in § 8.11 (a) (1) and before "wool tops" in § 8.11 (a) (3) and (4).

11. By inserting "wool and" after "all open contracts in" in the first sentence of § 8.23.

12. By inserting "applicable" before "amount" in the first sentence of each of §§ 8.04, 8.05, 8.10, and 8.14.

(Sec. 8a, as added by sec. 10, 49 Stat. 1500; 7 U. S. C. 12a. Interpret or apply sec. 710, Pub. Law 690, 83d Cong.)

These amendments operate to make the regulations under the Commodity Exchange Act applicable to wool, which was added to the commodities subject to the act by section 710 of Public Law 690, 83d Congress, which becomes effective October 27, 1954. It is necessary that these amendments become effective at the same time in order to avoid confusion and to provide persons who trade in wool futures on or subject to the rules of contract markets with information as to the requirements of the law and regulations at the time that the law goes into effect. Accordingly, under section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)), it is hereby found that good cause exists for making these amendments effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of these amendments have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

These amendments shall become effective October 27, 1954.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[FCC 54-1305]

PART 1—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

PROCEDURE FOR PROCESSING APPLICATIONS FOR TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS; CONTENTS OF APPLICATIONS

In the matter of amendment of Part 1, Practice and Procedure of Commission's rules and regulations with respect to processing of TV applications.

1. The Commission has under consideration § 1.371 of its rules and regulations relating to practice and procedure.

2. The Commission stated in a Public Notice (FCC 54-244) that the need for issuing a bi-monthly priority list of TV applications had been eliminated, that applications would be considered chronologically, and that footnote 10 to § 1.371 would be amended accordingly.

3. Pertinent portions of footnote 10 have been incorporated into a new rule which is set forth below.

4. The temporary processing procedure contained a provision that "an application by a licensee or the permittee of a television broadcast station which seeks to modify an outstanding license or permit to specify a channel other than that authorized in said license or permit will not be accepted for filing by the Commission, with the exception of applications filed pursuant to Commission Show Cause Orders." This "anti-straddling rule" was necessary to effectuate the expeditious development of television under the Commission's Table of Assignments. Prior to the lifting of the television freeze, the Commission had not considered applications for new television stations for almost four years, and during that time, an exceptionally heavy demand for new television stations had developed, as evidenced by the great number of applications filed with the Commission while the freeze was still in effect, despite the Commission's request that applicants withhold the filing of applications until the new television rules were adopted. Because of this pent-up demand for television stations, it was unavoidable that long administrative delays would be encountered before a significant number of new television facilities could be authorized, and the Commission was of the view that it should expedite the consideration of television applications wherever possible in order to bring television to all parts of the nation as soon as possible. Thus, within the framework of complete fairness to the applicants for such facilities, the Commission sought to prevent undue procedural obstruction of its administrative process by the parties themselves. The Commission adopted the "anti-straddling rule" in order to insure that the holder of a construction permit or an existing station license specifying a particular channel would proceed with its existing authorization, or would make that channel available to others before seeking to institute proceedings to obtain a grant on another channel. This provision, for example, prevented parties already having a grant on a channel from tying up another channel in the same community and delaying the advent of a competitive service at a time when television was in its infancy and still unavailable to many.

5. In adopting its "anti-straddling rule", the Commission was applying a remedy made necessary by the peculiar situation with which it was faced at the lifting of the television freeze. However, the Commission has now reached the point in the processing of television applications where it believes that the "anti-straddling rule" is no longer required in the administrative process. Outstanding grants of authority to construct television stations now number over 570 and open the way for television service in virtually all parts of the country. The Commission is no longer faced with a huge backlog of applications: All of the uncontested applications have received Commission consideration and the processing of such uncontested applications is now on a current basis. In addition, all of the contested applications, which require comparative hearings, have all been designated for hearing. Accordingly, the Commission believes that there is no longer any necessity for retaining the "anti-straddling rule", and we are dispensing with this provision at the same time that we are deleting the temporary processing procedure.

6. The amendment adopted herein is procedural in nature and prior notice of proposed rule making is unnecessary. It is believed that the public interest would be served by making such amendment effective immediately.

7. Authority for the adoption of the amendment herein is contained in sections 4 (i) and 303 (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

8. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That effective October 20, 1954, Part 1 of the Commission's rules is amended as set forth below.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066 as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interpret or apply sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082 as amended; 47 U. S. C. 303)

Adopted: October 20, 1954.

Released: October 21, 1954.

[SEAL] WM. P. MASSING,
Acting Secretary.

I. Footnote 10 with its designator in § 1.371 is deleted and a new section is added to read as follows:

§ 1.378 Procedure for processing applications for television broadcast stations. The following procedures shall apply with respect to the processing of applications for television broadcast stations and for the designation for hearing of such mutually exclusive applications.

(a) Applications for television stations will be processed in the order in which they are accepted for filing.

(b) Regardless of the number of applications filed for channels in a city or the number of assignments available in that city, those applications which are mutually exclusive, i. e., which request the same channel, will be designated for hearing. All other applications for channels will, if the applicants are duly qualified, receive grants. For example, if Channels 6, 13, 47, and 53 have been assigned to City X and there are pending two applications for Channel 6 and one application for each of the remaining channels, the latter three applications will be considered for grants without hearing and the two mutually exclusive applications requesting Channel 6 will be designated for hearing. If there are two pending applications for Channel 6 and two applications for Channel 13, separate hearings will be held.

(c) Where applications are mutually exclusive because the distance between their respective proposed transmitter sites is contrary to the station separation requirements set forth in § 3.610 of this chapter, said applications will be processed and designated for hearing at the time the application with the lower file number is processed. If the question concerning transmitter sites is resolved before a decision is rendered in the matter, the application with the higher file number will be returned to its appropriate place on the processing line. In order to be considered mutually exclusive with a lower file number application, the higher file number must have been accepted for filing at least one day before the lower file number application has been acted upon by the Commission. If the lower file number application is in hearing status at the time the higher file number application is accepted for filing, the 60-day cut-off date specified in § 1.387 (b) (3) will be applicable.

(d) Where a mutually exclusive application on file becomes unopposed, or where an amended application or a new application is filed in place of the several competing applications and the applicant formed by such a merger is completely or substantially the same parties as the parties to the original application or applications, the remaining application may be available for consideration on its merits by the Commission at a succeeding regular meeting as promptly as processing and review by the Commission can be completed.

II. Section 1.304 is amended by the addition of the following sentence: "An application for a television broadcast station must request a specific channel provided for in table of assignments (§ 3.606 of this chapter) for the city in which the applicant proposes to construct a station."

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS; TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations; Docket No. 11190.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration its notice of proposed rule making and order to show cause issued in this proceeding on September 30, 1954 (FCC 54-1240) and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 2, 1954 (19 F. R. 6379). The notice of proposed rule making advised that Greylock Broadcasting Corporation, permittee of television station WMGT on Channel 74 in North Adams, Massachusetts, had filed a petition requesting that the Table of Television Channel Assignments be amended by substituting Channel 19 for Channel 74 in North Adams, to be accomplished by making certain other changes in the Table of assignments. In addition, Greylock Broadcasting Corporation was directed to show cause in this proceeding why its outstanding authorization for Station WMGT should not be modified to specify operation on Channel 19 in place of Channel 74.

2. No comments opposing the proposed amendment have been filed. Greylock Broadcasting Corporation filed a comment supporting its proposed channel change. Greylock stated that it was experiencing technical difficulties in its present operation on Channel 74 and that the utilization of Channel 19 would permit the station to cover its contemplated service area with the necessary power. It is urged that the proposed amendment would comply with the Commission's rules and would not affect any existing authorizations or pending applications. In response to the Order to Show Cause, Greylock states that it consents to the modification of its authorization to specify Channel 19 in place of Channel 74.

3. The Commission has always adhered to the view that, for assignment purposes, no distinctions should be made among the various UHF channels. However, the Commission does recognize that in light of equipment problems, television service can, at this time, be rendered more expeditiously on the lower UHF channels. While on a long-range basis we believe that there should be no distinction among the UHF channels, we do recognize, as a practical matter, that there currently is a significant difference in light of equipment problems with respect to the higher UHF channels. The manufacturers have developed satisfactory equipment for the lower portion of the UHF band; however, as indicated by Greylock, they have not yet solved all of the problems with respect to the higher UHF channels. We believe, therefore, that where a community is ready to proceed with television but a high UHF channel has been assigned to it, and a lower channel can be shifted to this community from another community, the Commission should, in an effort to expedite the establishment of television service, substitute the lower UHF channel in those cases where the community to which such lower UHF channel has been assigned is not yet ready to proceed with television. In the instant case, the community of North Adams is ready to proceed immediately with the establishment of a UHF television station, while the other communities where low UHF frequencies are now assigned, are apparently not yet ready to proceed. We believe, therefore, that the lower UHF channel should be shifted to North Adams, where Greylock is already on the air. When the other communities are ready to proceed with television, it is expected that the manufacturers will have solved the problems now facing them in developing equipment for the higher channels. We believe, therefore, that adoption of the amendment as proposed by Greylock would serve the public interest by expediting the establishment of a satisfactory television service in the North Adams area.

4. Since the amendment adopted herein involves an existing authorization, the Commission believes that the public interest, convenience, and necessity would be served by making the amendment effective immediately.

5. Authority for the adoption of the amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That, effective immediately, the outstanding authorization of Station WMGT in North Adams, Massachusetts (BMPCT-2483) is modified to specify operation on Channel 19 in lieu of Channel 74, and an appropriate authorization will be issued to Greylock Broadcasting Corporation.

7. It is further ordered, That, effective immediately, the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606, rules governing television broadcast stations is amended, insofar as the cities named are concerned, as follows:

City:	Channel No.
North Adams, Mass	19, *80
Portsmouth, N. H	15
Utica-Rome, N. Y	13, *25+, 54-
Bennington, Vt	74+

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS; TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of Assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations; Docket No. 11158.

1. The Commission has under consideration its Notice of Proposed Rule Making issued in the above-entitled proceeding on September 7, 1954 (FCC 54-1122) and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 11, 1954 (19 F. R. 5916) proposing to change the offset carrier requirement for Channel 11 at Fargo, North Dakota, and International Falls, Minnesota, in response to a petition filed by the Midcontinent Broadcasting Company, Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

2. The last day for filing comments in this proceeding was October 4, 1954. No comments opposing the proposed amendment have been filed. In support of the proposed amendment petitioner urged that it is the permittee of television Station KELO-TV operating on Channel 11 with zero offset carrier at Sioux Falls, South Dakota; that this station is only 234 miles from the assignment of Channel 11 at Fargo, North Dakota also with zero offset carrier; that such operation may needlessly deprive a large area and population of a television broadcast service; and that the proposed changes comply with the Commission's rules and standards.

3. Authority for the adoption of the amendment herein is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

4. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That effective December 1, 1954, the table of assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended, insofar as the cities named are concerned, to read as follows:

City:	Channel No.
International Falls, Minn	11
Fargo, N. Dak	6, 11+, 34-, 40

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066 as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies secs. 301, 303, 307, 48 Stat. 1081, 1082, 1084; 47 U. S. C. 301, 303, 307)

Adopted: October 20, 1954.

JORDAN DISPATCH SERVICE

MEMORANDUM AND ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

In re application of R. C. Jordan, d/b as Jordan Dispatch Service, Plainview, Texas, and Lubbock, Texas, order to show cause why the licenses of stations KKG563 and KKE970 in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service should not be revoked; Docket No. 11174.

As directed by order of the undersigned Hearing Examiner dated October 1, 1954, a pre-hearing conference in the above-entitled proceeding was held at the offices of the Commission at Washington, D. C., on October 18, 1954. At such pre-hearing conference counsel for the respondent, R. C. Jordan, d/b as Jordan Dispatch Service, requested postponement of consideration of matters relative to stipulating with respect to facts involved in this proceeding, the limitation of the number of witnesses at the hearing and depositions, in order that such pre-hearing conference might proceed to a discussion of the means whereby such respondent could satisfy this Commission with regard to questions of its full compliance with the Rules of this Commission relating to the said respondent's operations of its stations KKG563 and KKE970 in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service.

The pre-hearing conference thereafter principally was devoted to consideration of some nine specific items of respondent's methods of operation as to which respondent's counsel indicated there would be changes made by the respondent in an endeavor to demonstrate to this Commission full compliance with its applicable rules.

Counsel for the respondent, R. C. Jordan, d/b as Jordan Dispatch Service, Plainview, Texas, and Lubbock, Texas, requested a substantial postponement of the date for hearing in order to allow the said party respondent time to adopt procedures and make arrangements which could be considered by this Commission as being in compliance with its rules applying to the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service.

Counsel for said respondent further requested a continuance of the hearing date in this proceeding to allow him a reasonable time (in the light of the state of health of Mr. R. C. Jordan) to confer with his said client and to develop the necessary service arrangements thereafter relative to the matters considered at the pre-hearing conference.

Respondent's counsel further advised that when in respondent's view it had perfected modifications and changes in its methods of operation of its stations KKG563 and KKE970, such, as in its opinion, to be corrective of conditions leading to the issuance of the Order to Show Cause in this proceeding, and which in its further opinion would be in full compliance with the rules of the Commission relating to the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service, the said respondent would thereupon apply to this Commission for relief from the Order to Show Cause by filing with the Commission a Petition for Reconsideration and Withdrawal of the Order to Show Cause, reciting the facts upon which it relies and to be supported by affidavits and any other exhibits deemed by it to be pertinent in support of such Petition.

Upon the foregoing recitations respondent by its attorney moved for an extension of the hearing date in this proceeding to December 1, 1954; and upon argument, and there being no objection thereto by counsel for the Chief of the Common Carrier Bureau of this Commission; and for other good cause shown; therefore

It is ordered, This 19th day of October 1954, that the motion of the respondent for a continuance of the hearing date from October 26, 1954 to December 1, 1954, be and it hereby is granted, and the hearing in this matter is hereby continued and rescheduled to be held at the offices of this Commission in Washington, D. C., at 10:00 a. m. on December 1, 1954.

WUNDERLICH DEVELOPMENT CO.

ORDER ACCEPTING RATE SCHEDULE FOR FILING AND SUSPENDING SUPPLEMENT THERETO

Wunderlich Development Company (Applicant) on September 20, 1954, tendered for filing a basic contract dated May 17, 1954, together with a letter dated September 17, 1954, relating to the sale of natural gas to Cities Service Gas Company (Cities Service). The basic contract has been designated Applicant's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and the letter as Supplement No. 1 thereto.

By such supplement Applicant gives notice that it proposes to increase the charge for gas sold to Cities Service effective as of September 1, 1954, pursuant to an interim increase provision in the basic contract. It is estimated that the annual increase to Cities Service will be $43,800.

The gas sold by Applicant to Cities Service pursuant to the foregoing rate schedule and supplement is transported and sold in interstate commerce.

The increase proposed in the aforesaid supplement has not been justified and may be unjust, unreasonable and otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds:

(1) Wunderlich Development Company is a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act, and its sale of gas to Cities Service under Applicant's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and Supplement No. 1 thereto is a sale in interstate commerce of natural gas for resale for ultimate public consumption.

(2) FPC Rate Schedule No. 1 filed by Applicant on September 20, 1954, should be accepted for filing.

(3) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of such act, concerning the lawfulness of the increase in rates and charges proposed by Applicant in Supplement No. 1 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 filed on September 20, 1954, and that said supplement be suspended as hereinafter ordered and the use thereof deferred pending hearing and decision thereon, except as it may become effective as provided by the Natural Gas Act.

The Commission orders:

(A) FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 filed by Wunderlich Development Company on September 20, 1954, be and it is hereby accepted for filing.

(B) Nothing contained in this order shall be construed as a waiver of the requirements of section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act; nor shall it be construed as constituting approval by this Commission of any service, rate, charge, classification, or any rule, regulation, contract or practice affecting such service or rate, nor shall this be deemed as recognition of any claimed contractual right or obligation affecting or relating to such service or rate.

(C) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by further order of the Commission concerning the lawfulness of the rates, charges, classifications or services contained in Supplement No. 1 to Applicant's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 filed on September 20, 1954.

(D) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Supplement No. 1 to Applicant's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until further order of the Commission, but not beyond February 1, 1955, and until such further time as such supplement may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(E) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(F) This order is without prejudice to any findings or orders which have been or may hereafter be made by the Commission in any proceeding now pending, or hereafter instituted, by or against Wunderlich Development Company.

Adopted: October 19, 1954.

Issued: October 20, 1954.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. S 7-93]

NOTICE OF FILING OF PETITION

OCTOBER 21, 1954.

Notice is hereby given that The Columbia Gas System, Inc. ("Columbia"), a registered holding company, has filed a petition requesting that the Commission amend its Rule U-48 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") so as to exempt from sections 9 (a) and 6 (a) of the act, the acquisition and guarantee by a registered holding company or subsidiary company thereof of securities evidencing loans or advances to officers or employees pursuant to a personnel policy of general application.

Columbia requests that the Commission (i) change the title of Rule U-48 to read "Certain Exemptions in Connection with Appliance Sales and Loans to Officers or Employees"; (ii) add as division "(a)" the caption entitled "Exemptions in Connection with Appliance Sales" and renumber the present divisions (a), (b), (c) and (d) as subdivisions "(1)", "(2)", "(3)" and "(4)" under the new division "(a)"; and (iii) add a new division as follows:

(b) Exemption in connection with loans to officers or employees—(1) Acquisition of loan papers. Any registered holding company or subsidiary company thereof shall be exempt from section 9 (a) of the act with respect to the acquisition of any evidence of indebtedness executed by an officer or employee of such registered holding company or subsidiary company thereof in consideration of a loan or advance made to such officer or employee pursuant to a personnel policy of general application.

(2) Guarantee. Any registered holding company or subsidiary company thereof shall be exempt from the provisions of section 6 (a) of the act with respect to the guarantee, by endorsement or otherwise, of any such officer's or employee's evidence of indebtedness.

Columbia states that, in connection with the efficient and economical administration of its system, it is necessary at times to transfer personnel, both officers and employees, from one location to another within the system, and that such transfers sometimes entail financial hardship because the transferee finds it necessary to purchase a home at the new location and does not have sufficient capital immediately available to consummate the purchase. If the proposed amendment to Rule U-48 is adopted, Columbia proposes to adopt, as a part of its personnel policy, provisions for loans to its officers and employees on a personal loan basis to assist them in purchasing new homes under the aforesaid circumstances, each such loan to be evidenced by a promissory note signed by the employee and his wife and to bear interest at a rate not exceeding the prevailing rate for mortgage loans. Where the transferee owned a home at his old location, the loan would not exceed one year's salary, would be for a period not exceeding six months, and would be payable in full upon completion of the sale of the home at the old location. Where the transferee was unable to realize from the sale of his old home sufficient capital to purchase a home at the new location, or where he resided in rental quarters at the old location, the loan would not exceed six months' salary and would be payable through equal monthly payroll deductions over a period not to exceed five years.

Columbia states that, although it would have no objection to limiting the proposed amendment of Rule U-48 merely to exempt the type of loans which it proposes to make to its own officers and employees, it has proposed the amendment in broader form because it does not believe that any such limitations are necessary or appropriate in the public interest or in the interest of investors and consumers, and because any such limitations might unduly and unnecessarily limit other registered holding companies and their subsidiaries, whose conditions and methods of operation are not the same as those of Columbia.

Columbia expresses the opinion that the acquisition or guarantee of loan papers of officers or employees pursuant to a personnel policy of general application is appropriate in the ordinary course of business of a registered holding company or subsidiary company thereof and is not detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors and consumers; and that therefore the proposed amendment of Rule U-48 is within the exemptive power of the Commission pursuant to sections 9 (c) (3) and 3 (d) of the act.

All interested persons are invited to submit in writing data, views and comments regarding Petitioner's request on or before December 1, 1954, addressed to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

By the Commission.

Pursuant to the provisions of section 302 of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (herein referred to as "act"), the following determination is hereby issued:

§ 857.7 Proportionate shares for sugarcane farms in Puerto Rico for the 1954–55 crop—(a) Farm proportionate share. A proportionate share shall be established for the farm, as constituted November 1, 1954, in terms of sugar, 96° basis, in the manner provided in this paragraph and such share shall be used on that basis until converted to its raw value equivalent in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section for the purpose of computing the payment for the farm.

(1) Farm bases. A base shall be established for each farm from which sugarcane was marketed (or processed) for the extraction of sugar or liquid sugar from any of the 1947–48, 1948–49, 1949–50, 1950–51 and 1951–52 crops (herein referred to as the "base period") by adding (i) 40 percent of the highest production of sugar, raw value, from sugarcane marketed (or processed) from the farm from any crop in the base period and (ii) 60 percent of the result obtained by dividing by 4 the total production of sugar, raw value, for the farm for the other four years of the base period.

(2) Old farms—(i) Farms with bases in excess of 400 hundredweight. The proportionate share for any farm having a farm base in excess of 400 cwt. as established under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, shall be the larger of 400 cwt. and the amount determined by multiplying such base by the applicable percentage factor in the following table:

1	125.0

(ii) Farms with bases not in excess of 400 hundredweight. The proportionate share for any farm having a farm base not in excess of 400 cwt., as established under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, shall be the larger of 120 percent of the higher production from the 1952–53 and 1953–54 crops, but not in excess of 200 cwt., and the amount determined by multiplying such base by the applicable percentage factor in the following table:

Number of crops produced in the base period:	Percentage factor

(iii) Farms having production only in the 1952–53 or 1953–54 crop years. The proportionate share for any farm without a farm base but with production only in the crop years 1952–53 or 1953–54, or both, shall be the smaller of the 1953–54 production and the 1953–54 crop proportionate share.

(iv) Adjusted shares. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the proportionate share for any farm for which the 1953–54 crop share was adjusted pursuant to the appeals procedure applicable to such crop, or an adjustment made under the appeals procedure applicable to the 1952–53 crop was extended for the 1953–54 crop, shall be not less than such adjusted share: Provided, That such adjusted share may be modified for the 1954–55 crop to the extent determined equitable by the Caribbean Area ASC Committee (herein referred to as "Committee").

(v) Minimum proportionate shares for old farms. The minimum proportionate share for any old farm from which sugarcane is marketed (or processed) for the extraction of sugar or liquid sugar for the crop year 1954–55 shall be 100 cwt.

(3) New farms. The proportionate share for any farm from which sugarcane is marketed (or processed) for the extraction of sugar or liquid sugar in the 1954–55 crop year for the first time since the 1946–47 crop year, shall be 100 cwt.

(4) Transfer of farm bases. The farm base established or which would have been established for any land which is removed from sugarcane production because of acquisition by purchase or lease by any Federal, Insular, or other agency having a right of eminent domain shall be available for use in providing an equitable farm base for land owned, purchased, or leased by the owner of the land so acquired by any of such agencies. Upon application to the Area ASC Office, within five years from the date of such acquisition, any such owner shall be entitled to a farm base for any other land owned, purchased, or leased by him equal to the farm base which would have been established for such other land, plus the farm base which would have been established for the land so acquired: Provided, That neither the farm base nor the combined farm bases shall exceed the production capacity for the farm so owned, purchased, or leased as determined by the Area ASC Office.

(5) Tolerances. The requirements of section 301 (b) of the act with respect to the amount of sugarcane grown and marketed (or processed) from the farm shall be deemed to have been met if the amount of sugar recovered therefrom does not exceed the proportionate share for such farm by more than the applicable tolerance in the table below: Provided, That any amount of sugar within the applicable tolerance shall be excluded in computing the amount of sugar on which payment is made with respect to such farm under section 302 (a) of the act.

[Short tons of sugar, 96° basis]

Proportionate shares:	Tolerance
Not more than 15	1.0
More than 15 but not more than 25	1.5
More than 25 but not more than 40	2.0
More than 40 but not more than 65	2.5
More than 65 but not more than 100	3.0
More than 100 but not more than 150	3.5
More than 150 but not more than 300	4.0
More than 300 but not more than 750	4.5
More than 750	(1)

[1] 5.0 or ¼ of 1 percent of the proportionate share, whichever is larger.

(6) Delegation. Farm bases and farm proportionate shares shall be established by the Director of the Caribbean Area Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office (herein referred to as "Director") in accordance with this determination and instructions issued by the Deputy Administrator for Production Adjustment, Commodity Stabilization Service.

(7) Appeals. A producer of sugarcane who believes that the proportionate share established for his farm pursuant to this determination is inequitable, may, not later than 60 days after notice thereof is issued, file an appeal in writing with the Committee. The Committee may adjust such proportionate share to the extent determined by it to be necessary to carry out the provisions of this determination and the act, and to establish a proportionate share for the farm which is fair and equitable as compared with the proportionate shares established for all other farms. The Committee shall notify such producer of its decision in writing as soon as possible. Any producer who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Committee may appeal in writing to the Director of the Sugar Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., and his decision shall be final.

(b) Sugar for payment. For the purpose of determining payments pursuant to Title III of the act, the proportionate share established in accordance with this determination and the amount of sugar recoverable, 96° basis, from sugarcane of the 1954–55 crop marketed from the farm shall be converted to raw value on the basis of the average polarization of the sugar produced from 1954–55 crop sugarcane at the mill or mills where the sugarcane was processed. Such conversion shall be made in accordance with section 101 (h) of the act.

(c) Share tenant and share cropper protection. In addition to compliance with the proportionate share for the farm in accordance with this determination, eligibility for payment of any producer of sugarcane shall be subject to the following conditions:

(1) That the number of share tenants or share croppers engaged in the production of sugarcane of the 1954–55 crop on the farm shall not be reduced below the number so engaged with respect to the previous crop, unless such reduction is approved by the Director; and

(2) That such producer shall not have entered into any leasing or cropping agreement for the purpose of diverting to himself or any other producer any payments to which share tenants or share croppers would be entitled if their leasing or cropping agreements for the previous crop were in effect.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

Sugar Act requirements. Section 301 (b) of the act provides as a condition for payment to producers, that there shall not have been marketed (or processed) an amount (in terms of planted acreage, weight or recoverable sugar content) of sugarcane grown on the farm and used for the production of sugar or liquid sugar in excess of the proportionate share for the farm, as determined by the Secretary pursuant to section 302 of the act. For Puerto Rico, the term "proportionate share" means the individual farm's share of the total quantity of sugar required to be processed from sugarcane marketed from the farms to enable the area to meet the quota (and provide a normal carryover inventory) as estimated by the Secretary, for the calendar year during which the larger part of the sugar or liquid sugar from such crop normally would be marketed.

Section 302 (a) of the act provides that the amount of sugar with respect to which payment may be made shall be the amount of sugar commercially recoverable from the sugarcane grown on the farm and marketed (or processed) not in excess of the proportionate share for the farm.

Section 302 (b) provides that in determining the proportionate share for a farm, the Secretary may take into consideration the past production on the farm of sugarcane marketed (or processed) for the extraction of sugar or liquid sugar and the ability to produce such sugarcane, and that the Secretary shall, insofar as practicable, protect the interests of new producers and small producers, and the interests of producers who are cash tenants, share tenants or share croppers.

General. Pursuant to the foregoing provisions of the act, restrictive proportionate shares are required in any area when the indicated sugar supply will be greater than the quantities needed to fill the quota and provide a normal carryover inventory for such area. Compliance with proportionate shares is required as one of the conditions for payment.

Restrictive proportionate shares were effective in Puerto Rico for both the 1952–53 and 1953–54 crops. The 1952–53 crop determination resulted in the production of 1,182,000 tons of sugar and the determination for the 1953–54 crop resulted in the production of about 1,204,000 tons. Marketings of Puerto Rican sugar in 1954 and 1955 should equal the sum of the Island's mainland and local consumption quotas. Therefore, the carryover of sugar on January 1, 1955, will approximate 164,000 tons or about 24,000 tons greater than the carryover on January 1, 1954. Accordingly, tural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, included in one lot. Certification of any vision: Provided, That in the event di-this determination will permit the production of sufficient sugar to enable the area to fill its 1955 quotas and provide a normal carryover.

Public hearing. An informal public hearing was held in Santurce, Puerto Rico, on August 16, 1954, to receive information and recommendations for the 1954–55 proportionate share program. In announcing the hearing on August 3, 1954, the Department suggested that the provisions of the 1954–55 crop determination be similar to those issued for the previous determination, with certain modifications for small and new farms and adjustments for current conditions. This plan was presented and explained at the hearing by Department representatives. The hearing was attended by 43 persons, eight of whom presented testimony. In addition, two briefs were filed subsequent to the hearing. Although there was general concurrence with the method suggested by the Department, recommendations to modify certain proposed provisions were presented. The principal recommendation was to include a provision for the proration of deficits in farm shares within mill areas rather than making an allowance for such deficits in computing the factors to be used in establishing proportionate shares. The other changes recommended were of a minor nature, and included special consideration for producers having short production records.

Determination. In developing this determination, consideration has been given to the testimony presented at the hearing, to the production and inventory situation, and to experience gained under recent restrictive programs.

Farm bases will be established as provided in the two previous determinations, using the same crop years (1947–48 through 1951–52) and weightings of the standards of "past production" and "ability to produce".

The adjustment factors of 125, 109, 100 and 94 percent for farms with bases in excess of 400 cwt. and having production in only 1, 2, 3, or 4 years, respectively, of the base period, remain unchanged from the 1953–54 crop determination. Since 1952–53 and 1953–54 crop production have not been included in the base period, the adjustment factors for farms which did not have production in all of the crop years of the base period were established so as to give consideration to production in these two crop years. The adjustment factor of 84 which will be applicable to farms with bases in excess of 400 cwt. and having production in all five years of the base period was determined by dividing the estimated production required on such farms, by their total bases. Appropriate allowances for possible deficits in individual farm shares, appeals, and shares accruing to "new farms" were made in the computation of the adjustment factor. The percentage factor of 84 compares with the percentage factor of 89 for the 1953–54 crop.

The proportionate shares for farms with bases in excess of 400 cwt. will be the larger of 400 cwt. and the amount determined by multiplying the farm bases by the applicable factor.

The proportionate share for any farm having a farm base of 400 cwt. or less will be the largest of (a) the base for a farm having production in three or more years of the base period, 109 percent of the base for a farm having production in only two years of the base period, 125 percent of the base for a farm having production in only one year of the base period; (b) 120 percent of the larger of the 1952–53 or 1953–54 production, but not in excess of 200 cwt.; or (c) 100 cwt.

The proportionate shares for farms which had only one or two years of history during the base period will be established in a manner that will give partial consideration to 1952–53 and 1953–54 production. These farms in 1953–54 numbered only 162, or .8 percent of the total number of farms and their combined proportionate shares were only .4 percent of the total proportionate shares. In the 1953–54 crop program, approximately three-fourths of the sugarcane farms in Puerto Rico produced less than 400 cwt. each and they accounted for only about 9 percent of the total production. Accordingly, the exemption from adjustment of farms producing less than 400 cwt. will have a minor effect on the shares of the larger farms.

For farms having production in the crop years 1952–53 or 1953–54, or both, but no production during the base period, the proportionate share will be the larger of the 1953–54 production and 100 cwt. but not in excess of the 1953–54 proportionate share.

The proportionate share for any "new farm" has been established at 100 cwt. as compared with 200 cwt. under the previous two determinations. Because of the continued need for restrictions, it is deemed reasonable to limit the proportionate shares for new farms to 100 cwt.

The recommendation made at the hearing on August 16, 1954, to provide for a proration of farm deficits within mill areas has not been adopted. As was the case for the previous crop's determination, an allowance has been made for such deficits in the computation of the adjustment factors. It is deemed advisable to continue the practice followed for the 1953–54 crop because it is believed that equity to a greater number of producers will result from this method.

Provision has been made for the consideration by the Committee of appeals for adjustments in proportionate shares as well as for further appeals to the Department. The provisions of the 1952–53 and 1953–54 crop determinations relating to marketing tolerances and share tenant and share cropper protection remain unchanged.

It is believed that this determination provides an equitable basis for establishing proportionate shares for the 1954–55 Puerto Rican crop.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing determination will effectuate the applicable provisions of the act.

PART 993—DRIED PRUNES PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES AND PROCEDURES

Notice was published in the October 1, 1954, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 6339) that the Secretary of Agriculture was considering a proposed rule to approve further amendments, submitted by the Prune Administrative Committee, of the amended administrative rules and procedures, issued pursuant to the applicable provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 110, as further amended, and Order No. 93, as further amended (19 F. R. 1301), regulating the handling of dried prunes produced in California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). In said notice, opportunity was afforded all interested persons to file written data, views, or arguments with respect thereto. No such written data, views, or arguments were filed, and the period provided therefor has now expired.

After consideration of all pertinent available information, it is concluded that the proposed amendments of the amended administrative rules and procedures as set forth in the aforesaid notice would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act and should be approved.

Therefore, it is hereby ordered, That the aforesaid amended administrative rules and procedures (19 F. R. 5297) be further amended as set forth below:

1. Amend the provisions of § 993.105 to read as follows:

§ 993.105 Lot. "Lot" as used in §§ 993.148 and 993.150 (a) means (a) any number of tenders accepted by a handler from one producer or from one dehydrator, the net weight of which does not exceed 50,000 pounds in the aggregate, or (b) in the event a single tender has a net weight in excess of 50,000 pounds, any portion of such tender, the net weight of which does not exceed 50,000 pounds: Provided, That no lot shall include prunes of any tender that is not tentatively accepted by the handler on the same day as other tenders included in such lot, except that this time limitation shall not apply to prunes tendered exclusively in "ton box" containers or to prunes tendered in lug boxes on pallets and remaining intact thereon: And provided further, That each lot of prunes shall be reasonably uniform in quality and condition, and shall not include any container of prunes which obviously is inferior in quality or condition to the quality and condition of the prunes in the rest of the containers in such lot.

2. Amend the provisions of § 993.148 (b) (1) to read as follows:

(b) Incoming inspection—(1) General. For each tender of prunes made to a handler by a producer or dehydrator, the handler shall, immediately upon tentative acceptance thereof, issue to the producer or dehydrator a door receipt or weight certificate showing the name and address of such producer or dehydrator, the weight of the tender, and any other information necessary to identify the tender. Any prunes so tendered to a handler must, prior to their acceptance, be inspected at an inspection station, and in order to be received as standard prunes must be certified as standard prunes. The handler shall identify each tender tentatively accepted by him pending inspection with its corresponding door receipt or weight certificate until the prunes in such tender have been inspected and accepted by him or returned to the producer or dehydrator tendering the prunes. A separate inspection shall be made of each lot and an inspection certificate shall be limited to the prunes included in one lot. Certification of any lot shall be made and computed on the basis of the net weight of prunes included in such lot, and the handler shall supply such information to the inspector. At the time of inspection of any lot, the handler shall provide the inspector with any assistance necessary in drawing samples. When necessary, in order to perform proper inspection, the inspector may require the handler to dump containers to permit proper sampling. Each lot shall be inspected immediately following tentative acceptance by a handler of all of the prunes to be included in such lot, except that any lot of prunes tendered to a handler by a producer or dehydrator in "ton box" containers or tendered in lug boxes on pallets and remaining intact thereon which cannot be dumped for sampling at the time of such acceptance, because of inadequate handling equipment, may be held for later inspection: Provided, That each lot of prunes so held is identified by the handler to the satisfaction of the inspector until the lot is inspected. After inspection, each lot of prunes shall be promptly accepted by the handler or returned to the producer or dehydrator. When a lot of prunes is inspected at other than a handler's plant, the inspector shall forward, with such lot to the handler, the handler's copies of the certificate.

3. Amend the provisions of § 993.161 (e) to read as follows:

§ 993.161 Surplus tonnage. • • •

(e) Diversion privileges. Any producer who desires to divert prunes in accordance with the provisions of § 993.62 shall make application to the committee for permission to avail himself of such privilege on Form PAC 10.1, "Application for Green Diversion of Prunes," containing the following information: (1) The date and the name and address of the applicant; (2) the exact location of the orchard or orchards or the name and location of the dehydrator at which the diversion is to take place; (3) the total bearing acreage of prunes operated by the applicant; (4) the applicant's estimate of his then current crop of prunes in equivalent dried tons; (5) the applicant's estimate of the dried tonnage equivalent of the quantity proposed for green diversion; (6) the proposed method of diversion, if harvested, indicating whether the prunes are to be fed to livestock or otherwise destroyed; (7) the proposed method of diversion, if unharvested, indicating whether the prunes are to be diverted by disking, pasturing, or irrigating the orchard; (8) the period during which diversion will take place, and the estimated date on which proof thereof can be supplied; (9) the name and address of the handler to whom salable tonnage covered by the diversion certificate, together with such certificate, will be delivered, if known; and (10) the name and address of the producer or other person to whom the diversion certificate will be transferred, if known. Each such application submitted to the committee shall be accompanied by a deposit of $25.00 to apply against the costs of appraisal and supervision: Provided, That in the event diversion is accomplished at one dehydrator location and four or more producers shall designate the dehydrator as their agent for the purpose of accomplishing the green diversion, a deposit of $100.00 shall be made by such dehydrator. The charge for any diversion certificate so issued shall be based on actual costs: Provided, That the charge for the issuance of any such certificate shall not exceed $3.00 per ton, or fractional part of a ton in excess of one-half ton, on a dried weight basis, of prunes diverted, but there shall be a minimum charge of $25.00 in the event the amount to be charged on such basis would be less than $25.00: And provided further, That the minimum charge shall be $100.00 in the event four or more producers shall designate a dehydrator as their agent for the purpose of green diversion at one location. In the event an application is rejected without an appraisal being made, the committee shall remit the full amount of the applicant's deposit. If an application is rejected or withdrawn after an appraisal is made, the committee shall remit to the applicant that portion of the deposit which is over and above the actual cost of the appraisal. The committee shall notify the applicant promptly of its decision, and, upon submission of proof of diversion satisfactory to the committee, it shall issue a diversion certificate.

It is hereby found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of these amendments of the amended administrative rules and procedures later than the date of the publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER, (see section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.), because: (1) A new crop year under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order began August 1, 1954, and it is desirable that the said further amendments of the amended administrative rules and procedures be published and made effective as soon as practicable; (2) handlers generally are aware of the recommendation by the Prune Administrative Committee with respect to these further amendments of said amended administrative rules and procedures, and, as indicated above, notice of the proposed rule thereon was heretofore published and opportunity to file written data, views, or arguments was afforded, but none was received; and (3) handlers will not need to make any preparation for compliance with the requirements of these further amended administrative rules and procedures.

Issued this 22d day of October 1954, to be, and become, effective as of the date of the publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Reg. ER–200]

WHO SHALL FILE

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of October 1954.

Section 412 (a) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, requires air carriers which are parties to certain contracts or agreements to file with the Board a copy of such contract or agreement. Section 261.1 (a) of the Board's Economic Regulations requires each air carrier which is a party to a contract or agreement fileable under section 412 (a) of the act to file with the Board two copies of such contract or agreement or, when it has been previously filed by another carrier, to submit to the Board within a prescribed time limit a signed statement of concurrence. This requirement appears to the Board to be an unnecessary burden with respect to matters formally reduced to writing and subscribed to by all parties, although it continues to be appropriate for informal or oral contracts and agreements.

Accordingly, the Board is now amending § 261.1 (a) to provide that in the case of formal contracts and agreements executed after the date of this amendment, reduced to writing, and subscribed by all parties thereto, there shall be a presumption that a filing with the Board by one of the parties is made on behalf of all parties to the agreement. This will obviate the necessity for the remaining carriers who are parties to the agreement to file letters of concurrence.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter submitted. Since this amendment imposes no additional burden on any person it may be made effective immediately.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 261 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 261, as amended), effective immediately, as follows:

By amending § 261.1 (a) to read as follows:

§ 261.1 Who shall file. (a) The filing of copies of contracts and agreements which are required to be filed under the provisions of section 412 (a) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, shall be made by every air carrier which is a party thereto as follows:

(1) Written contracts and agreements. In the case of contracts and agreements executed after October 25, 1954, formally reduced to writing and subscribed by the parties thereto, there shall be a presumption that if the required number of copies are filed by any air carrier which is a party to such contract or agreement, such filing has been made on behalf of itself and all other parties subscribed thereto. Written contracts and agreements executed prior to October 25, 1954, shall be filed in accordance with the rules contained in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) Oral and informal contracts and agreements. In the case of oral or memorandum contracts and agreements, if the required number of copies of memoranda thereof are filed by any air carrier which is a party to such contract or agreement, any other air carrier which is a party shall be deemed to have complied with this requirement if it transmits to the Board within the time prescribed by § 261.4 a signed statement to the effect that it concurs in such filing.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies sec. 412, 52 Stat. 1004; 40 U. S. C. 492)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

REVLON PRODUCTS CORP.

Subpart—Dealing on exclusive and tying basis: § 3.670 Dealing on exclusive and tying basis. In connection with the offering for sale, sale, or distribution of cosmetic products in commerce: (1) Selling or making any contract or agreement for the sale of respondent's cosmetic products on the condition, agreement, or understanding that the purchaser thereof shall not use or deal in or sell cosmetic products supplied by any competitor or competitors of respondent; (2) enforcing or continuing in operation or effect any condition, agreement, or understanding in, or in connection with, any existing contract of sale, which condition, agreement, or understanding is to the effect that the purchaser of respondent's cosmetic products will deal in and sell only cosmetic products supplied by respondent; prohibited.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 722; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interprets or applies sec. 3, 38 Stat. 731; 15 U. S. C. 14) [Cease and desist order, Revlon Products Corporation, New York, N. Y., Docket 5685, Sept. 23, 1954]

This proceeding was heard by Earl J. Kolb, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission, charging respondent with violation of section 3 of the Clayton Act, respondent's answer, and hearings at which testimony and other evidence, duly recorded and filed in the office of the Commission, in support of, and in opposition to, the allegations of the complaint, were introduced before said examiner, theretofore duly designated by the Commission.

Thereafter the proceeding regularly came on for final consideration by said examiner on the complaint, answer thereto, testimony and other evidence, and proposed findings as to the facts and conclusions presented by counsel; and said examiner, having duly considered the record in the matter, made his initial decision comprising certain findings as to the facts, conclusions drawn therefrom, and order.

Thereafter, following respondent's appeal from said initial decision, the filing of briefs in support of and in opposition thereto, and oral argument, and the filing of a motion by respondent, opposed by counsel supporting the complaint, requesting reargument, the matter was disposed of by "Decision of the Commission", Docket 5685, dated September 23, 1954, which found no prejudicial error in the examiner's rulings; for the reasons set forth in its accompanying opinion adopted said initial decision as that of the Commission with certain additions and modifications as in said decision specified; for the reasons there set out in its said decision denied respondent's motion for reargument; and required compliance with the order to cease and desist in said initial decision; as follows:

This matter came before the Commission upon an appeal by the respondent, Revlon Products Corporation, from an initial decision of the hearing examiner holding that it has violated section 3 of the Clayton Act. Briefs have been filed in support of and in opposition to this appeal and oral argument has been heard. Respondent also has filed a motion requesting reargument, which motion is opposed by counsel supporting the complaint.

The Commission has reviewed the rulings made by the hearing examiner at the hearings and finds that no prejudicial error was committed. It has considered the initial decision, respondent's exceptions thereto, the briefs and oral argument and the entire record in the case and, for the reasons set out in the written opinion of the Commission issued simultaneously herewith, is of the opinion that the initial decision should be adopted as the decision of the Commission with the following additions and modifications:

1. Respondent excepts to the finding that it is a dominant factor in the nail enamel and lipstick fields. As to lipstick, the record shows that respondent is one of the leading sellers of lipstick. However, it does not support a finding that it dominates the field. As to nail enamel, respondent's officials testified that it is by far the leader in the more expensive nail enamel field. Testimony of competitors shows that Revlon has eighty percent of the nail enamel and adjunct line in the beauty parlor field and is dominant in the sale of these products in that field. Other companies sell large quantities of inexpensive nail

It is ordered, therefore, That respond-

tee upon which the member of Congress the Legislative Branch when accom- diately above be provided on any given sell large quantities of inexpensive nail enamel, principally to drug and ten-cent stores, but respondent clearly dominates in the quality enamel field. Therefore, this finding is modified so as to hold that respondent is dominant in the quality nail enamel field and is a leading seller of lipsticks.

2. The last sentence in Paragraph Six of the hearing examiner's finding is hereby modified by striking from it the phrase "Based upon the testimony of beauty supply jobbers with reference to the various competitive items handled by them." The remainder of the sentence is retained as respondent admits in its exceptions that many manufacturers voluntarily do not sell to beauty supply jobbers.

3. Paragraph Eighteen of the initial decision is modified to clearly state that many of respondent's franchised jobbers sold products, other than nail enamel, which are competitive with respondent's products in violation of their franchise agreements. The hearing examiner so held, in general effect, in ruling on respondent's requested finding number 20, but did not so state in his findings.

4. Paragraph Nineteen of the initial decision is modified by striking the following sentence: "Representatives of 19 of these beauty supply jobbers appeared as witnesses, but, while they denied certain conversations with Breslauer as to their reasons for limiting their business to Revlon nail enamel, it is quite clear that these jobbers did not handle nail enamel competitive with that supplied by respondent."

And by substituting therefor: Representatives of 19 of these beauty supply jobbers appeared as witnesses; of these, 12 testified that they sold Revlon nail enamel exclusively. The others did not testify on this point. Certain of these denied having told Breslauer they wouldn't handle competing nail enamels because of their exclusive dealing agreements with respondent. One, H. L. Reid of Reid and Sibell, testified that he got rid of a competitive nail enamel shortly after becoming a Revlon jobber upon being directed to do so by a Revlon representative who had checked his stock and found the competitive product."

The Commission has considered all of the exceptions to the initial decision and arguments set out in respondent's brief. They are rejected except to the extent the initial decision is hereinabove modified.

Respondent has moved for reargument before the Commission for the reason that two of the present five Commissioners were not members and did not hear the oral argument of counsel, and for the further reason that principles of law bearing on this decision have been announced by the Commission since oral argument herein. The Commission is of the opinion that the able briefs and oral argument and its familiarity with its own recent decisions are sufficient to fully apprise it of all of the issues herein. For that reason, it is of the further opinion that reargument would serve no useful purpose.

It is ordered, therefore, That respondent's motion for reargument is hereby denied.

It is further ordered, That respondent's appeal from the initial decision of the hearing examiner is hereby denied except to the extent hereinabove set out.

It is further ordered, That the initial decision, with the modifications and additions hereinabove set out, is hereby adopted as the decision of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That respondent Revlon Products Corporation shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist set out in the initial decision, a copy of which its attached hereto.[1]

The order, compliance with which was thus required, is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent Revlon Products Corporation, a corporation, and its officers, agents, representatives, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device in connection with the offering for sale, sale, or distribution of cosmetic products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Selling or making any contract or agreement for the sale of respondent's cosmetic products on the condition, agreement, or understanding that the purchaser thereof shall not use or deal in or sell cosmetic products supplied by any competitor or competitors of respondent;

2. Enforcing or continuing in operation or effect any condition, agreement, or understanding in, or in connection with, any existing contract of sale, which condition, agreement, or understanding is to the effect that the purchaser of respondent's cosmetic products will deal in and sell only cosmetic products supplied by respondent.

Issued: September 23, 1954.

By the Commission.

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Defense

PART 60—REIMBURSABLE AND NONREIMBURSABLE TRAVEL BY MILITARY AIRCRAFT

This part replaces order effective April 16, 1952, 17 F. R. 3535, April 22, 1952, 32 CFR 1954, Supp. Subtitle A.

Sec.
60.1 Travel without reimbursement.
60.2 Travel with reimbursement.
60.3 Authority for certain nongovernmental travel.
60.4 General policy on nongovernmental travel.

AUTHORITY: §§ 60.1 to 60.4 issued under sec. 202, 61 Stat. 500; 5 U. S. C. 171a, E. O. 9826, 12 F. R. 5689, 3 CFR, 1947 Supp.

§ 60.1 Travel without reimbursement—(a) Sponsored travel. Sponsored travel is defined as and confined to military air transportation furnished by a military department to its own officials or to Members of Congress and other Government officials or other persons to whom an invitation to travel has been extended by the Office of the Secretary of Defense or by one of the military departments. The military departments (Army, Navy and Air Force) are granted the authority to extend such invitations unilaterally to congressional committees and staff members, individual Members of Congress, and other Government officials, when the purpose of the travel is of primary concern to the military department extending the invitation.

(1) Officials of the Department of Defense, Military Departments, etc. Travel without reimbursement by officials and by military and civilian personnel of the Department of Defense, the three military departments and the boards and other agencies of the Department of Defense shall be governed by such regulations as the Secretary of Defense may from time to time prescribe.

(b) Nonsponsored travel. Nonsponsored travel is defined as and confined to military air transportation furnished pursuant to an official request upon the Secretary of Defense or to a military department from a department, agency or official of the Government outside of the Department of Defense.

(1) Officials of other Executive Departments or agencies or Judicial Branch. Requests for travel without reimbursement by Government officials of the other Executive Departments or agencies or Judicial Branch, whose travel is of primary interest to the Department of Defense, will be screened and approved in writing by the head of the agency to which the official is attached and the approved request then forwarded to the Secretary of Defense for disposition.

(2) Officials of the Legislative Branch. (i) Requests for travel without reimbursement by members of Congress and committee staff members, whose travel is of primary interest to the Department of Defense, should be submitted in writing to the Secretary of Defense by the Chairman of the Congressional committee upon which the member of Congress is serving. The committee chairman should state in his request whether or not he believes the travel to be of primary interest to the Department of Defense.

(ii) Members of Congress who hold valid reserve status in the Army, Navy, Air Force or Marine Corps may continue to utilize air transportation in accordance with existing policies of the respective military departments (Army, Navy and Air Force) applicable to the reserve officer and enlisted personnel of those departments.

(3) Nonofficial passengers (sponsored and/or nonreimbursable trips). Exceptions to the general policy of prohibiting accompanying travel of dependents on Department of Defense sponsored nonreimbursable trips are as follows:

(i) To permit travel of dependents of attaché mission or military commission personnel as may be designated by the respective Secretaries of the Military Departments, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Chiefs of Staff of the Army and Air Force, the Chief of Naval Operations and the Commandant of the Marine Corps in overseas areas on attaché or mission aircraft.

(ii) To permit travel of dependents of other military or civilian personnel of the Department of Defense when authorized by the Secretary of Defense, or by the respective Secretaries of the Military Departments, the Chiefs of Staff of the Army and Air Force, the Chief of Naval Operations or the Commandant of the Marine Corps, as being in the national interest, essential to the proper accomplishment of the mission, desirable because of diplomatic or public relations, or as necessary for the health or morale of the principals concerned.

(iii) To permit the accompanying travel without reimbursement of dependents of officials of the other Executive Departments or agencies, of the Judicial Branch, or of the Legislative Branch, when accompanying their principals on a sponsored trip, and when authorized in each instance by the Secretary of Defense as being in the national interest, essential to the proper accomplishment of the mission, desirable because of diplomatic or public relations, or as necessary for the health and morale of the individuals concerned.

Requests for the accompanying travel without reimbursement on military aircraft by dependents of officials of the other Executive Departments or agencies, of the Judicial Branch, or of the Legislative Branch should be referred to the Secretary of Defense.

(4) Nonofficial passengers (nonsponsored and/or reimbursable trips). The rule generally prohibiting passage of dependents on Department of Defense sponsored nonreimbursable trips is also applicable to nonsponsored and/or reimbursable trips. However, exceptions to the rule may be authorized under certain circumstances. Current exceptions to the rule would be: To permit accompanying travel on nonsponsored and/or reimbursable trips of dependents of officials of other Executive Departments or agencies, of the Judicial Branch, or of the Legislative Branch when accompanying their principals and when authorized in each instance by the Secretary of Defense as being essential to the proper accomplishment of the mission, desirable because of diplomatic or public relations, or as necessary for the health or morale of the individuals concerned.

(5) Use of attache aircraft by Members of the Congress. (i) In those instances where Congressional committees or members thereof find it necessary while abroad to request travel in Air Force or Navy aircraft allocated to the attaches or military missions, such trips may be authorized if commercial facilities are not available, if such use of the attache or mission aircraft will not interfere in any way with its normally assigned mission, if the purpose of the trip is specifically indicated by the chairman of the committee or subcommittee or member as essential to the mission of the committee, subcommittee or member.

(ii) A report of each trip so flown will be made to the appropriate military department by the attaché concerned, which report will indicate the names and numbers of passengers carried, the duration, destinations and purpose of the trip.

§ 60.2 Travel with reimbursement. In cases not covered by the preceding section, the Department of the Navy and the Department of the Air Force may provide air transportation with reimbursement therefor, and subject to other restrictions thereon, in accordance with the provisions of applicable law, when the traffic is of official concern to the Executive Departments or agencies, or to the Legislative or Judicial Branches of the Government. Requests for transportation in this category should be directed to the Secretary of the Air Force with procurement authority chargeable or a clear indication of the method by which reimbursement is to be accomplished.

§ 60.3 Authority for certain nongovernmental travel. In order to facilitate Department of Defense operations at home and abroad, nongovernmental passengers and cargo not within the scope of the foregoing provisions may be furnished air transportation by the Department of the Navy or the Department of the Air Force to or from places outside of the Continental United States, with reimbursement therefor, at not less than current commercial rates (including taxes) upon certification by the head of the interested Executive Department or agency that the furnishing of such transportation is in the national interest. In cases covered in this paragraph it will be within the purview of the Secretary of the Navy or the Secretary of the Air Force to refuse to authorize the transportation if deemed advisable.

§ 60.4 General policy on nongovernmental travel. As a general policy, the aviation organizations of the Armed Forces shall not be placed in a position of competing with United States commercial transportation. Therefore, in no case will air transportation under the provisions of the two paragraphs immediately above be provided on any given route if, in the opinion of the Departments of the Army, Navy or Air Force, United States civil air carriers adequate to handle the traffic are in operation on the route.

T. P. PIKE,
Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics).

2. Sections 3.3 and 3.4 are revised to read as follows:

§ 3.3 Jurisdiction of adjudication division. Within the jurisdiction of field adjudication activities, the adjudication division in each regional office under the direction of an adjudication officer, will be responsible for the preparation and adjudication of claims for disability compensation or pension and determining, upon proper request, service-connection for the condition or conditions for which outpatient treatment only is requested; for determining whether the character of discharge is a bar to benefits, including benefits under Titles II and III of Public Law 346, 78th Congress, as amended, Titles II, III, and IV, Public Law 550, 82d Congress, and hospital treatment, domiciliary care, and outpatient treatment for service connected disabilities under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, as amended, in doubtful cases; for determining whether disabilities are service-connected and compensable for purposes of vocational rehabilitation; for determining whether the injury or disability for which discharged, in those instances where the veteran served less than 90 days was incurred or aggravated in line of duty for the purposes of Titles II and III, Public Law 346, 78th Congress, as amended; and Titles II, III, and IV, Public Law 550, 82d Congress, for the preparation and adjudication of claims involving Public Law 314, 78th Congress.

§ 3.4 Jurisdiction of authorization unit. The authorization unit will have jurisdiction over the determination of basic eligibility for monetary benefits in claims under the jurisdiction of the field office; the development of claims in conformity with established Veterans' Administration policy; the adjudication of all claims upon completion of rating action; the development and certification of appeals; the certification, upon proper request, of data for consideration in determining eligibility for domiciliary care or hospital or outpatient treatment; the determination whether the character of discharge is a bar to benefits including benefits under Titles II and III of Public Law 346, 78th Congress, as amended, under Titles II, III, and IV, Public Law 550, 82d Congress, and hospital treatment, domiciliary care, and outpatient treatment for service-connected disabilities under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, as amended, in doubtful cases; the furnishing of technical information, through correspondence or otherwise, to veterans or their representatives in explanation of action taken upon individual claims, and the carrying out of such duties in relation to the foregoing and adjudication matters, general or otherwise, as may be properly assigned by Central Office.

3. In § 3.5, paragraphs (a), (d), and (e) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.5 Jurisdiction of rating board. (a) The rating boards are vested with authority to determine questions of service-connection of disability flowing from diseases and injuries (including such determinations for purposes of Public Law 346, 78th Congress, as amended and Public Law 550, 82d Congress), in cases in which the jurisdiction is temporarily or permanently vested in the field office concerned; to determine the necessity for, type of, sufficiency of, and appropriate date of examinations and reexaminations, including hospitalization for observation, for rating purposes; to determine and to evaluate the disability resulting from each and from all such diseases and injuries and to determine whether any such disease or injury is due to the willful misconduct or misconduct of the veteran; to determine the competency or incompetency of claimants in proper cases; to determine whether the veteran was insane at time of commission of offense resulting in discharge otherwise precluding entitlement to benefits; to determine whether children of veterans are insane, idiotic, or otherwise helpless by reason of mental or physical condition; to determine entitlement under section 31, Public No. 141, 73d Congress, as amended by section 12, Public No. 866, 76th Congress, and under paragraph 4, part VII, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended.

(d) In the event of a dissenting opinion by a rating specialist, no payment will be made based upon the decision, until it has been authoritatively determined whether an appeal will be taken. If appeal from any decision is taken by any of the officials designated in § 19.7 of this chapter, no change in payments based on the decision appealed from will be made until a decision is rendered by the Board of Veterans Appeals and the claims folder is returned to the appropriate activity.

(e) If it is decided that an appeal is to be taken by one of the officials designated in § 19.7 of this chapter, the claimant or his representative will be promptly informed concerning the question at issue and concerning his right of appearance or representation before the rating board or the Board of Veterans Appeals. The hearing will not be accepted to serve as a basis for reversal of the majority decision, but such action as may be indicated will be taken where new and material evidence is submitted or where the further development of evidence would appear to be advisable on information submitted by or in behalf of the claimant. A transcribed record of the hearing will be filed. If ,upon being informed of the administrative appeal, the claimant or his representative elects to present additional evidence or argument, such election will be deemed to be an appeal and the two appeals will be merged and considered in accordance with the provisions of § 3.328.

4. Sections 3.6 and 3.7 are revised to read as follows:

§ 3.6 Decisions to conform to existing laws, regulations, and defined policies. All decisions will conform strictly to the laws, regulations, Administrator's Decisions, and defined policies as enunciated by the Administrator. All opinions of the General Counsel which constitute a precedent are embodied either in Administrator's Decisions or opinions which are approved by the Administrator. Conclusions reached in individual cases are frequently influenced by peculiar facts or local statutes and, consequently, will not be followed as precedents. However, where it is apparent beyond question that the situation is identical, such conclusions may be followed as a matter of consistency in the adjudication of claims under the law or regulations applicable.

§ 3.7 Information on all decisions to be furnished to veterans. The claimant will, in all cases in which he appears personally before a rating board, be informed by the board of the decision reached and the reason therefor. The claimant will also be advised, upon completion of adjudicative action based upon the decision, of the provisions thereof, and his entitlement or nonentitlement thereunder, and of his right of appeal, and of the time within which appeal must be taken. Failure to receive written notice of right to, and time for, appeal will not extend the time for filing appeal.

5. In § 3.9, paragraphs (a), (b), and (d) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.9 Revision of rating board decisions. (a) No rating board will reverse or amend, except upon new and material evidence, a decision rendered by the same or any other rating board, or by an appellate authority, except where such reversal or amendment is clearly warranted by a change in law or by a specific change in interpretation thereof specifically provided for in a Veterans' Administration issue: Provided, That a rating board may reverse or amend a decision by the same or any other rating board where such reversal or amendment is obviously warranted by a clear and unmistakable error shown by the evidence in file at the time the prior decision was rendered. (See also § 3.201.) Where the severance of service-connection is considered warranted on the facts of record, see paragraph (d) of this section.

(b) Whenever a rating board may be of the opinion that a revision or an amendment of a previous decision is warranted on the facts of record in the case at the time the decision in question was rendered, a difference of opinion being involved rather than a finding of clear and unmistakable error, the complete file will be forwarded, accompanied by a complete and comprehensive statement of the facts in the case and a detailed explanation of the matters supporting the conclusion that a revision or amendment of the prior decision is in order to the Deputy Administrator for Veterans Benefits. A rating decision will not be effected in any such case pending the return of the claims folder following Central Office consideration. The commencing date of benefits in such cases if otherwise payable will be the date of the action by Central Office authority authorizing a favorable rating based on a difference of opinion. The foregoing is applicable regardless of whether there is a pending claim in file. Where the initial rating for death compensation or pension purposes is favorable, the commencing date of death benefits will be determined without regard to the fact that the death rating may reverse, on a difference of opinion, an unfavorable rating for disability purposes, entered by a rating agency other than the Board of Veterans Appeals, which was in effect at the date of the veteran's death.

(d) Authority to sever service-connection upon the basis of clear and unmistakable error (the burden of proof being upon the Government), is vested in regional offices. Service-connection will not be severed in any case on a change of diagnosis in the absence of the certification hereinafter provided. Accordingly, in reports of examinations submitted for rating purposes, where a change in diagnosis of service-connected disability is made, the examining physician or physicians, or other proper medical authority, will be required to certify, in the light of all accumulated medical evidence, that the prior diagnosis on which service-connection was predicated was not correct. This certification will be accompanied by a summary of the facts, findings, and reasons supporting the conclusion reached. When the examining physician or physicians, or other proper medical authority, are unable to make the certification provided herein, service-connection will be continued by the rating agency. Where this certification is made, the case will be carefully considered by the rating agency, and in the event it is determined in consideration of all the accumulated evidence that service-connection should be continued, a decision to that effect will be rendered, citing this section as authority. If in the light of all the accumulated evidence, it is determined that service-connection may not be maintained, it will be severed. The claimant will be immediately notified in writing of the contemplated action and the detailed reasons therefor and will be given a reasonable period, not to exceed 60 days from the date on which such notice is mailed to his last address of record, for the presentation of additional evidence pertinent to the question. This procedure is for application except (1) in case of fraud; (2) in case of a change in law; (3) in case of a change of interpretation of law specifically provided in a Veterans' Administration issue; or (4) where the evidence establishes the service-connection to be clearly illegal. (See Veterans' Administration claims procedures.)

6. Section 3.10 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.10 Adjudication of applications. Applications for disability compensation or pension will be adjudicated in the appropriate regional office when the applicant's entire military or naval service was subsequent to July 15, 1903, or Coast Guard service subsequent to January 27, 1915, except when jurisdiction is otherwise vested in the Veterans Benefits Office, D. C. under § 3.1025.

7. Section 3.11 Adjudication of applications of veterans residing without the continental limits of the United States is revoked.

8. Section 3.12 Adjudication of applications of employee-claimants is revoked.

9. Sections 3.27 and 3.28 are revised to read as follows:

§ 3.27 Informal claims. Any communication from or action by a claimant or his duly authorized representative, or thoritative proof of the data shown

(iii) In Veterans Benefits Office cases, a prisoner-of-war status; (3) parole by the Japanese from a prisoner-of-war

some person acting as next friend of a claimant who is not sui juris, which clearly indicates an intent to apply for disability or death compensation or pension, may be considered an informal claim. To constitute an informal claim, the communication must specifically refer to and identify the particular benefit sought. When such informal claim is received and a formal application is forwarded for execution by the claimant, such application shall be considered as evidence necessary to complete the initial application, and, unless a formal application is received within 1 year from the date it was transmitted for execution by the claimant, no award shall be made by virtue of such informal claim. If received within 1 year in such instances, it will be considered filed as of the date of receipt of the informal claim by the Veterans' Administration. However, a communication received from a service organization, pension attorney, or pension agent may not be accepted as an informal claim if a power of attorney was not executed at the time the communication was written. When benefits are being resumed under §3.299 and an informal claim has been filed for a disability incurred or aggravated in the second period of service, the requirements of the third and fourth sentences of this section are not for application. Under Executive Order 6017, February 7, 1933, and section 1500, Public Law 346, 78th Congress, as amended, diplomatic and consular officers of the Department of State are authorized to act as agents of the Veterans' Administration, and therefore an informal claim filed in a foreign country will be considered as filed in the Veterans' Administration as of the date of receipt by the State Department representative.

§ 3.28 Abandoned claims. (a) In an original claim or a claim for increase in which no response has been made within 1 year after the request for the evidence or order for physical examination by the Veterans' Administration, the claimant's failure or disregard will constitute abandonment of the claim and sufficient grounds for its rejection. After the expiration of 1 year, further action may not be taken unless a new application is received. Should the claim be finally established, pension or compensation shall commence from the date of filing the new application.

(b) Where payments of compensation or pension have been suspended on or after July 1, 1933, because a veteran's or payee's whereabouts is unknown, payments may not be resumed until the date the Veterans' Administration receives evidence showing his continued existence, entitlement, and present whereabouts.

(Par. II (a) and (b), Part I, Veterans Regulation 2 (a), Veterans Regulation 2 (d); 38 U. S. C. 12)

10. In § 3.30, paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.30 Written testimony to be certified and oral testimony to be under oath; administration of oaths by employees. (a) All written testimony, whether lay or medical, submitted by or in behalf of a claimant in support of service-connection as proof that the claimant is entitled to such benefits, will be duly certified. For the purpose of establishing service-connection, the physical examination reports, clinical records, and transcript of records received from State, county, municipal, and recognized private institutions and contract hospitals, referred to in § 3.216 (c), must also be certified by the responsible officials of such institutions. This requirement of certification prevails whether the report, record, or transcript is submitted at the instance of the claimant or in his behalf or pursuant to Veterans' Administration request. Claimants, their legal representatives, and witnesses in their behalf, appearing before any rating or appellate body for the purpose of presenting oral testimony, will be duly sworn.

§ 3.31 Physicians' and lay statements. (a) Full credence shall be given to the evidence submitted in proper form in support of claims for disability compensation, unless there is sound basis for doubt as to the conditions set forth in the physician's or layman's statement, by reason of other conflicting evidence or otherwise. A mere belief that a statement or affidavit is made from memory, without some sound basis therefor, is not sufficient ground for questioning its integrity. If conflicting evidence develops, the field office will reconcile the conflict by correspondence, and travel will not be resorted to for this purpose unless it is absolutely essential, and accurate and positive information cannot be obtained in any other manner.

(b) Where the veteran was engaged in combat with the enemy in active service with a military or naval organization of the United States during a war, campaign, or expedition, satisfactory lay or other evidence of service incurrence or aggravation of a disease or injury will be accepted as sufficient proof establishing that fact if consistent with the circumstances, conditions, or hardships of such service, notwithstanding there is no official record of such incurrence or aggravation: Provided, That service-connection is not rebutted by clear and convincing evidence. The benefit of every reasonable doubt will be resolved in favor of such veterans, and the reasons for granting or denying service-connection in each such case shall be recorded in full. (Pub. Law 361, 77th Congress.) (See § 3.77 (b).) The proximity of the manifestation of a disability to the date of discharge from service and the evidentiary showing of the circumstances of imprisonment or continuity of significant symptomatology will be given careful consideration.

12. In § 3.32, paragraph (b) is amended and paragraph (c) is deleted as follows:

§ 3.32 Evidence required from a foreign country and release of original documents from files of the Veterans' Administration for authentication. • • •

(b) (1) When documents received, other than those involving claims within the jurisdiction of the Veterans Benefits Office, D. C., require authentication, they will be forwarded to the Department of State through the head of the activity concerned in Central Office, and subsequently through the contact and foreign service, Department of Veterans Benefits, for the purpose of authentication. The excepted class will be forwarded direct to the Department of State. The Department of State will be informed that any expense which may accrue incident to the authentication must be borne by the claimant. The name and address of the person submitting the document and information as to the purpose for which it is to be used will be furnished. (In compliance with the recommendation of the State Department, the use of the word "visaed" in connection with papers submitted in proof of claim will be avoided as it is often misunderstood by the applicants in whose minds the word is associated with visas granted immigrants.)

(2) When a document which requires authentication, other than one in the excepted class set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is transmitted to the Veterans' Administration by the embassy or legation of a foreign country, it will be returned, if not properly authenticated, through the head of the activity concerned in Central Office, and subsequently through the contact and foreign service, Department of Veterans Benefits, to such embassy or legation for authentication and for submittal through the Department of State for further authentication. Documents emanating from China or Japan will not be returned direct to the embassies of these countries for authentication. The documents, other than those in the excepted class, will be forwarded to the Department of State, through the contact and foreign service, with a request for proper authentication by that Department. Documents in the excepted class will be disposed of in accordance with the foregoing directly by the Veterans Benefits Office, D. C.

13. Section 3.33 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.33 Value of service records for evidence of discharge. For the purpose of securing authoritative information in regard to discharge, with the view to making pension or compensation payments, if merited, the possession by the Veterans' Administration of any one of the following documents will furnish proof of such discharge and will be accepted by the Veterans' Administration at face value as credible evidence. An actual certificate of discharge; an authoritative notice from the respective service departments as to the facts of such discharge; or lastly, any copy or abstract of the certificate of discharge which has been certified by a notary public or any other person who has the authority under law to administer oaths. In any case in which such evidence or a photostat of the certificate of discharge is received, it will be accepted as authoritative proof of the data shown therein, for the purpose of making awards of disability or death benefits. These data need not be verified where they alone are sufficient to determine entitlement to disability or death compensation or pension benefits, unless there is some reason to question the genuineness of the document or accuracy of the information contained therein. This does not preclude the securing of additional information which may not be disclosed on the certificate of discharge or copy.

14. Section 3.42 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.42 Definition of child for purposes of Public No. 2, 73d Congress, Public No. 141, 73d Congress, Public No. 484, 73d Congress, Public No. 269, 74th Congress. On or after July 13, 1943, for the purposes of Public No. 2, 73d Congress, and Public No. 141, 73d Congress, as amended by Public Law 144, 78th Congress, the term "child" means a person unmarried and under the age of 18 years, unless prior to reaching the age of 18 years the child becomes or has become permanently incapable of self-support by reason of mental or physical defect, who is a legitimate child, a child legally adopted, a stepchild if a member of the veteran's household; an illegitimate child, but as to the father, only if the requirements of § 3.45 are met. As to the mother of an illegitimate child, proof of birth is all that is required: Provided, That the payment of pension or compensation shall be continued after the 18th birthday and until completion of education or training (but not after such child reaches the age of 21 years) to any child who is or may hereafter be pursuing a course of instruction at a school, college, academy, seminary, technical institute, or university, particularly designated by him and approved by the Administrator, which shall have agreed to report to the Administrator the termination of attendance of such child, and if any such institution of learning fails to make such report promptly, the approval shall be withdrawn.

15. Section 3.44 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.44 Veteran's child adopted by another person. A child of a veteran adopted out of the family of the veteran is, nevertheless, a "child" within the meaning of that term as defined in paragraph VI. Veterans Regulation 10 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12); except that no apportionment will be authorized other than in the additional amount specifically provided by Public Law 877, 80th Congress, as amended by section 4, Public Law 339, 81st Congress, to be paid on account of the child.

16. In § 3.45, paragraph (b) (3) (iii) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Illegitimate child. • • •

(3) • • •

(iii) In Veterans Benefits Office cases, the chief, veterans claims division, a section chief, dependents claims division, or the chief, vocational rehabilitation and education division.

17. In § 3.51, paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.51 Effect of divorce decrees. • • •

(b) If the decree is subject to direct or collateral attack in the State of the United States in which it was granted, notwithstanding personal service as described in paragraph (a) of this section, or if the decree was entered in a foreign country and it is established that the plaintiff to whom the divorce was granted was not a bona fide resident of the jurisdiction wherein the decree was granted, the decree will not be accepted as effecting a change in the marital status of the parties for the purpose hereof. (See Veterans' Administration claims procedures.)

18. A new § 3.53 is added as follows:

§ 3.53 Determinations by other activities. Current determinations of relationship and dependency and domestic relations questions made in accordance with existing instructions by either the vocational rehabilitation and education activity or the adjudication activity will be binding one upon the other in the absence of clear and unmistakable error. The same rule will be applicable as to determinations made by adjudication activities and insurance activities.

19. In § 3.55, paragraph (f) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.55 Proof of death. • • •

(f) In cases wherein proof of death, as defined in paragraphs (a) to (e) of this section cannot be furnished, the director, claims service, in district office cases, or the chief, dependents claims division, in cases under the jurisdiction of Veterans Benefits Office, District of Columbia, may make a finding of fact of death where death is otherwise shown by competent evidence. Where it is indicated that the veteran died under circumstances which precluded recovery or identification of the body, the fact of death should be established by the best evidence, which from the nature of the case must be supposed to exist.

20. Section 3.56 Contact with other Government departments through central office is revoked.

21. In § 3.59, paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.59 Active service under Public No. 2, 73d Congress. • • •

(c) The period of active service of the members of the regular components of the Philippine Commonwealth Army while serving with the Armed Forces of the United States will be from the date certified by the Armed Forces as the date of enlistment or the date of report for active duty, whichever is the later, to the date of release from active duty, discharge, death, or June 30, 1946, whichever is the earlier. The release from active duty will include (1) leaving one's organization in anticipation of or due to the capitulation; (2) escape from a prisoner-of-war status; (3) parole by the Japanese from a prisoner-of-war status; (4) beginning of missing-in-action status, except where the factual recitation of the service department establishes that the veteran at the time he was so reported was actually in active service with his unit, or under the provisions of section 5, Public Law 490, 77th Congress, as amended, death is presumed to have occurred while the veteran's name was carried in such status; (5) the capitulation on May 6, 1942, except that periods of recognized guerrilla service or unrecognized guerrilla service under a recognized commissioned officer or periods of service in units which continued organized resistance against the Japanese prior to formal capitulation will be considered as a return to active duty for the period of such service. Active service of a Philippine Scout or a member of the Philippine Commonwealth Army serving with the Armed Forces of the United States, will include a "Prisoner-of-war" status immediately following: (i) A period of active duty; (ii) recognized guerrilla service or unrecognized guerrilla service under a recognized commissioned officer; (iii) a period of inactive service as defined in § 3.1 (c) and this paragraph, where it is shown by all the evidence, including service department reports establishing the basis of the affirmative finding of the service department, that the veteran's arrest by the Japanese was brought about by reason of anti-Japanese activities or his former service in the Armed Forces of the United States. In this connection due consideration will be given to the character and length of the veteran's former active service in the Armed Forces of the United States. A prisoner-of-war status based upon arrest during a general zonification will not be sufficient of itself to bring a case within the definition of return to military control. The active service of members of the irregular forces, "guerrillas," will be that period covered by the certification of the Armed Forces.

22. In § 3.62, the introductory paragraph is amended and a new paragraph (c) is added as follows:

§ 3.62 Eligibility of persons discharged to accept a commission or to change status. The discharge of a service person to accept appointment as a commissioned or warrant officer, or from a reserve or regular commission to accept a commission in the other component, or to reenlist, prior to the date set forth in paragraph (a), (b), or (c) of this section, whichever is applicable, is a qualified and conditional discharge and does not constitute a termination of the person's war service for compensation and pension purposes. The entire service in such case constitutes one period of service, and the conditions of final termination of active service will govern and determine basic eligibility to compensation or pension.

• • • • • •

(c) Service on and after June 27, 1950. (See § 3.0 (c).) The foregoing principles are applicable to service in the Regular Establishment whenever a conditional discharge is involved.

23. In § 3.63, paragraphs (a) and (f) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.63 Service-connection, sound condition at the time of entrance into service, aggravation, and natural progress, under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, as amended, Part I and Part II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12).

(a) Service-connection connotes many factors. In general and fundamentally, it means establishment of the incurrence of injury or disease or aggravation of a preexisting injury or disease resulting in disability coincidentally with the period of active military or naval service. This may be accomplished by the presentation of affirmative facts showing the inception or aggravation of an injury or disease during active service or through the operation of statutory or regulatory presumptions. Determinations as to service-connection, in general, should be based on review of the entire evidence of record in the individual case, with due consideration extended to the defined and consistently applied policy of the Veterans' Administration to administer the law under a broad and liberal interpretation consistent with the facts shown in each case. When, after careful consideration of all procurable and assembled data, a reasonable doubt arises regarding service-connection, such doubt will be resolved in favor of the veteran. By reasonable doubt is meant one which exists by reason of the fact that the evidence does not satisfactorily prove or disprove the claim, yet a substantial doubt and one within the range of probability as distinguished from pure speculation or remote possibility. It is not a means of reconciling actual conflict or a contradiction in the evidence; the claimant is required to submit evidence sufficient to justify a belief in a fair and impartial mind, that his claim is well grounded. Mere suspicion or doubt as to the truth of any statements submitted, as distinguished from impeachment or contradiction by evidence or known facts, is not a justifiable basis for denying the application of the reasonable doubt doctrine if the entire, complete record otherwise warrants invoking this doctrine. The reasonable doubt doctrine is also applicable even in the absence of official records, particularly if the basic incident allegedly arose under combat or similarly strenuous conditions and is consistent with the probable results of such known hardships.

(f) There are certain medical principles so well and universally recognized as definitely to constitute fact, and when, in accordance with these principles, existence prior to entrance into service is established, no further additional or confirmatory facts are necessary. For example, with notation or discovery, during service, of residual conditions, such as scars, fibrosis of the lungs, atrophies following disease of the central or peripheral nervous system, healed fractures, absent, displaced, or resected parts of organs, supernumerary parts, congenital malformations, hemorrhoidal tags or tabs, with no evidence of the pertinent antecedent active injury or disease during service, the established facts are so convincing as to impel the conclusion that the residual condition existed prior to entrance into active service, without further proof of this fact. Similarly, manifestation of lesions or symptoms of chronic disease from date of enlistment, or so close to that date that the disease could not have originated in so short a period, will be accepted as clear and unmistakable proof that the disease existed prior to entrance into active service. Conditions of infectious origin are to be considered with regard to the circumstances of infection, the incubation period, etc. Manifestation of disease within less than the minimum incubation period after enlistment will be accepted as showing inception prior to service. In neuropsychiatric conditions, situational reactions, characteristic of a life pattern indicating psychopathic personality, chronic psycho-neurosis of long standing, or other neuropsychiatric symptoms shown to have existed prior to service with the same manifestations during service, which were the basis of the diagnosis in service, will be accepted as manifesting preexistent neuropsychiatric condition and not merely as neurotic traits or predisposition. These principles, in relation to type, length, and circumstances of service, are to be considered in the question of service-connection. Mere congenital or developmental defects, refractive error of the eye, psychopathic personality, and mental deficiency, are not diseases or injuries in the meaning of applicable legislation.

• • • • •

24. In § 3.64, paragraphs (c) and (d) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.64 Character of discharge under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, as amended, and under Public Law 346, 78th Congress. • • •

(c) The acceptance of an undesirable discharge to escape trial by general court-martial will, by the terms of section 1503, Public Law 346, 78th Congress, be a bar to benefits under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, as amended, and Public Law 346, 78th Congress, as amended, as it will be considered the discharge was under dishonorable conditions.

(d) An undesirable discharge issued because of homosexual acts or tendencies generally will be considered as under dishonorable conditions and a bar to entitlement under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, as amended, and Public Law 346, 78th Congress, as amended. (As to the effect of alienage, see § 3.1 (j).)

25. In § 3.65, paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.65 Willful misconduct. • • •

(c) In determining whether an act is due to willful misconduct, the precedents under World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended, are for application except as to venereal diseases meeting the requirements of section 2, Public Law 439, 78th Congress. Generally, these precedents are to the effect that an act to be one of "willful misconduct" must be "malum is se" or "malum prohibitum" if involving conscious wrongdoing or known prohibited action. (Mere technical violation of police regulations or ordinances will not per se constitute "willful misconduct" but are factors for consideration in the light of the attendant circumstances.) Pursuant to Public Law 339, 81st Congress, every disease, injury, or death incurred without willful misconduct on the part of the service person while in confinement under sentence of a court martial or a civil court will be deemed to have been incurred in line of duty unless disability was the result of a material interference with performance of military duty or unless the court-martial sentence involved an unremitted dishonorable discharge or, in the case of officers, separation under similar conditions, or the sentence of the civil court involved conviction of a felony, as defined by the laws of the jurisdiction where the person was convicted. The provisions of this paragraph will apply equally to those instances where the disability occurs during confinement prior to the actual remission of the dishonorable discharge, or separation under similar conditions: Provided, of course, That the dishonorable discharge or separation under similar conditions is subsequently remitted. Despite the remission of the dishonorable discharge or separation under similar conditions, there must always be borne in mind the necessity of determining under established criteria whether the presently existing discharge was under other than dishonorable conditions. If it was under dishonorable conditions, a statutory bar to entitlement exists. The determination whether the offense for which the veteran was convicted by a civil court constituted a felony will, in other than obvious cases, be made by the Chief Attorney of the regional office located in the State in which the civil court is also located, except in Veterans Benefits Office cases the determination will be made by the Chief Attorney or the General Counsel. (As to the effective dates of evaluation, see § 3.148 (e).)

26. Section 3.66 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.66 "Line of duty" under Parts I and II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12). (a) Parts I and II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, requires that a disabling condition for which compensation is claimed, shall have been incurred in line of duty, except in cases where a right to compensation is preserved by Veterans Regulation 4. The records of service departments will be accepted in determining line of duty status of diseases and injuries, unless considerations set forth in paragraph VIII, Veterans Regulation 10, as amended by Public Law 439, 78th Congress, and the legal presumptions of the various laws may warrant a different finding. Any evidence which is properly admissable or acceptable according to the practice of the Veterans' Administration, and which is of a nature competent to demonstrate that the incurrence of disability was or was not in line of duty, according to conditions specified in paragraph VIII, Veterans Regulation 10, as amended by Public Law 439, 78th Congress, may be used as a basis for adjudications, despite any official military or naval record with respect to manner of incurrence. These determinations will be made by the officials of the Veterans' Administration charged with the responsibility of deciding claims for monetary or other benefits in the administration of laws in which line of duty is a factor. The provisions of paragraph VIII, Veterans' Regulation 10, as amended by Public Law 439, 78th Congress, will be observed carefully in effecting all adjudication where a question of incurrence of disease or injury in line of duty is pertinent. On or after June 16, 1938, the date of approval of Public No. 648, 75th Congress, the fact that the injury was suffered or the disease was contracted while the person on whose account benefits are claimed was on authorized leave (irrespective of the duration of such leave) will not of itself bar a finding that the disability or death resulting therefrom was incurred in line of duty. In cases in which a determination is required as to whether disability was incurred while "avoiding duty by • • • absenting himself without leave materially interfering with the performance of military duties," consideration is to be given to the evidence, including the report of the service department, as to the fact and extent of interference with performance of duty. Generally, it is to be concluded that material interference does not result from brief absence for a period during which no specific duty assignment was made or would have been made if the person had not been absent without leave, unless a specific duty assignment was avoided by absence without leave.

(b) Whenever the adjudication activity, regional office or Veterans Benefits Office, District of Columbia, the adjudication activity, district office, or the insurance activity has made a determination of the question of line of duty status for the purpose of compensation, pension, or insurance under the provisions of this section, such determination shall be binding upon any of these activities for any of the purposes mentioned, unless it be clearly and unmistakably in error. This determination shall not be subject to question by reason of a difference of opinion, except as to whether such determination is clearly and unmistakably erroneous, in which case if the question involves only a regional office or Veterans Benefits Office, District of Columbia, and a district office, it shall be referred to the Deputy Administrator for Veterans Benefits for decision; if the Department of Insurance and the Department of Veterans Benefits are involved, it shall be referred to the Deputy Administrator of Veterans Affairs for his determination.

(Parts I and II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, paragraph VIII, Veterans Regulation 10, as amended; 38 U. S. C. ch. 12)

27. In § 3.67, paragraph (c) (1) and (3) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.67 Disability of veteran (1) as a direct result of armed conflict, or (2) while engaged in extra hazardous service, including such service under conditions simulating war, or (3) while the United States is engaged in war (Public Laws 359, 77th Congress, 868, 80th Congress). • • •

(1) Service under conditions simulating war is extra hazardous, and other service will be considered extra hazardous if (i) performed under conditions recognized as exceptionally dangerous or (ii) involving risks beyond those ordinarily encountered in routine peacetime duties. Examples of service recognized as falling within the first category, as being exceptionally dangerous, include the following: While actually engaged in performance of service duty in aircraft, submarine, or diving operations; or dangerous testing operations of instrumentalities of war in differentiation from service involving their routine peacetime use. Every injury or disease resulting directly from or aggravated by these operations, from preparation for flight to the final landing, as of an airplane, or from the casting off to the final berthing, as of a submarine, is considered as incurred in extra hazardous service. Servicing the aircraft while the propeller revolves or loading or unloading explosives from aircraft is considered extra hazardous. During a postwar period pending approval of treaty of peace or other final termination of a technical state of war, service passengers on service airplanes are considered as performing extra hazardous service where their presence on an airplane was required by service orders. Testing or demonstrating explosives and demolition work with explosives are considered extra hazardous. This refers to experimental testing as in developing new weapons, testing of untried equipment upon ordnance proving grounds, or other work not ordinarily included in routine duties. It does not apply to cases as routine demonstrating of ordnance equipment in connection with routine peacetime military duty. Other examples are duty on convoy or patrol vessels and while manning guns on merchant vessels. Service falling within the second category, as involving risks beyond those ordinarily encountered in routine peacetime duties, includes among others the following: Under climatic or other conditions which subject the person to excessively high or low temperatures and predispose to disease, or upon exposure to any conditions which he would not customarily or ordinarily be called upon to endure in ordinary peacetime service. Individual actions incident to performance of service duties of exceptional risk or danger, as extinguishing a serious fire or conflagration, serving where explosives are stored in quantity, rescues at sea, from drowning, or from burning buildings, may be considered extra hazardous, if the element of risk or danger above and beyond the routine of the service is clearly apparent. It is particularly to be noted that accidents with firearms or other instrumentalities of war on land or sea, unless directly traceable to the performance of duties incident to extra hazardous service as above outlined, are considered as involving only the routine risk or danger of the soldier or sailor.

• • • • •

(3) The act specifies "extra hazardous service, including such service under conditions simulating war." The expanding Army and Navy in 1940–41, from the standpoint of their training and operations, are to be regarded as under emergency conditions in relation to national defense in the face of threatened war. The haste of this organization and training, the introduction of new methods of combat training, the inclusion of large numbers of men who would not expect to serve their country under arms except in time of war are intended to be given special recognition in the act.

28. The centerhead immediately following § 3.69 is changed to read as follows: "Examinations".

29. Section 3.75 Preliminary action by authorization unit is revoked.

30. Section 3.76 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.76 Original examination for disability compensation or pension. In original claims for disability compensation or pension, either for peacetime or wartime service, service-connected or otherwise, an examination will not be authorized unless and until evidence is of record, either from the service departments, or in the form of certified statements, indicating the reasonable probability of a valid claim. If, after the development of the case, it is indicated that probability of a valid claim exists, an examination may be requested. Where the claimant appears in person and preliminary inquiry establishes the reasonable probability of a valid claim, an immediate physical examination may be requested (Veterans Regulation No. 1 series, 38 U. S. C. ch. 12). Where a claim is filed within 6 months from date of separation, it may be rated initially on the records of the service department unless it would appear that error might result from such rating. Otherwise, no rating will be made without first obtaining an official Veterans' Administration examination. (See § 3.185.) Physical examination reports, clinical records, and transcripts of records received from State, county, municipal, and recognized private institutions and contract hospitals, referred to in § 3.216 (c), are acceptable for initial ratings upon the same basis as official Veterans' Administration examination reports, subject to the requirements of §§ 3.30 (a), and 3.216 (c) as to certification.

31. Section 3.78 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.78 Service-connection on a factual basis under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, and Public No. 141, 73d Congress. Sections 3.80 through 3.101 are not to be interpreted to the exclusion of the permanent policy of the Veterans' Administration that service-connection may be granted for any disease properly diagnosed after discharge from war or peacetime service when all the evidence, including lay evidence and all evidence pertinent to the circumstances of service, establishes under the usual rules, including resolution of reasonable doubt in the claimant's favor, that the disease was incurred in service. The 1-year presumptive period is not intended to limit service-connection in cases involving initial diagnosis at a later date when warranted by the evidence. Section 3.63 (a) provides the general basis of service connection. The presumptive provisions of the law and regulations are intended as liberalizations applicable when the evidence would not warrant service connection without their aid and should in no instance be applied restrictively when direct service-connection is warranted.

American War, Boxer Rebellion, Philip-

32. Section 3.79 Presumption of soundness under Public No. 141, 73d Congress is revoked.

33. In § 3.80, paragraphs (a) and (b) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.80 Service-connection for chronic or tropical diseases. (a) Under paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), a chronic or tropical disease becoming manifest to a degree of 10-percent or more within 1 year (within 2 years as to multiple sclerosis or within 3 years as to tuberculosis) from the date of separation from active wartime service or service within the purview of Public Law 28, 82d Congress, or within 1 year or 2 years as to multiple sclerosis or 3 years as to tuberculosis after the date prior to which a disability must have been incurred as provided in Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, whichever is the earlier, will be considered as having been incurred in service when the conditions specified in paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, are met. Service incurrence will be established under paragraph I (a), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, for any of the tropical diseases listed in § 3.86 (b), when shown to exist at a time when standard and accepted treatises indicate that the incubation period of the diseases commenced during active service. Under paragraph I (d), Part II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, a tropical disease becoming manifest to a degree of 10 percent or more within 1 year from date of separation from service or at a time when standard accepted treatises indicate that the incubation period thereof commenced during active service will be considered as having been incurred in service, when the conditions specified in paragraph I (d), Part II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, are met. The factual basis may be established by medical evidence, competent lay evidence, or both. Medical evidence should set forth the physical findings and symptomatology elicited by examination within the 1-year (2-year as to multiple sclerosis or 3-year as to tuberculosis) period; and lay evidence should not merely contain conclusions based upon opinion but describe the material and relevant facts as to the veteran's disability observed during such period. Where there is affirmative evidence to show that a chronic disorder is due to an intercurrent disease or injury suffered between the date of separation from active service and the onset of the chronic disorder, service-connection under this section will not be accorded. When service-connection is established, subsequent manifestations of the same chronic disease, unless clearly attributable to intercurrent causes, at no matter how remote a date, are service-connected. This rule does not mean that any manifestation of joint pain, any abnormality of heart action or heart sounds, any urinary findings of casts, or any cough, in service, will permit service-connection of arthritis, disease of the heart, nephritis, or pulmonary disease, first shown as a clear-cut clinical entity at some later date. For the showing of chronic disease in service, there is required a combination of manifestations sufficient to identify the disease entity and sufficient observation to establish chronicity at the time, not merely isolated findings or diagnosis including the word "chronic." When the etiological identity is perfect, as leprosy, tuberculosis, syphilis, etc., there is no requirement of evidentiary showing of continuity. Continuity of symptomatology is required only where the condition noted during service is not in fact shown to be chronic or where the diagnosis of chronicity may be legitimately questioned. When the fact of chronicity during service is not, in the opinion of the adjudicating agency, adequately supported, then there may be reason to require some showing of continuity after discharge to support the claim. Hospital confirmation of such diagnoses made after discharge from service is not routinely required. However, the veteran may well be held at the regional office, hospital, or center for recheck on the following day, particularly for recheck of blood pressure, urinalysis, and further laboratory procedures, if in order. When hospitalization is required, it should not be longer than absolutely necessary for confirmation of the diagnosis.

(b) Evidence which may be considered in rebuttal of service incurrence of a chronic or tropical disease will be any evidence of a nature usually accepted as competent to indicate the time of existence or inception of disease, and medical judgment will be exercised in making determinations relative to the effect of intercurrent injury or disease. However, healed primary type tuberculosis shown by X-ray evidence in the form of calcification of nodules and glands as existing at the time of entrance into active service will not be taken as evidence to rebut direct or presumptive service-connection for active reinfection type pulmonary tuberculosis, if otherwise in order. The expression "affirmative evidence to the contrary," appearing in paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, or the expression "clear and unmistakable evidence," appearing in paragraph I (d), Part II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, will not be taken to require a conclusive showing, but such showing as would in sound medical reasoning and in the consideration of all evidence of record support a conclusion that the disease in question was not incurred in service within the meaning of Part I or II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended. As to tropical diseases incurred in either wartime or peacetime service, the fact that the veteran had no service in a locality having a high incidence of the disease may be considered as evidence to rebut the presumption. The record must be negative as to inception prior or subsequent to service, and residence during the year following this service must not have been in a region where the particular disease is endemic. The known incubation period for such diseases should be used as a factor in the rebuttal of presumptive service-connection, that is, to show inception prior or subsequent to active service. (For list of chronic and tropical diseases, see § 3.86.) Existing procedure whereby service-connection may be granted for malaria without diagnosis on VA examination remains unchanged.

§ 3.86 Chronic and tropical diseases under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, as amended. • • •

(4) When, in a case in which prior activity of pulmonary or nonpulmonary tuberculosis has been satisfactorily established in accordance with § 3.133, with evidence as to the present condition establishing inactivity or arrest, without, however, evidence to establish activity or inactivity over the intervening period, activity of the disease will be presumed for 1 year only, following the last date of activity established by the evidence. This subparagraph is not for application to running awards, but is intended to apply only to new claims filed after the period of activity, and reopened claims. The beginning date of graduated ratings for arrested tuberculosis will be the day following expiration of this 1-year period.

• • • • •

(h) Where service-connection is granted under paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, the effective date of evaluation of disability will be in accordance with § 3.148 (a), and when claim is filed more than 1 year after date of separation from active wartime service or service within the purview of Public Law 28, 82d Congress, or after 1 year prior to which a disability must have been incurred (2 years as to multiple sclerosis or 3 years as to tuberculosis), as provided in Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, whichever is the earlier, notation will be made of the items of evidence showing the existence of the disease within the 1-year period (2 years as to multiple sclerosis or 3 years as to tuberculosis): Provided, That as to bronchiectasis, calculi of the kidney, bladder, or gallbladder, cirrhosis of the liver, coccidioidomycosis, osteomalacia, Raynaud's disease, scleroderma, tumor of the peripheral nerves, peptic ulcers (gastric or duodenal), and the tropical diseases, resultant disorders or diseases originating because of therapy administered in connection with such diseases or as a preventative thereof, listed in paragraph (b) of this section, service-connected under paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, the evaluation will not be prior to June 24, 1948: Provided further, That as to active pulmonary tuberculosis, multiple sclerosis, or nonpulmonary tuberculosis, service-connected under paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended by Public Laws 573, 81st Congress, 174, 82d Congress, and 241, 83d Congress, the evaluations will not be prior to June 23, 1950, October 12, 1951, or August 8, 1953, respectively.

• • • • •

(j) The effective date of an award based upon the foregoing provisions will be in accordance with § 3.212: Provided, That no award for bronchiectasis, calculi of the kidney, bladder, or gallbladder, cirrhosis of the liver, coccidioidomycosis, osteomalacia, Raynaud's disease, scleroderma, tumors of the peripheral nerves, peptic ulcers (gastric or duodenal), service-connected under paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, or the tropical diseases and resultant disorders or diseases originating because of therapy administered in connection with such diseases or as a preventative thereof, listed in paragraph (b) of this section, service-connected under paragraph I (c), Part I, or paragraph I (d), Part II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, shall be effective prior to June 24, 1948: Provided further, That no award for active pulmonary tuberculosis, multiple sclerosis, or nonpulmonary tuberculosis, service-connected under paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended by Public Laws 573, 81st Congress, 174, 82d Congress, and 241, 83d Congress, shall be made effective prior to June 23, 1950, October 12, 1951, or August 8, 1953, respectively.

35. A new § 3.87 is added as follows:

§ 3.87 Rating policy in cases of anterior poliomyelitis. For purposes of service-connection, 35 days following discharge from the service will be considered the incubation period of anterior poliomyelitis. If the first manifestations of acute poliomyelitis present themselves in a veteran within a period of 35 days following discharge from military service, it is probable that the infection occurred during service. If the prodromal manifestations of the acute anterior poliomyelitis occur after this period of time, it is probable that the infection was incurred after discharge.

36. Section 3.93 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.93 Presumptive service-connection for amebic dysentery. Where it is shown (by a report of physical examination or acceptable medical or lay statements, duly certified) that a veteran had amebic dysentery developing a 10-percent degree of disability or more prior to January 1, 1925, in accordance with the Schedule for Rating Disabilities, 1945 Edition, and where it is not shown by clear and unmistakable evidence that such disability was incurred prior to or subsequent to enlistment or acceptance into active military or naval service, a rating will be made that the amebic dysentery is presumed to have been incurred in service.

(Sec. 200, 43 Stat. 615, as amended, sec. 27, 48 Stat. 524, 60 Stat. 319; 38 U. S. C. 471, 471a, 736–738)

37. In § 3.96, a new paragraph (b) is added and former paragraph (b) is redesignated paragraph (c), so that the added and redesignated material reads as follows:

§ 3.96 Service-connection for tuberculous diseases. • • •

(b) Service-connection for reinfectious tuberculosis noted at induction or enlistment. A notation of inactive tuberculosis of the reinfectious type at induction or enlistment definitely prevents the grant of service-connection under paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), for active tuberclosis, regardless of the fact that it was shown within the appropriate presumptive period.

(c) Presumptive service-connection for active tuberculous. Where an active tuberculous disease of 10-percent degree or more in accordance with the Schedule for Rating Disabilities, 1945 Edition, is shown to have developed prior to January 1, 1925, such active tuberculous disease will be considered as incident to service in accordance with the second proviso of section 200 of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended, as reenacted under Title III, Public No. 141, 73d Congress: Provided, That the claimant had active military or naval service between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, inclusive, or prior to April 2, 1920, with the United States Military forces in Russia. (See § 3.89.)

38. Section 3.97 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.97 Evidence necessary to show active pulmonary tuberculosis. The showing of active tuberculous disease of 10-percent degree or more prior to January 1, 1925, will be contingent upon reports of physical examination or acceptable certified medical or lay statements, citing the facts that would demonstrate the existence of such condition. Lay statements, when relevant, competent, and material, will be given due consideration in connection with the other evidence submitted. Such statements to be acceptable must be confined to statements of fact and not of opinion.

39. The centerhead "Wartime Service-Connection For Malaria And Chronic Diseases Characteristically Tropical In Origin" immediately preceding § 3.102 is deleted.

40. Section 3.102 Wartime service-connection is revoked.

41. Sections 3.104 and 3.105 are revised to read as follows:

§ 3.104 Required period of service. Compensation may be awarded for a dental condition under Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), and Title III, Public No. 141, 73d Congress, where active service was performed on or after April 6, 1917, and prior to November 12, 1918, or prior to April 2, 1920, for persons who served with the United States military forces in Russia, or on or after November 12, 1918, and before July 2, 1921, where there was prior service between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, or (under Veterans Regulation 1 (a) only) where active service was performed in the Spanish-American War, Boxer Rebellion, Philippine Insurrection, or World War II, as defined by §§ 3.0 (a) and (b), 3.1000 (a), 3.1001 (a), 3.1002 (a), and 3.1017. For the purposes of Veterans Regulation 1 (a), the veteran must have been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, and under Public No. 141, 73d Congress, not dishonorably discharged, and the disability must have been incurred in or aggravated by active service during the defined periods and not due to willful misconduct. However, where incurrence of the disability is shown prior to the beginning date of the war concerned or where the enlistment commenced subsequent to the termination thereof, service-connection may be established only in accordance with Part II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a).

(Sec. 200, 43 Stat. 615, as amended, sec. 5, 50 Stat. 661, Part I, Vet. Reg. 1 (a), as amended; 38 U. S. C. 424a, 471, ch. 12)

§ 3.105 Determination of service connection. Determinations relative to the origin or aggravation in active service of dental conditions will be in accordance with the requirements of paragraph I (a), Part I, and paragraph I (a), Part II, respectively, of the Veterans Regulation No. 1 series, as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), and section 28, Title III, Public No. 141, 73d Congress. Service-connection will not be considered as having been established when the evidence clearly shows that the disabilities or conditions existed or were recorded at the time of enlistment subject to the provisions of § 3.107 (a) or originated subsequent to discharge from causes not related to service. Each missing or defective tooth and each disease of the investing tissues will be considered separately, and service-connection will be granted for disease or injury of individual teeth and of the investing tissues, shown by the evidence to have been incurred in or aggravated by service.

(Sec. 20, 48 Stat. 309, as amended, Parts I and II, Vet. Reg. 1 (a), as amended; 38 U. S. C. 722, ch. 12)

42. In § 3.106, paragraph (b) is amended and a new paragraph (c) is added as follows:

§ 3.106 Evidence to establish service-connection. • • •

(b) Where, however, after all sources of information have been exhausted and all variations in the records reconciled, there remains notation of filled teeth at time of discharge or release from active service and there was no notation of these teeth as defective or filled at induction or entrance into active service, service-connection may be granted in exceptional cases for such teeth, notwithstanding there is no record of treatment during active service, provided the veteran alleges treatment in service, giving the time and place of treatment, and the conditions and circumstances of his service at the time support his allegation and inception in service is consistent with sound dental judgment. Exceptional cases contemplated in this category are where the veteran had a considerable period of service, particularly in a combat area where records of treatment may not always have been recorded due to the stress and strain encountered under battle conditions or where entitle the veteran to a finding of direct due to the stress and strain encountered under battle conditions or where extenuating circumstances are shown in those instances where the veteran served in this country or in other than combat. Salivary deposits is a type of routine dental condition which has no relation to service. Malposed teeth with no pathology shown will not be service-connected. Service-connection should not be granted for the 3d molars at any time unless there is a definite record showing such teeth to have been diseased after a reasonable period of service. The 3d molars shown as present at induction and missing at discharge will not be granted service-connection unless there is an actual record of extraction for reasons other than malposition or impaction.

(c) Vincent's disease should not be granted service-connection if the service records are entirely negative. To warrant favorable action on Vincent's disease, chronicity, continuity of treatment, or the residual thereof, that is, periodontoclasia or pyorrhea, should be shown by the service records as chronic. Vincent's disease with infrequent episodes of short duration in the active service should be considered as an acute condition and may not be service-connected. Gingivitis is not considered a disease entity and is not ratable. Diagnosis of pyorrhea in service after a reasonable period of service will require confirmation by Veterans' Administration examination, including X-ray, before grant of service-connection, unless examination is contraindicated by factors such as extraction of all pyorrheic teeth. Pyorrhea shown during service after a reasonable period of service, involving one or more teeth necessitating extraction, is a sufficient basis for grant of service-connection for the tooth or teeth involved.

43. In § 3.107, paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.107 Service-connection where dental disability is not of compensable degree. • • •

(a) The furnishing of treatment or prosthesis for noncompensable dental conditions during service will not be considered per se as aggravation of a dental condition shown to have existed prior to entrance into active service. Teeth noted at entry into active service as carious restorable will not be held as service-connected, either direct or by aggravation, notwithstanding enlargement of the original cavity or development of additional cavitation on the same or another surface; nor on the basis of the insertion of a filling during service unless new caries develop after expiration of a reasonable time after the original cavity has been filled, amelioration rather than worsening or aggravation ensuing in such cases. Service-connection by aggravation will be conceded in such teeth, carious restorable at entry into service, whether or not filled, but which necessitate extraction after the expiration of a reasonable time after entry into active service. A filling recorded at induction followed by a reasonable period of service and extraction or replacement because of new caries will entitle the veteran to a finding of direct service-connection for the new condition. Likewise, aggravation is allowed where pyorrhea is noted at enlistment but after reasonable service necessitates extraction of a tooth or teeth during service. Conversely, service-connection by aggravation will not be conceded if the tooth at enlistment was classified as defective but was not restorable.

44. Section 3.108 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.108 Adjudication of application for dental treatment. A formal application by or in behalf of a veteran is not required where claim is made for dental treatment only.

45. In § 3.131, paragraph (f) is deleted.

§ 3.131 Principles for determining entitlement to the statutory award for the anatomical loss or loss of use of a creative organ. • • •

(f) [Deleted.]

46. Section 3.132 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.132 Payment of statutory award of $67 per month for arrested tuberculosis. Under the third paragraph of section 202 (7), World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended July 2, 1926, as reenacted by Public No. 141, 73d Congress, and as subsequently amended, and under paragraph II (q), Part I or Part II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), any veteran having had a service-connected active tuberculosis disease of compensable degree, which has reached a condition of complete arrest, whose aggregate disabilities, including that resulting from tuberculosis, evaluated in percentage terms in accordance with the Schedule for Rating Disabilities, 1945 Edition, entitle him to a monthly award of compensation of less than $67, shall be entitled to a statutory award of not less than $67 per month as compensation in full for all disabilities, including that resulting from tuberculosis. However, for any period during which the veteran's disabilities, including that resulting from the tuberculous disease, evaluated in accordance with the Schedule for Rating Disabilities, 1945 Edition, entitled him to an aggregate award of $67 or more per month, the provisions of this section regarding the statutory award for arrested tuberculosis will be met by awarding the veteran the amount determined in accordance with the Schedule and Extensions thereto. Provided however, That the statutory award under section 202 (3) of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended, is payable in addition to the statutory award for arrested tuberculosis under section 202 (7) thereof, even where the loss or loss of use is due to tuberculosis. However, the special monthly compensation under subparagraph (k), paragraph II, Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended (or the corresponding peacetime rate), is not payable in addition to the award under subparagraph (q) thereof. The greater benefit is payable. In no event will disability compensation be awarded under subparagraph (q), paragraph II, Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a) (or the corresponding peacetime rate), prior to August 1, 1952.

(Sec. 202, 43 Stat. 618, as amended, sec. 20, 48 Stat. 309, as amended, sec. 2, 60 Stat. 910, par. II (q), Parts I and II, Vets. Reg. 1 (a), as amended; 38 U. S. C. 471a–3, 473, 480, 722, ch. 12)

47. Section 3.136 Rating of arrest in nonpulmonary tuberculosis is revoked.

48. Section 3.137 Rating of reactivation in cases of arrested tuberculosis is revoked.

50. In § 3.142, paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.142 Special action where evaluations provided under the Rating Schedule, 1945, are considered inadequate or excessive. (a) Exceptional cases to which the application of the 1945 Schedule is not understood, or with regard to which evaluation under this Schedule is considered inadequate or excessive, may be submitted by the adjudication officer or chief, veterans claims division, Veterans Benefits Office, D. C., for advisory opinion or for reevaluation to the director, veterans service, central office. Questionable special monthly compensation cases and cases involving severe disabilities considered total, but for which current procedure does not authorize a total rating, will be similarly submitted. However, cases will not be withdrawn from appellate channels for submission under this paragraph, except as the Board of Veterans Appeals may join in reference of such cases with their recommendation. (Vet. Reg. 3 (a), 38 U. S. C. ch. 12)

51. In § 3.148, paragraph (d) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.148 Effective dates of evaluations, 1945 Schedule, in original ratings. • • •

(d) When service-connection, World War II, is granted under paragraph I (c), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), the effective date of evaluation of disability will be determined as above outlined. When claim is filed more than a year from date of discharge or (where service began prior to January 1, 1947, and extended thereafter) July 25, 1947, or 3 years as to tuberculosis, whichever is the earlier, notation will be made of the items of evidence showing the existence of the disease within the 1-year or 3-year periods or showing minimal, moderately advanced, or far advanced, active pulmonary tuberculosis within the 42-month, 45-month, or 48-month periods, respectively.

52. In § 3.149, paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.149 Effective dates of evaluation, 1945 Schedule, in claims for increase. (a) Evaluations under the 1945 Schedule and Extensions in claims for increase will be effective from the date of the receipt of the evidence, i. e., statements of physicians or other evidence submitted by the veteran showing an additional disability, or an increase in the condition for which he is receiving compensation; or the date of the official report of physical examination made in a Veterans Administration hospital, or by a designated examiner in connection with compensation, pension, or treatment pursuant to proper authority. The effective date of the evaluation will not, however, necessarily control award action. (See § 3.216.)

53. In § 3.155, paragraph (f) is deleted.

§ 3.155 Combined ratings. • • •

(f) [Deleted.]

54. In § 3.173, paragraph (e) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.173 Determinations of incompetency or competency. • • •

(e) A determination that a veteran is incompetent may be made only in the event it is conclusively shown that he is wholly incapable of disbursing the funds he is to receive from the Veterans' Administration in a reasonably prudent manner. In other words, it must be clear that due to the utter lack of consideration of values or complete disregard of his own or his dependents' needs he would wantonly dissipate his funds. Where there is any doubt as to whether he is capable of administering his funds such doubt will be resolved in favor of his competency and an award will be made to him. However, where the veteran is maintained in a Veterans' Administration hospital or center, unless assured that the veteran has made a marked recovery since last examination, and that his release from the hospital or center may be anticipated in a relatively short time, and that he will be able to handle his funds as a competent patient while hospitalized, an opinion of incompetency would be justified and consistent with the purpose of hospitalization, and should be so expressed in the report of examination. The same reasoning is equally applicable to mentally ill veterans in other U. S. Government and State hospitals. The rating boards will bear in mind the consistency of a rating of incompetency of a hospitalized veteran with a mental disability evaluated as 100 percent or with a finding of incompetency by a court of competent jurisdiction when a veteran has been adjudged by the court to be mentally ill or under a legal disability for commitment purposes only.

55. Section 3.184 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.184 Claimants required to report when requested. Every person applying for, or in receipt of, compensation or pension for disability shall, as frequently and at such times and places as may be reasonably required, submit himself to examination by a duly authorized medical examiner of the Veterans' Administration, including a period of observation in a hospital, if necessary. (For failure to report, see §§ 3.251 and 3.266.)

57. Section 3.200 Disallowance of claims is revoked.

58. In § 3.201, paragraph (f) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.201 Adjudication of claims involving compensation based upon new and material evidence presented after prior disallowance. • • •

(f) Where the new and material evidence consists of a supplemental report from the service department and it is received subsequent to the expiration of the appeal period or, in the event of an appeal, subsequent to the decision of the Board of Veterans Appeals, the supplemental report from the service department will be considered under Veterans Regulation 2 (c) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12) and the appropriate rating and award accomplished under the applicable instructions. This comprehends official records of and in service which presumably have been misplaced and have now been located and forwarded to the Veterans' Administration. Also included are corrections by the service department of former errors of commission or omission in the preparation of the prior report or reports and identified as such. The retroactive evaluation of disability resulting from disease or injury subsequently service-connected on the basis of new evidence from a service department must be adequately supported by medical evidence, and, where the additional records received from the service department clearly support the assignment of a specific rating over a part or the entire period of time involved, a retroactive evaluation will be assigned accordingly except as it may be affected by the filing date of the original claim.

59. In § 3.212, paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.212 Effective dates of awards of disability compensation. (a) Initial awards of disability compensation will be payable in accordance with the provisions of paragraph I, Part I, Veterans Regulation 2 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), as amended by section 17, Public Law 144, 78th Congress, provided an appropriate claim therefor has been filed and, if incomplete, the necessary evidence to complete such claim is submitted within 1 year from the date of request therefor. The phrase "date of discharge" in section 17, Public Law 144, 78th Congress, refers to the date the claimant for disability benefits was discharged from that period of service in which his disability was acquired or in which an existing disability was aggravated, and where claim is not filed within 1 year from date of discharge from such period of service, compensation may not be awarded prior to the date of claim.

60. In § 3.213, paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.213 Effective dates of awards pursuant to Part III, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12). (a) Awards pursuant to Part III, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, will be effective as of the date of the receipt of a claim or the date upon which permanent total disability arose, whichever is the later. When a claim under the cited regulation has been finally denied but a subsequent report of physical examination made by a full-time, part-time, or designated (or fee-basis) physician of the Veterans' Administration in connection with compensation, pension, or treatment pursuant to proper authority, issued either prior or subsequent to treatment or an examination report or record within the purview of § 3.216 (c), shows permanent and total disability, such report of examination, hospitalization, or record constitutes an informal claim to reopen. Where the examination or hospitalization was at Veterans' Administration expense, the date of examination or admission to the hospital is the effective date of the award, if otherwise in order. However, where the examination or hospitalization is not at Veterans' Administration expense, the effective date of benefits will be the date of receipt by the Veterans' Administration of the report of hospitalization or examination constituting the claim to reopen, if otherwise in order. If the veteran has never filed a formal claim for disability pension and is not on the compensation rolls on the date when a Veterans' Administration hospital report shows permanent and total non-service-connected disability to exist, disability pension is payable in accordance with the provisions of the first sentence of this paragraph. If a veteran is on the compensation rolls on the date of receipt of a Veterans' Administration examination report showing permanent and total non-service-connected disability, such examination report may be accepted as an informal claim for disability pension, and it is not necesary for the veteran to file a VA Form 8–526. If a veteran's original claim for compensation was finally disallowed for any reason and he has never been on the disability compensation rolls, the Veterans' Administration examination report may not be accepted as an informal claim for disability pension in view of the express provisions of paragraph II (b), Part I, Veterans Regulation 2 (a), which provides that "for the purpose of this regulation, increased pension shall be taken to mean any award of pension, amending, reopening, or supplementing a previous award, authorizing any payments not theretofore authorized to the particular individual involved." In a case involving a renouncement, a Veterans' Administration examination report may not be accepted as an informal claim for disability pension inasmuch as the veteran was not on the compensation rolls on the critical date.

• • • • •

61. In § 3.216, paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.216 Application for increase based upon changed physical condition. • • • for any period of less than 30 days in-

(c) Physical examination reports, clinical records, and transcripts of records received from State, county, municipal, and recognized private institutions and contract hospitals. Generally, physical examination reports, clinical records, and transcripts of records from State, county, municipal, and recognized private institutions and contract hospitals relative to veterans will be accorded the same consideration for the purpose of rating claims for compensation or pension as though the records were received from a Veterans' Administration field station. These records, however, must present the essentials upon which ratings are to be founded, that is the disabling conditions must be adequately identified; sufficient findings must be reported to permit proper evaluation of the condition, and they must be certified by Chief Medical Officers or their physician designates. As to private institutions, the hospitals listed in the hospitals number of "The Journal of the American Hospital Association" (usually published in June of each year) are recognized. This publication indicates that the hospital has been fully or provisionally approved by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals as meeting unconditionally its minimum requirements for general standardization. If the name of the private hospital at which the veteran was examined or treated does not appear on the approved list, the Chief Medical Officer or his physician designate will be requested to advise whether the hospital meets the minimum requirements for the care and treatment of Veterans' Administration patients and for hospital facilities as prescribed in current directives of the Department of Medicine and Surgery. Depending upon the advice of the Chief Medical Officer or his physician designate, the report will be accepted or corroborative examination by the Veterans' Administration requested. It is to be understood that such records, in those instances where maintenance is not at the expense of the Veterans' Administration, should not be accepted as claims for increase if they are routinely submitted, but only where there is an indication that they are being submitted for the purpose of claiming increased benefits. Even when submitted for such purpose, where the hospitalization is not at Veterans' Administration expense, the effective date of benefits will be the date of receipt by the Veterans' Administration of the report of hospitalization constituting the claim for increase or to reopen.

62. Section 3.218 Award where identical amounts are involved is revoked.

63. In § 3.228, new subparagraphs (7) through (10) of paragraph (b) and subparagraphs (11) through (17) of paragraph (c) are added, and paragraph (j) is amended as follows:

§ 3.228 Computation of annual income for the purposes of Part III, Veterans Regulations 1 (a) 138 U. S. C. ch. 12), or section 1 (c) of Public No. 198, 76th Congress (act of July 19, 1939), as amended by section 11, Public Law 144, 78th Congress, and Public Law 357, 82d Congress. • • •

(b) Benefits excluded from computation. • • •

(7) Proceeds of a fire-insurance policy.

(8) The rental value of property owned by and resided in by the claimant.

(9) The separate income of the wife of a disabled veteran.

(10) The value of an increase in stock inventory of a business at the end of a year.

(c) Income included in computation. • • •

(11) Retirement pay received direct from a service department.

(12) Reasonable value of allowances to a person in military or naval service in addition to base pay, such as clothing, subsistence, and quarters.

(13) Insurance paid under the Merchant Marine Act of 1936, as amended.

(14) Where monthly payments of employees' compensation payable by a Federal or State agency are withheld until the value equals a lump sum paid as damages by a third party, it will be considered that the claimant is receiving the income on a monthly basis.

(15) Where personal services are received in lieu of rent, the fair rental value of the property will be considered income.

(16) Proceeds of stocks and bonds received by inheritance, or otherwise, will not be considered income until converted into cash.

(17) Additional allowances received by a claimant from a charitable welfare or relief agency for members of his or her family may not be divided per capita in determining the amount of the claimant's income.

• • • • •

(j) Failure to return annual income questionnaire. (See § 3.229 (b).)

• • • • •

64. In § 3.229, paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.229 Annual income questionnaire. • • •

(b) Failure to return questionnaire. When payments have been discontinued because of failure to return the annual income questionnaire, pension may be payable, if otherwise in order, from the date of last payment, provided the questionnaire or other evidence that the claimant's income is not in excess of the statutory limitation is received within 1 year from the date of issuance of the questionnaire. Otherwise, pension may not be paid for any period prior to the date of receipt of the questionnaire or a new claim (formal or informal).

65. Section 3.235 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.235 Statutory awards, section 202, World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended, as reenacted by Public No. 141, 73d Congress. The statutory awards provided in section 202 of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended, are payable under section 27 or 28, Title III, Public No. 141, 73d Congress, as follows:

(a) Under section 202 (3):

(1) First paragraph, the statutory rates for specified conditions as provided therein and as amended.

(2) Third paragraph, the additional compensation of $47 monthly for the loss of the use of a creative organ or for the loss of the use of one or more feet or hands, independent of any other compensation (Public No. 866, 76th Congress, Public Law 662, 79th Congress, and Public Law 427, 82d Congress.)

(b) Under section 202 (5), an allowance not exceeding $67 per month for a nurse or attendant.

(c) Under section 202 (7), an award of not less than $67 per month to a person shown to have had an active tuberculosis disease of a compensable degree which has reached a condition of complete arrest; and compensation under the minimum rating of 25 percent for arrested or apparently cured tuberculosis.

(Sec. 202, 43 Stat. 618, as amended, sec. 20, 48 Stat. 309, as amended, sec. 27, 48 Stat. 524, sec. 2, 60 Stat. 910, 66 Stat. 296, 38 U. S. C. 471a, 471a–3, 473, 478, 480, 722)

66. In § 3.236, paragraph (c) (4) and (5) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.236 Special monthly compensation specified by or fixed pursuant to paragraph II, Parts I and II, Veterans Regulation 1 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), as amended by Public Laws 182, 659, and 662, 79th Congress, and Public Law 427, 82d Congress. • • •

(c) Intermediate rates fixed pursuant to law. • • •

(4) With the requirements for any of the rates provided in paragraph II (l) to (n), inclusive, Part I, or the corresponding peacetime rate, and additional disability (single permanent disabilities or combinations of permanent disabilities with the usual prohibition against pyramiding) independently ratable at 50 per centum or more, the rate will be intermediate, i. e., $290 per month, if the basic rate is $266, $333 per month, if the basic rate is $313, or $377 per month, if the basic rate is $353, or the corresponding peacetime rate. Since this subparagraph contemplates that such additional disability be permanent in character, the graduated ratings for arrested tuberculosis as provided under extensions 6 and 6–A, 1945 Schedule, will not be utilized in determining entitlement to such special monthly compensation.

(5) With the requirements for any of the rates provided in paragraph II (l) to (n), inclusive, Part I, or the corresponding peacetime rate, and additional disability (single disabilities of permanent nature) independently ratable apart from any consideration of individual unemployability, at 100 percent, the rate will be the next higher rate authorized in paragraph II (m) to (o), Part I, or the corresponding peacetime rate. Since this subparagraph contemplates that such additional disability be permanent in character, the graduated ratings for arrested tuberculosis as provided under Extensions 6 and 6–A, 1945 Schedule, will not be utilized in determining entitlement to such special monthly compensation.

67. In § 3.237, paragraph (b) (7) is amended and paragraph (c) is deleted as follows:

§ 3.237 Additional allowance or increased compensation or pension for nurse and attendant and adjustment of awards during institutionalization. • • •

(b) Reductions during hospitalization. • • •

(7) In cases other than blindness, rendering the person so helpless as to be in need of regular aid and attendance, entitling under subparagraph (m), additional compensation of $47 (or $37.60) per month under paragraph II (k), Part I, or the corresponding peacetime rate, or on account of 50 percent disability or 100 percent disability in excess of the conditions entitling under paragraph II (l), (m), or (n), Part I, or the corresponding peacetime rate, is not subject to reduction on account of being furnished nursing or attendant's service. The reduced rate of compensation or pension in such instances will be effective as of the beginning of the maintenance of the disabled veteran in an institution by the Veterans' Administration. The compensation or pension in all cases contemplated in this subparagraph is subject to the limitations contained in § 3.255.

(c) [Deleted.]

68. In § 3.245, paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.245 Rates of pay for disability or death the result of training, hospitalization, or medical or surgical treatment under section 31, Public No. 141, 73d Congress, examination under section 12, Public No. 866, 76th Congress, and paragraph 4, Part VII, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended (38 U. S. C. ch. 12). • • •

(c) For other than World War service, see §§ 3.1087 to 3.1089, inclusive.

69. Section 3.250 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.250 Reduction or discontinuance of disability compensation or pension. The effective date of the reduction or discontinuance of awards of disability compensation or pension will be in accordance with the provisions of paragraph III, Part I, Veterans Regulation 2 (a) (38 U. S. C. Ch. 12), except as otherwise provided. Reduction or discontinuance because of ceasing school attendance shall be effective upon the last day which the child attended school, unless attendance is discontinued by failing to report after holidays or a vacation period, but in no event will pension or compensation be paid for a period beyond the day preceding the child's 21st birthday. (See § 3.287 and § 4.98 (c) of this chapter.)

(Par. III, Part I, Vet. Reg. 2 (a); 38 U. S. C. Ch. 12)

§ 3.256 Adjustment of award of veteran upon termination of institutionalization by the Veterans' Administration. (a) (1) Where a veteran, whose pension, compensation, or retirement pay has been reduced or discontinued as provided in § 3.255 (a) and (c), is discharged from treatment or care upon certification of the officer in charge of the hospital, institution, or home that maximum benefits have been received or release is approved, the award to or on behalf of the veteran will be adjusted in accordance with the last valid rating, if otherwise in order, effective as of the day the veteran is discharged or released from the hospital or institution, and the award will include such additional amount as will equal the total sum by which the pension, compensation, or retirement pay has been reduced. Where the veteran receives an approved discharge from hospital treatment or domiciliary care upon certification by the officer in charge of the hospital, institution, or home that maximum benefits have been received or that release is approved, the compensation or pension withheld under § 3.255 is payable upon discharge, and the veteran is not subject to immediate reduction upon readmission. The granting of a disciplinary discharge in lieu of an enforced furlough does not constitute a discharge "upon certification by the officer in charge • • • that release is approved," and the withheld compensation or pension may not be paid until the expiration of 6 months from the date of such discharge. The situation where the member accepts the enforced furlough and receives a discharge at the expiration thereof is contingent upon whether the discharge following enforced furlough is an approved release or a disciplinary discharge.

(2) When the reduction or discontinuance has been effected pursuant to the provisions of § 3.255 (b), payment of the amount equal to the amount by which the pension, compensation, or retirement pay was reduced, as well as the amount which was not paid on account of the $1,500 limitation on or after August 8, 1946, will be awarded 6 months following the finding of competency, if such finding is still in effect at the time the award is approved.

(3) In the event treatment or care is terminated by a competent veteran against medical advice or as the result of disciplinary action on or after August 8, 1946, payment of the amount by which the pension, compensation, or retirement pay was reduced will be awarded the veteran at the expiration of 6 months after the termination of treatment or care. Where a veteran in the last category is subsequently readmitted and continues such treatment or care until discharged upon certification by the officer in charge of the hospital, institution, or home in which treatment or care was furnished that maximum benefits have been received or that release is approved, he shall be paid in a lump sum such additional amount as would equal the total sum by which his pension, compensation, or retirement pay has been reduced under § 3.255 (a) subsequent to such readmission.

(b) While a veteran is on temporary absence from an institution where he is being maintained at Veterans' Administration expense, no adjustment of his award by reason thereof will be made for any period of less than 30 days, inclusive of the day on which he left the institution. The "temporary absence" referred to connotes a furlough, trial visit, or similar absence prior to a discharge in fact, and this section is not to be applied to withhold payment in a lump sum of the moneys withheld under § 3.255 (a) to a veteran who has received an approved discharge from hospital or domiciliary care irrespective of the fact that he may reenter prior to the expiration of 30 days. If the veteran reenters the same or other Veterans' Administration institution at any time thereafter, the compensation or pension is not subject to reduction until the first day of the seventh calendar month subsequent to such readmission. A veteran, if otherwise entitled thereto, should be paid additional compensation or increased compensation or pension for aid and attendance except for such periods as he received aid and attendance in kind at the expense of the Veterans' Administration, even though the trial visit or other temporary absence is less than 30 days. However, such adjustments will not be accomplished until after the veteran's discharge from institutionalization or until he is granted furlough, trial visit, or temporary absence of 30 days or more. If such temporary absence is for a period of 30 days or more, the award to or on behalf of the veteran will be adjusted in accordance with the last valid rating, if otherwise in order, effective as of the day the veteran departs. However, a furlough, trial visit, or other temporary absence for a period of 30 days or more is not tantamount to a discharge within the purview of paragraph (a) (1) of this section, and the veteran may not be awarded the moneys withheld under § 3.255 (a) in a lump sum when he leaves the institution on such a temporary absence. Upon return from such a temporary absence the veteran's award shall be immediately reduced to the institutional rate, if otherwise in order. If the veteran is discharged without returning to the institution, the award will be adjusted in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section. The report of such absence will be made to the office having custody of the claims folder, in accordance with effective procedure.

71. In § 3.270, paragraphs (a) and (c) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.270 Readjustment of awards to incompetent veterans under section 1, Public Law 662, 79th Congress. (a) Where payments of compensation or pension were properly discontinued because the estate of the incompetent veteran equaled or exceeded $3,000 (limitation under section 202 (7) of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended) or $1,500, as the case may be, and there exists only a claim against a defunct bank or other institution, or the entire estate is the subject of litigation, or consists of investments which have an undetermined value, and there is no income to provide for clothing and other needs and comforts for the veteran, the Chief Attorney may permit the present guardian to submit a sworn statement setting forth the facts and estimating what the said claim or chose in action would sell for in the open market. If, based upon such showing, the Chief Attorney is satisfied that the value of the estate, as so determined, does not exceed $500, he will prepare a certificate to that effect and forward it to the proper adjudicating agency. Upon receipt of the certificate, the adjudicating agency will award, effective the first day of the month in which the action is taken, such payments as are in order.

(c) If a special case arises which does not fall within the provision of this section, or where money is urgently needed for the veteran, the complete facts should be reported to the office of the General Counsel.

72. Section 3.278 Funds available to beneficiary on a trial visit or upon discharge is revoked.

73. In § 3.281, former paragraph (c) is deleted and former paragraphs (d) and (e) are redesignated paragraphs (c) and (d), so that the redesignated material reads as follows:

§ 3.281 Disappearance of incompetent veterans; payment to dependents. • • •

(c) Where a veteran's whereabouts become known to the Veterans' Administration after an award to dependents has been made as provided in this section, the award to the dependents will be discontinued, effective the last day of the month in which the award action is taken, and appropriate action will be taken to adjust the veteran's award in accordance with the facts found.

(d) Awards to dependents under Part VI, Veterans Regulation 1 (g), or section 8, Public No. 304, 75th Congress, will not be continued for more than 7 years from date of disappearance of the veteran in any case where the facts are such as to bring into effect the presumption of death provided in Public Law 591, 77th Congress.

74. Section 3.287 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.287 Discontinuance of additional compensation under Public Law 877, 80th Congress, as amended by section 4, Public Law 339, 81st Congress; effective dates. Where additional disability compensation is being paid to a veteran in behalf of a wife, child or children, or a dependent parent or parents, the effective date of discontinuance of the additional compensation for the dependents shall be fixed in accordance with the facts found, that is, in the event of death, the date of death; divorce, the date preceding the date of divorce; in the case of a child, the date preceding the 18th or 21st birthday, or cessation of school attendance, during a school term (for rule during a vacation period—see § 4.98 (c) (3) and (4) of this chapter) or the date preceding the date of marriage; in the case of a dependent parent, the date on which dependency ceased.

75. In § 3.296, paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.296 Concurrent payment of benefits to same person. • • •

(c) Regarding concurrent payments of disability compensation, pension, or retired pay and pay from the service departments, see § 3.299.

76. Section 3.299 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.299 Action where veteran returns to active-duty status. Compensation or pension may not be paid concurrently with the receipt of active service pay and where any person in receipt of compensation or pension returns to active-duty status with any of the Armed Forces of the United States, or active service in the United States Coast Guard, benefits will be suspended, effective the day preceding reentrance, if known, or the date of last payment. In the latter instance the correct date on which the veteran reentered active-duty status will be ascertained and a corrected Stop (or Suspend) Payment Notice, VA Form 521, or amended award then executed as of the correct date. Time spent by members of the ROTC in drills as a part of their activities as members of the corps is not active duty. On and after October 29, 1949, veterans who are Reserve members of the Armed Forces may waive or relinquish their pension, compensation, or retirement pay for periods of field training, instruction, other duty or drill. A waiver is not acceptable if it covers any period prior to October 29, 1949. However, a valid waiver may include prospective periods and contain a right of recoupment for the days which the Reservist did not receive payment for Reserve duty training by reason of failure to report for duty. Official information showing the date upon which the veteran actually reentered and terminated active duty will be secured. Payments may be resumed the day following release from active duty, provided the person is otherwise entitled. The determination of service-connection upon which the award of benefits was originally made will not be disturbed. The resumption of payment of compensation as to amount will be at a rate commensurate with the degree of disability found to exist at the time of restoration of the award. Information will be obtained from the Service Department, and the claim will be adjudicated upon a basis including the pertinent facts in the most recent period of active service. If a disability is incurred or aggravated in the second period of service, the benefits payable on account thereof cannot be paid unless a claim therefor is filed. (See § 3.27.)

(Par. XIII, Vet. Reg. 10, as amended, sec. 610, Public Law 434, 81st Congress; 38 U. S. C. ch. 12)

77. In § 3.310, the introduction and paragraph (d) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.310 Apportionments authorized. Disability pension, disability compensation (including additional compensation for dependents provided by Public Law 877, 80th Congress, as amended by section 4, Public Law 339, 81st Congress), emergency officers retirement pay, and on and after October 17, 1940, service pension and pension for service prior to April 21, 1898, amounting to more than $33 monthly, will be apportioned according to the table provided in § 3.311, except where otherwise authorized or provided in this section.

• • • • •

(d) In those cases where an incompetent veteran with a wife, child, or dependent parent, and for whom no guardian or other legal fiduciary has been appointed, is maintained in an institution by the United States or a political subdivision thereof, the disability pension payable under Part III, Veterans Regulation 1 (a) (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), unless paid in the discretion of the Administrator to the wife of such veteran for the use of the veteran and his dependents, will be apportioned, if otherwise in order, in accordance with the schedule set out in this paragraph. Prior to authorizing an apportionment of disability pension as provided in this section adequate development will be accomplished for the purpose of determining the need therefor, and the evidence to establish the marital status, relationship, and dependency in the case of a parent, will be secured.

Where there is (are):

A wife but no child or where all children are in her custody—portion to wife, $53.40 monthly.

A child but no wife—portion for child, $42.60 monthly.

Two or more children but no wife—portion for children, $53.40 monthly (to be divided equally between them).

A dependent parent but no wife or child—portion for parent, $42.60 monthly.

Two dependent parents but no wife or child—portion for parents, $53.40 monthly (to be divided equally between them).

Any increase in pension by reason of the veteran having attained the age of 65, having been rated permanently and totally disabled and in receipt of pension for a continuous period of 10 years or more or having qualified for pension under Public Law 149, 82d Congress, as amended, will be added to the amount allowed the dependents as hereinabove described. There will be paid to the Manager, if a Veterans' Administration hospital or center, or such other proper official in charge of the institution any sum remaining unawarded. When the apportionments provided in this section are believed to work a hardship upon one or more parties in interest, recourse then may be had to the provisions of § 3.315 for a special apportionment under the approved procedure relating thereto. Running awards not consistent with the foregoing provisions will not be automatically reviewed for such purpose but will be adjusted when the particular case otherwise requires award action.

78. In § 3.312, paragraphs (e), (g), and (h) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.312 Apportionment not authorized. • • •

(e) Under § 3.310, where the monetary benefit payable is $33 monthly or less.

(g) Of the additional amount authorized by the last paragraph of section 202 (3) or section 202 (5), World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended, or the additional amount payable under paragraph II (k), Part I, Veterans Regulation 1 (a), as amended, or the corresponding peacetime rate; or in those cases where an amount in excess of that provided for total disability is payable, of any amount in excess of the rate prescribed for total disability. Where pension is being paid under Public No. 299, 71st Congress (act of June 2, 1930) as amended, or under Public No. 541, 75th Congress, as amended, no amount in excess of $96.75 monthly will be subject to apportionment.

(h) Where the wife, child, father, or mother of the disabled veteran is shown by evidence satisfactory to the Administrator of Veterans Affairs to be guilty of mutiny, treason, sabotage, or rendering assistance to an enemy of the United States or its allies. (See § 3.69 (d).)

79. Section 3.315 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.315 Special apportionments. Where it is clearly shown by competent evidence that the application of the provisions of §§ 3.276, 3.310, and 3.311, or the fact that no apportionment is authorized under § 3.312, will result in undue hardship upon the disabled person or any one of his dependents and relief can be afforded without undue hardships to the other persons in interest, the complete case file will be forwarded by the authorization officer or the attorney reviewer with appropriate recommendation as to the exact manner of the proposed relief, to the adjudication officer, assistant adjudication officer, or the chief, or assistant chief, veterans claims division, Veterans Benefits Office, D. C., who will determine without regard to the provisions of §§ 3.276, 3.310, 3.311, and 3.312, the disability pension, service pension, disability compensation, or emergency officers retirement pay, which will be apportioned and the exact amount to be apportioned to each individual in interest. Should an appeal from such apportionment be received, the claims folder will be referred to the adjudication officer, assistant adjudication officer, or the chief, or assistant chief, veterans claims division, Veterans Benefits office, in order that the special apportionment from which the appeal is taken may be reconsidered in the light of any additional evidence developed in connection with the appeal. When it is found that no change is warranted, VA Form 8, properly prepared, will be approved. Thereafter regular appellate procedure will be for application. (See Veterans' Administration appeals procedures.)

80. Section 3.317 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.317 Discontinuance of apportionments; effective dates. Where disability pension, disability compensation, service pension, or emergency officers retirement pay is apportioned between the veteran and his dependents and payments have been or are being made to the dependents subsequent to the date of cessation of the condition on which it is predicated, the effective date of discontinuance of the apportioned benefit to the dependent shall be the date of last payment and the award to the veteran will be adjusted accordingly; except that in the event of death, the date of death (upon the death of an apportionee, all or any part of the unpaid apportioned disability pension, compensation, or retirement pay will be paid to the veteran or to any other dependent or dependents as may be determined by the Administrator of Veterans Affairs—sec. 12, Public Law 144, 78th Congress); divorce, the date preceding the date of divorce; in the case of a child, the date preceding the 18th or 21st birthday, or cessation of school attendance (see § 3.287 and § 4.98 of this chapter), or the date preceding the date of marriage; in the case of a dependent parent, the date on which dependency ceases, will be the effective date. Where a minor child of a disabled person being paid apportioned disability compensation, pension, or emergency officers retirement pay enters the active military or naval service, such apportioned award will be discontinued as of the date of last payment and, effective as of the next day, such child's apportioned share will be added to the disability compensation, pension, or emergency officers retirement pay otherwise payable to the veteran. Where the estranged wife of a disabled veteran is receiving apportioned disability compensation, pension, or emergency officers retirement pay in behalf of herself and a minor child and such minor child enters the active military or naval service, the apportioned share for the estranged wife will be continued in the same amount as was payable prior to the child's entry into active service, such increased amount to continue during the child's minority or until the cessation of the condition upon which the apportionment was made.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 9, sec. 3, 54 Stat. 1195, Vet. Reg. 2 (a); 38 U. S. C. 49a, 704, ch. 12)

81. Section 3.329 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.329 Restriction as to change in payments pending determination of administrative appeals. In the event of an administrative appeal by the Manager or the adjudication officer in a regional office, or the chief, veterans claims division, in cases adjudicated by the disability rating board, Veterans Benefits Office, D. C., no change in payments based on the result of the review or determination will be made until a decision is rendered by the Board of Veterans Appeals.

82. Section 3.350 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.350 Adjudication of benefits in emergency officers retirement claims. After a determination as to entitlement or nonentitlement is made by the Board of Veterans Appeals, and after the approval of the necessary award action by the veterans claims division, Veterans Benefits Office, D. C., claims for emergency officers retirement will be decentralized to the proper regional office or center, except where jurisdiction is vested in the Veterans Benefits Office, D. C., as provided in § 3.1025, and will thereafter be adjudicated by the adjudication division in the field offices for the purpose of awarding or apportioning emergency officers retirement payments, pension, or compensation: Provided, That where denial is made by the Board of Veterans Appeals in its capacity as a body of original jurisdiction in claims for emergency officers retirement pay, decentralization will be effected upon the expiration of a period of 1 year from the date on which notice of the decision is dispatched to the claimant, if in the meantime an appeal is not filed: And provided further, That where denial is made by the Board of Veterans Appeals on appeal, decentralization will be withheld for a period of 6 months from the date on which notice of the decision is sent to the claimant. Payment Card, VA Finance Form 1071, will be retained in the finance division, Veterans Benefits Office, D. C.

(Sec. 5, 43 Stat. 608, as amended, sec. 2, 46 Stat. 1016, sec. 7, 48 Stat. 9; 38 U. S. C. 11a, 426, 707)

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 10816; FCC 54-1319]

PART 63—EXTENSION OF LINES AND DISCONTINUANCE OF SERVICE BY CARRIERS

PUBLICATION AND POSTING OF NOTICES

In the matter of amendment of Part 63 of the Commission's rules and regulations governing extension of lines and discontinuance of service by carriers; Docket No. 10816.

1. On October 8, 1953, the American Communications Association (ACA), a union representing certain employees of The Western Union Telegraph Company (Western Union), filed a petition requesting that the Commission amend Part 63 of its rules to add to the current requirements for posting and publishing notice of applications filed with the Commission by carriers for authority to discontinue, reduce or impair telegraph service, pursuant to section 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended and to require that hearings be held on all formal applications to discontinue, reduce or impair telegraph service to which objections are filed within a specified period of time. The specific amendments proposed by the union are described more fully hereinafter.

2. The Commission released a notice of proposed rule making herein on December 21, 1953, in order to afford interested parties an opportunity to present their views to the Commission concerning the proposals of the ACA. The notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 24, 1953 (18 F. R. 8701). Statements in support of the proposed rule changes were filed by petitioner and The Commercial Telegraphers' Union, another union representing certain of Western Union's employees. Letters and petitions urging the adoption of the proposed rule changes were also received from a large number of persons, most of whom indicate that they are employees of Western Union. Statements in opposition to the proposed rule changes were filed by Western Union, by RCA Communications, Inc. (RCAC), and by the American Cable and Radio Corporation (AC&R) on behalf of All America Cables and Radio, Inc., The Commercial Cable Company, and Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc. A reply to the statements of such companies was filed by petitioner. Oral argument on the matter was held before the Commission on July 19, 1954, at which petitioner, Western Union and RCAC appeared and presented argument.

3. In support of its proposals, petitioner contends generally that the present rules are completely ineffective for the purpose of giving notice to the public of a proposed closure of a branch telegraph office, and that, in a sharply contested situation, it is difficult for the Commission to determine the facts without a public hearing and the opportunity to challenge, by cross-examination, statements by the applicant and the objector. The Commercial Telegraphers' Union takes the position that it is wrong to grant an application where any interested person requests a hearing and that it is equally wrong to process such applications without sufficient advance notice to all interested persons.

4. The above-named carriers take the position generally that the present rules are adequate, that the proposed rules are unnecessary, and that the proposed rules would be unduly burdensome for both the carriers and the Commission and should not be adopted. In addition, RCAC urges that, if the Commission believes that additional notification procedures are required for other carriers, the international telegraph carriers should be specifically excluded from such requirement because there have been no extensive curtailments by such carriers in the past and there is no reasonable likelihood of extensive curtailments in the future.

5. The ACA requests that § 63.90 (a) be amended to provide that, immediately upon the filing of applications and informal requests to discontinue, reduce, or impair communications service (except applications filed under §§ 63.67, 63.68 or 63.69), a carrier shall post a public notice of such filing in the window of any office having window space fronting on a public street. Currently, § 63.90 (a) provides that such public notice shall be posted "in a conspicuous place" at the telegraph office, telephone exchange, or public coast station affected.

6. In our opinion, a requirement that such public notice should be posted in the window of every office having a window fronting on a public street would not necessarily provide reasonable notice to those persons making use of the office. For example, it would seem that no useful purpose would be served by posting notice in the window of an office located on an upper floor even though it had a window fronting on a public street. On the other hand, the posting of a notice within a given office would provide notice only to those persons who come in the office during the period that the notice is posted. We conclude that, in order to afford reasonable notice to the public of a proposed curtailment of service at an office, a carrier should post the notice in the window of the office, if it has window space fronting on a public street at the street level, as well as in a conspicuous place within the office. Accordingly, we will amend § 63.90 (a) to require all carriers to so post public notices of applications filed with this Commission for authority to curtail communication service at telegraph offices, telephone exchanges or public coast stations.

7. At the oral argument, counsel for Western Union displayed a sample of the public notice which the company posts in its offices pursuant to § 63.90 (a) of the rules. Except for the word "notice" appearing at the top of the sample, the printed material was not legible at a distance of about 10 feet from the notice and it appeared that a member of the public would have to approach to within a few feet in order to read the information contained in such notice. The rules currently provide that the posted notice shall be "at least" 20 inches by 24 inches "with letters of commensurate size." Accordingly, we will expect Western Union promptly to revise the form of notice and the size of the letters so that the information contained in the notice will be legible at a reasonable distance.

8. The petitioner proposes that § 63.90 (b) be amended by deleting the proviso following the words "of the community affected" and that a new paragraph (c) be added to § 63.90 as follows:

(c) Immediately upon the filing of an application or informal request (except a request under §§ 63.67, 63.68 or 63.69) affecting a telegraph office or a branch office, the applicant shall mail or deliver by messenger a notification containing information similar to that specified in paragraph (a) of this section to each telegraph user served by messenger callbox circuit, or tieline terminating at the office or branch office affected, and to each person to whom a telegram is delivered by messenger from said office or branch office during the 20 days following the making of such application.[1]

The effect of the proposed amendment would be to require both publication of notice in a newspaper and delivery of actual notice to those served through all main and branch telegraph offices. As indicated above, the current rule permits the carrier to give actual notice as an alternative to publication of notice in cases of branch offices.

9. The currently effective § 63.90 (b) of the Commission's rules was adopted following the rule making proceeding in Docket No. 9304, In the matter of amendment of § 63.90 of the Commission's rules and regulations regarding publication and posting of notice of the filing of applications to close, or reduce hours of service at, branch telegraph offices. In that proceeding, the Commission considered generally the same question that is presented here, viz., whether both types of notice are necessary. Petitioner herein filed comments in that proceeding requesting that the rules be amended to require both types of notice. After considering all the comments filed therein, including comments of petitioner herein, the Commission adopted the current rule. We are of the opinion that the existing rule reasonably provides for notice to interested persons and that no change therein is necessary.

10. Finally, the petitioner proposes that a new section be added to Part 63 of the Commission's rules as follows:

Whenever an application is filed to discontinue, reduce or impair telegraph service, pursuant to Section 63.62 and wherever, within twenty days of the filing of the application, posting of the notice as required by 63.90 (a), or mail or delivery of the notice as provided in 63.90 (c) (whichever shall be later), objection to the proposed action by the carrier shall be received by the Commission, the Commission shall, on ten days' notice to the carrier, to the objecting person or persons and to the Public Service Commission of the state in which any discontinuance, reduction or impairment is proposed, hold a hearing upon the said application, pursuant to § 1.802 et seq. of Part 1 of the rules and regulations of the Commission.

The Commission's rules do not now require that hearings shall be mandatory when an objection is filed to an application.

11. Substantially the same proposal was previously made by petitioner herein in the proceeding in Docket No. 7982, In the matter of The Western Union Telegraph Company investigation of plans to discontinue, reduce or impair service and standards to be applied. In its memorandum opinion and order in that case, issued May 16, 1949, the Commission stated:

It is to be observed that Congress, in section 214 (a) of the act, did not include a requirement for a hearing on applications made under that Section. In passing upon the merits of each application filed by Western Union for an authorization under section 214 of the Communications Act, the Commission has considered whether a public hearing should be held in the matter on the basis of the showing made in the application by Western Union, the facts contained in communications from the public or the telegraph employees' unions concerning the applications and all other available relevant data, including information developed by the Commission's staff in those cases where it has been possible to make an on-the-spot investigation of the matter. We believe that such a procedure has provided an adequate basis for deciding in each case whether a public hearing is required in order to determine whether the particular curtailment in service might adversely affect the public convenience and necessity. In any event, the question whether a public hearing should be held on such applications is one that should be decided on the facts and circumstances in each case.

No facts have been presented in this proceeding to cause us to change our views regarding the procedures to be followed in designating for hearing applications filed pursuant to section 214 of the act.

12. In view of the foregoing, and pursuant to sections 4 (i) and 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended: It is ordered, This 21st day of October 1954, that, effective January 3, 1955, § 63.90 (a) of the rules is amended to read as follows:

§ 63.90 Publication and posting of notices. (a) Immediately upon the filing of an application or informal request (except a request under §§ 63.67, 63.68 or 63.69) for authority to close or otherwise discontinue the operation, or reduce the hours of service at, a telephone exchange, a telegraph office (except an agency office, a jointly operated office, or an office or exchange located at a military establishment), or a public coast station, the applicant shall post a public notice at least twenty inches (20") by twenty-four inches (24"), with letters of commensurate size, in a conspicuous place in the exchange, office, or public coast station affected, and also in the window of any such exchange, office, or station having window space fronting on a public street at street level. Such notice shall be posted for at least fourteen (14) days and shall contain the following information, as may be applicable:

(1) Date of first posting of notice;

(2) Name of applicant;

(3) A statement that application has been made to the Federal Communications Commission;

(4) Date when application was filed in the Commission;

(5) A description of the discontinuance, reduction or impairment of service for which authority is sought, including the address or other appropriate identification of the exchange, office or station involved;

(6) If applicant proposes to reduce hours of service, a description of present and proposed hours of service;

(7) A complete description of the substitute service, if any, to be provided if the application is granted;

(8) A statement that any member of the public desiring to protest or support the application may communicate in writing with the Federal Communications Commission, Washington 25, D. C., on or before a specified date which shall be twenty (20) days from the date of first posting of the notice.

NOTE: In cases where a public coast station is not ordinarily accessible to the general public for the purpose of filing or accepting delivery of messages, but an associated public office is provided by the applicant for that purpose, the public notice herein referred to shall be posted in the public office.

It is further ordered, That, except as provided above, the above-mentioned petition of the American Communications Association is denied and the proceeding in Docket No. 10816 is terminated.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066 as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interpret or apply Sec. 214, 48 Stat. 1075; 47 U. S. C. 214)

[1] In addition to the foregoing requirements for notification to the public, § 63.90 provides that carriers shall give written notice of the filing of an application to discontinue, reduce or impair service, together with a copy of such application, to the State commission which has jurisdiction with respect to intra-State operations of carriers in each State in which any discontinuance, reduction or impairment of service is proposed. When the posting, publication and notification have been completed, the carrier is required to certify such facts to this Commission, stating the name of the newspaper in which such publication was made, the names of the commissions notified, and the dates of posting, publication and notification. Further, pursuant to section 214 of the act, this Commission sends copies of all formal applications to discontinue, reduce, or impair service to the Secretary of the Army, the Secretary of the Navy and the Governor of each State in which such discontinuance, reduction or impairment of service is proposed. Also, it is the practice of the Commission, in cases involving the discontinuance, reduction or impairment of domestic telegraph service, to send copies of all such applications to the petitioner herein or The Commercial Telegraphers' Union, depending upon which union is the bargaining representative of the Western Union employees in the area where the office affected is located.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 941]

[Docket No. AO-101-A18]

HANDLING OF MILK IN THE CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT, AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 15th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, was formulated, was conducted at Chicago, Illinois, on June 1-4, June 7-11, and June 14-15, all in 1954, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on May 20, 1954 (19 F. R. 3028).

A recommended decision (19 F. R. 4730) filed on July 28, 1954, by the Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service, and a decision by the Secretary on August 16, 1954 (19

F. R. 5268), dealt with issue No. 1, as listed herein, and certain aspects of issues No. 2 and No. 3. This recommended decision deals with the remaining matters under issues numbered 2 through 16, except for issue No. 5 (prices for milk picked up at the farm by tank trucks), on which action is deferred.

The material issues on the record of the hearing were:

1. Establishment of a plan for paying producers so as to increase the incentive for even production;
2. Limitation of the supply-demand adjustment;
3. The price for Class II milk;
4. Seasonal price differentials for Class I milk over the basic formula price;
5. Prices on milk picked up at the farm by tank trucks;
6. The price for Class IV milk including special pricing of milk used in the manufacture of cheese;
7. Price differentials for location at which milk is received;
8. Change in the classification provisions to require separate accounting for skim milk and butterfat;
9. Classification of skim milk which is dumped;
10. Classification of milk transferred from a regulated plant to another plant;
11. Classification of powdered ice cream mix, powdered cream, and other powdered products derived from milk or cream;
12. Months in which a producer's milk may be diverted without the producer losing his status;
13. Classification of and pricing of inventory variations and shrinkage;
14. Price at which reconciliation is to be made;
15. Price for packaged milk sold outside the marketing area; and
16. Administrative provisions.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based upon evidence contained in the record of the hearing:

2. Supply-demand adjustment. The adjustment due to the supply-demand ratio should be limited so that deductions from or additions to Class I and Class II differentials do not exceed 24 cents per hundredweight.

A proposal was made by producers to establish a limit of 24 cents with respect to plus or minus adjustments due to the supply-demand ratio.

For the period of March through August 1954 the amount of deduction due to the supply-demand ratio was limited by amendment to the order so as to not result in deductions exceeding 24 cents. A further amendment, effective September 1, 1954, based on the record of the hearing concluded June 15, 1954, continued this limitation through November 1954. In the recommended decision filed by the Assistant Administrator in July 28, 1954, and adopted in the decision of the Secretary issued August 16, 1954 (19 F. R. 5268) it was stated that "continuation of the 24-cent limitation through these three fall months will permit examination of the supply-demand adjustment provision in the context of proposed changes in the whole price structure that would include possible revisions of the class price differentials."

Official notice is hereby taken of information published by the market administrator on August 27, 1954, which showed that for the month of September 1954 the supply-demand ratio indicated a deduction of 30 cents per hundredweight if the limitation did not apply.

If a deduction of 24 cents were to continue to apply during the coming twelve-month period, this amount deducted from the Class I differentials in the attached proposed amendment to the order, would result in effective differentials of 86 cents for months with higher differentials, and 56 cents in other months. Such reduction in the differentials by the supply-demand factor is intended to have some influence in bringing the supply of milk into adjustment with fluid needs of the market.

In the case of the Class II differentials of 70 cents and 45 cents proposed herein, these would be reduced to 46 cents and 21 cents, respectively, by deduction of the 24-cent adjustment.

Data in the record show that the number of producers on the market in January 1954 was greater than in any month in recent years. Since that time the number of producers has declined. Official notice is hereby taken of information published by the market administrator on August 16, 1954, indicating that the number of producers (farm units) in the market for July 1954 was 23,636. This represents nearly a 3 percent decline in number of producers from the January level.

This indication of a downward trend in the number of producers suggests that prices for Class I and Class II milk have been reduced sufficiently to bring about an orderly adjustment of supply in relation to demand. Furthermore, it is noted that there has been an upward trend in Class I utilization in recent years. Average monthly volume of Class I milk in 1951 was about 167.4 million pounds; in 1952, 168.7 million pounds; and in 1953, 169.5 million pounds. Sales of packaged fluid milk and fluid milk products show a greater increase, but this has been offset to some degree by less sales of milk in bulk.

In view of the trends evidenced in producer numbers and in Class I sales, there is some question as to whether further reductions in the price differentials which might result from unlimited action of the supply-demand adjustment would allow adequate incentive to producers such as to assure a stable supply of milk for the market. It is desirable under these conditions that the 24-cent limit on such deductions from the Class I and Class II differentials be continued.

As mentioned above, it was also proposed that in the case of additions to the price differentials due to the supply-demand ratio, a similar 24-cent limit should apply. An upper limit of 24 cents on these adjustments would allow for a 48-cent increase from the present price level. After a change of such magnitude re-examination in a public hearing would be advisable before further increases in class price differentials are effected.

3. Price for Class II milk. The seasonal Class II price differentials should be revised to be 70 cents for the months of August through November, and 45 cents in other months.

The Class II price differentials in the order are 40 cents for May and June, 70 cents for July through November, and 50 cents in other months. These differentials are subject to the same supply-demand adjustment as Class I differentials, which for some months has been a deduction of 24 cents.

Pursuant to a suspension order issued June 30, 1954 (19 F. R. 4060) the differential for July and August 1954 was established at 50 cents. In an amending order effective September 1, 1954 (19 F. R. 5533) the 50-cent differential was continued through November, 1954. It was stated in the decision (August 16, 1954, 19 F. R. 5268) "that pricing of Class II milk for delivery periods after November 1954 should not be revised until further study is made of the record evidence relating to all aspects of class pricing."

Proposals made at the hearing by both handlers and producers would result in some reduction in the annual level of the differential. Differentials now in the order average 56.7 cents.

A producers' association suggested the adoption of a differential of $0.50 for Class II milk during all months of the year, except for frozen cream in such class, which would carry a differential of $0.35 in May and June. Such differentials would be subject to the same supply-demand adjustment as Class I milk. An ice cream manufacturers' association proposed that the differential applicable to (1) that portion of Grade A Class II milk utilized in ice cream and allied products sold and delivered outside the city of Chicago, and (2) Class II milk frozen and stored in April, May and June for later resale as ice cream or allied products, should be $0.10 over the price for Class IV milk. In the latter connection, it was testified by proponents that a "freezing allowance" of 25 cents per hundredweight of milk would be appropriate and reasonable with respect to milk utilized for frozen cream in April, May and June, thus differentiating in such months the price of frozen cream from that of sweet cream for current disposition in fluid form. A group of handlers also proposed 10-cent reductions in the Class II differentials for April, July and August.

The producer proposal for a reduction in the Class II price level was based on the expectation that such reduction would result in some restoration of the volume of disposition in Class II which has declined in recent years. Review of the data on classification of milk in the hearing record discloses marked decreases in the disposition of the major products in Class II milk (it should be noted that the "3.5 percent milk equivalent" of butterfat used determines the volume of milk priced in this class). Except for fluid sweet cream of 6–16 percent butterfat, which has shown increasing popularity for several years, sales of the remaining products of high butterfat content in Class II milk have decreased to a substantial degree. Sales of fluid sweet cream of 6–16 percent butterfat have held steady since 1951, but have increased more than 80 percent since 1946. By comparison, fluid cream of 16–30 percent butterfat has decreased 18 percent during the past 12 months, 31 percent since 1951, and 74 percent since 1946. Compared with 1951 and 1946 data, 1953 figures for cream of more than 30 percent butterfat show a decline of 14 percent. The net decrease in all fluid sweet cream sales was 9 percent since 1951 and 26 percent since 1946. The volume of pooled butterfat in cream utilized for ice cream manufacture also has declined substantially: 8.8 percent between 1951 and 1953, and 28.5 percent from 1946 to 1953. All Class II milk in the pool declined 9 percent in the past two years and 27.4 percent between 1946 and 1953.

Seasonal adjustment of the Class II differentials, as now in the order price provisions, has served to provide incentive to handlers to store cream during spring flush months for use in the fall months. Such a practice of storing cream is of benefit to the market in view of the decided seasonal variation of milk available for such use. The seasonal Class II price differentials have also been part of the order price structure designed to provide incentive for producers to even out production. Changes in the Class II differentials seasonally have accordingly been co-ordinated with changes in the Class I price differentials.

Although a base-excess plan for payment to producers has been established under the order effective beginning in September 1954, the effects of this plan may be expected to be relatively mild, and as pointed out in the findings and conclusions with respect to Class I prices, some continuation of seasonal pricing would appear needed. Coordination of the Class II prices with the Class I price pattern proposed herein calls for continuance of about the same relationship between Class II prices and Class I prices as would result under the current regular price provisions of the order.

A particular consideration in the relationship of Class I and Class II prices is the fact that milk for Class II uses in Chicago must meet the same sanitary requirements as whole milk for fluid consumption. In these circumstances, the Class II price should be at a level which contributes a reasonable share of the returns to producers needed to maintain a supply for combined Class I and Class II needs.

In view of these considerations, it is decided that the difference between Class I and Class II prices should not be widened as much as would result from the proposal for a constant 50-cent Class II differential. On the other hand, some seasonal price changes should be continued for reasons discussed above. The Class II differentials recommended herein are 45 cents for the months of December through July and 70 cents for other months. These differentials would result in seasonal changes at the same times as changes in Class I differentials. It may be noted that the seasonal change, 25 cents, is as large as the freezing allowance requested for storing cream.

The principal reason given by the producer group for reducing the Class II price was to promote sales in Class II uses. The Class II differentials here recommended for the period beginning in December this year, and the 50-cent differential in effect for July through November this year, would mean that a level of Class II prices as low as requested by the producer group will continue in effect for a 13-month period ending with July 1955. This period should provide opportunity for observation as to the effect of the reduced price upon sales.

While proposals by producers and handlers would provide a special seasonal decline in the case of cream placed in storage during May and June, no substantial reasons were offered for denying consumers of fluid cream in May and June of the advantage which would accrue from seasonally lower prices to producers on cream put in storage. Thus no distinction should be made during such months between the price of milk utilized to produce fluid sweet cream and that processed into frozen cream for storage and later used in ice cream and allied products.

The proposal to apply a price lower than the Class II price for Grade A milk and cream used in manufacture of ice cream for sale outside the city of Chicago is similar to proposals dealt with in previous decisions. This matter was dealt with in a decision issued August 13, 1952 (17 F. R. 7505). Official notice is hereby taken of such decision.

Testimony at the hearing, bearing on this matter, dealt with a comparison of prices for cream at wholesale in Chicago as compared to prices outside the city. There is some doubt that data presented make possible an accurate comparison of price differences. Existence of some discounts from quoted prices, as mentioned on the record, also makes the significance of the data indefinite. Evidence in the record on this issue does not show any aspects not dealt with in the previous decision mentioned which would justify change in order pricing of Grade A milk used for ice cream sold outside the City of Chicago.

4. Class I seasonal price differentials. The Class I price differentials for May and June should be increased to 80 cents, and compensating changes should be made in other months.

Modifications of the seasonal pattern of Class I price differentials were proposed by both producers and handlers. The producer proposal would increase the differentials in the two months when they are lowest (May and June) by 20 cents per hundredweight. This would increase the annual average of the Class I differentials from 89.2 cents to 92.5 cents. The proposal by handlers would make seasonal changes more gradual with practically no change in the annual average.

The evidence in the record does not support any increase in the annual level of the Class I price differentials. There is an adequacy of supply under present price provisions of the order. For some months, the supply has been at a level such that the "supply-demand ratio" in the order has resulted in reducing the regular price differentials. For the current period this adjustment is limited so that deductions may not be more than 24 cents, but current data for June 1954, would have resulted in a 30-cent deduction if no limitation were effective.

Producer testimony in favor of the increased level of the differentials was based on the consideration that with the reductions they proposed in Class II and Class IV prices, the overall result would give about the same uniform price to producers as under current order provisions. However, no change in the Class IV price is proposed herein, and the proposed reduction in Class II prices, which would result in a slight reduction in the annual level, would not be justification for raising the Class I price level.

The basis for the handler proposal was principally the desire to smooth out seasonal changes, so as to minimize any adverse reaction of consumers to price increases. It was pointed out that the change from a 60-cent differential in June to $1.10 in July is equivalent to more than a penny per quart at retail.

The matter of changes in the Class I differentials is related also to recent changes in the order establishing a base-excess plan for paying producers. Both the base-excess plan and seasonal pricing are intended to provide incentive for farmers to even out production. However, the base plan is expected to be relatively mild in effect, and accordingly some seasonal price differentials should be continued.

The schedule of Class I differentials contained in the attached proposed amendment to the order would set the May and June differentials at 80 cents, an increase of 20 cents. This change would result in an 80-cent differential for all of the months of December through June. Such an increase in the May and June differentials is needed because of the effects of the base plan and location differentials, which would otherwise result in an unreasonably low price for excess milk in the more distant parts of the milkshed.

A further change is needed with respect to differentials in other months to offset the increase in May and June. Rather than spread this offsetting reduction through the months of the shorter production season, it is concluded that all of the offset should be in July, which is not a month of short production. The resulting schedule of differentials would have only two changes each year, each equivalent to less than 1 cent per quart.

5. Producer milk picked up at the farm by tank trucks. The procurement of milk by pick-up at the farm in tank trucks is a relatively new development in the Chicago market. This method of milk procurement was introduced about 18 months prior to the hearing, and at the time of the hearing the milk of about 600 producers was being picked up by this method.

The present provisions of the Chicago order give no basis for different pricing treatment under the order than that accorded to milk picked up at farms in cans. The minimum price for such milk, as in the case of milk received in cans, is established by the order at the plant at which it is first received and the person operating such plant is responsible for reporting such receipts and accounting for the utilization of such milk.

Several amendments were proposed at the hearing to apply particularly to milk picked up at farms in tank trucks. A producer group proposed that in the case of such milk the location adjustments which apply to the uniform price should be on the basis of the location of the farm, rather than the location of the plant at which milk is received. Farms in each township would be zoned according to the railroad or highway distance from the market, whichever is shorter, and zone price differentials would be assigned on the same basis as they are now assigned to plant locations. Another producer proposal would modify the definitions of handler and producer for the purpose of assigning specific responsibility for accounting for the milk so received. In some cases this might well involve making the hauler who received such milk be the handler responsible for reporting receipt of milk and payment therefor.

A further proposal made by producers would establish, within the framework of minimum prices fixed by the order, premiums to be paid by handlers to farmers on milk picked up at the farm in tank trucks.

Several problems of pricing and accounting which arise because of bulk tank handling are indicated by the record. The method of procurement by tank truck pick-up at farms permits a greater flexibility in the movement of milk, much the same as would apply to milk in tank trucks moved out of receiving plants. It has permitted delivery direct to the marketing area from greater distances than in the case of milk received in cans and may eliminate the need for a substantial number of country receiving stations. Relative to delivery of producer milk in cans, there is much greater likelihood that an individual producer's milk will be received at different plants from month to month or even from day to day during the month. Thus, confusion as to the location at which the minimum price for such milk should be established and as to the permanency of the producer's relationship to the market may arise.

The uniform price for milk received from farms at plants in the marketing area is 10 cents higher than the uniform price for milk received in the 70-mile zone. In view of the longer haul which is practicable in the case of milk picked up at farms in tank trucks, increased quantities of milk may be moved directly to plants in the marketing area. When such milk is not needed in the marketing area, it can be moved to local manufacturing plants and, under current terms of the order, continue to be priced at the marketing area level. Producer testimony at the hearing in this connection questioned whether the 6 cents now contributed by the market pool to the payment of the 10-cent differential for milk received in the marketing area should be furnished by the market pool in the case of bulk tank milk. It was proposed that the full 10 cents be paid directly by handlers receiving such milk in the marketing area.

A further possible difficulty, pointed out in testimony, is that one truckload of milk might be delivered to two or more plants. The problem of establishing the identity of the handler responsible for reporting the receipt and utilization of such milk could be complicated, particularly if the first plant of delivery is not the same on each trip. Another difficulty is that sales of Chicago approved milk to secondary markets might be made directly to those markets in the bulk tank pick-up trucks. Under these circumstances, such milk, when used mainly to supply Class I sales, would not be included in Chicago pool, but when it is not needed in the secondary market and is diverted to a Chicago pool plant for manufacturing purposes, it would be pool milk.

It was mentioned in the record that receipt of milk at farms in tank trucks is an innovation not only in the Chicago market but also in some other markets where Federal orders exist. It appears likely that it will spread to many areas. It may reasonably be expected that there will be considerable similarity in the problems arising under order regulations in several markets with respect to this method of procurement. Therefore, it is concluded that action on this issue be deferred until study can be made of the problems in various markets so as to determine whether it is possible to establish a uniform method of pricing and accounting for bulk tank milk.

6. Price for Class IV Milk. No change should be made in the operating "allowance" in the Class IV price formula, and the Class IV price should continue to apply to milk used in the manufacture of American cheese.

A proposal was made to increase the operating allowance now 75.2 cents, in the Class IV price formula by approximately 2 cents per hundredweight. It was suggested further that the operating allowance be varied seasonally so that the allowance provided for April, May, and June would be 5 cents per hundredweight greater than that contained in the price formula for the other nine months of the year.

Statistical cost data offered in support of the increase requested, purported to show, in the case of one large producer organization manufacturing butter and nonfat dry milk solids, a current manufacturing cost of 77.35 cents per hundredweight for milk used in such products. Another producer association presented cost data indicating a manufacturing cost for nonfat dry milk solids of 46.679 cents per hundredweight of whole milk. Such association disposes of butterfat to others for manufacture into butter, but stated that if the butter manufacturing cost (per hundredweight of milk) of the first producer group, referred to above, is added to the manufacturing cost of 46.679 cents, a total butter-nonfat dry milk solids manufacturing cost of 77.167 cents per hundredweight of milk results. Other testimony of the associations supporting the increase in allowance was to the effect that (1) a "break-even" basis of pricing Class IV milk will not be achieved without adoption of the proposal, and (2) a seasonal adjustment in the allowance would improve the Class IV price formula in view of the seasonal variation in manufacturing costs.

The adequacy of the information presented as a basis for revising the Class IV price formula is open to question. First, cost data as used for the purpose of the Class IV price formula represent only one guide to a reasonable level of price for Grade A milk available for manufacture into the products covered by such class. As to the particular cost data offered, it may be noted that they are not fully comparable with those included in the record on which the present 75.2 cents allowance is based. The prior record contained cost figures on a fairly wide selection of plants manufacturing butter and nonfat dry milk solids, and the apparent variation in plant operating costs among plants indicates that the data included in the present record, even if accepted without question, do not prove that there has been a general increase in Class IV operating costs throughout the milkshed.

When determining an operating margin based upon actual cost data, for use in a producer price formula which is designed to reflect as nearly as possible the full value of milk for manufacture within the milkshed, it does not appear appropriate to include items that are not typical items of cost at a plant exclusively engaged in the processing of butter and nonfat dry milk solids. Certain fees and expenditures extraneous to the butter-nonfat dry milk solids operation were included in cost data presented as proof of need for an increased margin. When all such payments are eliminated from the cost data offered, the record indicates that current manufacturing costs at the plants of proponents probably do not exceed the amount of the allowance provided in the present order. Also, this record does not disclose the Class IV price to be out of line with prices paid by unregulated plants with primary interest in butter-nonfat dry milk solids manufacture.

In view of the above it is concluded that the present record does not provide a basis for a revision of the allowance in the Class IV price formula.

One handler suggested that the allowance be increased to 80 cents per hundredweight, since such an amount is recognized under the formula for computing the parity equivalent for manufacturing milk in connection with the nation-wide program for the support of milk prices at 75 percent of parity. However, in view of the large-scale manufacturing operations carried on in the Chicago milkshed and in consideration of past experience in securing adequate outlets for reserve market supplies, it does not seem necessary to increase the operating margin in this area to the equivalent of that considered necessary on a country-wide basis.

A proposal was made by a producer cooperative to establish a separate price for milk used in the manufacture of American cheese. Such milk, along with milk used for other types of cheese (excluding cottage cheese) is included in Class IV, as well as butterfat used in butter. The proposal also contemplated use of this new formula in computing the basic formula price.

The proposed cheese price formula would be based principally on the price quoted by the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange. A yield factor of 9.745 would be applied to this price, also a yield factor of 0.3 would be included for whey butter, and 46.8 cents would be deducted as a making allowance.

Testimony in this matter was presented by the manager of the proponent association which is engaged in the manufacture of American cheese. He stated that it was based on cost experienced by all producer cooperative plants producing American cheese under the order in 1953 and also one other plant. The witness stressed the importance of American cheese as a use for surplus producer milk, pointing to the volume of producer milk currently so used.

The most recent record data for a twelve-month period showing separately the utilization of milk used in American cheese, is for the twelve months ending September 1953. In that period, of the total use in manufacturing classes (Classes III, III (a), and IV), about 16 percent was accounted for as used in American cheese, about 66 percent as used for butter, and less than 9 percent in Classes III and III (a).

Examination of the prices resulting from the proposed formula shows that they would differ considerably from the Class IV prices. During 1953 such prices would have averaged about 14 cents less than the Class IV price, with somewhat greater differences in months of 1954. The formula prices indicated for the twelve months of 1953 would have averaged about 9 cents less than prices reported as paid at factories in Wisconsin to farmers for milk used in making American cheese, and would have continued at a lesser figure in the months of 1954 for which information is contained in the record. It was pointed out in testimony that at times the formula would have resulted in a price higher than the Class IV price. During the period beginning with August, 1946 and up to the time of the hearing, the formula would have produced a higher price in 18 months.

American cheese, butter, and nonfat dry milk are products purchased under the Government price support program. Market price quotations for these products have remained close to the support prices. Under the support program, the prices for cheese as well as for butter and powder are designed to reflect the required level of price to dairy farmers for manufacturing milk. It would not be consistent with the principles upon which such support prices were established to have an order price for milk used in cheese lower than that obtainable from use in butter and nonfat dry milk. It is concluded, therefore, that the proposed price formula should not be adopted.

7. Price differentials for location at which milk is received. The location adjustments to producers and the location adjustment credits to handlers should not be changed at this time.

The present provisions of the Chicago order provide that uniform prices to producers are subject to location adjustments. Zone prices to producers are the announced uniform prices for the 55- to 70-mile zone less 2 cents per hundredweight for each 15 miles, or fraction thereof, that the location of the pool plant to which the milk is delivered exceeds 70 miles from the Chicago City Hall. Milk delivered to plants in the marketing area to 55-mile zone, and to plants located within the marketing area is priced at the announced uniform price plus 2 cents, and 10 cents, per hundredweight, respectively. The handler pays 4 cents of the 10 cent marketing area payment with the remaining 6 cents paid out of the pool as a handler credit.

The current location adjustment credit allowed handlers for fluid milk and skim milk classified as Class I milk, at the plant where received from producers, or moved to a plant 70 miles or less from Chicago City Hall is 2 cents per hundredweight for each 15 miles, or fraction thereof, that the location of the former plant exceeds 70 miles from the Chicago City Hall.

It was proposed that the rate of adjustment to both producers and handlers for plant locations beyond the 70-mile zone be increased from 2 to 2½ cents per 15-mile zone. It was further proposed that the additional payments to producers for milk delivered to plants between the marketing area and the 55–70 mile zone be changed from 2 to 2½ cents per hundredweight, and the additional payment to producers for milk delivered to plants inside the marketing area be changed from 10 to 5 cents per hundredweight. It was proposed also that the 6 cents per hundredweight credit allowed handlers from the pool for milk received at marketing area plants be eliminated.

The suggested revision in prices to producers for milk delivered to plants located in the marketing area was based on the contention that these payments are being made on an increasing amount of milk which is delivered to marketing area plants. It was stated that when the present order provisions were proposed it was not intended that the cost to the pool would increase through the eligibility of additional quantities of milk for the 6-cent pool credit. Evidence in the record clearly shows that pool milk receipts have increased substantially since this provision was incorporated into Order 41 effective July 1, 1951. However, the relative increase in pool receipts at marketing area plants has been much less than for plants located outside of the marketing area, and the cost per hundredweight of pool milk attributable to the 6-cent credit has shown a significant decrease.

Testimony in support of increasing the location adjustment rate from 2 to 2½ cents per hundredweight per zone was based on a purported general increase in trucking costs in the Chicago milk supply area with specific reference to milk hauling rates from various points in the milk supply area to the City of Chicago. The rates quoted were from undisclosed sources and were somewhat inconclusive in nature. It is concluded that revisions to present location adjustments to producers or location adjustment credits to handlers would not be warranted on the basis of the information placed in evidence.

8. Butterfat and skim milk accounting. The order should not be changed at this time to substitute the butterfat-skim milk basis of accounting for the "milk equivalent" basis now in use.

A handler's association proposed that the butterfat-skim milk basis of accounting for milk be substituted for the milk equivalent basis that has been in use in the Chicago milk market since the introduction of the order in 1939. Proponents supported their proposal by testimony to the effect that:

(a) Under the present system of accounting no recognition is made of the fact that skim milk and butterfat are basic components of milk and each has various uses separate from those of whole milk;

(b) The present accounting system necessitates payment for milk upon butterfat usage only in Classes II, III, and IV and results in cost inequities among handlers;

(c) A butterfat-skim milk basis would provide more accurate statistical data on usage since the amounts of both butterfat and skim milk would be shown in the usage reports; e. g., under the system now in use, if butterfat is used in Class II milk, and the skim milk in Class IV milk, the reported data shows all of the milk in Class II milk, resulting in "inflated" data for higher class usages;

(d) The butterfat-skim milk basis makes it simpler to determine not only price relationships between the two principal components of raw milk but also price relationships among the various finished products;

(e) Accounting for milk on a butterfat-skim milk basis would be less involved than the present system and would not work an administrative hardship on handlers; and

(f) The merit of the butterfat-skim milk basis is indicated by the fact that it is used in most of the Federal order markets.

Certain other testimony stating opposition to adoption of the proposed plan was submitted by handlers and producers. It was contended that (a) handlers have become accustomed to the milk equivalent accounting system and related "reconciliation" procedures; (b) handlers are opposed to the probability of additional bookkeeping involved; and (c) use of the present system has resulted in certain price relationships of finished products which would be dislocated by the adoption of butterfat-skim milk accounting and cause disruption to wholesale and retail markets. It was contended further that sufficient information i. e., the data necessary for dividing the value of whole milk into appropriate values for butterfat and skim milk, is not currently available.

Adoption of the butterfat-skim milk basis of accounting involves solving a number of problems on which adequate information is lacking in the record. Because of the sizable quantities of producer milk separated into skim milk and cream for manufacture into nonfat dry milk solids and butter, it would be necessary to ascertain separate values for skim milk and butterfat in Class IV milk. This involves the computation of separate "make allowances" for the two components of whole milk to be used in the Class IV price formula. A sufficiently accurate basis for accomplishing this was not offered by proponents and other testimony does not provide the basis of such a computation.

Butterfat differentials for other classes must be computed also. However, such differentials (or butterfat value) for each class cannot be reasonably computed until a proper basis for determining the value(s) of butterfat in manufacturing uses has been derived. The proper determinations of such values are very important since, as in the case of nonfat dry milk solids and butter, the prices of some of the products covered by Class I milk and Class II milk depend largely upon their skim milk or butterfat content. The importance of establishing appropriate butterfat differentials in such classes may be illustrated by the fact that on the present 57 cents per pound butter market, a change of 10 percent in the class butterfat differential inversely changes the producer price of skim milk in the class by approximately 21 cents per hundredweight. Thus, the butterfat differential for the class will have separate significance for the handler of a product made primarily of skim milk as compared with the handler who processes and sells a product produced primarily of butterfat. The particular differentials adopted could have substantial impact on the prices of the finished products produced and therefore further opportunity for expressions on specific differentials should be afforded.

The particular levels of butterfat differentials established also may affect the utilization of producer milk in the higher-valued classes. A relatively high butterfat differential for Class I or II milk might tend to discourage either the total use of butterfat in these classes or the type of products made, or perhaps both. Producer income is decreased when butterfat is diverted to lower class uses and unduly high butterfat differentials for Class I and Class II uses might tend to increase such diversion. In connection with their contention that the present accounting plan results in cost inequities among handlers, proponents compared the use of skim milk for ice cream by one handler with the use of skim milk for nonfat dry milk solids or cottage cheese by another handler. Under the present system it was stated, both handlers pay the same price (assuming identical class usage of butterfat derived from the milk) even though ice cream must be made from inspected milk for sale in Chicago and is generally recognized as a higher-valued use for skim milk than nonfat dry milk solids or cottage cheese. It was contended that such an inequity would be eliminated by the use of the butterfat-skim milk basis of accounting.

Inequities in cost would result only if handlers were charged varying prices for the same component of milk for a specified use. The present pricing and accounting system, however, applies similar prices to all handlers for skim milk and butterfat for each use. If there is overvaluation or undervaluation of either component of milk for a specified use a problem of classification may arise, but this should not imply inequity of cost for one handler as compared with another.

These matters require additional consideration in a hearing before a butterfat-skim milk basis of accounting may be adopted. Because of the complex nature of the dairy industry in the Chicago area—the extensiveness of the milkshed and diversification among handlers as to the products handled and manufactured—the comparative information developed from operation of the plan in other Federally regulated markets as offered in the record is not sufficient to support the adoption for the Chicago market. However, the plan has inherent value and merits further consideration. It is suggested that the proposal be introduced for further discussion at the next hearing held on order amendments.

9. Classification of skim milk dumped. The classification of dumped skim milk as Class IV milk was proposed as part of the proposal to change to the butterfat and skim milk accounting system. Inasmuch as that method of accounting is not being adopted, no action is needed with respect to this issue.

10. Classification of milk transferred. The transfer rules contained in § 941.40 should not be changed except to specify the extent to which the market administrator shall audit unregulated plants located within the surplus milk manufacturing area.

Order 41 contains a section consisting of five paragraphs which set out in considerable detail the classification rules applicable to the transfer of milk, skim milk and cream from regulated plants to (a) plants regulated under another marketing agreement or order; (b) plants located outside of a specified surplus milk manufacturing area; (c) commercial food or drug processors, or unregulated manufacturing plants located within the surplus milk manufacturing area; (d) other unregulated plants located inside the surplus milk manufacturing area; and (e) regulated plants of another handler. One of the proposals considered at the hearing would replace present transfer rules with others which differ from the present rules in many respects.

The primary effect of the proposed rules would be to increase substantially the amount of milk classified in the manufacturing classes. This would be accomplished in part by greatly expanding the area in which milk, skim milk or cream could be transferred from a regulated plant to an unregulated plant and be classified as Class III (a), Class III or Class IV milk. In lieu of the presently defined surplus milk manufacturing area there would be substituted an area covering the State of Wisconsin and all territory in other States that is within 300 miles of the City Hall of Chicago. Such an area would extend well into Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky, and Michigan; all of Indiana and most of Illinois would also be included. Milk and skim milk which moves outside of this area would be classified as Class I milk. Cream moving outside the area would be classified as Class II milk unless certain conditions were met, in which case cream would be classified as Class III or Class IV milk.

Instead of determining the classification of milk transferred on a daily basis, as the order now provides, a monthly accounting basis would be substituted. If an unregulated plant, engaged in distributing fluid milk or cream permitted the market administrator to examine its books and records, the Order 41 milk would receive a residual classification after receipts from dairy farmers shipping directly to the plant have been allocated to the highest utilization. At the present time, milk and skim milk transferred to an unregulated plant located in the surplus milk manufacturing area, which is not engaged in manufacturing specified products, is classified as Class I milk, and cream is classified as Class II milk. This is also true with respect to transfer to a plant where milk is priced under another marketing agreement or order. The proposed rules did not specifically cover such plants.

Transfer rules governing the classification of milk under an order must be designed to fit the requirements of the market. For example, rules which serve the needs of a deficit market, where outlets for handling surplus milk are not readily available, are not necessary in a market like Chicago where manufacturing facilities are within close proximity to most plants. The rules contained in Order 41 have been reviewed and revised many times during the 15 years since the promulgation of the order. It would not be reasonable to eliminate these rules and substitute new ones without substantial evidence showing that the present rules are inadequate and that the new rules would better serve the needs of the market.

In some respects the proposed rules do not appear to fit actual circumstances in the Chicago market. For example, one of the proposed rules relates to the classification of milk, skim milk or cream transferred from an approved plant to a producer-handler, a type of operation so rare in the market that it does not require definition in the order. With respect to the proposal that would have the effect of greatly increasing the present surplus milk manufacturing area, the record does not show that the manufacturing facilities available in the present area are inadequate to meet the needs of the market. The proponents of the change testified that they had not encountered difficulty in finding adequate outlets for their surplus milk. If it can be demonstrated that there are manufacturing facilities outside of the present surplus milk manufacturing area which are convenient to the market and might be used for handling surplus milk, consideration can be given to the incorporation of additional territory in the designated surplus milk manufacturing area by amendment to the order as has been done in the past.

With respect to the procedure for allocating Order 41 milk transferred to an unregulated plant, the record does not show wherein it would be desirable to change from a daily accounting basis to a monthly accounting basis. Nor is there any substantial evidence to show why Order 41 milk should be allocated to the lowest use classification when it is transferred to a fluid milk plant located inside the surplus milk manufacturing area. Historically the Chicago market has been an important source of supplementary supplies for many fluid milk markets. At the present time, such supplies are classified at the highest use classification on the grounds that the Chicago market should not furnish the needs of other markets at lower prices than are charged for milk going to the Chicago market itself. There was no contention that this policy is unreasonable. If the proposed rules were adopted, they not only would tend to decrease the prices received by Chicago milkshed producers, but also could disrupt other fluid milk markets which are within 300 miles of Chicago. For these reasons the proposed transfer rules should not be adopted.

The market administrator of Order 41 proposed that § 941.40 (c) be revised to clarify how far he should go to ascertain the ultimate classification of milk, skim milk, or cream transferred from a regulated plant to an unregulated manufacturing plant located within the surplus milk manufacturing area when such an unregulated plant normally utilizes receipts from regulated plants in manufactured products. The specific use of the regulated milk may be accounted for, or if the regulated receipts are commingled with other receipts at the plant, enough butterfat may be utilized in manufactured products to account for the receipts from regulated plants. However, at times unregulated plants do not use enough butterfat in manufacturing operations to account for the utilization of receipts from regulated plants because they find it more advantageous to dispose of milk, skim milk, or cream to another unregulated plant located within the surplus milk manufacturing area. As an auditing practice, the market administrator follows such milk, skim milk, or cream to the second plant to ascertain its classification for the purpose of arriving at the classification of all receipts at the first unregulated plant. The classification of receipts from the regulated plant is then established on the basis of the use in or disposition from the second unregulated plant. The revision adopted will specify that milk, skim milk or cream will not be followed beyond utilization at the latter plant.

11. Classification of milk used in powdered cream or powdered ice cream. Milk used in the production of powdered cream or powdered ice cream mix should be classified as Class III milk.

Under the present provisions of Order 41 "powdered cream" and "powdered ice cream mix" are Class II milk products. One handler proposed that Order 41 milk used in the production of these products in an unregulated plant located within the surplus milk manufacturing area be classified as Class III (a) milk. In support of this proposal, it was pointed out that powdered cream and powdered ice cream mix are manufactured in essentially the same manner and are similar in texture to whole milk powder which is classified as Class III (a) milk under Order 41. Powdered cream is used principally in coffee vending machines and candy manufacture. Powdered ice cream mix is sold primarily to the U. S. Army under contracts; some is sold for use on ships. Powdered cream and powdered ice cream mix are also available to consumers in some grocery stores. The markets where powdered cream and powdered ice cream mix are being sold do not require that they be made from Grade A milk nor that they be produced in a Grade A plant. The Chicago handler requesting the change in classification of these products is producing them in an unregulated and ungraded plant. His principal competitors operate similar plants in other areas.

Proponent also pointed out that the Order 41 Class II price is higher than the price paid farmers for ungraded milk at unregulated plants. Consequently, he contended that it is uneconomical to use surplus Order 41 milk in the production of powdered cream and powdered ice cream mix.

The classification of powdered cream and powdered ice cream mix were considered at public hearings on proposed amendments to Order 41 held January 14–17, 1951, and April 14–17, 1952. Following those hearings it was concluded that these products should be Class II milk products, mainly on the grounds that they could not be sold in the main segments of the marketing area if they were made from unapproved milk. Testimony in this record shows that powdered cream is being sold in the marketing area through vending machines and grocers. Powdered ice cream mix is also being sold by grocers in the marketing area. In view of the foregoing it is concluded that the order should be amended to classify milk which is used in the production of powdered cream and powdered ice cream mix in the same manner as other products for which Grade A milk is not required.

The proponent requested that these products be assigned to Class III (a). The record does not establish that such a special price, which at times may not be representative of the general level of competitive prices for milk for manufacturing purposes, should apply in this case. It is concluded that the Class III price, which is the higher of the condensery pay prices or the butter-powder formula price, would establish a more appropriate value for milk used in these products.

There does not appear to be any basis for granting the proposal to a lower classification to these products only when they are made in an unregulated plant. Therefore, the new classification will apply regardless of the type of plant where the product is made. However, if either product should be used in the manufacture of a Class II product such as ice cream, such utilization would be basis for reclassification to Class II milk, and the order as amended so provides.

12. Diversion of producer milk. It was proposed by a milk handlers' association with plants in the marketing area that the period for diversion under the definition of "producer" be extended to include August and September as well as December through July.

The definition of the term "producer" now provides that a farmer will retain his producer status if his milk is caused by the handler to be delivered during the months of December through July to a nonpool plant.

The witness testifying on this proposal stated that the handlers favoring such change, with one exception, have no manufacturing facilities, and that it is accordingly necessary for them to divert milk to nonpool plants during the season of high production. He pointed out that the problem of handling surplus milk would be eased for these handlers and others with limited or no manufacturing facilities if the diversion provision were extended for two additional months, August and September. The witness indicated this would eliminate the cumbersome procedure of first receiving the milk at the handler's plant and then reshipping it to a nonpool manufacturing plant. This procedure was followed to maintain producer status for the farmers involved.

Such modification of the diversion provision was effected for a period including part of August 1953 and ending with September 7, 1953 by a suspension order. No opposition was indicated on the record to the extension of the provision to include all of the months of December through the following September, nor was there any indication that the privilege of diversion had been abused. It is concluded that the proposal should be adopted.

13. Classification and Pricing of Inventory Variations and Shrinkage. No change need be made in the order provisions with respect to the classification or price of milk accounted for in inventory variations or in shrinkage.

A handler group proposed that milk utilization accounted for in inventory variations and allowable shrinkage be designated as Class V milk, and be charged to the handler at the lower of the Class III (a) or Class IV prices. Both of these items are now included in Class IV utilization. The change in the price applied to shrinkage was requested on the basis that shrinkage represents milk which provides no return to the handler and accordingly should be charged at the lowest price applicable to any class. Testimony with respect to inventory variations merely indicated such items should go along in the same class with shrinkage.

The order accounting with respect to inventories is designed merely to require handlers to pay producers a reasonable charge for milk or milk products held in inventory, with subsequent adjustment of the charge depending on the manner of final disposal of such products. This adjustment is accomplished without necessarily identifying the particular items which move out of inventory into other disposition. Over a period of months, very little change in total payments by handlers would result from the proposed change in inventory accounting. The present method of accounting for shrinkage as Class IV milk is designed to charge the handler a representative price for manufacturing milk for shrinkage up to the allowable 2 percent. The Class IV price is more generally representative of manufacturing operations under the order than the Class III (a) price and it is concluded that it should continue to apply in the case of allowable shrinkage. For the same reason it is appropriate that the Class IV price continue to apply to inventory variations.

14. Reconciliation. No change should be made in the method of reconciliation.

A handler group proposed that the reconciliation of total classification with receipts from producers be made at the higher of the Class III (a) or Class IV prices.

Reconciliation credit to handlers is now given at the lower of the Class III (a) or Class IV prices. In testimony for the proposal, it was contended that such a method was not consistent with the use of the higher of the manufacturing class prices for the basic formula price to which the Class I and Class II differentials are added. It was pointed out, however, that in the case of a handler with most of his manufacturing utilization in the lowest priced class, the proposed method could result in reducing the cost of such milk below the lowest priced class.

An alternate proposal by the same witness suggested a provision similar to the provision in the Milwaukee order with respect to reconciliation. Such a provision would give a handler reconciliation credit in the lowest priced class in the same proportion as the butterfat in such lowest price class bears to total butterfat in all classes.

The present system of reconciliation was established on the basis of considerations as to equity among handlers. It is not clear on the basis of record testimony that either of the alternate proposals would improve such equity among handlers.

It was indicated in connection with the proposal to adopt skim milk and butterfat accounting, that parties in the market would give further consideration to such a new method of accounting. Accordingly, it is concluded no change should be made in the reconciliation procedure at this time.

15. Outside market pricing. The order should not be amended to establish reduced prices during certain months for packaged Class I milk sold outside the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area.

A handlers' association proposed that reduced prices be established in certain months for packaged Class I milk sold outside the Chicago marketing area. Specifically, the proposal would establish a price for such milk which would, during each of the months of February through August, inclusive, be $0.15 per hundredweight less than the regular Class I price for the respective month. During the months of September through January, inclusive, this differential would not be applicable; in addition, the differential would not be applicable at any time that the supply-demand adjustment results in zero or a plus figure.

The proposal was supported by testimony to the effect that: (a) Outside market sales were built up, principally, during a period (1951–1953 inclusive) when milk was in short supply in the out-market areas, (b) such sales had increased the Class I usage of Order 41 producer milk and, consequently, had increased returns to Chicago producers substantially, and (c) milk is now in ample supply in the out-market areas, and because of the present unfavorable competitive position of Order 41 handlers in purchasing milk, such sales might be lost, thus reducing returns to Order 41 producers.

In other testimony it was pointed out that: (a) Order 41 handlers are in direct competition in nonregulated areas with handlers under other Federal orders as well as with local, unregulated distributors, (b) Chicago prices greatly influence the levels of farm prices negotiated between dairy farmers and distributors in the nonregulated marketing areas under consideration, and (c) Class I prices provided by the order should be established only at such a level as will bring forth an adequate, but not excessive, supply of milk for consumption in the Chicago marketing area, and if the prices established do bring forth a greater supply, the problem should be remedied by price adjustments on all Class I and Class II milk rather than by reducing prices on out-of-market sales alone. It was contended that adoption of the proposal would: (a) Give competitive advantage to Order 41 handlers over competing handlers regulated under other orders, which would necessitate reduced prices on outside sales made from other regulated markets, (b) weaken the bargaining position of dairy farmers supplying the unregulated outside markets and induce similar price reductions to such dairy farmers, and (c) cause the consumer in the Chicago marketing area to pay a higher farm price for milk than would be necessary otherwise, thus in effect subsidizing the farm price of milk to the out-of-market customer.

An amount of packaged Class I milk in excess of 17 million pounds is being sold outside the marketing area as defined in Order 41. The period of greatest increase within a given twelve-month period appears to have been the twelve months between June 1952 and June 1953 when such sales increased from 11.8 to 17.0 million pounds. Such increase in sales was made without price concession from the level of the Class I price applicable to sales in the Chicago marketing area. At the same time, some handlers making out-area sales returned to producers even more than the minimum price required by the Chicago order. This was effected by reducing hauling charges on farm to plant deliveries below the prevailing rate for the area from which the milk was drawn. It may be noted also from the record that distributors regulated under other Federal orders where Class I prices are as high, or higher, than in the Chicago market also compete in some of the out-area markets under consideration without price concession under the other orders.

Certain data on prices received by dairy farmers in a number of out-area markets were introduced by proponents. Such reported prices, which related to the September 1951–April 1954 period, are not (and were not represented as being) comparable to the Class I price in the Chicago order but rather are "flat" prices paid to the dairy farmer supplying the local market for all milk delivered. As such they compare to the blended, or uniform, price computed under the Chicago order and therefore do not provide an accurate measure of comparison between prices paid for milk for fluid use in Chicago and in the out-area markets. In addition, a number of errors in such data is indicated in the record which places their usefulness in further doubt as a measure of price comparison. In any case it may not be concluded from the data presented that Chicago handlers are being disadvantaged in competition with local handlers. It appears that in the period when the greatest advance in out-area sales by Chicago handlers took place, the prices paid farmers by out-area distributors averaged lower than the Class I price in Chicago by substantially more than the price reduction of 15 cents per hundredweight proposed. For example, on acceptance of the figures presented, the amounts by which average pay prices for the February–August (the months for which price concession is requested) period in 1953 in the out-area markets for which price data were offered were disclosed to be below the Class I price (55–70 milk zone) for Chicago as follows:

	Cents
Champaign	21.9
Bloomington	12.4
Danville	16.9
Dixon	30.2
Logansport	21.7

Principal reasons offered by proponents for the proposed price reduction are that it would (a) prevent potential loss of returns to Chicago producers, and (b) encourage orderly marketing. It was contended by proponents that the continued sale of milk in fluid form in outside markets, even at reduced prices, would help to maintain producer returns and mitigate the seasonal problem of surplus since without such sales the milk involved would have to be disposed of in manufacturing uses at the Class III or Class IV price.

The record indicates that the Chicago order price level has an undeniable influence on the prices paid by local handlers in outside markets. In many instances it is a dominant factor in price negotiations between dairy farmers and distributors in the particular market. The record indicates also that the outside markets are longer in supply than in previous years. Thus, it might be expected that the price reduction proposed would result in increased pressure on prevailing prices to dairy farmers in out-of-area markets either by direct influence on price negotiation or indirectly through the displacement of fluid milk sales by local distributors with increased sales by Chicago handlers. To the extent that Chicago milk might replace local supplies in outside markets for fluid milk uses, no net gain in the matter of surplus disposal would result since the surplus disposal problem would merely be shifted to the local distributors and dairy farmers in the outside market. The maintenance of returns and orderly marketing for Chicago producers at the expense of other dairy farmers and the local distributors has little to recommend it when direct measures taken under the order to accomplish these objectives are possible. A similar objection to the proposed method of pricing was voiced in the hearing by representatives of Chicago producers. In this connection, it should be further noted that since, in the long run, any price concession to Order 41 handlers undoubtedly would force comparable price concessions to competitive handlers, there would be no comparative gain to Order 41 handlers and a loss to all producers involved might well result.

It is concluded that the proposal submitted should not be adopted.

16. Administrative provisions. (a) The Class I price should be rounded to the nearest full cent.

At present class prices are rounded to the nearest $\frac{1}{10}$ of a cent. The elimination of the fraction of a cent would not materially affect handlers' costs or producers' returns since over a period of time the amounts by which the prices are rounded upward should equal the amounts rounded downward. It would be more convenient for the industry to have prices announced in even dollars and cents. It would simplify somewhat the preparation of handlers' receipts and utilization reports and the computation of the market-wide pool.

(b) The order should be amended so that all its provisions apply to a handler whose only sources of supply are receipts from own production and from other handlers. At the present time, such a handler is required only to make reports to the market administrator upon request. When such a handler experiences overrun, he is not required to make a payment for it to the producer-settlement fund. On the other hand, any handler whose source of receipts is another handler is required to comply with all provisions of the order, including payment for overrun. The fact that a handler has his own farm production should not be a basis for such difference in treatment of handlers. The proposed change would leave only those handlers who receive all their milk supplies from own farm production as exempt from all provisions of Order 41, except the reporting provisions. There is no need to price milk of such handlers.

(c) The producer-settlement fund reserve should be increased by 2 cents per hundredweight of milk. Since its inception, Order 41 has provided that a producer-settlement fund "reserve" of between 4 cents and 5 cents per hundredweight of milk be set aside each month in making pool computations. Many handlers' obligations to the producer-settlement fund following the announcement of the uniform price are not received by the market administrator prior to the time payments from the fund are due other handlers. The reserve is designed primarily to enable the market administrator to make such payments before all monies due the fund are in hand. In addition, audit adjustment credits due handlers from the producer-settlement fund reserve are facilitated At times, the reserve has not been sufficient to enable the market administrator to meet all of the producer-settlement fund obligations on time. A reserve of between 6¢ and 7¢ per hundredweight of milk should be adequate to enable the fund to meet all of these obligations.

(d) Paragraph (d) of § 941.51 should be eliminated since the provision is now obsolete.

In § 941.52 (d), subparagraph (4) is now obsolete and should be deleted.

A change in language should be made in § 941.67 (l) (i) that will clarify its meaning but will in no way change its substance. The words "concentrated milk, condensed skim milk" should be inserted after the words "skim milk" in that subdivision.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of producers and handlers. The briefs contained proposed findings and conclusions, and arguments with respect to the provisions of the proposed amendment. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this recommended decision.

Recommended marketing agreement and amendments to the order. The following amendments to the order, as amended, are recommended as the detained and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended.

[Docket No. AO-256]

HANDLING OF MILK IN THE AUSTIN-WACO, TEXAS, MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended governing formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of milk in the Austin-Waco, Texas, marketing area.

Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 15th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. A public hearing on the record of which the proposed marketing agreement and order were formulated was called by the Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, following receipt of a petition filed by the Central Texas Milk Producers Association. A hearing was held at Austin, Texas, May 31–June 4, 1954 pursuant to notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 15, 1954 (19 F. R. 2824), and the period until July 16, 1954 was reserved to interested parties for filing of briefs on the record. The material issues of record related to:

1. Whether the handling of milk in the market is in the current of interstate commerce or directly burdens, obstructs or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products;

2. Whether marketing conditions justify the issuance of a marketing agreement or order; and

3. If an order is issued what its provisions should be with respect to:

(a) The scope of regulation;
(b) The classification of milk;
(c) The level and method of determining class prices;
(d) The method to be used in distributing proceeds to producers; and
(e) Administrative provisions.

Findings and conclusions. Upon the evidence adduced at the hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found and concluded that:

1. Character of commerce. The handling of milk in the Austin-Waco marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce and directly burdens, obstructs and affects interstate commerce in the handling of milk and its products.

Substantial quantities of milk produced in states other than Texas are imported to supply the needs of handlers in the Austin-Waco area. Such imports are presently required only in the fall months of seasonally low production of milk in the area. During the months of September through December 1953, more than one-half million pounds of milk were imported from Wisconsin and Iowa sources by one Waco handler. Smaller quantities of milk from Missouri sources were also received during this period by Austin handlers. In addition to imports of fluid whole milk, concentrated milk products such as condensed skim milk and nonfat dry milk solids are imported from out of state sources and used for the reconstitution and fortification of fluid milk products. Substantial volumes of milk are sold in the Austin-Waco area by handlers subject to the North Texas milk marketing order. These handlers receive milk from producers whose farms are located in Missouri, Arkansas, and Oklahoma. Such milk is sold in competition with that of handlers with plants located in the Austin-Waco area.

2. The need for regulation. Marketing conditions in central Texas require the issuance of an order to promote orderly marketing, to provide uniformity in returns to producers and in prices paid by handlers for milk purchased from producers in accordance with its use, and to advance the interests of producers.

Producers in this area have no effective participation in many of the decisions which affect the marketing of their milk. Handlers buy milk on a "base-surplus" system whereby they determine the conditions under which producers establish bases. The handlers determine the prices which will be paid for base and surplus milk and the volume of milk to be paid for at base prices and at surplus prices. Producers have no way of knowing the relationship between a handler's purchases of base milk and his fluid sales. In at least one case, producers were paid surplus prices for some of their milk at the same time that the handler making such payment was importing milk to supply his fluid sales.

Producers have been unsuccessful in their attempts to establish a bargaining relationship with handlers for the sale of their milk. A cooperative association representing a substantial percentage of the producers supplying the area has not been able to provide marketing services, such as checking of tests and weights of milk for its members, because handlers have not agreed to arrangements whereby such services could be performed. Neither have handlers recognized the association's contracts for collection of membership dues. Handlers have failed or refused to enter into any bargaining arrangements with the association concerning prices for milk or the conditions under which it is marketed.

Some of the local plants have been unable or have failed to secure sufficient milk from producers to supply their fluid milk requirements. Milk to supply the remainder of their requirements is imported from outside sources. Such imports for the short production season use are normally from points outside of Texas. One local plant has not developed a supply of purely local milk adequate for its needs at any season of the year. Milk has been regularly received from the Houston milkshed for a considerable period of time. The record indicates that this supply of milk has been available to this plant at prices considerably lower than Houston handlers would have had to pay for milk for sale in Houston and also at less than the producer price level at Austin. Such milk is currently surplus to Houston needs. Marketing arrangements in Houston are apparently effective in preventing its use for fluid distribution in that market at less than the established Houston price, but allow it to be disposed of in Austin at less than either the Houston or the Austin price. For a period one Austin handler supplied a local competitor with milk for fluid use at a price more than $1.50 per hundredweight less than the base price he paid producers for the milk he himself sold in fluid form. Such action was explained on the basis that the second handler could purchase Houston surplus milk at the lower price and that use of the milk in manufactured dairy products by the selling handler would bring an even lower return than that actually received.

Handlers purchasing milk from local producers at the local base prices cannot compete effectively for sales at State institutions, Federal military bases and the like when surplus milk from other markets is allowed to be used to supply such outlets. The availability of surplus milk, whether from the local market or neighboring markets, for fluid use at less than the full fluid milk price, creates a situation in which the fluid price will, in time, approach the manufacturing milk price. Under such conditions, an adequate supply of milk of the quality required for fluid use in the market cannot be maintained.

The issuance of an order in this market is required in order to establish uniform prices to handlers for milk received from producers in accordance with the use made of such milk and thus provide stability to the marketing system. The public procedures incident to order administration will provide producers an opportunity to have a voice in the marketing of their milk. Through an order, producers will be provided with marketing services either by the market administrator or their cooperative associations, and will receive market information which the hearing record indicates is presently needed not only by producers but also by all interests in the market. It is concluded that issuance of an order for this market will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act.

3 (a) Scope of regulation. It is necessary to designate clearly what milk and what persons would be subject to the various provisions of the order. This can best be done by providing definitions which set forth the categories of persons, plants and milk products for purposes of classification and of application of other provisions of the order.

Marketing area. The marketing area should be defined to include the Counties of Travis, Hays, Caldwell, Bastrop, Lampasas, Burnet, Williamson, Bell, Falls, McLennan, Coryell, Comal, and Guadalupe, all in the State of Texas, including all municipal corporations and Federal reservations, facilities and bases partially or wholly within the boundaries of such counties.

The largest centers of urban population in this area are the Cities of Austin in Travis County with a population of more than 130,000 people, Waco in McLennan County with a population of approximately 85,000 people, and Temple in Bell County with more than 25,000 people. The Cities of Taylor (Williamson County), San Marcos (Hays County), Seguin (Guadalupe County) and New Braunfels (Comal County) are cities of approximately 10,000 to 12,000 population each. Fort Hood military reservation in Coryell County and Bergstrom Field in Travis County form substantial markets for milk. The Cities of Belton and Killeen (Bell County) Marlin (Falls County) Lampasas (Lampasas County) and Lockhart and Luling (Caldwell County) range in population from approximately 5,000 to 7,500 people.

Austin handlers sell throughout the proposed area with the exception of the northern counties of Falls and McLennan. In Bell and Coryell Counties they compete for sales with the principal handler whose plant is located at Waco and with handlers with plants located at Temple and Belton. Waco handlers are the principal distributors of milk in McLennan and Falls Counties. Handlers with plants in New Braunfels and Seguin compete with Austin handlers for sales in Hays, Comal and Guadalupe Counties and sell some milk in Austin. There is thus a community of competition for milk sales by handlers within all the counties to be defined as the marketing area.

Handlers regulated by the order for the North Texas marketing area also distribute milk throughout much of this area. One such handler formerly operated a processing plant in Austin and has maintained his distribution facilities even though he has ceased processing there. This handler has additional distribution facilities at Waco and at Temple. Two other North Texas handlers have storage and distribution facilities at Waco. At least one handler regulated by the order for the San Antonio marketing area sells some milk in the southern portion of the defined area.

Milk ordinances of the principal cities and health regulations of the State of Texas relating to milk are all based on the standard milk ordinance of the United States Public Health Service. While milk which is not Grade A milk may be sold in unincorporated areas, as a practical matter there is little if any such milk sold.

It is not administratively feasible nor is it necessary to include within the marketing area all territory within which handlers to be regulated may be distributing any milk. Within the area defined handlers with local plants distribute the preponderance of the milk. The remainder is distributed almost exclusively by North Texas and San Antonio handlers who will remain subject to the regulation of the respective orders in effect for their marketing areas. While there is minor distribution from a Houston plant at one point in Caldwell County, it appears that the operator of this plant expects to serve these sales from his Austin plant if an order becomes effective.

Proposals to include some ten additional counties in the marketing area are denied. The Counties of Limestone, Freestone, Hill, Bosque and Hamilton are situated between the area defined and the North Texas marketing area. These counties should not be included in the marketing area because milk sales are made exclusively by Waco and North Texas distributors and hence no useful purpose would be served by the inclusion of these counties in the defined area at this time. Llano, Mills and Gonzales Counties should not be included because it does not appear that any substantial proportion of the sales of Austin-Waco handlers are in these areas. The record contains conflicting testimony concerning the proportion of sales in Milam County by handlers to be regulated and by a handler with plants in Bryan and Houston and does not support the conclusion that this county need be included in the defined area at this time. To do so might bring under regulation a considerable volume of milk for which the primary market is elsewhere, and for which prices have been historically higher than in the proposed marketing area.

Definition of plants. Milk sold for fluid consumption in the marketing area must meet the Grade A inspection requirements of the various city and county health authorities. These authorities issue permits to dairy farmers and to milk plants supplying Grade A milk to consumers. The local health ordinances and regulations of the State of Texas are based on the United States Public Health Ordinance and Code. Fluid milk may be imported for fluid consumption in the principal cities of the marketing area, provided that such milk meets the standards of the United States Public Health Ordinance and originates from a market with a United States Public Health Service rating equal to or higher than that which prevails in the importing area.

In order to qualify under the definitions of the order, any dairy farmer or any milk plant should have the approval of an appropriate health authority for the production or disposition of milk for consumption as Grade A fluid milk. Since approval to produce or distribute milk in the proposed marketing area may be extended to farmers or plants under the inspection of other health authorities no requirement should be made that a dairy farm or a milk plant must hold a permit actually issued by a health authority in the marketing area.

The record shows that milk plants supplying the Austin-Waco marketing area fall into two broad categories. These are "distributing plants", which package Grade A fluid products such as milk, milk drinks and cream distributed to consumers, stores, restaurants, and government institutions and "supply plants" from which distributing plants draw supplemental supplies. Since these two classes of plants engage in different types of operations, separate standards should be provided in order to distinguish which plants in each category will be subject to regulation.

The record discloses that the distributing plants which are located in the Austin-Waco marketing area are primarily fluid milk operations. The major portion of the milk received at such plants is distributed in fluid form to outlets located in the proposed marketing area. All plants which fall in this category should be fully regulated under the order. There are also substantial quantities of milk distributed in the marketing area from plants located outside the marketing area, as previously stated. Four of such plants are located in the North Texas and the San Antonio marketing areas. The milk received at these plants is subject to the pricing and payment provisions of the respective orders for these markets. It is not necessary therefore, to extend full regulation under this order to the plants which dispose of a major portion of their receipts in another regulated area and are subject to such regulation. To do so would subject such plants to duplicate regulation.

There are also minor quantities of milk distributed in the proposed marketing area by other plants located outside the marketing area. It is concluded that it would be inappropriate to extend regulation to plants from which only minor quantities of milk are distributed in the marketing area. Such plants are selling primarily in competition with unregulated handlers outside the marketing area. So long as the limits as to the sales such a plant may make in the marketing area are kept low, the volume of unpriced milk in the market would not, under present circumstances, present an unstabilizing factor in the market.

It is concluded that this limit should be placed at five percent of the "Grade A" milk received at such plant from all sources or an average of 500 pounds of Class I milk a day, whichever is less. Any plant from which a volume of Class I milk greater than these prescribed quantities is disposed of in the marketing area should be designated as a distributing plant and be fully subject to regulation.

Any plant from which Class I milk is disposed of in the marketing area but which does not meet the standards for a distributing plant should be defined as an "approved plant" and be required to file reports and submit to audit by the market administrator to verify the status of such plants.

There are a few bulk supply plants or receiving stations located in or near the Austin-Waco marketing area which ship supplemental milk to distributing plants. One plant located in the marketing area is equipped to assemble milk but was not being used for this purpose at the time of the hearing. Another plant has made more or less regular shipments of milk to a distributing plant which would be regulated pursuant to the order. In months of lowest production, these shipments absorb a substantial proportion of the milk received at such plant from dairy farmers. Full regulation should extend to a plant in this category. Another receiving station located in the same general area and operated by the same handler at times serves as a source of supply for this same distributing plant.

Other distributing plants purchase supplemental supplies of milk during the short production season from more distant sources. A plant which is not primarily associated with the market and which furnishes only incidental shipments of milk to the market or supplies limited quantities of milk only during the short production season need not be fully regulated. It is necessary, therefore, to provide supply plant standards in order to extend full regulation to those plants which are closely associated with the market and exclude those plants which furnish only incidental or seasonal supplemental supplies.

These objectives will be accomplished by defining a "supply plant" as any plant which is approved to furnish "Grade A" milk and milk is moved from such plant to a distributing plant (a) for the months of February through July, on four or more days during the month or in an amount equal to an average of 3,300 pounds or more per day; and (b) for the period of August through January, (1) on 10 or more days during the month or in an amount equal to an average of 8,300 pounds or more per day or (2) on four or more days during the month or in an amount equal to an average 3,300 pounds or more per day and such plant was a supply plant pursuant to (a) during any month of the immediately preceding period of February through July.

Shipments of milk from plants not subject to full regulation would be considered as other source milk. However, any plant which ships Grade A milk or skim milk to a distributing plant should be defined as an "approved plant" and required to submit reports to the market administrator. These reports should be subject to verification by the market administrator in order to establish the appropriate status of the plant.

A "fluid milk plant" is defined to mean any distributing plant and any supply plant in order to distinguish between plants which are subject to full regulation and other approved plants which are subject to only the reporting and verification provisions of the order.

Handler. Handler should be defined as the operator of any plant from which milk is supplied directly or through another plant to the marketing area. The handler is the person to whom the provisions of the regulation are applicable. He is the person who receives the milk and who is responsible for reporting receipts and utilization of milk. If the milk is priced, he is responsible for paying producers minimum prices. In case a person operates more than one plant at which milk is to be priced, he is to be a handler with respect to the combined operations of such plants. In case a handler operates unregulated plants this definition is not intended to include such person in his capacity as an operator of such plants. The handler definition should include the operators of approved plants which do not qualify as a fluid milk plant and producer-handlers in order to require such persons to report to the market administrator as may be needed to determine their status.

Producer. Producer should be defined as any person, other than a producer-handler, who produces milk in compliance with "Grade A" inspection requirements of a duly constituted health authority and such milk is received at a fluid milk plant. Provision should be made that the milk of producers regularly received at a fluid milk plant may be diverted for the account of a handler to a non-fluid milk plant during limited periods without such producers losing their status as producers under the order. Diverted milk shall be deemed to have been received at the plant from which it was diverted.

Route. The definition of a route is included in the order to clarify other definitions and to facilitate a provision for the custom bottling of milk. The term route means the delivery (including disposition of milk by a vendor or sale at a plant store) of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, cream or flavored milk drinks other than (1) in bulk to a milk processing plant or (2) deliveries in consumer packages from a milk processing plant to a distributing plant in a volume not in excess of the volume of producer milk transferred to such distributing plant and classified as Class I milk. This is necessary because it may be advantageous to both producers and handlers to provide a privilege of custom bottling under the proposed order. It is necessary to limit the transfer of milk for custom bottling to producer milk classified as Class I milk in order that unpriced milk will not displace Class I sales of producer milk in the marketing area.

"Producer milk" should include all skim milk and butterfat contained in milk produced by producers and received at the fluid milk plant directly from producers or diverted by a handler from such plant. All provisions concerning the classification of producer milk should apply also to the milk received from handlers' own herds. This is necessary to obtain an equitable allocation between the handlers production and the production of producers.

Producer-handler. Persons who are engaged in the production of milk and distribute only milk of their own herd should be subject to the order only to the extent that they must submit reports to the market administrator as required and maintain and make available to the market administrator accounts, records and facilities so that he may verify that such persons are producer-handlers. It would serve no purpose to require that a producer-handler pay any particular price for milk produced on his own farm. Since producer-handlers dispose of most of their milk directly to consumers for fluid use, they could not, in any event, be required to pool their milk with other producers under a handler pool.

The classification provisions of the proposed order should provide that any milk, skim milk or cream transferred by a handler to a producer-handler will be Class I milk. Any supplemental milk which a producer-handler obtains from other handlers must, by virtue of the nature of the operation involved, be presumed to be needed for fluid use and should be classified in the supplying handler's plant as Class I milk. A producer-handler may receive milk from other handlers and still maintain his status as a producer-handler. Any milk which a handler receives from a producer-handler should be considered as other source milk and allocated to the lowest class utilization at the fluid milk plant of a handler after the allocation of shrinkage on producer milk. Milk disposed of to another handler by a producer-handler must be presumed to be surplus to the operation of the producer-handler.

Other source milk. Other source milk should be defined as all skim milk and butterfat contained in milk and milk products utilized by the handler in his operations except milk received from producers and Class I products received from other fluid milk plants. Thus, other source milk would represent skim milk and butterfat which may not be subject to the pricing provisions of this order. It will include, all fluid milk and fluid milk products from plants other than fluid milk plants and all manufactured dairy products from any source which are reprocessed or converted into another product during the month. It will include those manufactured products from a plant's own production which are made in one month and are reprocessed or converted into another product during a later month.

(b). Classification of milk. Milk and milk products received by handlers should be classified on the basis of skim milk and butterfat according to the form in which, or the purpose for which, such skim milk and butterfat was used or disposed of as either Class I milk or Class II milk.

Under an order, only producer milk is priced. Milk is received, however, at fluid milk plants directly from producers, from other handlers and from other sources. Milk from all of these sources is intermingled in handlers' plants. It is necessary, therefore, to classify all receipts of milk to afford a means to establish the classification of producer milk and apply the classified price plan.

Skim milk and butterfat are not used in most products in the same proportions as contained in the milk received from producers and, therefore, should be classified separately according to their separate uses.

Products which should be included in Class I milk are those required by the health regulations to be obtained from milk or milk products from approved "Grade A" sources. The extra cost of getting approved milk produced and delivered to the market in the quantities required make it necessary to provide a price for milk used in "Grade A" Class I products somewhat above the ungraded or manufacturing milk price. This higher return for Class I milk is necessary to yield a blend price to producers that will encourage production of enough milk to meet market needs.

Excess milk not needed seasonally or at other times for Class I use must be disposed of for manufactured products. These products are not required to be made from approved milk and must be sold or used in other products sold in competition with products made from unapproved milk. Milk so used should be classified as Class II milk to provide a system of pricing in accordance with its value in such uses.

Handlers should be responsible for full accounting of all their receipts of skim milk and butterfat in any form. A handler who first receives milk from producers should be responsible to the market administrator to establish the classification of and make payment to producers for such milk. All skim milk and butterfat which is received and for which the handler cannot establish utilization should be classified as Class I milk except for allowable shrinkage in Class II milk. This provision is necessary to remove any advantage to handlers who fail to keep complete and accurate records and to assure that producers receive full value for their milk on the basis of its use. It is necessary to place the burden of proof on the handler to establish the utilization of any milk as other than Class I milk.

In accordance with the above stated standards, Class I milk should be defined so as to include all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat disposed of in fluid form as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cream (sweet or sour), any mixture of cream and milk or skim milk and skim milk and butterfat not accounted for as Class II milk.

All products which are to be included in Class I milk are required by the health authorities to be made from "Grade A" milk. Class I products which contain concentrated skim milk, such as skim milk drinks to which extra solids have been added and are disposed of in fluid form, should be included under this definition. The solids for such use must be derived from "Grade A" milk.

All skim milk and butterfat used to produce products other than those classified as Class I milk should be Class II milk. Included as Class II milk are products such as frozen storage cream, aerated cream products, ice cream, ice cream mix and other frozen desserts and mixes; eggnog, yogurt, condensed and evaporated milk, and fluid milk products in hermetically sealed containers; butter, cheese (including cottage cheese); nonfat dry milk solids, dry whole milk, condensed or dry buttermilk; and, other nonfluid milk products. It is not required by the health ordinances that those products be made from locally approved milk.

The skim milk and butterfat content of milk products received and disposed of by a handler can be determined through recognized testing procedures. Some of these products, such as ice cream and condensed products present a problem of testing in that some of the water contained in the milk has been removed. It is necessary in the case of such products, to provide an acceptable means of ascertaining the amount of skim milk and butterfat contained in or used to produce these products. This may be accomplished through the use of adequate production records, made available to the market administrator, or by means of standards and conversion factors of skim milk and butterfat used to produce such products. The accounting procedure to be used in the case of any condensed skim milk products should be based on the pounds of milk or skim milk required to produce such products.

Butterfat and skim milk used to produce Class II milk products will be considered to be disposed of when so used. Handlers will need to maintain stock records on such products to permit audit of their utilization records by the market administrator and for accounting for such products which may be re-used by the handler at a later date. Class II products from any source used in the production of products included in Class I milk should be considered to be a receipt of other source milk. This will maintain priority of assignment of current receipts of producer milk to Class I utilization.

Cream which is placed in storage and frozen should be classified as Class II milk since such cream is intended primarily for use in ice cream and ice cream mixes. Ungraded cream may be used for such uses. Frozen cream which may be later used in a fluid milk plant would be considered as other source milk at the time of such use and assigned to the lowest price utilization in the plant. Any skim milk which is disposed of and used for livestock (including poultry) feed should be classified as Class II milk.

Shrinkage should be determined by subtracting from the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat received by the handler, his total established utilization of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in various products. If his total receipts include both producer and other source milk, the total shrinkage should be prorated, between producer and other source milk on the basis of the pounds received from each source. None of the shrinkage should be assigned to milk received from other fluid milk plants because shrinkage on such milk will be allowed to the transferring handler.

A fluid milk plant which is operated in a reasonably efficient manner and for which complete and accurate records of receipts and utilization are maintained should have total shrinkage of less than 2 percent of total receipts. It is concluded, therefore, that actual shrinkage which is not more than 2 percent of total receipts of producer milk and other source milk should be classified as Class II milk and any shrinkage in excess of this quantity should be classified as Class I milk.

It is possible, however, that during periods of flush production, handlers may have small quantities of skim milk which cannot be readily disposed of in a product and the quantity of milk involved is not sufficient to justify the movement of such milk to a plant which can process it. The butterfat of such milk can be recovered but the skim milk may, at times, have to be dumped. Because the plants in the marketing area are widely scattered, a provision for dumped milk is not administratively feasible. Unless some provision is made, any dumped skim milk would be considered as shrinkage or unaccounted for milk. To the extent it exceeds 2 percent of receipts it would be classified as Class I milk. It is concluded, therefore, that a maximum shrinkage allowance on skim milk in Class II milk of 5 percent should be allowed during the months of April, May and June.

Handlers have inventories of milk and milk products at the beginning and end of each month which enter into the accounting for current receipts and utilization. Inventory is intended to include stocks on hand of bulk milk, skim milk and cream and bottled milk and other fluid milk products designated as Class I milk. Manufactured products (Class II) on hand are not included in the inventory account because the milk used to produce such products will already have been accounted for as Class II milk. As previously indicated, handlers will need to keep stock records of such products but they will not be included in inventory for the purpose of accounting for current receipts.

It is concluded that inventory should be accounted for as Class II milk. If fluid milk products in inventory are accounted for as Class II milk at the end of a month, it will be necessary to provide a method to deal with producer milk inventory which is used in the current month for Class I purposes but which the handler accounted for to producers as Class II milk at the end of the previous month. In plants which engage primarily in a fluid milk business, it is quite possible that a decrease in inventory, in any given month, may exceed their total utilization of milk in Class II. Handlers, at times, also use other source milk in their operations. Producer milk from inventory should have prior claim on Class I sales over current receipts of other source milk. This can be accomplished by considering the ending inventory in one month as a receipt in the following month and by subtracting such receipt (under the allocation procedure) in series starting with Class II milk following the subtraction of other source milk. To the extent that opening inventory is allocated to Class I milk and there was an equivalent amount of producer milk classified in Class II milk in the previous month (after the allocation of other source milk), such milk should be reclassified at a rate equal to the difference between the Class I price in the current month and the Class II price in the preceding month. This reclassification value will be added in the computation of the handlers obligation to producers for current receipts of producer milk. This method of inventory accounting will promote equality in the cost of milk among handlers and returns to producers irrespective as to whether or not such producer milk is from the previous month's ending inventory or is a current receipt.

Transfers. Classification of butterfat and skim milk used in the production of Class II items should be considered to have been established when the product is made. Classification of Class I milk should be established when the butterfat or skim milk is disposed of. However, since some of the Class I items may be disposed of to other plants for Class II use, classification of any product so transferred to another plant should be determined according to its utilization in a plant to which transferred.

Milk, skim milk or cream or other products designated as Class I milk transferred by a handler to the fluid milk plant of another handler, except that of a producer-handler, should be classified as Class I milk unless both handlers indicate in their reports to the market administrator that they desire such milk to be classified as Class II milk. However, sufficient Class II utilization must be available at a transferee plant for such assignment after prior allocation of shrinkage and other source milk, as described below. On the other hand, if the transferring handler had other source milk during the month, the assignment of products transferred to another plant to the Class I utilization of such plant should be limited so that other source milk in the transferring handler's plant will not be allocated to Class I milk while at the same time producer milk is allocated to Class II milk in the transferee handler's plant.

Milk, skim milk and cream disposed of to a nonfluid milk plant including milk which is diverted (sent directly to the nonfluid milk plant from the producer's farm) should be classified as Class I milk unless the nonfluid milk plant meets certain conditions. Such plant should be located not more than 400 miles from the transferring plant. This distance should be adequate to dispose of reserve milk for Class II uses. Milk moving greater distances is normally for Class I usage. It is not administratively feasible to check the utilization of milk at greater distances. In order for diverted or transferred milk to be classified as Class II milk, the receiving nonfluid milk plant must have no Class I milk in excess of that which may be assigned to receipts of milk from dairy farmers directly supplying such plant. The operator of such nonfluid milk plant must make his books and records available to the market administrator for the purpose of verifying the receipt and utilization of milk in such nonfluid milk plant. In case more than one fluid milk plant transfers milk to the same nonfluid milk plant, and only a portion of this milk is assigned to Class I milk, such Class I usage should be prorated between the transferring plants in accordance with the total receipts from such plants during the month. Provision for verification by the market administrator is reasonable and necessary to assure that producer milk will be paid for in accordance with its utilization. As mentioned heretofore, Class I milk transferred to a producer-handler should not be subject to reclassification.

Allocation. In view of the fact that the order class prices apply only to producer milk, it is necessary, if a plant has butterfat or skim milk other than that received in producer milk, to determine the quantities of milk in each class to be assigned to current receipts from producers. The milk producers who are primarily engaged in supplying the market should be assigned the Class I utilization first. This is necessary to insure the stability of the classified pricing program of the order. If the order permitted handlers to obtain other source milk whenever it was advantageous to do so for Class I use while producer milk in the plant was utilized in Class II, the order could not be effective in carrying out the purposes of the act in that the market would be deprived of a dependable supply of milk. The system of assigning utilization of milk to receipts from different sources which will carry out this objective is set forth in § 952.46 of the order.

Under this procedure, the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, remaining in each class is assigned to producer milk by making the following deductions from the gross utilization of each handler starting with Class II milk, except as otherwise noted:

(1) Class II shrinkage of producer milk;

(2) Custom bottled milk (from Class I milk);

(3) Other source milk;

(4) Beginning inventory;

(5) Receipts from other handlers according to classification); and

(6) Overage.

Since uniform prices paid producers by each handler are to be calculated monthly, the assignment of utilization described above should be carried out with respect to all milk received during each month. To apply a shorter accounting period, would place an accounting and reporting burden upon handlers and increase the cost of administering the order.

5. Class prices. Class I prices should be established at a level which, in conjunction with Class II prices hereinafter concluded to be appropriate, will result in returns to producers high enough to maintain an adequate but not excessive supply of quality milk to meet the requirements of the marketing area.

The maintenance of stable conditions in the market requires that the Class I price be adjusted whenever the supply of milk is out of line in relation to sales of fluid milk. If prices remain too low, insufficient milk will be produced to assure that the Class I market will be fully supplied. On the other hand, if prices are too high, production will be over stimulated and consumption curtailed with the result that more milk will be produced than is needed to satisfy the demand for Class I milk and unnecessary and uneconomic surpluses of "Grade A" milk will develop. Class I prices in the Austin-Waco marketing area should not, in any case, be set at levels which will bring the cost of such milk above the cost of regular dependable supplies of quality milk from other sources.

Because of changing supply and demand conditions for milk both in the local market and throughout the country, it is necessary in order to maintain an appropriate balance between local supplies and sales to provide a method of fixing Class I prices which will reflect such changing conditions. Pricing formulas which cause prices to change automatically with changes in market conditions are in general use for the pricing of milk to farmers in Federally regulated markets.

It was proposed that the Class I price be established at 25 cents over the North Texas (Order No. 43) Class I price. The record shows that substantial quantities of milk are disposed of on retail and wholesale outlets in the northern and central portion of the Austin-Waco marketing area by plants located in the North Texas marketing area. Such milk is priced to producers under the North Texas order. It is necessary, therefore, that the level of Class I prices in the proposed marketing area be established at an appropriate relationship with the Class I price under the North Texas order and that price changes under the two orders be closely correlated. If this is not done, handlers located in one regulated area will have a competitive advantage in the procurement of raw milk as compared with handlers in the other area.

Class I prices under the North Texas order are determined by adding a Class I differential of $2.00 during the months of April, May and June and $2.20 in other months, to a basic formula (manufacturing milk) price. This system of pricing provides a method for maintaining fluid milk prices in alignment with manufacturing milk prices. This in turn, provides changes in the Class I price in accordance with changes in general supply and demand conditions in the dairy industry. The North Texas Class I price is also adjusted to reflect more local supply and demand situations by changing the Class I price in accordance with the relationship of market receipts of producer milk to Class I sales. It is concluded, therefore, that the use of the North Texas Class I price as a basis for establishing the Class I price in the proposed marketing area will conform with the criteria of providing flexible Class I prices in this area and will adjust such prices in accordance with changing supply and demand conditions.

Considerable testimony was presented at the hearing by North Texas handlers to support different levels of Class I prices in 3 zones of the proposed marketing area with a differential of 20 cents in the Waco area, 40 cents in the Austin area and 50 cents in the southernmost counties. Producers at the hearing supported the same level of prices for the Austin-Waco portion of the marketing area on the basis that production conditions in the two areas are very similar and a different level of prices would cause undue shifting of producers and result in an even greater shortage of milk in the deficit Waco market.

The record shows that handlers located in the southern portion of the marketing area (Guadalupe and Comal Counties) dispose of a substantial proportion of their receipts in these counties. The principal competition for the procurement of milk by handlers located in this area is from handlers of the San Antonio market. Comal and Guadalupe Counties are situated adjacent to Bexar County which comprises the San Antonio marketing area. Class I prices under the San Antonio order are established at a level of 50 cents above the North Texas Class I price.

It is concluded that the minimum Class I price which applies to milk received at a fluid milk plant located in Zone I should not be less than the North Texas price plus 45 cents per hundredweight. Zone I is defined to include all territory south of the northern boundaries of Guadalupe and Comal and a number of counties immediately to the west and south of U. S. Road No. 90 to the east as far as the Colorado River and thence south. The differential applying at plants located in and adjacent to the remainder of the marketing area should be the North Texas Class I price plus 20 cents. These differentials would provide a Class I price at plants located in Guadalupe and Comal Counties at a proper relationship to the San Antonio price. The two principal handlers located in Comal and Guadalupe Counties were until the beginning of this year regulated under the San Antonio order and therefore were required to pay producers the Class I price established under that order. The record indicates that a differential of more than 20 cents over the North Texas price for plants located in the marketing area outside of Zone I would create a competitive problem in the northern portion of the marketing area.

In the proposed order, the stated Class I price will be determined for Zone I. The Class I price applying to the remainder of the marketing area as well as for plants located outside of Zone I will be determined on the basis of location with respect to Zone I. This is accomplished through a schedule of location adjustments discussed later herein. These location adjustments approximate the cost of moving milk from the North Texas market and from more distant northern supply areas to the respective zones of the proposed marketing area.

Class II milk. The Class II price should be at such a level that handlers will accept and market whatever quantities of milk in excess of Class I needs may arise from time to time. The price, however, should not be so low that handlers will be encouraged to procure milk supplies solely for the purpose of converting them into Class II products.

All products included in Class II may be made from unapproved milk. Approved milk which may be used in such products by regulated handlers should be priced at a level which is competitive with the cost of milk or ingredients that they may need for Class II products processed in conjunction with their fluid milk business.

Ice cream is one of the most important outlets for reserve supplies of milk in the marketing area. Several handlers are engaged in the manufacture of ice cream. The record indicates that a Class II pricing formula, based on the wholesale prices of butter and nonfat milk solids will provide a reasonable price for Class II milk in this market during most months of the year. A proposal was made for a somewhat lower price to be applied during the period from December 15 through July 31 of each year for milk used in the production of cheese (other than cottage cheese). The price for such milk was to be based on the average price paid by four cheese plants located in Texas. The record indicates that the prices paid for milk by these plants are considerably lower than the proposed Class II price and also lower than prices paid for milk by other Texas milk manufacturing plants. Normally the Class II price will reflect an appropriate value for milk manufactured into all dairy products, and hence, no special price for milk used in the production of cheese is necessary under the conditions existing at this time in this market.

More efficient utilization of Class II milk can be achieved by introducing a degree of seasonal variation into the Class II price. This can be accomplished by applying the proposed butter-powder formula during July through March and the prices paid by the local manufacturing plants during April through June. This method of pricing is now employed under the North Texas order whereby the average prices paid by three manufacturing plants namely Carnation Company, Sulphur Springs, Texas; Borden Company, Mt. Pleasant, Texas; Lamar Creamery, Paris, Texas establish the level of Class II prices during the months of April, May and June. It is concluded, therefore, that the average prices paid by these plants should be adopted as the basis for pricing Class II milk during the months of April, May and June in the Austin-Waco marketing area.

Location differentials. In order to provide a means for applying different levels of Class I prices in the two zones of the marketing area and to recognize the cost of moving Class I milk from distant plants which might become regular sources of supply for the Austin-Waco marketing area, it is necessary to establish the Class I price for Zone I and to provide a schedule of location adjustments (deductions from the price of Class I milk) which will apply to milk received at regulated plants located outside of this area. This can be accomplished by providing that the Class I price established for Zone I shall be reduced for Class I milk received at plants located outside of Zone I at specified distances, as measured from New Braunfels, Texas (in Zone I) by straight line distance as determined by the market administrator, according to the following schedule:

Distance (miles):	Rate (cents)
More than 20 but not more than 180	25
More than 180 but not more than 360	45
For each additional mile beyond 360, an additional	20

This method of adjusting prices will provide a level of Class I prices for plants located in and adjacent to the marketing area outside of Zone I at 20 cents above the North Texas Class I price. For a fluid milk plant located in the North Texas marketing area, the Class I price under the proposed order will be equal to the North Texas Class I price. The location adjustment applying to more distant plants approximates the cost of moving bulk tank milk from such plants to the marketing area.

The prices paid producers delivering milk to which location differentials apply likewise should be reduced to reflect the lower value of such milk at the plant to which it is delivered.

Butterfat differentials. As pointed out previously herein, butterfat and skim milk should be accounted for separately for classification purposes. It will be necessary, therefore, to adjust Class I and Class II prices in accordance with the average test of milk in each class by a butterfat differential which will reflect differences in value of the milk due to variations in the butterfat content. The values resulting from multiplying the average price of 92-score butter at Chicago by 0.120 for Class I milk and by 0.110 for Class II milk will provide an appropriate basis for adjusting such prices in this market, since they will reflect changes in the central market prices of butterfat. The basing point from which such adjustments are made should be 4.0 percent butterfat. This is the basis now used in the proposed marketing area.

The use of butterfat differentials in this manner follows standard practices in most fluid milk markets for adjusting for butterfat variations. In order that the Class I butterfat differential may be announced early each month, it is provided that the Class I differential be based on the average price of butter in the preceding month. This will permit the announcement of the Class I differential at the same time that the Class I price is announced.

Class II prices and butterfat differentials will not be announced until after the end of the month. Handlers, however, will know that the price of such milk will follow the central market prices for butter and non-fat solids and the local competitive price for manufacturing milk.

6. Distribution of proceeds to producers. The individual-handler type of pool should be included in the order as a means of distributing to producers the returns from the sale of their milk.

The act specifies that an order must provide for (1) the payment to all producers delivering milk to the same handler of uniform prices for all milk delivered by them or (2) the payment to all producers delivering milk to all handlers of uniform prices for all milk so delivered, irrespective of the uses made of such milk by the individual-handler to whom it is delivered. The former method of payment is commonly known as the individual-handler pool and the latter as the market-wide pool. Under either type of pool, all handlers pay the same class prices for producer milk, except for adjustments for location and butterfat content of the milk received.

Under the individual-handler pool, the minimum prices to be paid producers will be uniform to all producers delivering their milk to the same handler. The "blend", "base" and "excess" prices will depend on the proportion of the producer's milk used in Class I and Class II milk by the handler. Although each handler will be required to pay minimum uniform prices to all the producers who deliver milk to him during each month, the prices paid by different handlers may differ because the proportion of milk used in each class may vary.

It appears that the individual-handler pool will tend to result in optimum allocation of the available supply of producer milk among handlers according to their Class I needs and in maximum returns to producers from their milk. The record indicates that no handler in the Austin-Waco marketing area is carrying an undue proportion of excess milk in order to supply other handlers supplemental milk. It has not been a common practice for handlers to transfer milk to their competitors even though some plants may be short of milk at the same time that other plants may have more milk than is needed for Class I sales. Moreover, the cooperative association has not been able to transfer milk of its members from one handler's plant to another.

Producers proposed and supported in the hearing a market-wide pool. The testimony, however, did not reveal how the problem of plant identification and association with the market could be dealt with. Some of the plants which dispose of milk in the marketing area are associated primarily with other unregulated markets. The record does not afford a sound basis for the development of standards for participation in a market-wide pool. The individual-handler pool eliminates the need for such standards.

It was also proposed to safeguard a proposed market-wide pooling arrangement and the classified pricing plan by equalization payments on all unpriced or other source milk which was disposed of as Class I milk in the marketing area. Other proposals made at the hearing would exclude a plant from the pricing and pooling arrangements of the order if such plant disposed of less than a specified percentage of its sales on routes in the marketing area. The milk disposed of by plants not qualifying for pool plant status would be considered as other source milk. Under these proposals, handlers would be required to equalize with the market pool the difference between the cost of such unpriced milk and the order Class I price. This was to assure that the users of such milk would not have a competitive advantage over the handlers using producer milk exclusively, for Class I sales. The problem of unpriced fluid milk, however, can best be dealt with under the circumstances of this market, by extending regulation to all plants which dispose of sufficient milk to be an effective competitive factor in the market.

A handler who disposes of a greater proportion of his Class I sales in another marketing area regulated by an order issued pursuant to the act than he disposes of in the Austin-Waco area should make reports to the market administrator as may be required with respect to his total receipts and utilization of milk. Such reports are necessary for the market administrator to determine the status of such handler and to afford a basis for assembling statistical information with respect to the disposition of milk in the marketing area. Although the market administrator should have the power to require reports from such handlers, reports may not be necessary on a routine basis because such information will be available from the records in the office of the administrator of the order to which such handler is subject.

A proposal to require a handler subject to another order to equallze the difference between a lower Class I price in that order and the Class I price of the Austin-Waco order should be denied. Proponents of such payments contended that handlers located in the regulated North Texas area where Class I prices will be lower than those prevailing in the Austin-Waco area would afford the distributors of milk from that area a competitive advantage over local handlers for Class I sales in the proposed marketing area.

Handlers regulated by the North Texas order are subject to almost identical reporting, accounting, classification, pricing, payment and auditing procedures as are handlers who would be subject to this order. Handlers in the Northern Texas area must pay order prices for their Class I milk. This Class I price is the same regardless of whether or not such milk is disposed of inside or outside of the other marketing area. Producers and handlers in the Austin-Waco marketing area, therefore, are assured that distributors in the North Texas area are required to pay their producers the Class I prices specified by that order for all of the fluid milk that is disposed of on routes in the Austin-Waco area.

Since Class I prices in the Austin-Waco area will be properly aligned with Class I prices in the North Texas area, there will be no competitive advantage in the procurement of raw milk accruing to handlers located in that area. This factor has been fully considered in the establishing of the Class I pricing arrangement recommended herein.

Base-excess plan. A "base and excess" plan of distributing the returns for milk among producers should be employed in connection with the individual-handler pool.

Base and excess plans in one form or another are commonly used within the milkshed area at present, although these programs may vary considerably among handlers. The base and excess method of distributing price returns during the months of flush production has wide support among both producers and handlers and should be continued. Although data with respect to the receipts of milk are inadequate to determine the exact seasonal variation, the evidence indicates that receipts vary considerably in between summer and winter in relation to Class I sales. Consequently, there is a need for an incentive to maintain production in the fall and winter months relative to spring and summer levels. Some handlers have difficulty in utilizing efficiently all milk delivered to them in the months of seasonally high production. Base rating plans have proved an effective means of improving the seasonal pattern of milk deliveries.

The base and excess plan proposed by producers would establish for each producer a base equal to his average daily deliveries during the four-month period, September through December. In the event a producer did not deliver milk to the market during the entire period, the days of actual delivery but not less than 90 would be used. During these months all producers would receive the same blend or average price paid by the handler to whom they deliver their milk.

Under the producer proposal for each of the months of January through August, separate uniform prices for "base milk" and "excess milk" would be computed so that Class I sales would first be allocated to base milk. Base milk would be that quantity of milk delivered by each producer up to his average daily base multiplied by the number of days in the month on which he delivers milk to any fluid milk plant. The excess milk price would be the minimum order Class II price unless total Class I sales of the handler exceed the total quantity of base milk received from producers in a given month. In this case the fact that some excess milk was used for Class I sales would be reflected in the price of such milk or in the excess blend price.

The proposed months for establishing bases, September through December, are considered to be those of relative low milk production in relation to fluid sales. Producers who enter the market during the fall and early winter months when additional milk is usually needed should be permitted to establish a base on deliveries made during a portion of the base-forming period. The proposal for the establishment of bases should be adopted.

The base-operating period during which payments are made after the base plan need not include all months that are not included in the base-forming period to achieve the objectives of the plan. The base-operating period (payment for base and excess milk) should be limited to the months of February through July. By so doing, a desired degree of flexibility will be provided. Bases can then be announced in advance of the base-operating period. Omission of August from the base-operating period will permit all producers to adjust their production programs immediately preceding the fall shortage months without being influenced by the base plan operating during this month.

The order should provide that the market administrator will notify each producer and the handler to whom he is currently selling milk of the amount of his daily base on or before January 20 of each year. The daily base established by each producer will be calculated by the market administrator from the handler's payroll record.

Even though the order cannot be made effective prior to the start of the base-forming period, it is concluded that the proposed plan should be applied in paying producers during the flush production season of 1955. Handlers have used this method of paying producers in the past. Producers have been informed of the proposal to include a base plan under an order, both at the hearing and through numerous news releases prior to and at the time of the hearing. In order to announce bases, it would be necessary for the market administrator to depend on handler's payroll records for two or more months prior to the effective date of the order. In view of these facts, it is concluded that the base-forming period in 1954 should be limited to the months of November and December for all producers.

It is necessary to provide certain rules in connection with the establishment and transfer of bases in order to provide reasonable administrative workability of the plan. To accomplish this and to preserve the effectiveness of the base plan, transfers of bases should be limited to entire bases of producers. Transfer of a base should be recognized by the market administrator upon certification of transfer signed by the transferor prior to the last day of the month for which such transfer is to be effective. Since the base plan is effective in determining producer payments in only six of the twelve months in each year and since all producers must establish a new base this year, other provisions in those contained herein for the establishment and transfer of bases are unnecessary.

Uniform prices, including base and excess prices, to be paid producers by each handler should be computed for milk containing 4.0 percent butterfat which is in accordance with current market practices. In distributing proceeds for milk to producers, a differential should be applied to recognize different values of milk in accordance with its butterfat content. The producer butterfat differential in no way effects the handlers cost of milk. It is concluded that a producer butterfat differential determined by multiplying the wholesale price of 92-score butter at Chicago by 0.110 will be appropriate for this market. This differential is identical to that applied in the San Antonio order and at the same general level as applied under the North Texas order. The differential will be applied for each one-tenth percent that the test of each producer's milk varies from 4.0 percent butterfat.

The location differentials applying to milk received at plants located outside of Zone I, heretofore discussed, should be applied to prices paid producers. Such differentials should be applied to uniform prices during the months of August through January and to base prices during the months of February through July.

Payment to producers. The order should provide that each handler make final payments to each producer for milk received at his plant at the appropriate price(s) on or before the 15th day after the end of each month. It has been a customary practice for handlers to pay producers twice monthly. In order to continue this practice, provision should be made for partial payments to producers on or before the 28th day of the month for milk delivered during the first 15 days of the month at not less than the price per hundredweight of Class II milk for the preceding month. This price need not be adjusted for the butterfat differential inasmuch as it represents an interim payment. Final payment for milk received each month will be made on or before the 15th day after the month in which delivery is made. During the base-operating period, final payment to each producer for milk will be made at the uniform base price and the uniform excess price as applicable. Provision is made for handlers to deduct for goods and services furnished or for money advanced to a producer, as the producer may authorize the handler. At the time the final payment is made, each handler will be required to furnish to each producer a monthly statement showing the pounds and butterfat tests of milk received from him together with the rate or rates of payment for such milk and a description of any deductions claimed by the handler. Provision is made for handlers to pay a cooperative association, which so requests, and which is authorized to collect payment, an amount equal to the sum of the payments otherwise payable to the producer members of such association. Such payments should be made two days in advance of payments made to individual producers.

Other administrative provisions. In addition to those provisions herein determined to be appropriate, certain other provisions should be contained in the order to carry out, from an administrative viewpoint, the purposes of the regulation. Certain terms and definitions are desirable in the interest of brevity and to assure that the usage of a term implies the same meaning. The terms that are defined in the proposed order are common to many other Federal milk orders. Provision should be made for the appointment by the Secretary of a market administrator to administer the order and to set forth the powers and duties for such agent.

Records and reports. Provisions should be included in the order for the purpose of requiring handlers to maintain powers or to perform the duties of the adequate records of their operations and to make certain reports as may be required by the market administrator. Certain time limits must be prescribed for filing such reports and for making payments to producers. Dates must also be established for the announcement of prices by the market administrator. The following schedule will afford interested parties sufficient time to perform the functions as indicated below:

Day of month and function—6th. Announcement by market administrator of the Class I price and butterfat differential for the current month; and the Class II price and butterfat differential for the preceding month.

7th. Submission by handlers of the monthly report of receipts and utilization for the preceding month.

12th. Announcement by market administrator of uniform price for each handler and notification to handlers of the value of their producer milk received during the preceding month.

15th. Final payments by handler to individual producers for milk received during the preceding month and payments of marketing services deductions and expense of administration.

20th. Submission of producer payroll report by handlers for the preceding month.

28th. Partial payments to producers for milk received during the first 15 days of the month.

Handlers should maintain and make available to the market administrator all records and accounts of their operations, and such facilities as are necessary to determine the accuracy of the information, submit such reports to the market administrator as he may deem necessary and furnish to him or his representative any other information upon which the classification of producer milk depends. The market administrator must likewise be permitted to check the accuracy of weights and tests of milk and milk products received and handled and to verify all payments required under the order.

Provision should be made for handlers to notify the market administrator of their intention to divert producer milk. Information such as this, on a market-wide basis, may help handlers to locate local sources of producer milk and thereby to expedite transfers of such milk among handlers.

It is necessary, that handlers retain records to prove the utilization of the milk received from, and that proper payments were made to, producers. Since the books of all handlers associated with the market cannot be audited immediately after the milk has been delivered to a plant, it is necessary that such records be kept for a reasonable period of time.

The order should provide for specific limitations of the time that handlers should be required to retain their books and records of the period of time in which obligations under the order should terminate. Provision made in this regard is identical in principle with the general amendment made to all milk orders in operation on June 30, 1947 following the Secretary's decision of January 26, 1949 (14 F. R. 444). That decision covering the retention of records and limitation of claims is equally applicable in this situation and is adopted as a part of this decision.

Expense of administration. Each handler should be required to pay the market administrator, as his pro rata share of the cost of administering the order, not more than 5 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amounts as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, on (a) producer milk (including such handler's own production), (b) other source milk in a fluid milk plant which is classified as Class I milk, and (c) Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area from a non-fluid milk plant.

The market administrator must have sufficient funds to enable him to administer properly the terms of the order. The act provides that such cost of administration shall be financed through an assessment on handlers. One of the duties of the market administrator is to verify the receipts and disposition of milk from all sources. The record indicates that other source milk is received by handlers to supplement local producer supplies of milk. Equity in sharing the cost of administration of the order among handlers will be achieved, therefore, by applying the administrative assessment to all producer milk (including handlers' own production) and other source milk allocated to Class I milk.

In view of the anticipated volume of milk and the costs of administering orders in markets of comparable circumstances, it is concluded that an initial rate of 5 cents per hundredweight is necessary to meet the expenses of administration. Provision should be made to enable the Secretary to reduce the rate of assessment below the 5 cents per hundredweight maximum without necessitating an amendment to the order. This should be done at any time experience in the market reveals that a lesser rate will produce sufficient revenue to administer the order properly.

Marketing services. A provision should be included in the order for furnishing marketing services to producers, such as verifying of tests and weights and furnishing market information. These should be provided by the market administrator and the cost should be borne by the producer receiving the service. If a cooperative association is performing such services for any member producers and is approved for such activities by the Secretary, the market administrator may accept this in lieu of his own service.

There is need for a marketing service program in connection with the administration of an order in this area. Orderly marketing will be promoted by assuring individual producers that payments received for their milk are based on the pricing provisions of the order, and reflect accurate weights and tests of such milk. To accomplish this fully, it is necessary that the butterfat tests and weights of individual producer deliveries of milk as reported by the handler be verified for accuracy.

An important phase of the marketing service program is to furnish producers with correct market information. As previously discussed, detailed information regarding market conditions is not now regularly available either to producers or to cooperative associations. Efficiency in the production, utilization and marketing of milk will be promoted by the dissemination of current information on a market-wide basis to all producers.

To enable the market administrator to furnish such services, provision should be made for a maximum deduction of 6 cents per hundredweight with respect to receipts of milk from producers for whom he renders marketing services. If later experience indicates that marketing services can be performed at a lesser rate, provision is made for the secretary to adjust the rate downward without the necessity of a hearing.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusion. Written arguments and proposed findings and conclusions submitted on behalf of interested persons were considered, along with the evidence in the record, in making the findings and reaching the conclusions herein set forth. To the extent that the proposed findings and conclusions differ from the findings and conclusions contained herein, the specific or implied requests to make such findings are denied because of the reasons stated in support of the findings and conclusions in this decision.

Recommended marketing agreement and order. The following order is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order.

(b) Assign the amounts pro rata to the handler's receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk and in other source milk.

§ 952.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified as Class II milk;

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat shall be reclassified if verification by the market administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

§ 952.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of each month from a fluid milk plant shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk, if transferred in the form of products designated as Class I milk in § 952.41 (a) (1) to a fluid milk plant of another handler, except a producer-handler, unless utilization as Class II milk is claimed by both handlers in their reports submitted for the month to the market administrator pursuant to § 952.30: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to Class II milk shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in Class II milk in the plant of the transferee-handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 952.46 (a) (3) and (b) and any additional amounts of such skim milk or butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk: And provided further, That if either or both handlers have other source milk as defined pursuant to § 952.16 (a) during the month, the skim milk or butterfat so transferred shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the greatest possible Class I utilization to the producer milk of both handlers;

(b) As Class I milk, if transferred to a producer-handler in the form of products designated as Class I milk in § 952.41 (a) (1);

(1) The transferring-handler claims Class II utilization in a product specified in § 952.41 (b);

(2) The operator of such nonfluid milk plant keeps adequate books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at such plant and the market administrator is permitted to examine such books and records for the purpose of verification; and

(3) The Class I milk, as defined pursuant to § 952.41 (a) in such nonfluid milk plant does not exceed the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in milk received during the month from dairy farmers, who the market administrator determines, constitute the regular source of supply for such plant: Provided, That any Class I milk in excess of receipts from such dairy farmers shall be assigned to milk, skim milk, or cream so transferred or diverted.

§ 952.45 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the reports of receipts and utilization for the fluid milk plant(s) of each handler and shall compute the pounds of butterfat and skim milk in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler: Provided, That if any of the water contained in the milk from which a product is made is removed before the product is utilized or disposed of by a handler, the pounds of skim milk disposed of in such product shall be considered to be an amount equivalent to the nonfat milk solids contained in such product, plus all of the water originally associated with such solids.

§ 952.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computations pursuant to § 952.45 the market administrator shall determine the classification of producer milk received at the fluid milk plant(s) of each handler each month as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk assigned to producer milk pursuant to § 952.42 (b);

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk in Class I milk the pounds of skim milk received as Class I products in consumer packages from a nonfluid milk plant which are not in excess of the pounds of skim milk transferred or diverted by the handler to such nonfluid milk plant as Class I milk;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk as defined pursuant to § 952.17;

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk contained in inventory on hand at the beginning of the month and classified pursuant to § 952.41 (b) (3);

(5) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk contained in products designated as Class I milk in § 952.41 (a) (1) received from the fluid milk plants of other handlers, according to the classification of such skim milk as determined pursuant to § 952.44 (a);

(6) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(7) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk contained in producer milk, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk. Any amount so subtracted shall be known as "overage."

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section;

(c) Determine the weighted average butterfat content of the Class I and Class II milk allocated to producer milk.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 952.50 Class I milk. Subject to the provisions of §§ 952.52 and 952.53 the minimum price per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for producer milk received at his fluid milk plant and classified as Class I milk shall be the price for Class I milk established under Federal Order No. 43 regulating the handling of milk in the North Texas marketing area, plus 45 cents.

§ 952.51 Class II milk. Subject to the provisions of § 952.52 the minimum price per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for producer milk received at his fluid milk plant and classified as Class II milk shall be the price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section for the months of April, May and June; and for each of the other months the price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section or the price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, whichever is higher:

(a) The average of the basic or field prices reported to have been paid or to be paid for ungraded milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from dairy farmers at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department:

Carnation Co., Sulphur Springs, Texas.
Lamar Creamery, Paris, Texas.

(b) The sum of the plus values computed as follows:

(1) Subtract 3 cents from the Chicago butter price, add 20 percent thereof, and multiply by 4.0.

(2) From the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b., manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department, deduct 5.5 cents, multiply by 8.5 and multiply by 0.96.

§ 952.52 Butterfat differential to handlers. For milk containing more or less than 4 percent butterfat, the class prices pursuant to §§ 952.50 and 952.51 shall be increased or decreased, respectively, for each one-tenth of one percent butterfat by the appropriate rate, rounded in each case to the nearest one-tenth cent, determined as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the preceding month by 0.120.

(b) Class II milk. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the current month by 0.110.

§ 952.53 Location adjustments to handlers. For milk which is received from producers at a fluid milk plant located outside of Zone I and classified as Class I milk, the price shall be the price effective pursuant to § 952.50 less the rate set forth in the following schedule for the straight line distance to such plant from New Braunfels, Texas, as determined by the market administrator:

Distance:	Rate per hundredweight (cents)
More than 20 but not more than 180 miles	25
More than 180 but not more than 360 miles	45
For each additional mile beyond 360 miles, an additional	20

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 952.60 Producer-handlers. §§ 952.40 through 952.46, 952.50 through 952.53, 952.70 through 952.73, 952.80 through 952.83 and 952.90 through 952.96 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 952.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders. (a) An approved plant will be considered to be a non-fluid milk plant during the month for the purpose of this subpart if the Secretary determines that (1) a larger volume of Class I milk is disposed of from such plant in the marketing area of another order issued pursuant to the act than is distributed in the Austin-Waco marketing area (i) to wholesale or retail outlets (other than to a distributing plant(s)) during the month, or (ii) to a distributing plant(s) in each of the preceding months of September through December, and (2) such plant would be subject to regulation pursuant to such order.

(b) The operator of such approved plant shall, with respect to the total receipts and utilization or disposition of skim milk and butterfat at the plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require, in lieu of the reports required pursuant to § 952.30 and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

(a) Multiply the pounds of such milk in each class by the applicable class price and add together the resulting amounts;

(b) Add the amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 952.46 (a) (7) and (b) by the applicable class price;

(c) Add an amount computed as follows:

(1) Determine the pounds if any, that the skim milk or butterfat in inventory, subtracted from Class I milk pursuant to § 952.46 (a) (4) and (b) is not in excess of the pounds in producer milk classified as Class II milk (other than as shrinkage) for the preceding month; and (2) multiply such pounds by the difference between the Class I price in the current month and the Class II price in the preceding month adjusted by the appropriate butterfat differentials;

(d) Add or subtract, as the case may be, an amount necessary to correct errors discovered by the market administrator in the verification of reports of such handler of his receipts and utilization of skim milk and butterfat for previous months.

§ 952.71 Computation of aggregate value used to determine uniform prices. For each month the market administrator shall compute an aggregate value for each handler from which to determine the uniform price(s) per hundredweight for producer milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content as follows:

(a) Add to the amount computed pursuant to § 952.70 the total value of the location differential pursuant to § 952.90 (b) or (c);

(b) Add or subtract for each one-tenth percent that the average butterfat content of producer milk received by such handler is less or more, respectively, than 4.0 percent, an amount computed by multiplying such difference by the butterfat differential to producers, as determined pursuant to § 952.91 and multiplying the result by the total hundredweight of producer milk; and

(c) Add the amount represented by any deductions made for eliminating fractions of a cent in computing the uniform price(s) for such handler for the preceding month.

§ 952.72 Computation of uniform prices for handlers. For each of the months of August through January, the market administrator shall compute a uniform price for producer milk received by each handler as follows:

(a) Divide the aggregate value computed pursuant to § 952.71 by the total hundredweight of producer milk received by such handler. The result, less any fraction of a cent, shall be known as the uniform price for such handler for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, at fluid milk plants in Zone I.

§ 952.73 Computation of the price for base milk and for excess milk for handlers. For each of the months of February through July, the market administrator shall compute for each handler with respect to his producer milk a price for base milk and for excess milk as follows:

(a) Compute the value of excess milk, subject to the conditions set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, received by such handler by multiplying the quantity of such milk by the Class II price;

(b) Compute the value of base milk received by such handler from producers by subtracting the value obtained pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section from the value obtained pursuant to § 952.71 (c): Provided, That if such resulting value is greater than an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of such base milk by the Class I price, such value in excess thereof shall be added to the value computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section to the extent the excess price shall not exceed the base price as calculated herein. Any additional value remaining shall be prorated on a volume basis between excess and base milk;

(c) Divide the value obtained pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section by the hundredweight of base milk. This result, less any fraction of a cent per hundredweight shall be the price for such handler for base milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content at fluid milk plants in Zone I; and

(d) Add the value represented by any fraction of a cent subtracted pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section to the value obtained pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section and divide by the hundredweight of excess milk. This result, less any fraction of a cent per hundredweight, shall be known as the price for such handler for excess milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content at the fluid milk plant.

BASE RATING

§ 952.80 Determination of daily base. The daily base of each producer shall be calculated by the market administrator as follows: Divide the total pounds of milk received by a handler(s) from such producer during the months of September through December by the number of days from the first day milk is received from such producer during said months to the last day of December, inclusive, but not less than 90 days: Provided, That for the year 1954 the daily base shall be calculated on the basis of milk received from such producer during the months of November and December divided by 61.

§ 952.81 Computation of base. The base of each producer to be applied during the months of February through July shall be a quantity of milk calculated by the market administrator in the following manner: Multiply the daily base of such producer by the number of days for which such producer's milk was received by the handler during the month.

§ 952.82 Base rules. The following rules shall apply in connection with the establishment of bases:

(a) The base shall be assigned to the producer for whose account milk is received by a handler during the months of September through December;

(b) An entire base may be transferred by the producer by notifying the market administrator in writing before the last day of any month for which such base is to be transferred to the person named in such notice: Provided, That if the base is held jointly and such joint holding is terminated, the entire base transferable by any joint holder shall be his portion of such jointly held base as indicated by the joint holders.

§ 952.83 Announcement of established bases. On or before January 20 of each year, the market administrator shall notify each producer and the handler receiving milk from such producer of the daily base established by such producer.

PAYMENTS

§ 952.90 Payments to producers. Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, each handler shall make payment to each producer for milk received from such producer as follows:

(a) On or before the 28th day of each month, for milk received during the first 15 days of the month at not less than the Class II price for the preceding month;

(b) On or before the 15th day after the end of each of the months of August through January for milk received during such month, an amount computed at not less than the uniform price per hundredweight pursuant to § 952.72 subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 952.91 and the location differential computed pursuant to § 952.92; plus or minus adjustments for errors made in previous payments to such producers; and less (1) payment made pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; (2) marketing service deductions pursuant to § 952.94 and (3) proper deductions authorized by such producer;

(c) On or before the 15th day after the end of each of the months of February through July, for milk received during such month after allowance for payment made pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, adjustments for errors made in previous payments to such producer, marketing service deductions pursuant to § 952.94 and proper deductions authorized by such producer, an amount computed:

(1) At not less than the price per hundredweight for base milk computed pursuant to § 952.73 for the quantity of base milk received from such producer during the month, subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 952.91 and the location differential computed pursuant to § 952.92; and

(2) At not less than the price per hundredweight for excess milk computed pursuant to § 952.72 for the quantity of excess milk received from such producer during the month, subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 952.91;

(d) On or before the 13th and 26th days of each month in lieu of the payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) and (c) of this section respectively, each handler shall pay to a cooperative association which so requests, with respect to producers for whose milk such cooperative association is authorized to collect payment, an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers;

(e) In making the payments to producers pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) or (d) of this section, each handler shall furnish each producer or cooperative association from whom he has received milk with a supporting statement which shall show for each month:

(1) The month and the identity of the handler and of the producer;

(2) The daily and total pounds and the average butterfat content of milk received from such producer;

(3) The minimum rate or rates at which payment to such producer is required pursuant to this part;

(4) The rate which is used in making the payment if such rate is other than the applicable rate;

(5) The amount or the rate per hundredweight and nature of each deduction claimed by the handler; and

(6) The net amount of payment to such producer.

§ 952.91 Butterfat differential to producers. The applicable uniform prices to be paid pursuant to § 952.90 to producers delivering milk to each handler shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent which the butterfat content of his milk is above or below 4.0 percent, respectively, at the rate determined by multiplying the Chicago butter price for the month by .110.

§ 952.92 Location differential to producers. In making payment to producers pursuant to § 952.90, the uniform price and the base price to be paid for producer milk received at a fluid milk plant located outside of Zone I, shall be such price computed pursuant to §§ 952.72 and 952.73 less the rate set forth in the following schedule for the straight line distance to such plant from New Braunfels, Texas, as determined by the market administrator:

Distance:	Rate per hundredweight (cents)
More than 20 but not more than 180 miles	25
More than 180 but not more than 360 miles	45
For each addditional mile beyond 360 miles, an additional	2

§ 952.93 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts, or verification of weights and butterfat tests of milk or milk products discloses errors resulting in money due a producer or the market administrator from such handler or due such handler from the market administrator, the market administrator shall notify such handler of any amount so due, and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments, as set forth in the provisions under which such error occurred.

§ 952.94 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers for milk (other than milk of his own production) pursuant to § 952.90, shall deduct 6 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 6 cents per hundredweight, as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of each month. Such money shall be used by the market administrator to provide market information and to check the accuracy of the testing and weighing of their milk for producers who are not receiving such service from a cooperative association;

(b) In the case of producers who are members of a cooperative association which the Secretary has determined is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deduction specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers on or before the 13th day after the end of each month and pay such deductions to the cooperative association of which such producers are members, furnishing a statement showing the amount of any such deductions and the amount of milk for which such deduction was computed for each producer. In lieu of such statement, the handler may authorize the market administrator to furnish such cooperative association the information reported for such producers pursuant to § 952.31.

§ 952.95 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this part, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the month, 5 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all (a) receipts of producer milk, including such handlers' own production; (b) other source milk at a fluid milk plant which is classified as Class I milk; and (c) Class I milk disposed of during the month on routes located in the marketing area from a nonfluid milk plant other than a plant defined in § 952.61.

§ 952.96 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this part to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or wilful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler within the applicable period of time, files pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 952.100 Effective time. The provisions of this part or any amendment to this part shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated pursuant to § 952.101.

§ 952.101 Suspension or termination. The Secretary may suspend or terminate this part or any provisions of this part whenever he finds this part or any provision of this part obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This part shall terminate in any event whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 952.102 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations thereunder, the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 952.103 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions of this part, except this section, the market administrator, or such liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable and execute and deliver all assignment or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidating and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 952.110 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his Agent or Representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 952.111 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this part or its application to any person or circumstances is held invalid the application of such provision and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS; TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

NOTICE OF EXTENSION OF TIME WITHIN WHICH TO FILE REPLIES TO COMMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations; Docket No. 11168.

1. On September 16, 1954, the Commission issued a notice of proposed rule making (FCC 54-1172) in the above-entitled matter which specified that comments were to be filed on or before October 15, 1954, and replies thereto within 10 days from that date. Commonwealth Broadcasting Corporation, petitioner in this proceeding has requested an extension until October 29, 1954, for time in which to file replies to comments. Commonwealth states that due to the number of opposing pleadings, it will not have sufficient time to prepare satisfactory replies by October 25, 1954.

2. It is our view that a sufficient showing has been made to warrant the extension of time for filing replies to comments beyond October 25, 1954. Accordingly, notice is hereby given that the time for filing replies to comments filed in the above-entitled matter is extended to October 29, 1954.

Adopted: October 22, 1954.

[Case No. 191]

LAMINADORA ATZCAPOTZALCO, S. A. ET AL.

In the matter of: Laminadora Atzcapotzalco, S. A., Federico Reyes Zamudio, Manuel Verduzco Valdes, 128 Poniente No. 665 Atzcapotzalco, D. F., Mexico; respondents; Case No. 191.

In this proceeding, commenced by the Director, Investigation Staff, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, Department of Commerce, Federico Reyes Zamudio, Manuel Verduzco Valdes, Laminadora Atzcapotzalco, S. A., and others, were charged with having violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and regulations promulgated thereunder. The charges against some of the others joined with these named respondents have been determined in Case No. 182, 19 F. R. 4095, and Case No. 184, 19 F. R. 4112, while those against two remaining respondents, unnamed in accordance with the requirements of Regulation 382.14, are being dismissed in an order being issued simultaneously herewith because the Compliance Commissioner has found the evidence insufficient to justify a conclusion that said respondents committed the acts charged against them.

Respondents Reyes, Verduzco and Laminadora, though duly served with the charging letter, did not appear herein and they are therefore in default. Evidence in support of the charges, nevertheless, has been submitted to the Compliance Commissioner and he has submitted his report and recommendation to the undersigned Director, Office of Export Supply, who has carefully considered the whole record, the report and the recommendation and, after such consideration and upon the whole record, the undersigned hereby makes the following:

Findings of fact. 1. At all times hereinafter mentioned Federico Reyes Zamudio was president and Manuel Verduzco Valdes was general manager of Laminadora Atzcapotzalco, S. A., a steel rolling mill in Atzcapotzalco, D. F., Mexico, and the acts hereinafter found to have been performed by said individuals were performed by them on behalf of and in the course of their activities as officers and employees of said firm. (The individuals are hereinafter referred to as Reyes or Verduzco while the firm is called Laminadora.)

2. That as of August 20, 1951, National Production Authority, Department of Commerce, Order M-64 provided that no person was permitted to deliver or receive used rails except in accordance with written authorization of that agency unless such rails were to be delivered to a person for track-laying purposes, in which event the receiver was required to certify to the supplier that the intended use of such rails was in compliance with NPA Orde- M-64. NPA Order M-64 was in effect during all times hereinafter mentioned.

3. That as of August 20, 1951, and at all times hereinafter mentioned, in accordance with the policy of NPA, the Office of International Trade (now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce) did not issue validated licenses to export used rails to Mexico for rerolling purposes, but did allow exportations of such rails for re-laying purposes. Applications to export used rails for re-laying purposes were required to be supported by written certifications from ultimate consignees that the rails were to be used by them in compliance with NPA Order M-64.

4. That Reyes and Laminadora, for the purpose of having exported used rails from the United States to Laminadora and other rolling mills associated with it and, knowing the policy of the Office of International Trade with respect thereto, entered into an arrangement with Commercial Metals Company of Dallas, Texas, whereby they obtained from ostensible users of rails for relaying purposes, such users to be the recipients thereof, written certificates of compliance with NPA Order M-64, and delivered such certificates to Commercial Metals Company for use by it in support of applications for export licenses.

5. That between and including November 1951 and January 1952 Commercial Metals Company submitted to the OIT a number of applications for licenses to export to named consignees in Mexico material therein described by them as rails for relaying purposes and, in support of said applications, Commercial Metals Company represented and stated to the OIT that the consignees named therein intended to use such rails for relaying purposes and offered in further support thereof the certificates of alleged compliance with NPA Order M-64.

6. That at the time of the submission of such applications, Reyes and Laminadora knew that the consignees named therein were not the true consignees, that the rails sought to be exported were not to be used for relaying purposes, and that the rails were to be diverted by said Reyes, Laminadora and Verduzco, after arrival in Mexico, to rolling mills to be used for rerolling purposes.

7. That upon the representations and statements contained in and submitted in connection with the applications by Commercial Metals Company, the OIT issued to Commercial Metals Company export licenses authorizing the exportation of used rails for relaying purposes to the consignees named therein.

8. That Commercial Metals Company, Reyes and Laminadora thereafter utilized such licenses to effectuate the exportation from the United States of used rails by executing and stating or causing to be executed and stated in export declarations filed at the time of such exportation that the rails being exported were relaying rails, that the ultimate consignees were the consignees named in the export licenses and that the exportations were being made under the authority of such licenses.

9. That such statements were false, to respondents' knowledge, in that the rails were intended for rerolling, the ultimate consignees were rolling mills and not the consignees named therein or in the licenses, and the licenses mentioned did not authorize such exportations.

10. That after the rails arrived in Mexico, Reyes, Laminadora and Verduzco, who knew that the said rails had been exported from the United States under the authority of licenses permitting their shipment to the consignees named therein, caused the said rails to be diverted from the consignees named in the said export licenses and in the export declarations related thereto, and caused them to be delivered to themselves and to other rolling mills in Mexico for the purpose of rerolling and not for track laying purposes, the reason given for their exportation from the United States.

And, from the foregoing, it is concluded:

A. That respondents Reyes and Laminadora knowingly made and caused to be made to the OIT false and misleading statements, representations and certifications, and concealed material facts, in applications for export licenses and documents submitted in support of such applications, and in shipper's export declarations, in violation of § 381.1 (b) of the export control regulations, then in effect;

B. That respondents, Reyes and Laminadora used and permitted the use of validated export licenses and shipper's export declarations to effect exportations from the United States of commodities not in accord with the provisions of said documents and respondents Reyes, Laminadora and Verduzco effected unauthorized changes in ultimate consignees and purchasers therein named, in violation of §§ 381.3 (a), (b) (2), and 379.1 (d) of the export control regulations, then in effect.

The Compliance Commissioner, in making his recommendation, has stated that he has taken into consideration the action taken in the Commercial Metals portion of this proceeding (Case No. 182, 19 F. R. 4095), which involved a business substantially larger than that of respondents herein, the cooperation given by Reyes in the investigation, the fact that Reyes was guided in what he did by an officer of Commercial Metals Company, the fact that American rails may not, at this time, be imported into Mexico and the fact that Verduzco's role in this case did not appear to be as active as that of Reyes, in addition to the usual factors. He has recommended that the time measure in the Commercial Metals case be a standard here inasmuch as the impact on these respondents, by reason of the nature and size of their business and the restrictions on the importation of rails into Mexico, will be considerably less than the impact on Commercial Metals Company. The recommendation of the Compliance Commissioner, upon the facts and circumstances appearing in the record, appears to be fair, reasonable and necessary to achieve effective enforcement of the law and it is accordingly adopted.

It is now therefore ordered:

I. All outstanding validated export licenses authorizing exports from the United States, in which are named in any capacity the respondents, or any of them, or any person, firm, corporation or other business organization with which they or any of them are related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection, in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States, be and the same hereby are revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

II. Respondents and each of them are hereby denied all privileges of participating directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity in an exportation of any commodity from the United States. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing, participation in an exportation is deemed to include and prohibit respondents' participation (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export application, (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control document, (c) in the ordering, receiving, buying, selling, using, or disposing, of any commodities exported or to be exported from the United States, and (d) in the financing, forwarding, transporting or other servicing of exports from the United States.

III. Such denial of export privileges shall extend not only to said respondents, but also to any person, firm, corporation or business organization with which they or any of them may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith, including but not limited to the officers, directors, and stockholders of the corporate respondent.

IV. (2) It is necessary and appropriate to postpone the hearing in Docket No. G–2260 fixed for November 1, 1954, to the date hereinafter fixed for hearing in the consolidated proceeding.

ORDER SUSPENDING PROPOSED RATE INCREASE

On September 7, 1954, and September 27, 1954,[1] Arkansas Fuel Oil Corporation (Arkansas Fuel), a West Virginia corporation, with its principal place of business in Shreveport, Louisiana, tendered for filing with the Commission, pursuant to Order No. 174-A (Docket No. R-138), a contract, together with two changes therein. The contract and the changes have been designated in the files of the Commission as FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5 and Supplement Nos. 1 and 2, respectively.

FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5 is a contract dated November 27, 1950, between Arkansas Fuel and Tennessee Gas Transmission Company (Tennessee), providing for the sale of natural gas from Texas Railroad Commission District 4 by Arkansas Fuel to Tennessee. Tennessee owns and operates a natural-gas transmission pipeline system through which it transports natural gas in interstate commerce. The gas sold by Arkansas Fuel to Tennessee pursuant to the above-mentioned FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5, and the proposed changes thereto, is transported by Tennessee in interstate commerce.

Supplement No. 1 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5 is notice of a change in the rate from 10 cents per Mcf to 10.246 cents per Mcf, to recover ¾ of the increase in the Texas production tax effective September 1, 1954.

Supplement No. 2 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5 is a notice of change effective November 1, 1954, increasing the rate and charges to be paid by Tennessee from 10.246 cents per Mcf to 12.12268 cents per Mcf. This proposed change is made pursuant to a two-party favored nations clause in FPC Gas Schedule No. 5. The increased price is purported to equal the highest price being paid in Texas Railroad Commission District No. 4 by Tennessee.

In view of the fact that Arkansas Fuel's only justification for the increase in rates proposed in Supplement No. 2 is based on the provisions of the contract (FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1), such increase has not been shown to be justified and may be unjust, unreasonable or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds:

(1) Arkansas Fuel Oil Corporation is a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act, and its sale of gas to Tennessee under FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5, and supplements thereto, is a sale in interstate commerce of natural gas for resale for ultimate public consumption.

(2) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of such act, concerning the lawfulness of Supplement No. 2 of Arkansas Fuel's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5, and that said proposed change be suspended as hereinafter provided and the use thereof be deferred pending hearing and decision herein.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by further order of the Commission concerning the lawfulness of rates, charges, and classifications contained in the aforesaid Rate Schedule No. 5 as proposed to be amended by Supplement No. 2.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Arkansas Fuel's Supplement 2 to Rate Schedule No. 5 be and the same is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until April 1, 1955, and until such further time as it may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Interested State Commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Adopted: October 20, 1954.

Issued: October 21, 1954.

PART 8—NATIONAL SERVICE LIFE INSURANCE

CLAIMS ALLEGING INSURANCE CONTRACT WHERE NO APPLICATION FOR INSURANCE ON FILE; PARENTS, BROTHERS AND SISTERS OF ILLEGITIMATES

1. Section 8.70 is revised to read as follows:

§ 8.70 Claims alleging insurance contract where there is no application for insurance on file. In those cases where claim is made alleging that a person made valid application for National Service life insurance, and that the insurance is subject to reinstatement or a waiver of payment of premiums is in order, or that the insurance matured by reason of the death of the insured at a time when the insurance was in force, and that there was a valid designation of beneficiary, and where there is no application for insurance on file, the claimant will be required to submit all available evidence concerning the alleged application for insurance in such manner and on such forms as may be deemed necessary. The evidence submitted by the claimant and the evidence as disclosed by records in possession of the Government relative to the question as to whether the person made a valid application for insurance will be considered and, if found sufficient to establish as a fact that the said person did apply for insurance and if the other allegations of said claim are sustained, a record of insurance will be established in accordance with such finding. However, if it be determined that the evidence is not sufficient to establish as a fact that the said person applied for insurance as alleged, or determined that any insurance applied for as alleged would not be valid or not subject to reinstatement, or determined that the said person did not die at a time when the insurance would have been in force if insurance had been applied for, or, in case of death, if it be determined that there was no valid designation of beneficiary, the claimant will be so informed and will be notified that, unless he desires to appeal to the Administrator, a disagreement exists as to the matters in controversy as contemplated by the provisions of section 617 of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, as amended, as far as the Veterans' Administration is concerned. Further, the claimant will be informed that an appeal may be taken from the decision to the Administrator of Veterans Affairs by giving notice in writing in accordance with § 19.2 of this chapter. The Assistant Deputy Administrator (Underwriting) will make all original determinations as to whether a person made valid application for insurance as alleged. The determination as to the validity of beneficiary designations, in death cases, will be made by the dependents claims service in Veterans Benefits Office, D. C., or by the claims service in the district office, as may be appropriate in the particular case.

2. In § 8.71, paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 8.71 Parents, brothers, and sisters of illegitimates. • • •

(c) (1) Brothers or sisters, if children of the same mother.

(2) Brothers or sisters, if children of the same father and if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Administrator that the family relationship usual between brothers and sisters existed between them and the serviceman at the time he entered the service.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 907]

[Docket No. AO-212-A8]

HANDLING OF MILK IN MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN, MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT, AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk, of the recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 7th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, was formulated, was conducted at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, July 23, 1954, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on July 15, 1954 (19 F. R. 4478).

The material issues on the record of the hearing were:

1. Limitation of the supply-demand adjustment; and

2. The price for Class II milk.

Temporary action for the months of September through November 1954, was taken on these issues in an amendment effective September 1, 1954 (19 F. R. 5573). The recommended decision filed by the Deputy Administrator on August 4, 1954, and the decision of the Secretary on August 16, 1954 (19 F. R. 4998 and 19 F. R. 5267, respectively), indicated further action on this record would be taken for months after November 1954.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based upon evidence contained in the record of the hearing:

1. Limitation of supply-demand adjustment. Deductions from or additions to the Class I and Class II price differentials due to the supply-demand ratio should be limited to 24 cents per hundredweight.

It was proposed by producers that deductions due to the supply-demand ratio continue to be limited to 24 cents per hundredweight, and that upward adjustments also be limited to 24 cents.

The order provides for computation of a supply-demand ratio which is the basis for automatic price adjustments. For this purpose, supply and utilization data from the Chicago market are used rather than receipts and utilization in the Milwaukee market, because of the dominating influence of Chicago upon conditions in this market. Supply areas of the two markets overlap, and Chicago pool milk has from time to time been a source of supply for this market. In recognition of the relationship of the markets, the price provisions under this order regularly provide for Class I prices equal to the Chicago zone 3 price and Class II prices identical with the Chicago prices.

Deductions due to the supply-demand ratio have been limited to 24 cents under this order and the Chicago order for the period beginning March 1, 1954, through November 1954. In a recommended decision on proposed amendments to the Chicago order it is concluded that the limitation should be continued after November. The same action is recommended for this market.

As mentioned above, it was also proposed that in the case of additions to the price differentials due to the supply-demand ratio, a similar 24-cent limit should apply. An upper limit of 24 cents on these adjustments would allow for a 48-cent increase from the present price level. After a change of such magnitude reexamination in a public hearing would be advisable before further increases in class price differentials are effected, and it is concluded that such an upper limit should be adopted.

2. Class II price. The Class II price differential should be 70 cents for August through November each year and 45 cents in other months.

Handlers proposed at the hearing that the Class II price differential be set at 50 cents for all months, except that during May and June, for milk frozen as cream for eventual use as Class II milk, the differential should be $0.35.

The price differentials in the order for Class II milk are 40 cents per hundredweight for May and June; 70 cents for July through November; and 50 cents for all other months. These differentials are added to the basic formula price in determining the Class II price. The same supply-demand adjustment applies to these differentials as applies to the Class I differentials.

For the month of August 1954, a Class II price differential of 50 cents per hundredweight over the basic formula price was effected by suspension of the regular 70-cent differential which would otherwise apply in that month. The 50-cent differential was continued, by amendment effective September 1, 1954, for the months of September, October, and November 1954.

The request for the lower Class II differentials was based upon the existence of an increased supply of milk for all uses and the need for coordination of prices under the Milwaukee order with prices established under the Chicago milk order. It was pointed out that some handlers in the Milwaukee market are regulated under the Chicago order. It was testified also that some Milwaukee handlers customarily draw supplementary supplies of milk from plants regulated under the Chicago order.

In a recommended decision on the Chicago milk order, it is concluded that the Class II differentials in that market should be 45 cents for the December-July period, and 70 cents for the September–November period. The seasonal Class II price differentials and basic formula prices to which the differentials are added have been regularly the same in the Milwaukee and Chicago orders. Also, the supply-demand adjustment affecting these differentials has been the same as the similar adjustment under the Chicago order. The identity of the Class II formulas in the two markets should be continued by adopting such changes as are made in the Class II differentials under the Chicago order. Testimony in the record did not indicate any reason for not following such a pricing pattern, and the modifications from the present seasonal pattern and the slightly reduced annual average level of differentials are appropriate under conditions in this market.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions, which affect market supply and demand for milk, in the marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Recommended marketing agreement and amendment to the order. The following order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area, is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended.

1. In § 907.51 (a) delete the proviso and substitute: "Provided, That such Class I price differential shall be increased or decreased, respectively, 3 cents for each full percent that the current supply-demand ratio computed pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section is greater or less than 72 percent, but shall not be increased or decreased more than 24 cents due to the supply-demand ratio."

2. In § 907.51 delete paragraph (b) and substitute:

(b) Class II milk. The price for Class II milk shall be the basic formula price plus the following amounts as indicated: August, September, October and November, 70 cents; all other months, 45 cents: Provided, That such Class II price differentials shall be adjusted by the amount of any adjustment made in the Class I price differential for the same month pursuant to the proviso of paragraph (a) of this section.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of October 1954.

Acting Deputy Administrator.

M. H. MARR

ORDER ACCEPTING RATE SCHEDULE AND SUPPLEMENT FOR FILING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED RATE INCREASE

On September 27, 1954, M. H. Marr (Applicant) tendered for filing with the Commission, pursuant to Order No. 174–A issued August 6, 1954, in Docket No. R–138, a contract, together with two changes therein, which have been designated as FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and Supplements Nos. 1 and 2 thereto.

Applicant's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 is a contract dated April 24, 1950, covering the sale of natural gas by Applicant to Mississippi River Fuel Corporation (Mississippi). Supplement No. 1 thereto is a supplemental agreement also dated April 24, 1950. Supplement No. 2 thereto gives notice that Applicant proposes to increase the charge for the gas sold to Mississippi pursuant to a periodic price-increase provision in the basic contract. The annual amount of increase to Mississippi is estimated to be $2,400. Applicant requests that Supplement No. 2 become effective October 30, 1954.

The gas sold by Applicant to Mississippi pursuant to the foregoing rate schedule and supplements is transported and sold in interstate commerce.

The rate increase proposed by Applicant in Supplement No. 2 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 has not been justified and may be unjust, unreasonable, and otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds:

(1) M. H. Marr is a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act, and his sale of gas to Mississippi River Fuel Corporation under the aforesaid rate schedule and supplements is a sale in interstate commerce of natural gas for resale for ultimate public consumption.

(2) FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and Supplement No. 1 thereto, filed by Applicant on September 27, 1954, should be accepted for filing.

(3) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of such act, concerning the lawfulness of the increase in rates and charges proposed by Applicant in Supplement No. 2 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1, and that said supplement be suspended as hereinafter ordered and the use thereof deferred pending hearing and decision thereon, except as it may become effective as provided by the Natural Gas Act.

The Commission orders:

(A) FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and Supplement No. 1 thereto, filed by M. H. Marr on September 27, 1954, be and they are hereby accepted for filing.

(B) Nothing contained in this order shall be construed as a waiver of the requirements of section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act; nor shall it be construed as constituting approval by this Commission of any service, rate, charge, classification, or any rule, regulation, contract or practice affecting such service or rate, nor shall this be deemed as recognition of any claimed contractual right or obligation affecting or relating to such service or rate.

(C) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by further order of the Commission concerning the lawfulness of the rates, charges, classifications and services contained in Supplement No. 2 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 filed by Applicant on September 27, 1954.

(D) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Supplement No. 2 to FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until further order of the Commission, but not beyond March 30, 1955, and until such further time as such supplement may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(E) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(F) This order is without prejudice to any findings or orders which have been or may hereafter be made by the Commission in any proceeding now pending, or hereafter instituted, by or against M. H. Marr.

Adopted: October 22, 1954.

Issued: October 25, 1954.

ARKANSAS LOUISIANA GAS CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING SALE BY HOLDING COMPANY OF SHARES OF STOCK OF SUBSIDIARY PUBLIC-UTILITY COMPANY AND APPLICATION BY PURCHASER OF SUCH STOCK FOR EXEMPTION AS TEMPORARY HOLDING COMPANY, ORDER OF CONSLIDATION OF PROCEEDINGS, AND ORDER FOR HEARING WITH RESPECT TO CONSOLIDATED PROCEEDINGS

OCTOBER 25, 1954.

In the matter of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, Cities Service Company, Gas Advisers, Inc., File No. 70-3305; W. R. Stephens Investment Company, Inc., File No. 31-619.

Notice is hereby given that Cities Service Company ("Cities"), a registered holding company, its public-utility company subsidiary, Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company ("Arkla"), and its service company subsidiary, Gas Advisers, Inc. ("Advisers"), have filed with this Commission a joint application-declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"). Applicants-declarants have designated sections 11 (b), 12 (c), 12 (d), and 12 (f) of the act and Rules U-42, U-43, U-44 and U-50 of the general rules and regulations promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions which are summarized as follows:

Cities proposes, pursuant to a contract dated October 15, 1954, between Cities and W. R. Stephens Investment Company, Inc. ("Stephens"), to sell to Stephens all of Cities' holdings, consisting of 1,958,189 shares, of $5 par value common stock of Arkla at the price of $12.50 per share, for an aggregate cash consideration of $24,477,362.50, plus $2,682.45 for each day from October 1, 1954, to the closing date. Cities proposes to apply the proceeds received from the sale of such common stock of Arkla toward the purchase of additional shares of common stock or other securities of certain non-utility subsidiaries as shall be designated by Cities in an amendment to be filed to the application-declaration.

On the date of the consummation of the proposed sale by Cities to Stephens of Arkla common stock, Arkla proposes to sell to Advisers, and Advisers proposes to purchase for retirement, 130 shares of $100 par value capital stock of Advisers now held by Arkla for $13,000, and concurrently therewith to terminate the service contract between Arkla and Advisers dated January 1, 1938.

Cities requests that the proposed sale of Arkla common stock be excepted from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50. Cities also requests that the order herein approving the proposed sale of Arkla common stock contain appropriate findings and recitals conforming to the requirements of part VI of subchapter O of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

Applicants-declarants represent that no State commission, and no Federal commission other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that Stephens, a securities dealer as defined in section 3 (a) (5) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, proposes, as above indicated, to purchase from Cities at the price of $12.50 per share the 1,958,189 shares of common stock of Arkla to be sold by Cities; and in addition Stephens proposes:

(a) To make an offer to all other common stockholders of Arkla to purchase at $12.50 per share all shares of common stock of Arkla tendered pursuant to such offer to a New York agent designated by applicant within fifteen days after the order of the Commission authorizing the sale by Cities to, and the purchase thereof by Stephens, of the shares of Arkla common stock to be sold by Cities;

(b) Upon consummation of the proposed acquisition of Arkla's common stock from Cities, to use its best efforts to cause the divestment by Arkla, to a company to be organized, of Arkla's production, gathering and extraction facilities, which at December 31, 1953, aggregated, before deduction of depletion and depreciation reserves, an estimated $30,801,000 out of a total plant account of $104,937,000, the distribution of the capital stock of such new company to the stockholders of Arkla, and the sale by Stephens to Mississippi River Fuel Corporation, a nonaffiliated gas pipe line company, of all of the shares of the new company received by applicant as a stockholder of Arkla;

(c) Upon consummation of the transactions contemplated in (b) above, to divest itself of all shares of Arkla then held, and cease to be a holding company.

Stephens, recognizing that, upon the acquisition of the Arkla common stock proposed to be acquired from Cities, it will become a holding company as defined in section 2 (a) (7) of the act, has filed with this Commission an application, pursuant to section 3 (a) (4) of that act, for exemption, as a holding company, from the provisions thereof.

All interested persons are referred to the joint application-declaration of Cities, Arkla, and Advisers, and to the application of Stephens, on file in the offices of the Commission, for a complete statement in respect of the proposed transactions and related matters.

It appearing that the application-declaration of Cities, Arkla, and Advisers, and the application of Stephens involve common issues of law and fact, that the consolidation of the proceedings in respect thereof would expedite disposition of the issues raised thereby; and

It further appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held in respect of said proposed transactions, and that the application-declaration of Cities, Arkla, and Advisers, and said application of Stephens shall not be granted and permitted to become effective except pursuant to the further order or orders of the Commission:

It is ordered, That the proceedings on the said application-declaration of Cities, Arkla, and Advisers (File No. 70-3305) and the application of Stephens (File No. 31-619) be, and they are hereby, consolidated for the purposes of receiving evidence, subject, however, to the Commission's right, on its own motion or upon application of an interested person, to sever said proceedings, in whole or in part, either for hearing or disposition, as may be deemed appropriate; and that a hearing in the consolidated proceedings be held on November 12, 1954, at 10:00 a. m., at the offices of the Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington, D. C., in such room as may be designated by the Hearing Room Clerk in Room 193.

It is further ordered, That any person desiring to be heard in connection with the proceeding, or otherwise to participate herein, shall file with the Secretary of the Commission, Washington 25, D. C., on or before November 10, 1954, his request or application therefor as provided in Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That Edward C. Johnson, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing in the consolidated proceedings; and that the officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act, and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Division of Corporate Regulation of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the application-declaration of Cities, Arkla, and Advisers, and of the application of Stephens, and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration, without prejudice to its specifying additional matters and questions upon further examination:

1. Whether the proposed sale by Cities of Arkla common stock is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and is otherwise in conformity with the Commission orders of May 5 and October 12, 1944 (Holding Company Act Release Nos. 5028 and 5350), directing Cities to divest itself of its interest, direct and indirect, in Arkla among other companies.

2. Whether it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers to exempt the proposed sale of Arkla common stock from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50.

3. Whether the consideration to be received by Cities for the 1,958,189 shares of common stock of Arkla is reasonable and whether competitive conditions have been maintained.

4. Whether the terms and provisions of the proposed sale by Cities of its interest in Arkla is fair and equitable to all persons affected thereby.

5. Whether any fees, commissions and other remuneration to be paid by Cities in connection with the proposed sale of Arkla common stock are not unreasonable and for necessary services.

6. Whether the accounting entries to be made by Cities to record the consummation of the proposed sale of Arkla common stock conforms to sound accounting principles and are otherwise appropriate.

7. Whether the proposed sale by Arkla and the proposed acquisition for retirement by Advisers of the shares of the capital stock of Advisers owned by Arkla is in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers, whether the consideration to be received by Arkla and paid by Advisers is reasonable, whether any fees, commissions and other remuneration to be paid in connection therewith are not unreasonable and are for necessary services, and whether the accounting entries to be made by Arkla and Advisers to record the consummation of such transactions conform to sound accounting principles and are otherwise appropriate.

8. Whether any terms and conditions should be imposed for the protection of the public interest or the interest of investors and consumers in connection with the proposed sale by Cities of the Arkla common stock, and, if so, the nature of such terms and conditions.

9. Whether any terms and conditions should be imposed to protect the public interest or the interest of investors and consumers in connection with the transactions proposed by Arkla and Advisers.

10. Whether the transactions proposed by Stephens will result in the creation of a holding company which is temporarily a holding company solely by reason of the acquisition of securities for purposes of liquidation or distribution in connection with a bona fide arrangement for the underwriting or distribution of securities.

11. Whether any terms and conditions should be imposed for the protection of the public interest or the interest of investors and consumers in connection with any exemption granted to Stephens, and, if so, the nature of such terms and conditions.

It is further ordered, That at said hearing special attention be given to the above matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall give notice of said hearing by serving a copy of this notice and order by registered mail, return receipt requested, on Cities, Arkla, Advisers, Stephens, the Federal Power Commission, Arkansas Public Service Commission, Louisiana Public Service Commission, Texas Railroad Commission, the Mayors of the cities of Little Rock, North Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, El Dorado, Texarkana and Camden, Arkansas; Shreveport and Bossier City, Louisiana; and Texarkana, Texas; and that notice shall be given to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER; and that a general release of this Commission shall be distributed to the press and mailed to those persons appearing on the Commission's mailing list for releases under the act.

It is further ordered, That, at least 14 days prior to the date of such hearing, Cities give notice of such hearing to all stockholders of record, other than Cities, of Arkla not earlier than 30 days prior to such hearing (insofar as the identity of such holders is known and their addresses available to the company) by mailing a copy of this notice and order to each such holder.

By the Commission.

The application must be prepared separately for each sales contract and sshall be filed as promptly as possible after the date of sale but in no event later than the date of export. No payment will be made if such application is filed after the date of export unless the Secretary, upon written request by the exporter stating substantial reasons therefor, waives this requirement. The Secretary will approve applications meeting the requirements of this program, so long as funds which have been allocated to this program are available, in the order in which the applications are received or on such other basis as he may determine to be equitable, will give written notice of approval or disapproval to the exporter, and will notify the exporter

No payment will be made in excess of the sum indicated in the approved application, unless the Secretary, upon written request by the exporter stating substantial reasons therefor, approves a larger amount.

(2) In the event the sales contract covered by any approved application is cancelled or will not be completely fulfilled, the exporter shall promptly request the Representative of the Secretary who approved the application to cancel the quantity which will not be exported. Such request shall be made not later than thirty (30) days after the intended date of export shown in the approved application.

(b) Date of export. No payment under this subpart will be made in connection with any exportation unless the products are exported during the period specified in paragraph (h) of this section, for the respective eligible products. Products shall be deemed to have been exported when loaded on board the exporting carrier provided such products are not thereafter unloaded from such carrier in the United States, its territories, or possessions, and are not diverted to an ineligible country. The date of export of any lot shall be considered to be the date of loading on board the exporting carrier on which movement of such lot from the United States is effected. The date of the on-board bill of lading (or loading tally sheet, see § 517.445 (a) (3)) shall be considered to be the date the products were loaded on board, unless an "on-board" date is shown.

(c) Minimum size of lot. No payment will be made under this subpart for the exportation of any lot of less than one hundred (100) units of any one eligible product. A unit is 1 box of fresh fruit, 1 case of citrus products, or 1 gallon or equivalent of concentrated juice. (e) Packing. (1) All products to be exported under this program shall be suitably packed for export in new boxes, crates, cartons, or cases (or new kegs or barrels for preserved concentrate if so specified in sales contract) acceptable for export shipment in accordance with standard commercial practice and in a manner which reasonably shall assure their arrival in good condition in the country of destination. (f) Export shipment. Fresh oranges shall be exported in refrigerated space on ocean carriers. The export bill of lading shall show that the oranges are stowed in refrigerated space.

(g) Re-entry or diversion. The exporter shall undertake, as a part of his application, which is required in paragraph (a) of this section, that the products exported under this program will thereafter not re-enter the United States or its territories or possessions, or be diverted to other than an eligible country as listed herein, in fresh or processed form. In the event of such re-entry or diversion to other than an eligible country, the exporter shall refund to the Secretary any export payment received under this offer with respect to the quantity so re-entered or diverted.

§ 517.445 Claims for payment supported by evidence of compliance. (a) The exporter shall file claims for payment with the CSS office specified in the approved application not later than sixty (60) days after the date of export of such lot: Provided, That, upon request of the exporter indicating substantial reason therefor, the Secretary may, if he deems it desirable, grant an extension of time for such filing. Each claim for payment shall be filed in an original and two copies on voucher Form CSS–21, "Public Voucher—Commodity Programs," shall show the serial number of the related approved application, and shall be supported by:

(1) One certified copy of the sales contract;

(2) One certified copy of the sales invoice to the buyer showing:

(i) The f. a. s. sales price,

(ii) The payment to be made by the Secretary,

(iii) The balance f. a. s. U. S. port to be paid by the buyer (other charges, if any, such as ocean freight, insurance, etc., shall be shown separately on the invoice), and

(iv) In the case of an invoice to a party named by the buyer as the party to be billed, the exporter shall furnish a certified copy of the directions by the buyer to bill such party;

(3) One copy of the on-board export bill of lading signed by an agent of the exporting carrier (except that where loss, destruction or damage occurs subsequent to loading on board exporting carrier but prior to issuance of the on-board bill of lading, one copy of a loading tally sheet or similar document may be submitted in lieu of such bill of lading) and in the case of exportation via a contiguous country, one signed copy of the on-board bill of lading covering the movement from such contiguous country;

(4) The original (or a signed copy) of the inspection certificate(s) required in paragraph (d) of § 517.443, and;

(5) Such other documents, if any, as may be required by the Secretary, evidencing purchase, sale and exportation of the commodity on which payment is claimed.

(b) The export bill of lading must show the quantity and description of the commodity, inspection certificate number, or other reference sufficient to relate the commodity loaded on board the export carrier to the commodity covered by the related inspection certificate, the date and place of loading, the fact that such commodity is on board, the destination of the commodity, the name and address of both the exporter and consignee, and in the case of fresh oranges, that they are stowed in refrigerated space. If the shipper or consignor named in such bill of lading is other than the exporter (seller) named in the application, the exporter shall furnish with each copy of such bill of lading a waiver by such shipper or consignor, in favor of such exporter, of any right to claim payment under this program for the commodity covered by such bill of lading. If the bill of lading shows the name of a consignee different from that appearing as the buyer on the contract under which the bill of lading is made, the exporter shall accompany his claim on the exportation covered by such bill of lading with a certification that the shipment under that bill of lading is to the buyer named in the contract and is made pursuant to that contract.

(c) The foregoing required evidence will not be accepted as conclusive if the Secretary has reason to believe that exportation of all or any quantity of the product was not actually accomplished or that there has not been compliance with other requirements of this offer, and in any such instance the Secretary may require such additional evidence as he deems reasonable.

§ 517.446 Records and accounts. The exporter shall maintain adequate records showing purchases, sales, and deliveries of products exported or to be exported in connection with this program. Such records, accounts, and other documents relating to any transaction in connection with this program shall be available during regular business hours for inspection and audit by authorized employees of the United States Department of Agriculture, and shall be preserved for at least two years after the effective date of this program.

§ 517.447 Amendment and termination. The Secretary may amend or terminate this program at any time upon public announcement thereof. Such amendment or termination, however, shall not apply to applications approved under the program prior to the effective time of such amendment or termination.

§ 517.448 Persons not eligible. No member of, or Delegate to Congress or Resident Commissioner shall be admitted to any payment under this program or to any benefit that may arise therefrom, but this provision shall not be construed to extend to a payment made to a corporation for its general benefit, or to such person in his capacity as a farmer (grower of the product exported).

§ 517.449 Set-off. The Secretary may set-off, against any amount owed to any exporter hereunder, any amount owed by such exporter to Commodity Credit Corporation, the United States Department of Agriculture, or any other agency of the United States. Setting-off as provided in this subpart shall not deprive the exporter of the right to contest the justness of the indebtedness involved, either by administrative appeal or by legal action.

§ 517.450 Joint payment or assignment. An exporter may name a joint payee on vouchers for payment or may assign the proceeds of any application for export payment to a recognized financing institution, in accordance with the provisions of the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940, Public Law No. 811, 76th Congress, as amended: Provided, That such assignment shall be recognized only if and when the assignee thereof files written notice of assignment, in accordance with the instructions on Form CSS–66 "Notice of Assignment" which form must be used in giving notice of assignment to the Representative of the Secretary. The "Instrument of Assignment" may be executed on Form CSS–347 or the assignee may use his own form of assignment. The CSS forms may be obtained from any Representative of the Secretary.

§ 517.451 Good faith. Whereas it is the intent of this program to encourage the exportation of fresh and processed oranges and grapefruit produced in the United States by making such products available to foreign buyers at prices below domestic market prices in the amount of the payment offered in this subpart; now, therefore, if the Secretary determines that any exporter has not acted in good faith in carrying out the purpose of this program, has not passed on to foreign buyers the incentive payment offered in this subpart, or otherwise fails to discharge fully any obligation assumed by him under this program, such exporter may be denied the right to continue participating in this program, or the right to receive payment under this program in connection with any exportations previously made under this program, or both.

§ 517.452 Definitions. As used in §§ 517.440 to 517.452, the following terms have the following meanings:

Such sales contract may, however, be conditioned upon contingencies or events over which the exporter has no control, such as the allocation of the necessary dollars by the eligible foreign country, or the making of an export payment by the Secretary in connection with the particular sales contract pursuant to this offer.

(e) "Date of sale" means the date on which both buyer and seller signed a written contract, or the date on which buyer accepts an offer of sale or confirms the purchase, or the date on which the seller accepts an offer to purchase or confirms the sale. In the absence of documentary evidence establishing the date of consummation of sale the date of sale shown in the application will be considered to be the date the sale was consummated.

[Avocado Order 5]

QUALITY REGULATION

§ 969.305 Avocado Order 5—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 69 (7 CFR Part 969; 19 F. R. 3439) regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than November 1, 1954. Shipments of avocados, grown in South Florida, are presently subject to maturity regulations, pursuant to the marketing agreement and order; a reasonable determination as to the quality, the supply of and demand for, such avocados must await the development of the crop thereof, and adequate information thereon was not available to the Avocado Administrative Committee until October 26, 1954; recommendation as to the need for and the extent of, regulation of the quality of shipments of such avocados was made at a meeting of said committee on October 26, 1954, after consideration of all available information as to the quality, the supply of and demand for such avocados, at which time the recommendations and supporting information for quality regulation was submitted to the Department; such meeting was held to consider recommendation for such regulation after giving due notice thereof, and interested parties were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section are identical with the aforesaid recommendations of the committee and information concerning such provisions has been disseminated among the handlers of avocados; and compliance with the provisions of this section will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., November 1, 1954, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., December 1, 1954, no handler shall handle:

(i) Any avocados, grown in South Florida, which do not grade at least No. 2 Grade, as defined in § 969.130 (b) of the supplementing rules and regulations (19 F. R. 5439): Provided, That such avocados may fail to meet the requirements of such grade with respect to anthracnose (black spot).

Dated: October 27, 1954.

AUTHORITY: §§ 995.1 to 995.111 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c.

§ 995.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Lima, Ohio, on August 17–19, 1953, upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Lima, Ohio, marketing area. The hearing was reopened in Lima on May 27, 1954. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that;

(1) The said order, as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order, effective not later than November 1, 1954. Any delay beyond that date in making this order amending the order effective will tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the Lima, Ohio, marketing area. The changes effected by this order amending the order do not require persons affected to make substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date. Proposed amendments which would result in changes similar to those effected by this order amending the order were considered at a public hearing held on August 17–19, 1953, and reopened May 27, 1954; recommended decisions in this proceeding, to which interested parties were given an opportunity to file written exceptions, were issued on March 5 and August 9, 1954; and a final decision in this proceeding was issued on October 1, 1954. Under these circumstances persons affected by this order amending the order have been afforded a reasonable time within which to prepare for its effective date. Therefore, good cause exists, pursuant to section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, (Public Law 404, 79th Congress, 60 Stat. 237) for making this order amending the order effective November 1, 1954.

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order, amending the order, which is marketed within the Lima, Ohio, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (July 1954), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Lima, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, as set forth below:

(a) The quantities of butterfat and skim milk contained in such receipts, and their sources;

(b) The utilization of such receipts; and

(c) Such other information with respect to such receipts and utilization as the market administrator may prescribe.

§ 995.31 Other reports. Each handler shall report to the market administrator, in the detail and on forms prescribed by the market administrator, as follows, except that each producer-handler shall make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may request: On or before the 22d day after the end of each month his producer payroll for the month, which shall show (a) the pounds of milk and the percentages of butterfat contained therein received from each producer; (b) the amounts and dates of payments to each producer or cooperative association; and (c) the nature and amount of each deduction or charge involved in the payments referred to in paragraph (b) of this section.

§ 995.33 Retention of records. All books and records required under this subpart to be made available to the market administrator shall be retained by the handler for a period of three years to begin at the end of the month to which such books and records pertain: Provided, That if, within such three-year period, the market administrator notifies a handler in writing that the retention of such books and records or of specified books and records is necessary in connection with a proceeding under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or a court action specified in such notice, the handler shall retain such books and records, or specified books and records, until further written notification from the market administrator. The market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 995.40 Basis of classification. All skim milk and butterfat (in any form) received at a fluid milk plant as (a) producer milk, (b) a transfer from another fluid milk plant, and (c) other source milk, shall be classified in the classes set forth in § 995.41.

§ 995.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 995.42, 995.43, 995.44, and 995.45, the classes of utilization of milk shall be:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat disposed of (1) in fluid form (other than as livestock feed) as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cultured milk products, concentrated milk, and sweet or sour cream, eggnog and any cream product in fluid form having more than 8 percent butterfat; and (2) as all skim milk and butterfat not accounted for as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat accounted for as (1) used to produce a product other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section, (2) having been dumped or disposed of for livestock feeding, (3) actual plant shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat received in producer milk but not to exceed 2 percent of such receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, and (4) actual plant shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat in other source milk received: Provided, That if producer milk is utilized as milk, skim milk, or cream in conjunction with other source milk, the shrinkage allocated to each shall be computed pro rata according to the proportions of the volume of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, received from each such source to their total.

§ 995.42 Interplant transfers. Skim milk and butterfat disposed of in the form of milk, cream, or skim milk by a handler to any milk processing or milk manufacturing plant, including any other fluid milk plant, shall be Class I milk, unless (a) Class II use is indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the transferring handler and the receiver on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such disposition was made, and (b) the receiver maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at his plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the verification of such reported utilization: Provided, That, in no event shall the amount so reported be greater than the total amount so used by the receiver.

§ 995.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk unless the handler who first received such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat classified in one class shall be reclassified if used or reused by such handler or by another handler in another class.

§ 995.44 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for obvious errors the report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler.

§ 995.45 Allocation of butterfat classified. The market administrator shall determine the classification of butterfat in producer milk received by each handler as follows:

(a) Subtract from the total pounds of butterfat in Class II milk the total pounds of butterfat shrinkage pursuant to § 995.41 (b) (3) and (4).

(b) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class the pounds of butterfat received from other handlers and used in such class.

(c) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat in each class the pounds of butterfat contained in milk or milk products received in packaged form which were classified and priced under another Federal order and disposed of in the same form as received.

(d) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, in sequence beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of butterfat in other source milk other than butterfat shrinkage in other source milk subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(e) Add to the pounds of butterfat remaining in Class II milk the pounds of butterfat shrinkage in producer milk subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and if the remaining pounds of butterfat in all classes exceed the pounds of butterfat received in producer milk, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class, in sequence beginning with Class II milk. The pounds of butterfat remaining shall be the pounds in each class allocated to producer milk.

§ 995.46 Allocation of skim milk classified. Skim milk shall be allocated to each class in accordance with the same procedure as outlined for butterfat in § 995.45.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 995.51 Class I milk prices. Subject to the provisions of § 995.53, the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers at his fluid milk plant during the month, which is classified as Class I milk, shall be determined by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Ascertain the Class I minimum price for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content for the month as determined pursuant to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio marketing area (Order No. 75; Part 975 of this chapter).

(b) Deduct the location adjustment rates on Class I milk which would be applicable pursuant to Part 975 of this chapter at a pool plant located at Lima; and

(c) On sweet or sour cream, eggnog, and any cream product in fluid form having more than 8 percent butterfat, also make any deduction specified by the proviso in § 975.61 (a) of this chapter.

§ 995.52 Class II milk prices. The minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for skim milk and butterfat in producer milk received at his fluid milk plant during the month, which is classified as Class II milk, shall be determined by the market administrator by computing (to the nearest tenth of a cent) prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid, or to be paid, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during such month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator by the U. S. D. A. or by the companies listed below:

Company and Location

Defiance Milk Products Co. Defiance, Ohio.
Pet Milk Co., Coldwater, Ohio.
Nestles Milk Products Co., (uninspected milk price), Marysville, Ohio.
Fisher Dairy and Cheese Co., Wapakoneta, Ohio.
Swift and Co., Lima, Ohio.

§ 995.53 Handler butterfat differentials. If the average butterfat content of the milk of any handler allocated to any class is more or less than 3.5 percent, there shall be added to the prices of milk for each class as computed pursuant to §§ 995.51 and 995.52 for each one-tenth of one percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.5 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of one percent that such average butterfat content is below 3.5 percent, an amount equal to the average daily wholesale price per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the U. S. D. A. during the month, multiplied by the following factors:

(a) Class I milk. Multiply by 1.55 and divide the result by 10.

(b) Class II milk. Multiply by 1.10 and divide the result by 10.

HANDLER'S OBLIGATION AND UNIFORM PRICE

§ 995.60 Value of producer milk. The value of producer milk received by each handler during the month shall be the sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat in each class by the applicable class prices and adding together the resulting amounts, and adding or subtracting, as the case may be, the amount necessary to correct errors in classification for previous months as disclosed by audit of the market administrator: Provided, That, if a handler after the subtraction of other source milk and receipts from other handlers, has disposed of skim milk or butterfat in excess of the skim milk or butterfat which on the basis of his reports for the month, pursuant to § 995.30, has been credited to his producers as having been received from them, there shall be added to the value of his producer milk a further amount computed by multiplying the pounds in each class as subtracted pursuant to §§ 995.45 (d) and 995.46 by the applicable class price.

§ 995.61 Computation of uniform price. For each month the market administrator shall compute for each handler a "uniform price" per hundredweight of producer milk received by such handler by:

(a) Subtracting from the value of milk computed for such handler pursuant to § 995.60, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk represented by such value is greater than 3.5 percent or adding, if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat represented by the difference of such weighted average butterfat test from 3.5 percent, by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 995.75 multiplied by 10;

(b) Adding or subtracting, as the case may be, the amount necessary to correct errors in classification for previous months as disclosed by audit of the market administrator;

(c) Adjusting the resulting amount by the sum of money used in adjusting the uniform price, pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section for the previous month to the nearest cent;

(d) Dividing the result by the total hundredweight of producer milk represented by the amounts computed pursuant to § 995.60; and,

(e) Adjusting the resulting figure to the nearest cent.

§ 995.62 Notification. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall mail to each handler, at his last known address, a statement showing for such month:

(a) The amount and value of his producer milk in each class;

(b) The uniform price for such handler computed pursuant to § 995.61, and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 995.75; and,

(c) The amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 995.76 and 995.77.

PAYMENTS

§ 995.70 Time and method of final payment. On or before the 18th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to each producer, or to a cooperative association with respect to milk which was caused to be delivered to him by such association either directly or from producers who have authorized such association to collect payment for them, for milk received from such producer or so delivered by such cooperative association, respectively, during such month not less than the uniform price for such handler adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to § 995.75, less the amount of payment made pursuant to § 995.71.

§ 995.71 Partial payments. On or before the last day of each month each handler shall pay to each producer, or to a cooperative association authorized to collect payment, for the milk received from such producer or caused to be delivered to such handler by such cooperative association during the first fifteen days of each month at a rate computed as follows:

(a) Deduct 75 cents from the uniform price for such handler for the preceding month.

(b) Add or subtract any amount by which the Class I price differential for the current month is greater than or less than, respectively, the differential for the preceding month.

(c) Round off the result to the nearest multiple of 10 cents.

Provided, That in the event any producer discontinues shipping to such handler during any month, such partial payments need not be made and full payment for all milk received from such producer during such month shall be made pursuant to the provisions of § 995.70.

§ 995.75 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 995.70 the uniform price for each handler shall be adjusted for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in the milk of each producer above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, by a butterfat differential (computed to the nearest tenth of a cent) computed as follows: Multiply by 1.3 the average daily wholesale price per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the U. S. D. A. during the month, and divide the result by 10.

§ 995.76 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of expense incurred pursuant to § 995.22 (d), each handler shall pay the market administrator, on or before the 14th day after the end of each month, 3 cents per hundredweight of milk, or such amount not to exceed 3 cents as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, with respect to receipts during such month, of (a) producer milk (including any milk of such handler's own production), and (b) other source milk classified as Class I milk: Provided, That a handler who receives only other source milk shall make such payments with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of within the marketing area during such month as any item included in Class I milk.

§ 995.77 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers pursuant to § 995.70, with respect to all milk received each month from each producer (except milk of such handler's own production) at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct 6 cents per hundredweight of milk, or such amount not to exceed 6 cents as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, and on or before the 18th day after the end of such month shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be expended by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of milk of such producers and to provide such producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator, or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) Each cooperative association which is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the market administrator, may file with a handler a claim for authorized deductions from the payments otherwise due to its producer members for milk delivered to such handler. Such claim shall contain a list of the producers for which such deductions apply, an agreement to indemnify the handler in the making of the deductions, and a certification that the Association has an unterminated membership contract with each producer. In making payments to producers for milk received during the month, each handler shall make deductions in accordance with the Association's claim and shall pay the amount deducted to the Association within 18 days after the end of the month.

§ 995.78 Errors in payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses errors resulting in moneys due (a) the market administrator from such handler, or such handler from the market administrator, pursuant to §§ 995.76 or 995.77 or (b) any producer or cooperative association from such handler pursuant to § 995.70 the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 995.80 Milk subject to other Federal orders. Milk received by a handler the handling of which is subject to the pricing and payment provisions of any other Federal milk marketing order issued pursuant to the act shall not be subject to the pricing and payment provisions of this subpart.

§ 995.81 Milk caused to be delivered by cooperative associations. Milk referred to as received from producers by a handler shall include milk of producers caused to be delivered directly from the farm to the fluid milk plant of such handler by a cooperative association which is authorized to collect payment for such milk.

§ 995.82 Milk diverted. (a) Producer milk diverted by an operator of a fluid milk plant from such plant to a plant not a fluid milk plant shall be deemed to have been received by the fluid milk plant from which such milk was diverted.

(b) Producer milk diverted by a cooperative association from a fluid milk plant to a plant not a fluid milk plant shall be deemed to have been received by such association.

§ 995.83 Producer-handlers. Sections 995.40 through 995.46, 995.50 through 995.52, 995.60 through 995.62 and 995.70 through 995.78 shall not apply to the milk of a producer-handler.

TERMINATION OF OBLIGATIONS

§ 995.90 Termination of obligations. (a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this subpart shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's report of utilization of the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to a cooperative association, the name of such producers or association, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this subpart, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books or records required by this subpart to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not oegin to run until the first day of the month following the month during which such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this subpart shall terminate two years after the end of the month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 995.100 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart, or of any amendment to this subpart, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 995.101 When suspended or terminated. Whenever the Secretary finds this subpart or any provision of this subpart obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall terminate or suspend the operation of this subpart, or any such provision of this subpart.

§ 995.102 Continuing obligations. If upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this subpart, these are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 995.103 Liquidation. Upon the suspension of the provisions of this subpart, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 995.110 Agents. The Secretary may by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

§ 995.111 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this subpart, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid the application of such provisions, and of the remaining provisions of this subpart, to other persons or circumstances shall not be effected thereby.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of October 1954 to be effective on and after the 1st day of November 1954.

§ 3.1 Confidential treatment of mail. Sealed mail while in the custody of the Post Office Department is accorded absolute secrecy. No persons in the Postal Service, except those employed for that purpose in dead-mail offices may break or permit the breaking of the seal of any mailed matter, without a legal warrant, even though it may contain criminal or otherwise unmailable matter, or furnish evidence of the conviction of a crime.

(R. S. 161, 396; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369)

Sec.
11.1 Adequacy of packaging standards.
11.2 Cartons and boxes.
11.3 Internal protection.
11.4 Outside wrapping (closure).
11.5 Marking on packages.

AUTHORITY: §§ 11.1 to 11.5 issued under R. S. 161, 396, sec. 24, 20 Stat. 361, sec. 1, 62 Stat. 781, as amended; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369, 18 U. S. C. 1716, 39 U. S. C. 250.

§ 11.1 Adequacy of packaging standards. This part contains standards and methods for ordinary packaging and wrapping of parcels. Certain types of items are excluded from the mails unless packaged so as to assure safe transit. For such special packaging regulations, see Part 15 of this chapter.

§ 11.2 Cartons and boxes—(a) Types of shipping containers. Shipping containers must be strong enough to retain and protect their contents from the weight of other mails. Boxes or cartons of the following materials are commonly used: Corrugated or solid fiberboard, kraftboard, chipboard (for small items), fiber mailing tubes with metal ends, metal, and wood. Heavy wrapping paper or burlap or similar cloth may be used for parcels containing unbreakable goods which would not be damaged by the weight of other mails. The strength of carton required will depend on the weight, size, and nature of the article shipped as well as the distance it is to go. Parcels addressed to distant zones receive more handling and therefore require stronger containers than parcels addressed to nearby points.

(b) Size of container. The outer shipping container should be the proper size to hold the goods shipped with enough space for cushioning material inside. If the container is too large, the contents are liable to shift while in transit. If it is too small, or if too much is put into it, there will not be enough room for protective internal cushioning. An overstuffed carton may burst in transit.

(c) Used containers. You may obtain a good used corrugated fiberboard box at a grocery or drug store. Select one in good rigid condition with the four top flaps intact. If a box of the desired size cannot be found a larger one may be cut down as shown in illustration 11.2 (c). Bend the four sides over the articles which have been cushioned in the box.

(d) Chipboard boxes. Small rigid telescoping chipboard boxes are usually used for small articles such as watches, jewelry, pens, etc.

§ 11.3 Internal protection—(a) Purpose of cushioning. (1) If a single item is shipped, sufficient cushioning material should surround the item so that it will be protected from outside impact against the carton in which it is shipped.

(2) If two or more items are shipped in the same carton or box, the cushioning should protect the items from damaging one another, in addition to protecting against outside impact. Each item should be separately wrapped so that no damage will result regardless of the position of the package inside a mail sack.

(b) Cushioning materials. (1) Excelsior, flexible corrugated fiberboard, or felt are commonly used to cushion heavy articles. Cellulose materials, cotton, clothing, shredded paper, or tissue paper are used for lighter items. The amount of cushioning needed will depend on size and nature of items mailed.

(2) About 2 inches of cushioning material should be evenly and firmly placed on all sides of the fragile item.

(3) Heavy and lightweight items should not be packed together in the same compartment. Pack them so the heavy item will remain in a fixed position.

(c) Chinaware. (1) The pieces must be individually cushioned.

(2) If shredded paper or excelsior is used, at least 2 inches of either should be placed on all four sides of the box and on top and bottom. Each piece must be properly spaced and cushioned to avoid strain or damage to other pieces. About one-half of an inch cushioning between flat pieces will be adeqate.

(3) Breakage of one item when packed with soft cushioning material may result in general loosening of other articles in the carton with further damage. If corrugated interior packing is used such as trays, pads, partitions, compartments, etc., they must be arranged so that individual items do not touch the wall of the shipping carton or each other. Flexible packing pads between each item of the same size may be used in nesting.

(4) The weight of upper compartments should be borne by corrugated packing and not by articles in lower compartments.

(d) Stemware. These pieces may be very fragile and in case of faulty manufacture they may be damaged by temperature or climatic changes. See illustrations 11.3 (d) (A) and 11.3 (d) (B) for packing.

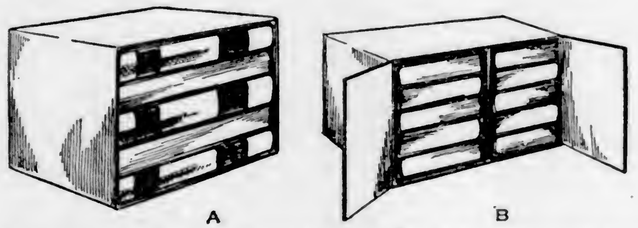
(f) Optical goods and spectacles. These items should be cushioned in an exceptionally strong shipping carton as shown in illustration 11.3 (f). The chipboard box shown on the right has a liner of corrugated fiberboard for added strength.

(g) Radios. Plastic radio cases are susceptible to damage. The radio should be packed in an inner carton, cushioned within the other by 2 inches of material on all sides, top and bottom. A commercial package is shown in illustration 11.3 (g).

(h) Books. (1) Pack single books in corrugated cardboard, so as to protect edges and corners against damage.

(2) The number of books in a carton will vary according to their weight and size. As many as 10 average size, cloth bound books can be shipped together safety. If the books are larger than average, no more than 5 should be packed together.

(3) When 2 to 5 books are shipped together, stagger the way they face, so that the open edge of one book will alternate with the backbone of another. See illustration A.



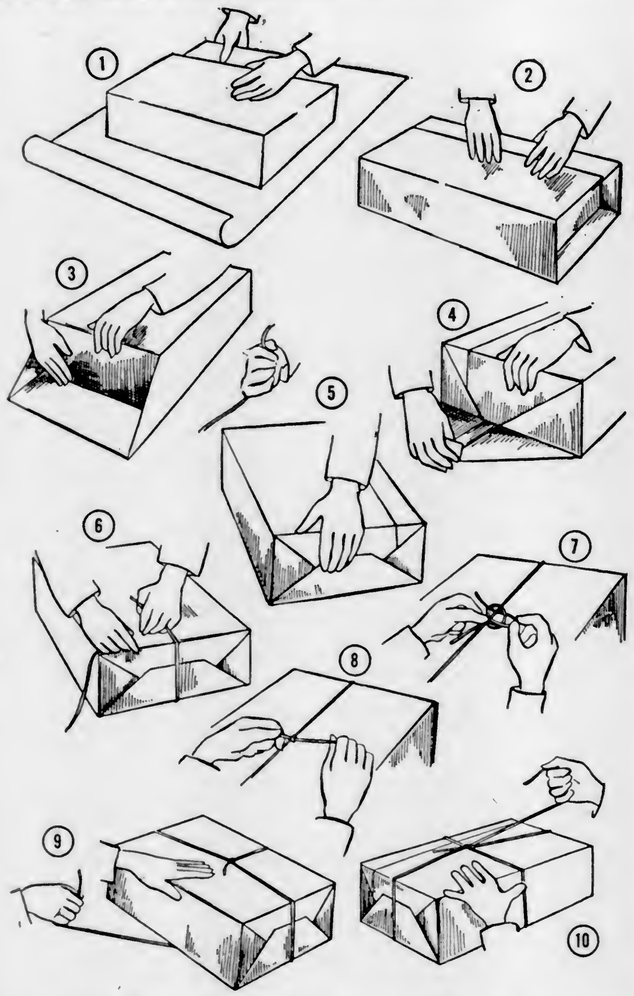
A B

(4) If 6 to 10 average books are packed together, divide them evenly into 2 groups separated by corrugated cardboard. See illustration B.

(5) Do not pack books so that the open side of one faces the open side of another. They are apt to interlace and damage each other.

§ 11.4 Outside wrapping (closure). (a) Small telescoping chipboard boxes may have metal clasps which fold over and hold the two parts of the box together. Further reinforcement is not required.

(b) Fiberboard cartons may be wrapped and tied with strong twine or rope as shown in illustration 11.4 (b). This affords the greatest protection to contents. A fiberboard carton in good condition need not be wrapped. The seams may be taped if desired, to exclude dust, and the box then tied securely. The use of tape alone on large cartons is not recommended.



(c) Dry, nonfragile materials may be wrapped in heavy paper and tied with twine. Thin paper bags are not acceptable.

(d) Articles which are self-contained may be mailed without outside packaging or wrapping. The Post Office Department will not be responsible, however, if the surface or finish of the article becomes marred or damaged.

§ 11.5 Marking on packages—(a) Fragile. Packages containing articles of a delicate nature such as glass, chinaware, electrical appliances, jewelry, musical instruments and radios, must be marked by the mailer "Fragile."

(b) Perishable. Products which decay quickly, such as fresh meats, fresh fruits, and vegetables, shall be marked "Perishable."

(c) Conditional labeling. (1) Words like "Do Not Bend, Do Not Fold or Crush" may be used only when content is fully protected with stiffening material.

(2) Words like "Rush or Do Not Delay" may be used only on packages intended for shipment as Special Delivery or Special Handling Mail.

(d) Unauthorized labeling. (1) Labels and markings printed on cartons or on wrappers of parcels or on gummed tape on parcels are not permitted in lieu of any required label.

(2) Obsolete markings or labels shall be covered or obliterated.

(3) Parcels improperly labeled as to nature of contents are not acceptable.

12.1 Color.
12.2 Quality.
12.3 Size.
12.4 Window envelopes.

AUTHORITY: §§ 12.1 to 12.4 issued under R. S. 161, 396; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369.

§ 12.2 Quality. Use paper of sufficient strength to withstand normal handling. Highly glazed paper, or paper with an overall design, is not satisfactory for showing the address and necessary postal endorsements.

§ 12.3 Size. Envelopes of standard sizes are more easily and quickly handled. Envelopes less than 2¾ by 4 inches, or larger than 9 by 12 inches, are not recommended.

§ 12.4 Window envelopes. Window envelopes, or open panel envelopes, may be used when the following conditions are met:

(a) The window shall not be closer than 1⅜ inches from the top of the envelopes, nor ⅜ of an inch from the bottom or ends.

(b) The window must be parallel with the length of the envelope.

(c) Only one window is permissible.

(d) Nothing but the name and address shall appear through the window.

AUTHORITY: §§ 13.1 to 13.5 issued under R. S. 161, 396; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369.

§ 13.1 General information. (a) All mail must bear a clear and legible address.

(b) Write the names and addresses clearly and legibly.

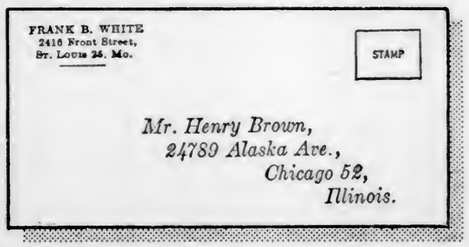
(c) Mail addressed to letter-carrier offices must include the street and number, or post office box number.

(d) Include the postal delivery unit number on mail addressed to cities using that system.

(e) Matter bearing dual addresses, or the names of more than one post office in the return address or in the recipient's address is not acceptable for mailing.

(f) Matter bearing instructions to return to "Point of Mailing" (postmark) is not acceptable for mailing.

§ 13.2 Arrangement of address. (a) The proper place for the address on all mail is in the lower right portion of the address side; the postage (stamps or metered or printed postage impressions) in the upper right corner; and the return address of the sender in the upper left corner.



(b) Leave sufficient space on the address side of all mail for necessary directions or endorsements, and the postage stamps and postmarking. Leave at least 3½ inches of clear space, from top to bottom, at the right end of the address side of envelopes, folders, or labels. In the case of large envelopes or mailing pieces leave a clear rectangular space of not less than 5 by 3 inches for the address, stamps, postmarks, etc.

(c) Illustration of how to fix a first-class letter on a parcel:

§ 13.3 Where to put handling instructions—(a) Pledge to pay return or forwarding postage (or both). Below the return address of the sender. (Only on second-, third- and fourth-class matter.)

(b) Form 3547 requested (notice of new address). Printed in lower left corner. (Only on third- and fourth-class matter.)

(c) Authority to open. In the upper left corner below the return address (and pledge). This authorization must be placed on all sealed parcels prepaid at the third- or fourth-class rates of postage (except in the case of miscellaneous printed matter weighing less than 8 ounces, which may not be mailed sealed at the third-class rate). The authorization may be handwritten, typewritten, handstamped, printed, or put on by any other method.

§ 13.4 Simplified address—(a) Style. Where general distribution of mail is desired for all patrons, a simplified address is permitted provided each piece is addressed in one of the following styles:

(1) Rural or Star-Route Boxholder.
(2) Post Office Boxholder.
(3) Patron (or Householder), Letter Carrier Route.
(4) Postal Patron. (This style may be used instead of styles (1), (2), or (3).)
(5) Residential Patron.
(6) Business Patron.

(b) Post office address. Any of the styles shown in paragraph (a) of this section may be followed by the name of the post office and State, or by the word "Local."

(c) "Occupant" mail. To address mail to a specific street number without addressing the occupant by name, the following style may be used:

Occupant

(Post Office and State, or Local)

(d) Preparation requirements. (1) All pieces for the same post office must be put up by the mailer, so far as practicable, in packages of 50 and labeled by means of a facing slip as to the distribution desired, such as: rural route, letter carrier, post office boxholder, etc. If the pieces are put up in quantities other than 50 for each separation, the number of pieces must be shown on the facing slip.

(2) If selective distribution is desired, a sufficient number of pieces must be presented to cover the route or routes selected and the route numbers must be shown on the facing slips.

(3) Postage at the proper rate must be fully prepaid by a method that does not require cancellation: in money under permit, or by means of precanceled stamps, precanceled stamped envelopes, or precanceled postal cards.

(4) Designations such as "Farmer," "Food Buyer," "Voter," etc., are not permitted.

(e) Number of patrons. Upon request, postmasters will furnish without charge the number of patrons served, as follows:

(1) Route numbers, and number of residential and business patrons on each carrier-delivery route. If you furnish the boundary lines of a territory where you want mail delivered, this information will be furnished for the whole of each route serving that territory.

(2) Number of post office boxholder patrons.

(3) Route numbers, and number of patrons on each rural and star route.

§ 13.5 Correction of mailing list addresses—(a) Service available. Mailing lists will be corrected but not compiled. Mailing lists submitted by departments of State governments, municipalities, religious, fraternal and recognized charitable organizations, and mailing lists used by concerns for the solicitation of business by mail, will be corrected as frequently as requested at the expense of the owners of the lists.

(b) Charge. The charge is 25 cents for a list of less than 25 names and 1 cent per name for lists of 25 or more names, payable in advance by cash or money order, including return postage. Lists used by Members of Congress and Federal agencies are corrected without charge.

(c) Method of submission. Lists should be submitted on cards, one name to a card. Cards should be approximately the size and quality of a postal card. The owner's name should appear in the upper left corner of each card. Lists should be submitted by mail only, except in the case of local firms presenting large lists for correction.

(d) Type of corrections made. Names to which mail cannot be delivered or forwarded will be crossed off; incorrect house, rural, or post office box numbers will be corrected; initials will be corrected where apparently the name is known to the owner of the list; and the head of the family will be indicated, if known, when two or more names are shown for the same address. New addresses for patrons who have moved will be furnished when permanent forwarding orders are on file. New names will not be added to a list.

(e) "Occupant" mailing lists. Lists for mail addressed to "Occupant" at a street address will be corrected by indicating on each card the information, as far as applicable, set forth in paragraph (d) of this section. Numbers representing incorrect street addresses will be crossed off, but no numbers will be added to the cards or any numbers changed. Numbers representing addresses of business houses will be indicated by writing "Business" opposite the number. Numbers served by rural route will be indicated by the word "Rural." Numbers not shown on the mailing lists and to which delivery can be effected will not be added to the lists. The cards will be separated by routes and arranged in the order of delivery before being returned to the owner. Each carrier will place a card on top of those for his route showing (1) the number of possible deliveries to business patrons, and (2) the number of all other possible deliveries on the route.

PART 15—MATTER MAILABLE UNDER SPECIAL RULES

Sec.
15.1 Legal restrictions.
15.2 Adequacy of preparation and packaging.
15.3 Perishable matter.
15.4 Shipments under Federal regulations.
15.5 Concealable firearms.
15.6 Identification and marking.
15.7 Airmail.

AUTHORITY: §§ 15.1 to 15.7 issued under R. S. 161, 396, sec. 1, 62 Stat. 781, as amended, sec. 24, 20 Stat. 361; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369, 18 U. S. C. 1716, 39 U. S. C. 250.

§ 15.1 Legal restrictions—(a) Harmful matter. (1) Certain items which are barred from the mails, as set forth in Part 14 of this chapter, may be mailed if prepared and packaged in accordance with special regulations of the Postmaster General. These are items which are not outwardly or of their own force dangerous or injurious to life, health, or property. Such items may be mailed in accordance with the standards and rules prescribed in this part.

(2) Notwithstanding any statement contained in this part, which covers generally some of the more common situations, the burden rests with the mailer to assure that he has complied with the law and that anything shipped by him has been properly prepared and packaged. The ordinary test of adequate preparation and packaging is whether the contents of a parcel are safely perserved under ordinary hazards of mail handling and transportation.

(3) Products, materials and devices are created or modified with such frequency that the Post Office Department is unable to issue general rulings in advance to govern adequate preparation and packaging. Any mailer may, however, request the Post Office Department, in advance, for a specific ruling as to mailability of his item. The request should be addressed to the local postmaster, who will forward it to the Bureau of Post Office Operations, Mail Classification Division, Washington 25, D. C.

(b) Applicability of other laws. (1) Although not unmailable, as defined in Part 14 of this chapter, certain other items may be mailed only if they comply with applicable Federal laws and regulations.

(2) Any special conditions or limitations placed on transportation or movement of certain things shall govern admissibility to the United States mails, when imposed under law by the U. S. Department of the Treasury, U. S. Department of Agriculture, U. S. Department of Commerce, U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Interstate Commerce Commission or any other Federal department or agency possessing legal jurisdiction.

(c) Penalties. Severe penalties of fine or imprisonment, or both, are provided by law, for anyone who knowingly deposits for mailing or delivery, or causes to be mailed or delivered, anything declared nonmailable under law. Failure to comply with the regulations of the Postmaster General, prescribed in this part, as to matter otherwise nonmailable, constitutes a violation of law.

§ 15.2 Adequacy of preparation and packaging—(a) General nature of precautions required. (1) The restrictions against mailing of harmful matter, from which relief is granted by this part, are intended to prevent damage or harm to postal and transportation personnel, to prevent damage or destruction of other mail and of property, to avoid obnoxious odors, and to prevent the spread of disease and infection. Special preparation and packaging are required to protect against such contingencies.

(2) Basic precautions, covered generally in this section, relate to the inner containers holding the harmful matter, internal cushioning and protection, and exterior packaging and marking.

(b) Liquids (noninflammable) and powders. (1) Precautions to take in the case of liquids generally, pastes, salves, ink powders, pepper, snuff or other pulverized materials are against damage to mails and property from leakage and against caustic, irritant, toxic or soiling effect on mail handling personnel.

(2) Containers shall meet any applicable Interstate Commerce Commission or other Federal specifications. Closures must effectively seal the contents against leakage. Friction tops must be fastened so that they will not come off under impact. This may be done by soldering, clips, or otherwise.

CROSS REFERENCE: For shipping container specifications issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission, see 49 CFR Part 78.

(3) Particularly where the containers of liquids are of glass or other breakable material, they must be packaged to withstand handling en route. The container shall be cushioned inside the carton to absorb shock and impact. Where feasible, absorbent material shall be used, to take up all the liquid in case of breakage.

(4) Poisons for scientific use, which are not outwardly or of their own force dangerous or injurious to life, health or property, may be shipped between manufacturers, dealers, bona fide research or experimental scientific laboratories and employees of the Federal, state or local governments who have official use for such poisons. Any such employee must be designated by the head of his agency to receive or send such poisons. The preparation and packaging of such poisonous articles shall be under the same conditions as applied to other articles covered by this part.

(c) Combustible and gaseous. (1) In addition to precautions specified in paragraph (b) of this section, containers of inflammable liquids must have sufficient air space to allow for vapor expansion under variations. This is to guard against bursting from internal pressure.

(2) Safety matches of a strike-only-on-box or book variety may be mailed provided they are insulated adequately with aluminum foil, asbestos or other fire retardant material. Strike-anywhere matches may not be mailed.

(3) Compressed gas containers shall be of metal or nonshattering steel types, as required by the Interstate Commerce Commission or other Federal agencies. In addition to being cushioned to absorb shock, containers with release mechanisms shall be protected against damage or accidental discharge in transit.

(d) Radioactive materials. In addition to special packaging precautions, as prescribed in this part, a package containing radioactive materials must not emit from its exterior any significant alpha, beta, or neutron radiations and the gamma radiation at any surface of the package must be less than 10 milliroentgens for 24 hours.

(e) Sharp edges and firearms. (1) Sharp pointed or sharp edged instruments such as knives, tools, icepicks, razor blades, etc., shall be wrapped to protect their points and edges from cutting through the outer carton in which they are shipped.

(2) Rifles or shotguns are mailable if they are not loaded. The mailer may be required by the post office clerk to establish this to the clerk's satisfaction either by opening the parcel or by giving him a written statement certifying that the gun is unloaded.

§ 15.3 Perishable matter—(a) Time factor. Live animals that are otherwise mailable, and perishable foods, game and furs may not be sent through the mails unless there is sufficient time in ordinary transit for them, after mailing, to reach their destinations in good condition. Certain perishable foods may be shipped at the sender's risk, provided they are not subject to rapid decay and the generating of obnoxious odors. Airmail, special handling and special delivery services are advisable.

(b) Highly perishable food, game, and furs. (1) Crates, boxes, baskets or other containers used to ship highly perishable goods should be so constructed as to protect the contents while preventing their escape.

(2) Berries, fruits and vegetables are not mailable unless presented in dry condition.

(3) Water ice used as a refrigerant must be packed as though it were a liquid, in accordance with § 15.2 (b). Dry ice (carbon dioxide solid) is acceptable when wrapped securely in heavy paper. Dry ice must not be packed in glass, metal or other air-tight containers. Sufficient insulation is necessary if a fiberboard box is used, in order to prevent condensation and wetting of the shipping carton.

(c) Live day-old poultry. Live day-old chicks, ducks, geese, guinea fowl and turkeys are acceptable in the continental surface mails under the following conditions:

(1) They must be presented for mailing in the original unopened hatchery box from the hatchery of origin.

(2) The date and hour of hatching must be noted on the box by a representative of the hatchery who has personal knowledge thereof (in the case of c. o. d. shipments made by a hatchery for the accounts of others the name or initials and address of the hatchery, or the post office box number and address of the hatchery shall be prominently shown in connection with this requirement).

(3) They must not be over 24 hours old.

(4) The box must be properly ventilated and of proper construction and strength to bear safe transmission in the mails. (These boxes may be stacked 10 high in cars.)

(5) They can be delivered to the addressee within 60 hours of the time of hatching regardless of whether the addressee resides in town or on a rural or star route.

(6) They must be mailed sufficiently early in the week to avoid receipt at the office of address, in case of missed connections, on a Sunday, national holiday or on the afternoon preceding a Sunday or holiday.

(7) Shipments shall not be forwarded to the addressee from the office of original address nor returned to sender if delivery cannot be made to either the addressee or sender within 60 hours of the time of hatching. Shipments that are delayed beyond the 60-hour limit by washouts, snow blockades, wrecks, and the like, will be disposed of by postmasters in accordance with instructions in subparagraph (8) of this paragraph.

(8) If a shipment cannot be returned to the sender, it will be sold to the best advantage possible and the amount realized therefrom, less a commission of 10 percent, but in no case less than 15 cents, transmitted to the sender with a statement of the facts in the case. Postage-due stamps representing the amount retained as a sales commission will be affixed to the parcel or to a tag or sheet of paper attached to the article, canceled, and delivered with the matter to the purchaser. Sale will not be made to the addressee except under the conditions set forth in subparagraph (9) of this paragraph.

(9) If a shipment is received at the office of address and it is not promptly accepted by the addressee, it will be held for delivery until the expiration of the 60-hour period from the time of hatching, if there is a possibility that delivery may be effected within that period. If, at the expiration of the 60-hour period, the shipment has not been accepted, it will be sold. Such shipments will not be sold to the original addressee unless paid for in full. If the parcel is sent collect-on-delivery, the c. o. d. charges plus the money order fee will show the minimum amount which may be accepted from the addressee, which is the amount that would have been collected from the addressee had the parcel been accepted when originally offered for delivery. If the parcel is sent as ordinary or insured mail and the price is not known to the postmaster, the addressee will not be permitted to buy the chicks after refusing to accept them.

(10) Boxes of day-old poultry of approximately the same size which are securely fastened together to prevent their becoming separated in transit may be accepted for mailing as a single parcel provided such parcel does not exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined. Three regular size boxes would exceed the 100-inch limit.

(11) Day-old poultry originally shipped by air express or air cargo and then presented for mailing must be in first-class condition and be prepared in accordance with subparagraphs (1) to (6) of this paragraph. They must not be over 24 hours old at time of mailing.

(12) The shipments must bear special delivery or special handling postage in addition to regular postage.

(13) Day-old poultry vaccinated with Newcastle Disease (live virus) are nonmailable.

(14) Each box should bear, in addition to the address label on top, another address label on the side, or the narrow end, if the box is rectangular in shape, to eliminate unnecessary handling when boxes are stacked.

§ 15.4 Shipments under Federal regulations—(a) Nursery shipments—(1) Nursery stock, etc. Nursery stock, including all field grown florists' stock, trees, shrubs, vines, cuttings, grafts, cions, buds, fruit pits, and other seeds of fruit and ornamental trees or shrubs, and other plants and plant products for propagation, except field, vegetable, and flower seeds, bedding plants, and other herbaceous plants, bulbs, and roots, may be admitted to the mails only when accompanied with a certificate from a State or Government inspector to the effect that the nursery or premises from which such stock is shipped has been inspected within a year and found free from injurious insects and plant diseases, and the parcel containing such stock is plainly marked to show the nature of the contents and the name and address of the sender.

(2) Plant quarantines applying to the continental United States. When any State or area is quarantined by order of the Secretary of Agriculture, under authority of the Plant Quarantine Act, or by an authorized State plant pest official cooperating with the Secretary of Agriculture, on account of a plant disease or insect infestation, the mailing of plants, plant products, or other articles covered by such quarantine or regulatory order from such State or area into or through any State or area is subject to the restrictions imposed by such order.

CROSS REFERENCE: For quarantine regulations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, see 7 CFR Chapter III.

(3) Preparation and packaging. The wettable packing material and the roots or butts of the plants must be wrapped or boxed in a waterproof material heavy enough to withstand safe transmission in the mails without leakage or loss of packing material. The term "waterproof material" means a tar-centered paper or kraft paper waxed on one side or a kraft paper with a waxed or tarred paper liner or plastic wrap. If a box is used, it must have a similar lining to prevent leakage or loss of contents and to insure retaining a moisture content for the roots of the plants without weakening the box. The tops of all bundles must be wrapped with a covering of paper, straw or similar material to protect the plant from injury and drying out and if the plant has thorns or other pointed projects, the wrapper shall be punctureproof to avoid injury to postal employees handling such bundles.

(b) Meats and meat products. Meats and meat products may be sent through the mails only if they conform with regulations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture under Federal statutes. Required certificates shall be filed.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations with respect to meat and meat products issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, see 9 CFR Chapter I.

(c) Dead wild animals. The dead bodies, or parts thereof, of any wild animals, wild birds or their eggs, are acceptable for mailing only when they have been lawfully killed or taken and their shipment is not prohibited by law of the United States or of the State, Territory, district or foreign country or subdivision thereof in which killed or taken or offered for shipment. Mailing of fresh game is also subject to requirements of § 15.3.

(d) Furs, hides, skins or pelts. (1) Parcels containing furs, hides, skins or pelts of wild animals are mailable when properly dried or cured; have no offensive odor; and are plainly marked, labeled or tagged on the outside with the names and addresses of the shipper and the addressee together with such other endorsement, if any, as may be required by the game laws of the State, Territory, or district in which mailed. Hides and pelts shall be wrapped when necessary to prevent damage to other mails.

(2) Furs mailed from Alaska are subject to rules of the Alaska Game Commission. Each package in which game animals, game birds, land fur-bearing animals, or parts thereof are transported shall have clearly and conspicuously marked on the outside an accurate statement of each kind of game animals, game birds, land fur-bearing animals, or parts thereof in the parcel; and if the package contains skins of beavers or marten, the serial number of the Commission's seal attached thereto shall also be similarly marked on the package.

PART 16—BULK MAILINGS

Sec.
16.1 Second class publications.
16.2 Third class mailings.

AUTHORITY: §§ 16.1 and 16.2 issued under R. S. 161, 396, secs. 5, 6, 18 Stat. 232, 233, as amended, secs. 304, 309, 42 Stat. 24, 25, sec. 203, 62 Stat. 1262, sec. 3, 65 Stat. 673; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369, 39 U. S. C. 283, 285, 290a–1.

§ 16.1 Second class publications—(a) Folding. (1) Fold publications to a size not larger than 9 by 12 inches when practicable.

(2) Newspapers and light magazines should be folded to the size of an eighth of a newspaper page, or about 5 by 12 inches.

(b) Wrapping. (1) Paper used for wrapping should be plain white or manila.

(2) Use wrappers that may be removed and replaced without destroying the wrappers or enclosures.

(3) Envelopes used as wrappers must show in the upper left corner of the address side the name and address of the publication and in the upper right corner a notice of entry.

(4) Heavy magazines should be wrapped singly. The singly wrapped copies for each office should be tied in bundles and each bundle addressed to the post office. The twine and paper used should be strong enough for the size and weight of the bundle.

(c) Addressing. (1) All publications should be addressed in a legible hand or plain type not smaller than 10 point.

(2) When several unwrapped copies for subscribers at the same post office are sent under one wrapper, each copy should bear the name and address of the subscriber.

(3) The name of the post office and State should be the most prominent part of the address.

(4) Write or print addresses with black ink or ink of some other strongly contrasting color. Addresses should not be written in pencil.

(5) If the Dick or similar system of addressing is used the strips should be printed with black ink on white or yellow paper.

(6) When the address is placed on the wrapper it should appear on the flat side; never on the fold.

(7) Individually addressed, unfolded periodicals mailed in bundles without separate wrappers should have the addresses placed upside down in the lower right corner of the front cover page. An alternate position on periodicals is lengthwise along the bound edge, near the top of the publication.

(8) Individually addressed, unwrapped, folded newspapers and periodicals mailed in bundles to a post office should have the addresses in the upper left corner of the publication when grasped with the right hand along the folded edge.

(9) Individually addressed copies of publications may be sent singly or, when more than five are intended for the same post office they must be securely wrapped or tied in one package. If there are more than 30 pieces weighing 15 pounds or more, they must be placed in a separate sack addressed to the same post office.

(10) Copies addressed to Army-Air Force post offices must be individually wrapped when 15 copies or less are addressed to the same APO. When more than 15 copies are addressed to one APO, tie the copies securely in bundles and make up direct sacks to the APO's of address.

(d) Place of mailing. (1) Mailing is to be done at post office of entry. Publishers may request the privilege of delivering copies at their own expense and risk to other post offices or elsewhere. Application should be made for this privilege at the office of original second-class entry.

(2) The postmaster shall consider the application on the basis of the facts and approve or disapprove it on his own responsibility.

(e) Determination of weight—(1) Procedure for determining bulk weight of one issue. When postage is to be computed on the bulk weight of one issue, the weight shall be obtained by multiplying the total number of copies of the issue mailed by the average weight of one copy. The number of copies of a single issue mailed shall be obtained from the statement on Form 3542. The average weight of one copy shall also be obtained from the statement on Form 3542 and shall be determined by the publisher as prescribed in this section.

(2) How to determine average weight per copy of one issue. The average weight per copy must include the wrapping and binding materials and shall be obtained by the publisher as follows:

(i) Count a reasonable number of copies selected in such a manner for test purposes that when wrapped and bundled they will bear a proper ratio to the total number of copies to be mailed individually wrapped and wrapped in bundles.

(ii) Weigh in bulk the copies which have been counted, after they are wrapped and bundled for mailing.

(iii) Divide the bulk weight of the test copies by the number of test copies to obtain the average weight per copy in pounds. Record fractions of pounds as decimals with six digits to the right of the decimal point.

(3) Procedure for determining bulk weight of all issues mailed during a calendar month. When publications are regularly printed on sheets of uniform weight, postmasters are not required to compute the postage on the bulk weight of each issue. Postage on such publications may be computed at the end of each calendar month on the total bulk weight of all issues mailed during the month. The total bulk shall be obtained by multiplying the average number of copies mailed by the combined weight of one copy from each issue. The average number of copies of each issue mailed during the month shall be obtained from the statement on Form 3542. The combined weight of one copy from each issue shall also be obtained from the statement on Form 3542 and shall be determined by the publisher in the manner prescribed in this section.

(4) How to determine combined weight of one copy from each issue mailed during a calendar month. The combined weight of one copy from each issue mailed during a calendar month must include the wrapping and binding materials and shall be obtained by the publisher as follows:

(i) Determine by the method prescribed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph the average weight of one copy of any one issue selected by the postmaster for testing and verifying during the month.

(ii) Divide the average weight of one copy by the number of sheets in the copy to determine the weight of one sheet in pounds. Record fractions of pounds as decimals with six digits to the right of the decimal point.

(iii) Select one copy of each of the issues mailed during the month and count the sheets in all of the selected copies to determine the total number of sheets in the selected copies.

(iv) Multiply the total number of sheets in the selected copies by the weight of one sheet.

(f) Prepayment of postage. The postage on all second-class matter shall be collected in money before the matter is dispatched. Postmasters may receive from publishers deposits of money sufficient to pay for as many mailings as desired. Receipts Form 3544 shall be issued for the deposits.

(g) Statement of mailing. (1) When postage is to be computed on the bulk weight of one issue fill out Form 3542 to show the number of copies included in each zone or other separation necessary to compute postage and to show the average weight per copy.

(2) When postage is to be computed at the end of each calendar month the computation is based on the total bulk weight of all issues mailed during the month. Under this procedure file Form 3542 with the first mailing of the last issue mailed each month and complete the form to show the average number of copies of each issue included in each separation, the weight of one sheet, and the combined weight of one copy from each issue.

(h) Filing of copies. (1) The publisher shall mark the copy filed to show the portion which is advertising and the portion which is not advertising. The term "advertisements" includes display, classified, and all other forms of advertisement and all editorial or other reading matter for the publication of which money or other valuable consideration is paid, accepted or permitted. This includes advertising by a newspaper or periodical of its own services or issues or any other business of the publisher in the form of either display advertisements or editorial or reading matter.

(2) The advertising content must be marked by the publisher in such a way that it may be verified when necessary.

(3) The total advertising and non-advertising portions shall be determined by column inches, square inches, pages or by any other recognized units of measure. The publisher shall show by endorsement on the first page of the copy the percent of advertising space to total space.

§ 16.2 Third class mailings—(a) Mailing statement. Complete and submit with each mailing:

(1) Mailing statement, Form 3602, for mail with printed postage impressions; or

(2) Mailing statement, Form 3602–PC, for mail bearing precanceled stamps or metered postage impressions.

(b) Preparation of mailing. Sort, face and tie bulk mail into packages both lengthwise and crosswise with twine strong enough to withstand handling in the mails (a breakingpoint of 10 pounds or more will qualify). Labels should be large enough to cover the address on the exposed piece of mail and to keep the label from sliding out from under the twine. Prepare packages as follows:

(1) Direct package. When there are 10 or more pieces for any one post office (or station or branch if its name forms part of the address), face all addresses one way, except the last. Reverse the last piece to expose its address on the outside of the package. Do not label direct packages.

(2) State package. After direct-package pieces are removed, if there are 10 or more pieces remaining for any one State, face all addresses one way and tie the pieces into a package. Cover the top address with a label bearing the name of the State.

(3) Mixed packages. If there are less than 10 pieces per State (for instance, 6 for Delaware, 8 for Maryland, 5 for Virginia), face all addresses one way and tie the pieces into a package. Cover the top address with a label bearing the words "mixed states."

(c) Prepayment required. All third-class mail must be fully prepaid at the appropriate rate before dispatch from the office of mailing.

(3) Two or more persons or firms, or a person acting as the agent of two or more persons or firms, may not mail in one envelope to a mutual customer the bills, statements of account, or other letters of the persons or firms. No two firms that are distinct entities may send their letters in one envelope even though they are affiliated or jointly owned.

(4) Applications for automobile, drivers', and other licenses are "letters" when sent for the purpose of securing a license. The application of each individual or company constitutes a separate letter. Applications of various persons may not be mailed in one package by a compensated representative of the applicants unless the package is endorsed on the outside to show the number of applications enclosed and enough postage is paid to cover the first-class rate on each application. Agents of the licensing authority may receive applications and forward them to any other office in a package with postage paid at the first-class rate computed on the bulk weight of the package.

(5) Drop letters are letters mailed for local delivery at post offices where free delivery by carrier is not established and that are not collected or delivered by rural or star-route carriers.

(viii) Bills or statements of account produced by any photographic or mechanical process, unless presented in a minimum quantity of 20 identical unsealed copies.

(b) Use of postal and post cards. (1) Double postal and post cards are two attached cards, one of which is to be detached by the receiver and returned through the mail as a reply. The following rules apply to double cards:

(i) Double cards must be folded before mailing and the first half detached when the reply half is mailed for return. If the first half is not detached when the reply half is mailed for return, the card is subject to the letter rate of postage.

(ii) The reply portion of a double card must be used for reply purposes only; it must not be used to convey a message to the original addressee of the double card, to cover up the message on the original portion, or to send statements of account.

(iii) Double cards must be prepared so that the address on the reply portion is on the inside when the double card is mailed.

(iv) Plain stickers or seals or a single wire stitch may be used to fasten the edges, provided they are so fixed that the inner folds of the cards can be readily examined.

(v) Enclosures are prohibited.

(2) Additions to postal cards and post cards are limited to the following:

(i) The face of the card may be divided by a vertical line, the left half to be used for the message and the right half for the address only.

(4) Cards enclosed in envelopes, transparent or not, are charged the letter rate, if sealed; if unsealed, they are charged according to the character of the message. Stamps on matter enclosed in envelopes do not count as postage.

(2) A business reply label is a label cut from a newspaper or other publication, or a gummed label, to be stuck on plain envelopes or cards for return to the addressee.

(3) Postage is collected on all types of business reply mail when it is returned to the original distributor. Postage is computed at the first-class rate plus 1 cent for each piece. (See § 21.1.)

(4) A permit to distribute business reply mail is required. Business Reply Permit Application, Form 3614, must be filed at the post office where the mail will be returned. There is no charge for the permit. If business reply cards or envelopes are distributed from a central office to be returned to branches or dealers in other cities, one permit obtained from the post office where the central office is located may be used to cover all.

(5) Business reply cards, envelopes, and labels may be distributed:

(i) In any quantity for return by surface or air mail. (See § 26.1 of this chapter for airmail rate.)

(ii) To any post office in the United States and its Territories and possessions, including military post offices overseas; except in the Canal Zone, where they may not be returned without prepayment of postage. They should not be sent to any foreign country.

(iii) In any manner except by depositing in receptacles provided by patrons for receipt of mail. Examples: Renewal form inserted between magazine pages; label printed in newspaper; envelope enclosed with other mail.

(ii) May not be attached to parcels either to carry messages or to serve as address tags or labels without prepayment of postage.

(iii) May not be used to return parcels without prepayment of postage on both the business reply piece and the parcel.

(8) The distributor guarantees payment on delivery of postage on returned business reply cards or envelopes. Any concern distributing business reply cards or envelopes under one permit for return to its branches or dealers, guarantees to pay postage on any returns refused by any authorized addressee.

(One full rate is the amount specified in § 21.1 for the particular type of mail involved.) If the postage is short-paid no more than one full rate, only the deficient postage is charged; if short-paid more than one full rate, the deficient postage plus 1 cent for each short-paid ounce is collected on delivery.

§ 21.5 Mail sent by members of the U. S. Armed Forces. Letters sent by soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines in the United States military service located in the United States or other places where United States domestic mail service operates, addressed to places in the United States, may be dispatched for collection on delivery, under the following conditions:

§ 21.6 Ship letters—(a) Vessels not regular mail carriers. Letters for delivery in the United States, carried by vessels not regularly employed in carrying the mail, are charged double rate of postage, to cover the fee paid to the vessel. The postage may be collected at the office of delivery or prepaid with United States postage stamps.

(b) Vessels operating over post road. Letters and packages from one port to another in the United States over a water route that is wholly a post road by law, in a private ship or vessel, are charged single rate of postage. If part of the water route is not a post road, double rates of postage are charged.

Publications meeting the basic qualifications are not required to meet any of the added qualifications. Publications meeting the added qualifications must also meet all the basic qualifications except those requiring a paid subscription list and prohibiting free circulation or circulation at nominal rates. (See paragraph (b) (5), (7), and (8) of this section.) Some publications may meet both the basic qualifications and the added qualifications.

(b) Basic qualifications—(1) Regular issuance. Publishers must determine the number of issues they will publish each year and adopt a statement of frequency that will show at what regular intervals the issues will appear. Examples of statements of frequency are:

Daily.
Weekly.
Monthly.
Quarterly.
Monthly except during July and August.
Semiweekly.
Biweekly.
Semimonthly.
Weekly during school year.
Four times a year in January, February, October, and November.

A publication may not be published under a frequency that provides for less than four issues each year. Issues must be published regularly as called for by the statement of frequency. Publishers may change the number of issues scheduled, and adopt a new statement of frequency by filing an application for second-class reentry. (See § 22.3 (d).)

(2) Issuance at known office. Publications must be issued and mailed at a known office or place of publication. A known office or place of publication is a public office where the business of the publication is transacted during the usual business hours. The office must be maintained at the place where second-class mail privileges are originally authorized. Offices for the transaction of business may be maintained at more than one place, but mailings may be accepted at the second-class pound rates only at the post offices where original or additional mail privileges have been authorized.

(3) Preparation. Publications must be formed of printed paper sheets, without board, cloth, leather, or other substantial binding. They may not be produced by the stencil, mimeograph, or hectograph process or in imitation of typewriting.

(4) Contents. Publications must be originated and published for the purpose of disseminating information of a public character, or they must be devoted to literature, the sciences, art, or some special industry.

(5) List of subscribers. Publications must have a list of persons who have subscribed by paying or promising to pay for copies to be received during a stated time. When news agents purchase copies for resale or receive copies on consignment for sale, only the persons who buy copies from the news agents may be included in the subscription list.

(6) Advertising publications. Publications designed primarily for advertising purposes may not qualify for second-class privileges. They include:

(i) Those having advertising in excess of 75 percent in more than one-half of their issues during any 12-month period.

(ii) Those owned or controlled by individuals or business concerns and conducted as an auxiliary to and essentially for the advancement of the main business or calling of those who own or control them.

(iii) Those that consist principally of advertising and editorial write-ups of the advertisers.

(iv) Those that consist principally of advertising and that have only a token list of subscribers, the circulation being mainly free.

(v) Those that have only a token list of subscribers and that print advertisements free for advertisers who pay for copies to be sent to a list of persons furnished by the advertisers.

(vi) Those published under a license from individuals or institutions and that feature other businesses of the licensor.

(7) Free circulation publications. Publications designed primarily for free circulation may not qualify for second-class privileges. Publications that are not circulated principally to a list of subscribers are considered to be designed for free circulation. All copies printed and circulated either by mail or by the publishers' carriers, and at the second-class pound rates or the transient rate, are considered in determining whether a publication is designed for free circulation.

(8) Nominal rate publications. Publications designed primarily for circulation at nominal rates may not qualify for second-class privileges. They include those for which subscriptions are sold:

(i) At a token subscription price that is so low that it cannot be considered a material consideration.

(ii) At a reduction to the subscriber, under a premium offer or any other arrangements, of more than 50 percent of the regular advertised annual subscription price. The value of a premium is considered to be its actual cost to the publisher, the recognized retail value, or the represented value, whichever is highest.

(c) Added qualifications. (1) Publications that do not have subscribers and that are issued as follows may contain only the publishers' own advertising and not under any conditions the advertising of other persons, institutions, or concerns: By a regularly incorporated institution of learning, a regularly established State institution of learning supported in whole or in part by public taxation, including bulletins issued by State boards of health, State conservation and fish and game agencies or departments, and State boards or departments of public charities and corrections.

(2) Publications that do not have subscribers and that are issued as follows may contain only the publishers' own advertising: By or under the auspices of a benevolent or fraternal society or order organized under the lodge system and having an actual membership of not less than 1,000 persons, or of a trades-union; or as the publications of strictly professional, literary, historical, or scientific societies.

These publications may also contain advertising of other persons, institutions, or concerns, under the following conditions:

(i) The publication must not be designed or published primarily for advertising purposes.

(ii) The publication must be originated and published to further the objects and purposes of the society.

(iii) The circulation must be limited to copies mailed to members who pay either as a part of their dues or assessments, or otherwise, not less than 50 percent of the regular subscription price; to other actual subscribers; to exchanges; and 10 percent of such circulation as sample copies.

(iv) When members pay for their subscriptions as a part of their dues or assessments, individual subscriptions or receipts are not required.

(3) Periodical publications issued by State departments of agriculture may not contain advertising and must be published for the purpose of furthering the objects of the departments.

(4) Foreign newspapers and periodicals must be of the same general character as those classified as second-class in the United States, and must not violate any copyright granted by the United States.

(d) Identification statements in copies. Copies of publications must be identified as second-class mail by having the following items printed on one of the first five pages in a position where they may be easily located by postal employees and other interested persons:

(1) Name of publication: The name of the publication must be shown on the front in a position and in a style and size of type that will make it clearly distinguishable from the name of the publisher or other items on the front.

(2) Date of issue.

(3) Statement of frequency.

(4) Issue number: The copies of each issue must be numbered consecutively. The consecutive numbering of published issues may not be broken by assigning numbers to issues unavoidably omitted.

(5) Subscription price if the publication has one.

(6) Name of known office or place of publication, including street and number when there is letter-carrier service, must be printed in a position or in a style and isze of type or with a designation that will make it clearly distinguishable from the names of other offices of the publication. When there is not a post office at the place where published, the name of the post office where mailed must be shown as the office or place of publication.

(8) Notice of pending application, when copies are mailed under a temporary permit, reading: Application for second-class mail privileges is pending at _____.

§ 22.3 Applications for second-class privileges—(a) Applications for publications and news agents that do not have second-class privileges. An application must be filed by the publisher before a publication may be mailed at the second-class rates. Two copies of the issue described in the application must also be filed. If the publication is printed in a foreign language, a brief translation of the contents of the copies must be furnished. A synopsis of each article and advertisement is usually sufficient. News agents must file applications before they may mail second-class publications at the second-class rates. Copies of all application forms may be obtained from local postmasters. The headings on the forms describe what information must be furnished by publishers and news agents. Use the following forms:

(1) File application Form 3501 for second-class mail privileges for a publication that meets the basic qualifications at the post office of the place where the known office of publication is located.

(2) File application Form 3501–B for second-class mail privileges for a publication that meets the added qualifications at the post office of the place where the known place of publication is located.

(b) Temporary acceptance after application has been filed. While an application is pending, mailings of a publication may be made by either publishers or news agents under a temporary permit. The postmaster will issue the permit on Form 3503. Money must be deposited with the postmaster to cover postage at third- or fourth-class rates on the mailings. If second-class privileges are authorized, postage at the second-class rates will be deducted from the deposits, and the balance will be returned to the publisher or news agent. If second-class mail privileges are not authorized, postage at third- or fourth-class rates will be deducted from the deposits, and the balance, if any, will be returned to the publisher or news agent.

(c) Applications for publications that have second-class privileges. After a publication has obtained second-class mail privileges, applications may be filed for the following additional privileges:

(1) Publishers of newspapers or periodicals of nonprofit religious, educational, scientific, philanthropic, agricultural, labor, veterans, or fraternal organizations or associations may file applications by letter to the postmaster for the special rate. They must also submit evidence to establish their nonprofit status.

(2) Publishers of religious, educational, or scientific publications designed for use in school classrooms or in religious instruction classes may file applications by letter to the postmaster for exemption from the 30 percent increase in rates applicable to other publications, showing that their publications are of this character and for the uses stated.

(3) If a publisher desires to mail copies at another office in addition to the one where he has second-class mail privileges, he may file a written application stating the approximate number and weight of copies to be mailed at the additional office, and the territory to be served. A form is not provided for this kind of application. The application must be filed at the office where the second-class mail privileges were originally obtained. If the additional entry is authorized, all copies for delivery at the original office must be mailed there, and all copies for delivery at the additional office must be mailed at that office.

(4) An application to deliver copies of a second-class publication at the publishers' expense and risk to other post offices or elsewhere may be filed by the publisher at the office where the publication has second-class mail privileges. A form is not provided for this kind of application.

(d) Reentry because of change in name, frequency, or location. When the name or frequency is changed, an application for reentry must be filed on Form 3510 at the post office of original entry, accompanied by two copies of the publication showing the new name or frequency. When the location is changed, an application for reentry must be filed on Form 3510 at the new office, accompanied by two copies of the publication showing the name of the new office as the known office or place of publication. Copies of Form 3510 may be obtained from local postmasters.

(e) Fees. The fees to accompany applications for second-class original entry, reentry, or additional entry, or for registration as a news agent, are:

Kind	Amount
Original entry—circulation not more than 2,000	$25
Original entry—circulation 2,001 to 5,000	50
Original entry—circulation 5,001 and over	100
News-agent registry	20

If an application for original second-class entry is denied, one-half of the fee is returned to the publisher.

§ 22.4 What may be mailed at the second-class rates—(a) Complete copies. Copies of the regular issues containing all of the pages may be mailed at the second-class rates. Incomplete copies having pages or portions of pages removed must be charged with postage at the third- or fourth-class rates.

(b) Editions or issues. The following kinds of extra or special editions or issues may be mailed at the second-class rates:

(1) Extra issues or editions issued for the purpose of communicating additional news and information received too late for insertion in the regular edition and not for advertising purposes.

(2) Separate editions of the issues of a second-class publication. Separate publications will not be accepted as editions.

(iv) Samples may not be accepted free of postage under the free-in-county mailing privilege.

(v) The transient second-class rate must be paid on samples mailed in excess of the 10 percent limit.

(vi) Copies mailed for advertising purposes under arrangements with advertisers or others and copies mailed by a publisher acting as an agent for an advertiser may not be mailed as samples.

(2) Copies paid for by advertisers. Copies paid for by advertisers or others for advertising purposes, may be mailed only at the transient second-class rate. Postage at the transient second-class rate will be charged on copies sent after 6 months to persons who have not renewed.

The total number of novelty pages in the copies may constitute only a minor portion of the total pages. An excessive use of novelty pages may give a publication the characteristics, both as to format and purpose, of books, catalogs, or other third- or fourth-class mail. The following kinds of pages are examples of novelty pages that may be included in second-class publications:

(b) Information required from news agents. News agents must furnish postmasters evidence that copies of publications offered for mailing are entitled to second-class postage rates, and that they are sent to actual subscribers or to other news agents for the purpose of sale. A printed notice of second-class entry in the copies is sufficient evidence that a publication is entitled to be mailed at second-class rates. The addresses on bulk packages must show that the packages are sent to other news agents.

(c) Remailing without payment of postage. A news agent may not remove packages of copies from a post office, write an address on each copy, and return them to the office for dispatch or delivery without paying additional postage, except when the publication is entitled to free-in-county mail privileges.

§ 22.6 Sworn ownership and circulation statements—(a) Filing and publishing. The editor, publisher, business manager, or owner must file, in duplicate, not later than October 1 of each year on Form 3526 a sworn statement showing the ownership and management of their publication. The statement must be published in the second issue of the publication printed next after the statement has been filed. Copies of Form 3526 are furnished by the local postmaster. The two copies of Form 3526 and one copy of the issue in which the statement is published must be filed with the postmaster at the office where the publication has original second-class mail privileges.

(b) Circulation. Statements filed by daily, weekly, semiweekly, and triweekly publications must show the average number of copies of each issue sold or distributed to paid subscribers during the preceding 12 months.

§ 22.7 Marking of paid reading matter. Editorial or other reading matter for the publication of which money or other valuable consideration is paid, accepted, or promised must be plainly marked "advertisement". Failure to do this will subject the editor or publisher upon conviction in any court having jurisdiction to a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500.

§ 22.8 Cancellation of second-class privileges. (a) Second-class mail privileges may not be suspended or annulled until a hearing has been granted to the parties interested.

(b) Before revocation, annulment, or suspension of any second-class entry, the Bureau of Post Office Operations, Mail Classification Division, will fully advise the publisher of the facts that may warrant such action. The publisher will be given an opportunity to demonstrate or achieve compliance with all the lawful requirements within a reasonable specified time limit.

(c) Temporary mailings. Until final action is taken on the application, postage paid on the mailings may be at the special rates provided the mailer deposits with the postmaster an amount sufficient to cover the additional postage at the higher rates. This deposit will be returned to the mailer if the application is approved. If the application is denied, the deposit will not be returned.

§ 24.6 Permissible additions. The following are permissible additions on third-class matter and its covers or labels:

(a) Manuscript dedication or inscription not in the nature of personal correspondence.

(b) Marks to call attention to any word or passage in text.

(c) Corrections of typographical errors in:

(1) Circulars or printed matter. Handwritten or typewritten changes in the body of a circular are limited to corrections of actual typographical errors.

(2) Proof sheets. Corrections in proof sheets include corrections of typographical and other errors, alterations of text, insertion of new text, marginal instructions to the printer, and rewrites of part if necessary for correction. Corrections should be on margins or attached to the manuscript. Do not enclose manuscript of another article.

(d) Any printed matter mailable as third class.

(e) Hand-stamped imprints, except when the added matter is in itself personal or converts the original matter to a personal communication. In the latter case, however, the mailing at one time at the post office window or other depository designated by the postmaster of not less than 20 identical, unsealed copies will be sufficient evidence of impersonal character to entitle such matter to the third-class rate.

(f) All additions permitted for fourth-class mail. (See § 25.5 of this chapter.)

§ 24.7 Permissible enclosures—(a) Books and catalogs. Loose enclosures relating exclusively to the book or catalog they accompany may be enclosed and mailed at the book and catalog rate. Loose enclosures are restricted to:

(1) Single reply envelope or reply post card, or both.

(2) Single order form.

(3) Printed circular of a single sheet not larger, when unfolded, than the size of the book or catalog it accompanies.

(4) If no other circular is enclosed, a printed price list listing only articles featured in the catalog and showing only the same prices and discounts as the catalog.

(5) An invoice, same as for fourth-class mail. (See § 25.5 (b) (3) of this chapter.)

Samples of cloth or other merchandise cannot be enclosed, either loose or attached. If circular and other printed matter is attached to a book or catalog, it does not have to conform to the conditions for loose enclosures. Attached means pasted along the entire bound edge of, or fastened with at least two stitches or stapled to, securely enough to form an integral part of, the book or catalog.

(b) All other third-class matter. The following may be enclosed with articles mailed as third class at other than the book or catalog rate:

(1) An invoice, same as fourth-class mail. (See § 25.5 (b) (3) of this chapter.)

(2) Second class, if combined weight does not exceed 8 ounces.

Circulars and advertisements of other persons or firms that are printed or manufactured elsewhere and turned over to a mailer may not be inserted and mailed with his own mail at bulk rates but are subject to the single piece rates.

§ 24.8 Sealing. (a) Merchandise, sound reproducing records, books, catalogs, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, cions, and plants may be sealed provided the mail is marked to permit postal inspection as required in Part 32 of this chapter.

(b) Circulars, other printed matter, and all other articles mentioned in § 24.2 (a) except in paragraph (a) of this section may not be sealed. When these articles are sealed they are subject to the first-class rate.

(c) Envelopes having one small spot of gum to hold a loose flap are accepted as unsealed. The words "Full Out for Postal Inspection" must be printed on, or adjacent to, the loose flap and must be entirely exposed when the envelope is ready for mailing. The closing outside flap that folds over the loose flap must not be gummed on the surface touching the loose flap.

§ 25.2 Classification—(a) Description. (1) Fourth-class mail includes merchandise, printed matter, mailable live animals, and all other matter not included in the first-, second-, or third-class.

(2) Zone rates in § 25.1 (a) are applicable to all fourth-class mail except the items described in § 25.1 (b), (c), and (d).

(3) Catalogs and similar printed advertising matter in bound form, having 24 or more pages, at least 22 of which are printed, weighing more than 8 ounces but not exceeding 10 pounds, and individually addressed, may be mailed at the zone rates in § 25.1 (b).

(4) Books of 24 pages or more, at least 22 of which are printed, permanently bound for preservation and consisting wholly of reading matter or reading matter with incidental blank spaces for students' notations and containing no advertising matter other than incidental announcements of books; 16-millimeter films, which must be positive prints in final form for viewing; and 16-millimeter film catalogs of 24 pages or more, at least 22 of which are printed, may be mailed at the rates in § 25.1 (c), except that films and film catalogs mailed at this rate may not be sent to commercial theaters.

(5) The rates in § 25.1 (d) are for:

(i) Library books consisting wholly of reading matter and containing no advertising other than incidental announcements of books, when sent by public libraries, organizations, and associations as a service to county or other unit libraries, or as a loan to readers, or when returned by the latter libraries or readers to the public libraries, organizations, or associations.

(ii) 16-millimeter films, filmstrips, transparencies and slides, microfilms, all of which must be positive prints in final form for viewing; sound recordings and catalogs of such materials having 24 or more pages, at least 22 of which are printed, when sent to or from schools, colleges, universities, or public libraries, and to or from nonprofit religious, educational, scientific, philanthropic, agricultural, labor, veterans', or fraternal organizations or associations.

(b) Application of rates. (1) The rates in § 25.1 (a) and (b) are applied on the basis of weight of the individual piece and zone (or distance) to which mailed.

(2) To ascertain the parcel post zone, consult the State List of Post Offices for the name of the post office to which the parcel is to be mailed. At the right of the name is the number of the parcel post unit in which that post office is located. This number (or the group of numbers including it) is then located in the parcel post zone key for the office from which the parcel is to be mailed. The figure in the column opposite the line containing the number on the key is the parcel post zone.

(3) The rates in § 25.1 (c) and (d) are computed on the basis of the weight of the piece regardless of the zone to which addressed.

(4) The local rate in § 25.1 (a) and (b) applies to parcels mailed at any post office for local delivery at that office; at any city letter-carrier office or at any point within its delivery limits for delivery by carriers from that office; at any office from which a rural route starts for delivery on the same route; and on a rural route for delivery at the office from which the route starts or on any rural route starting from that office.

(5) The eighth zone rates apply:

(i) Between the United States and Hawaii;

(ii) Between Hawaii and Alaska;

(iii) Between the United States and the Canal Zone;

(iv) To, from, or between Canton Island, Guam, Wake Island, American Samoa, Trust Territory of the Pacific, and the United States or any other of its possessions.

(6) Gold coin, gold bullion, and gold dust, between any two points in Alaska, or between any point in Alaska and any point in the United States or its possessions, are charged the rate in § 25.1 (a), footnote f. The gold must be enclosed in sealed packages not exceeding 50 pounds in weight and sent by registered mail.

§ 25.3 Weight and size limits—(a) Weight. The weight of an addressed piece must exceed 8 ounces, but not more than the following limits:

(1) Parcels mailed at a first-class post office in the continental United States for delivery at another first-class post office in the continental United States are limited to 40 pounds when addressed for delivery in the local, first, and second zone; and to 20 pounds when addressed to the third through the eighth zones; except that parcels mailed on or addressed for delivery on a rural or star route, or parcels containing baby poultry, nursery stock, agricultural commodities, books, and Braille-writers and other appliances for the blind, are subject to the limit set forth in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. (The term "agricultural commodities" includes any product grown or produced incident to an agricultural activity on a farm or in a garden, orchard, nursery, or forest, but does not include manufactured products of such commodities.) Parcels containing such articles must be endorsed to show the nature of the contents, unless such information can be ascertained by outward examination of the parcel.

(2) Parcels mailed at or to any second-, third-, or fourth-class post office; to or from any rural or star route; to or from any Army-Air Force or Fleet Post Office; or to, from, or between any territory or possession of the United States, including the Canal Zone and Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, must not exceed 70 pounds.

(3) When more than 200 pounds of parcel post, other than perishable matter, is offered for mailing by one sender to one addressee on the same day and the delivery to destination will involve transportation over a star route, the shipment will not be accepted unless the postmaster obtains special permission from the Assistant Postmaster General, Bureau of Transportation.

(b) Size. Parcels mailed at a first-class post office in the continental United States, for delivery at another first-class post office in the continental United States, and subject to the limits of weight shown in paragraph (a) (1) of this section must not exceed 72 inches length and girth combined. All other parcels are limited to 100 inches in length and girth combined. To compute the size of a parcel:

(1) Measure the longest side to get the length.

(2) Measure the distance around the parcel at its thickest part to get the girth.

(3) Add the length and the girth to get the size.

Two or more packages may be mailed as a single parcel if they are about the same size or shape or if they are parts of one article. They must be securely wrapped or fastened together and must not, together, exceed the weight or size limit.

§ 25.5 Written additions—(a) Required. (1) The return address of the sender must be shown on all fourth-class mail.

(2) Parcels containing baby poultry, live plants, trees, shrubs, agricultural commodities, books, and Braille-writers and other appliances for the blind, mailed at a first-class post office addressed for delivery at another first-class post office, and that exceed the weight limits in § 25.3 (a) (1) or a size limit of 72 inches in length and girth combined, must be marked to show the type of contents. If contents are readily identifiable by outward examination, no marking is required.

(3) Catalogs mailed at the rates in § 25.1 (b) must be marked "Catalogs."

(5) Library books, 16-millimeter films, filmstrips, sound recordings, and other articles mailed at the rates in § 25.1 (d) must be marked "Library book."

(6) Marks specified in Part 11 of this chapter to show nature of contents or service desired must be added.

(b) Permissible. The following written additions, which may be placed on the cover tag, or label attached to the parcel, or on an article within the parcel, are permitted for all fourth-class mail. (Sufficient space must be provided on the address side for address, return card, postage, and postal endorsements.)

(1) Marks, numbers, name, or letters descriptive of contents.

(2) "Please do not open until Christmas," "Merry Christmas," "Happy Birthday," "With Best Wishes," and similar inscriptions.

(3) An invoice or similar document enclosed for descriptive purposes only, showing any or all of the following:

(i) Name and address of sender and addressee.

(ii) Names and quantities of articles enclosed.

(iii) Description of articles enclosed, including price, style, stock number, size, and quality; and if defective, nature of defect.

(iv) Order or file number, date of order, date and manner of shipment.

(v) Initials or name of packer or checker.

§ 25.6 Enclosures—(a) Catalogs. Catalogs mailed at the rates in § 25.1 (b) may have any or all of the following enclosures, provided the loose enclosures form only an incidental portion of contents:

(1) Order forms, reply envelopes, and circulars.

(2) One each of a printed blotter, illustrated display sheet, poster, dealer's card, or similar printed advertising matter.

(b) Books. The following may be enclosed with books mailed at the rates in § 25.1 (c):

(1) Reply envelope or post card, or single order form, and single sheet not larger than the book page, relating exclusively to the book with which it is enclosed.

(2) Incidental announcements of books, appearing in book pages or as loose circulars.

(3) An invoice.

§ 25.7 Sealing. Fourth-class mail must be wrapped or packaged so that it can be easily examined. If sealed, the wrapper or cover shall be marked in accordance with Part 11 of this chapter.

§ 25.8 Place of mailing. (a) Fourth-class articles may be mailed at a post office, branch, or station, or handed to a rural or star route carrier. They may not be mailed at railway post office cars.

§ 25.9 Nonprofit organizations. Rates in § 25.1 (d) are restricted to mailings mailed by or addressed to non-profit organizations or associations as follows:

(a) Library books. A public library, organization, or association desiring to mail books to county or other unit libraries or as a loan to readers, or to have such books returned, at the rate in § 25.1 (d), must first submit to the postmaster at the office where the books will be mailed, a request for such privilege together with satisfactory evidence, such as its articles of incorporation, constitution, or by-laws, to establish that it is not organized for profit and that none of its net income benefits any private stockholder or individual. mail is not given special delivery to the addressee unless a special delivery fee is paid in addition to the airmail postage.

(b) Articles acceptable. Mail of all classes, except that which may be damaged by low temperatures or high altitudes, is accepted for airmail.

(c) Application of rates. (1) Postage is charged on airmail (except postal and post cards) according to weight and not according to class of mail. In computing postage for airmail weighing more than 8 ounces, the weight and the zone of address are used. (See § 26.1.)

(2) Air post cards must conform to the size and conditions prescribed for post cards. (Size § 21.2 (a) (7) of this chapter.)

(3) Each portion of a double air post card must be prepaid at the air card rate when originally mailed, except when the reply portion is prepared as a business reply air card. See § 21.2 (c) of this chapter for information regarding business reply mail.

(4) The eighth zone airmail rates apply to articles mailed between continental United States or its territories and possessions and the Canal Zone, overseas Army-Air Force and Fleet post offices, naval vessels addressed in care of Fleet post offices, and Islands of the Trust Territory in the Pacific, except that rates according to zone apply between the United States and Alaska, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

§ 26.3 Weight and size limits—(a) Weight. Airmail may weigh up to 70 pounds, except airmail (other than official mail) addressed to APO's and FPO's is limited to 2 pounds.

(b) Size. Airmail is limited to 100 inches in combined length and girth, except that airmail (other than official mail) addressed to APO's and FPO's is limited to 30 inches in combined length and girth. See § 25.3 (b) of this chapter for instructions on how to measure parcels.

§ 26.4 Payment of postage—(a) Method. Postage on airmail may be paid by adhesive postage stamps, stamped cards or envelopes, or metered or printed postage impressions. The use of airmail stamps is recommended.

(b) Insufficient prepayment. Airmail weighing 8 ounces or less, on which the rate for one ounce is prepaid, is dispatched to its destination, and any unpaid portion is collected on delivery. Airmail weighing more than 8 ounces is dispatched [illegible] if it bears at least 50 percent of the full amount of air postage. If it bears less than 50 percent of the full amount of air postage, the piece is returned to sender. If prepaid postage is enough for surface transportation and the piece would be delayed by return, it is sent on as surface mail.

(c) No prepayment. If any mail, except business reply mail, by mistake reaches its destination without any prepayment, double the prepaid rates will be charged and collected on delivery.

§ 26.5 Additions and enclosures. There are no special restrictions with respect to written additions and enclosures in airmail. An airmail parcel weighing over 8 ounces, subsequently forwarded or returned from place of original address by surface mail would be subject to the restrictions as to additions and enclosures according to the class of mail involved.

§ 26.6 Marking, sealing, and depositing. (a) Place the word "Airmail," prominently on the address side of flat mail, and on the top, bottom, and sides of parcels. The return address of the sender must be shown on the address side of each air parcel mailed at zone rates of postage.

(b) Airmail may be sealed or left unsealed without affecting the air rate.

(c) Deposit airmail weighing 8 ounces or less at the post office or in a special airmail letter box or drop, if available, to insure fastest dispatch, or in any collection box. Airmail weighing over 8 ounces must be deposited at the post office, branch, or station, or handed to a rural or star route carrier.

EXCEPTION: Parcels weighing less than 10 pounds, measuring over 84 inches but not exceeding 100 inches in length and girth combined, are chargeable with a minimum rate equal to that for a 10 pound parcel for the zone to which addressed.

§ 26.2 Classification—(a) Description. Airmail is mail carried by air and by the fastest connecting surface carriers, and is given the most expeditious handling in dispatch and delivery. Airmail is not given special delivery to the addressee unless a special delivery fee is paid in addition to the airmail postage.

(b) Articles acceptable. Mail of all classes, except that which may be damaged by low temperatures or high altitudes, is accepted for airmail.

(c) Application of rates. (1) Postage is charged on airmail (except postal and post cards) according to weight and not according to class of mail. In computing postage for airmail weighing more than 8 ounces, the weight and the zone of address are used. (See § 26.1.)

(2) Air post cards must conform to the size and conditions prescribed for post cards. (Size § 21.2 (a) (7) of this chapter.)

(3) Each portion of a double air post card must be prepaid at the air card rate when originally mailed, except when the reply portion is prepared as a business reply air card. See § 21.2 (c) of this chapter for information regarding business reply mail.

(4) The eighth zone airmail rates apply to articles mailed between continental United States or its territories and possessions and the Canal Zone, overseas Army-Air Force and Fleet post offices, naval vessels addressed in care of Fleet post offices, and Islands of the Trust Territory in the Pacific, except that rates according to zone apply between the United States and Alaska, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

§ 26.3 Weight and size limits—(a) Weight. Airmail may weigh up to 70 pounds, except airmail (other than official mail) addressed to APO's and FPO's is limited to 2 pounds.

(b) Size. Airmail is limited to 100 inches in combined length and girth, except that airmail (other than official mail) addressed to APO's and FPO's is limited to 30 inches in combined length and girth. See § 25.3 (b) of this chapter for instructions on how to measure parcels.

§ 26.4 Payment of postage—(a) Method. Postage on airmail may be paid by adhesive postage stamps, stamped cards or envelopes, or metered or printed postage impressions. The use of airmail stamps is recommended.

(b) Insufficient prepayment. Airmail weighing 8 ounces or less, on which the rate for one ounce is prepaid, is dispatched to its destination, and any unpaid portion is collected on delivery. Airmail weighing more than 8 ounces is dispatched by air if it bears at least 50 percent of the full amount of air postage. If it bears less than 50 percent of the full amount of air postage, the piece is returned to sender. If prepaid postage is enough for surface transportation and the piece would be delayed by return, it is sent on as surface mail.

(c) No prepayment. If any mail, except business reply mail, by mistake reaches its destination without any prepayment, double the prepaid rates will be charged and collected on delivery.

§ 26.5 Additions and enclosures. There are no special restrictions with respect to written additions and enclosures in airmail. An airmail parcel weighing over 8 ounces, subsequently forwarded or returned from place of original address by surface mail would be subject to the restrictions as to additions and enclosures according to the class of mail involved.

§ 26.6 Marking, sealing, and depositing. (a) Place the word "Airmail," prominently on the address side of flat mail, and on the top, bottom, and sides of parcels. The return address of the sender must be shown on the address side of each air parcel mailed at zone rates of postage.

(b) Airmail may be sealed or left unsealed without affecting the air rate.

(c) Deposit airmail weighing 8 ounces or less at the post office or in a special airmail letter box or drop, if available, to insure fastest dispatch, or in any collection box. Airmail weighing over 8 ounces must be deposited at the post office, branch, or station, or handed to a rural or star route carrier.

Part 29—Mixed Classes

Sec.
29.1 Mail of a higher class enclosed with mail of a lower class.

Authority: §§ 29.1 and 29.2 issued under R. S. 161, 396, sec. 1, 62 Stat. 784; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369, 18 U. S. C. 1723.

§ 29.1 Mail of a higher class enclosed with mail of a lower class. When mail of a higher class is enclosed with mail of a lower class, the rate of postage on the entire piece or package is that of the higher class. Persons knowingly concealing or enclosing matter of a higher class in that of a lower class to avoid payment of the correct postage are liable to a fine of not more than $100. See § 29.2 for attachment of letters to parcels of second-, third-, and fourth-class mail.

§ 29.2 Combination mailings of two classes—(a) Letters attached to other mail. A letter or other mail of the first class may be placed in an envelope carrying postage at the first-class rate, or airmail rate in case of air parcels, and tied or otherwise securely attached to the address side of a parcel or package. The envelope must be addressed the same as the parcel. Combination envelopes or containers having separate portions for a letter and mail of another class may be used for mailing together two classes of mail.

(b) Postage. Postage on a parcel of second-, third-, or fourth-class mail must be prepaid at the appropriate rate for the class involved and placed in the upper right corner of the address space. Postage for the letter must be attached to the envelope or portion of container in which the letter is enclosed.

(c) Markings required. If a letter is a printed circular prepaid at the third-class rate the envelope must be left unsealed and endorsed "Third Class." Envelopes containing first-class mail attached to parcels of other classes may be marked "First Class" or "Letter Enclosed." In every case the address and return card should appear on the envelope and the parcel, except in the case of combination envelopes or containers having separate portions for a letter and mail of another class. The address of the letter may be considered as the address of the whole piece.

(d) Treatment. Combination mailing pieces are treated as second-, third-, or fourth-class mail as the case may be and are subject to the same conditions for forwarding or return as other second-, third-, or fourth-class mail. (See Parts 47 and 48 of this chapter.)

(e) Special services. Combination mailing pieces may be sent as special delivery or in the case of fourth-class parcels as special handling, and only one fee applicable to the parcel is required. If combination pieces are mailed by air, the envelope containing the letter must bear the airmail rate in addition to the postage on the parcel to which attached. Combination pieces may not be registered, but parcels with letters or mail of another class attached to the outside may be sent insured or c. o. d., the insurance to cover only the value of the parcel.

(iii) The name may be that of an individual, firm, corporation, institution, association, or society. It may include the name and title of an officer of the

PART 32—PRECANCELED POSTAGE

Sec.
32.1 Purpose of precanceling.
32.2 Use of precanceled postage stamps.
32.3 Precancel postage permit.
32.4 Mailings of percanceled postage mail.

AUTHORITY: §§ 32.1 to 32.4 issued under R. S. 161, 396, 3921, sec. 12, 39 Stat. 162; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369, 39 U. S. C. 365.

§ 32.1 Purpose of precanceling—(a) Definition. Precanceling means the cancellation of postage stamps, stamped envelopes, or postal cards in advance of mailing. Adhesive postage stamps may be precanceled only by the post office. (See § 32.3 (b).)

(b) Benefits. The use of precanceled postage reduces the time and costs of mail handling. Precanceled mail, sorted and tied in packages by the mailer, requires less processing time in the post office, and is therefore dispatched more quickly.

(2) Second-, third-, and fourth-class mail.

(b) Prohibited. You may not use precanceled postage stamps on matter mailed in boxes, cases, bags, or other containers designed to be reused for mailing purposes.

(c) Overprinting. If precanceled postage on a single piece is over 8 cents, the precanceled stamps must be overprinted or handstamped in black ink with your initials and the numerical abbreviations of the month and year of use; for example, A, B, Co. 9–54. Precanceled stamps overprinted in this way are acceptable on mail during the month shown, and through the 10th of the following month.

(d) Resale. Precanceled postage stamps may not be sold by permit holders.

§ 32.3 Precancel postage permit—(a) Application for permit. Submit a completed Precancel Application, Form 3623, to the post office where you will mail. A fee is not required.

(b) Issuance of permit. When your application is approved by the postmaster, you will receive a Precancel Permit, Form 3620. If the permit covers the privilege of precanceling stamped envelopes or postal cards with your own cancellation mark, it must contain a statement to that effect. Your canceling mark must include the name of the post office and State; your permit number; and, for first-class mail only, the date of mailing. (See illustration below.) A specimen must be furnished the post office.

(c) Revocation. (1) Your permit may be revoked if used in operating any scheme or enterprise of an unlawful character, or for the purpose of purchasing or acquiring stamps for other than mailing purposes, or for nonuse during any 12-month period, or for any noncompliance with the instructions on the Permit, Form 3620.

(2) The permit holder will be notified by the postmaster at the post office that issued the permit that it is to be canceled, and the reasons for cancellation. The permit holder will be allowed 10 days within which to file a written statement why the permit should not be revoked. Where no answer is filed, the postmaster will cancel the permit. If an answer is filed, decision will be made by the Assistant Postmaster General, Bureau of Post Office Operations, whether the permit shall be continued in effect. Notice of decision will be given the permit holder through the postmaster.

§ 32.4 Mailings of precanceled postage mail. Precanceled mail must be mailed at the post office where the stamps were purchased. Any number of pieces may be mailed at one time, regardless of whether they are identical, except for third-class bulk mailings. (See Parts 16 and 24 of this chapter.)

PART 33—METERED POSTAGE

Sec.
33.1 Postage meter.
33.2 Meter permit.
33.3 Use of meter.
33.4 Metered postage impressions.
33.5 Reply postage.
33.6 Mailings.

AUTHORITY: §§ 33.1 to 33.6 issued under R. S. 161, 396, sec. 5, 41 Stat. 583 as amended; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369, 39 U. S. C. 273, 291a.

§ 33.1 Postage meter—(a) Description. A postage meter is a privately manufactured mechanism for printing and recording postage. It can be set for a given number of impressions or a given amount of postage. It automatically locks when the set number or amount has been used.

(b) Approval. A manufacturer must get each postage-meter model approved by the Post Office Department before he may lease it to mailers. Meters manufactured by the following concerns have been approved:

(1) Commercial Controls Corp., Rochester, N. Y.

(2) International Postal Supply Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.

(3) National Cash Register Co., Dayton, Ohio.

(4) Pitney-Bowes, Inc., Stanford, Conn.

(c) Control. The manufacturer of a meter must maintain control of it and be responsible for servicing and maintaining it. The keys for the meter recording mechanism must be deposited with and remain in the hands of the postmaster.

§ 33.2 Meter permit—(a) Application. You may obtain a Meter Permit Form 3601–A, by submitting an Application, Form 3612, to the post office where you will mail. No fee is charged. The application must specify the manufacturer and model number of the meter, and be accompanied by a specimen metered postage impression. When the Application is approved the postmaster will issue a permit.

(b) Revocation. The permit may be revoked if used in operating any scheme or enterprise of an unlawful character, for nonuse during any consecutive 12 months, or for any noncompliance with instructions on the Meter Permit, Form 3601–A. The method of revoking the permit is described in § 32.3 (c) of this chapter.

§ 33.3 Use of meter—(a) Sealing of meter. You may not have custody of any postage meter until it has been set and sealed at the post office that issued the permit. A booklet Form 3602–A is issued at the time of initial setting.

(b) Payment of postage. You must bring the meter, and booklet Form 3602–A, to the main post office or designated station or branch, for settings and payment of postage. Postage must be paid at the time of setting. The postmaster will issue a Meter Setting Receipt, Form 3603–A. If a meter is not reset within a 3 month period, it must be presented at the post office, station or branch which made the last setting, with Form 3602–A showing daily register readings, for examination.

(c) Restricted use. The meter must remain in the custody of the permit holder. Tampering with or misuse of the meter is punishable by law.

(d) Faulty mechanism. If the printing and recording mechanism is faulty in any way, do not use the meter but take it promptly to the post office, branch, or station where it is regularly set for checking out of service.

(e) Discontinuance. When you discontinue use of a postage meter, take it to the post office with booklet Form 3602–A. Unused postage in the meter may be transferred to another meter used by yourself and registered at the same post office, or the postmaster may refund the amount, in accordance with provisions on the Permit form. The booklet Form 3602–A is returned to you and should be kept on file for at least 1 year from the date of final entry. Application for refund should be made on Form 3533 or on a special form furnished by the meter manufacturer.

(f) Refunds for faulty impressions. When complete and legible meter impressions cannot be used because of misprints, spoiled envelopes or cards, and the like, you may apply to the postmaster for refund of postage up to 90 percent of postage value. (See § 37.2 of this chapter.)

§ 33.4 Metered postage impressions—(a) Legibility. Metered postage impressions must be legible and not overlap. Illegible or overlapping impressions will not be counted in determining postage paid.

(b) Impressions on tape. When impressions are printed on tape, only tape approved by the Post Office Department may be used.

(c) Position. Impressions must be printed or stuck in the upper right corner of the mail cover, address label, or tag.

(d) Content. Metered postage impressions must show city, State, meter number, and amount of postage for all classes of mail. When it is necessary to print multidenomination impressions on more than one label or sticker, the circle showing the post office and date must appear on each label or sticker.

(e) Date of mailing. Metered postage impressions must show the date of mailing on first-class mail, special delivery, or airmail; on all mail sent registered, insured, or c. o. d.; and when printed on separate labels or stickers, used on first-class mail. The month and year must be shown on labels and stickers used on second-, third-, and fourth-class mail, but the day may be omitted. When labels or stickers are not used, the date should not be shown in metered postage impressions on second-, third-, or fourth-class mail.

(f) Hour of mailing. The hour of mailing may be shown only on first-class, air, or special delivery mail, and then only when it is mailed in time to be dispatched at the hour shown.

(g) Additions. Slogans may be printed simultaneously with metered postage impressions, provided the plates are obtained from authorized manufacturers of the meters. Slogans must not be in the form of a circle resembling a postmark or other postal markings ("Insured", "special", etc.), must not be objectionable or misleading, and must not be so large as to be confused with the metered postage impression, address, or return address.

§ 33.5 Reply postage. Metered postage impressions may be used to prepay reply or return postage under the following conditions:

(a) Impressions must be made directly on the envelope or card that bears the printed return address of the permit holder.

(b) The words "No postage stamp necessary—postage has been prepaid by --------" must be printed immediately above the return address.

(c) Reply or return mail prepaid by metered postage impressions will be delivered only to the printed address shown on the return card. If printed address is altered, the mail will be held for postage.

§ 33.6 Mailings—(a) Where to mail. Metered mail must be mailed from the post office shown in the meter postmark. Second-class metered mail must be mailed in quantities of not less than 300 pieces. Other classes may be mailed in any quantity. (See Part 16 of this chapter for mailing of third-class bulk mail.) You may deposit first-class metered mail in street or building receptacles, if you tie it in bundles so that it will not get mixed with other mail. Deposit all other at the post office. Deposit metered mail on the same day it is metered if the metered postage impressions include dates. You must separate, face, and tie mail into bundles by class of mail, unless packages are too irregular.

(b) Record of meter register readings. Record daily on Form 3602–A the figures appearing in the ascending and descending registers of the meter. If the sum of the two figures does not equal the total entered at the last setting the meter should be taken promptly to the post office, station or branch where it was set for examination.

AUTHORITY: §§ 34.1 to 34.7 issued under R. S. 161, 396, 5, 41 Stat. 583 as amended; 47 Stat. 647; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369, 39 U. S. C. 273, 273a.

§ 34.1 Permit—(a) Application. If you wish to use printed postage impressions and pay postage in cash at the time of mailing, obtain a Permit, Form 3601, by submitting Application, Form 3612, with a fee of $10, to the post office where you will mail. The postmaster will give you a receipt for the fee on Form 3603. No other fee for use of printed postage impressions has to be paid so long as the permit is active.

(b) Revocation. The permit may be revoked if used in operating any scheme or enterprise of an unlawful character, for nonuse during any consecutive 12 months, or for any noncompliance with instructions on Nonmetered Permit, Form 3601. The method of revoking permit is described in § 32.3 (c) of this chapter.

§ 34.2 Form of printed postage impressions. The printed postage impression must be made by printing press, lithography, mimeograph, mutigraph, addressograph, or similar device and must not be handstamped or in facsimile of typewriting. The type, size, and style of impression must conform with those illustrated below. The impression must be printed in a color that contrasts sufficiently with the paper to make the impression readable, and must be placed in the upper right corner of the address side of each piece.

§ 34.3 Content of printed postage impression. Printed postage impressions must show:

(a) For first-class mail. City and State; date (hour may be included with date if mailing is made in time to be dispatched at that hour); the words "First-Class Mail" and "Paid" with the amount of postage; and the permit number.

(b) For second-, third-, and fourth-class mail. Same as first-class, except the date and the words "First-Class Mail" are omitted. The amount of postage may be omitted on matter mailed at bulk third-class rates.

§ 34.4 Additions. Any additions should not be placed so as to confuse or obstruct the printed postage impression, and must conform with the requirements for the class of mail that bears the additions.

§ 34.5 Mailings with printed postage impressions—(a) Minimum quantities. Except as stated in paragraph (b) of this section, minimum quantities required to be mailed at one time are as follows:

(1) First-class mail. 300 pieces of identical weight.

(2) Second- and third-class mail. 300 pieces of identical matter, except 20 pounds or 200 pieces of identical third-class bulk mail (see Parts 16 and 24 of this chapter).

(3) Fourth-class mail. 250 pieces of identical matter.

(b) Exceptions to minimum quantities. When any mailing consists of less than the required minimum, enter an explanation on the Mailing Statement, Form 3602. Exceptions may be made for the following reasons only:

(1) First-class mail. Occasional exception for a mailer whose total daily mailings are not much more than 300 but who, to cooperate with the post office, presents a portion of his mailings early in the day.

(2) All classes of mail. When a large mailing extends over two or more consecutive days and the last deposit, made to complete the mailing, is less than the minimum.

(c) Preparation for mailing. All classes of mail must be faced. You must separate second-, third- (nonbulk), and fourth-class by cities and States according to postmaster's instructions. You must separate first- and fourth-class according to postage paid on each piece; that is: put pieces subject to 3 cents each in one lot, those subject to 6 cents each in another lot, etc. (See Part 16 of this chapter for mailing of third-class bulk mail.)

(d) Place of mailing. Deposit mail at the post office that issued the permit, or at a deposit point designated by the postmaster.

(e) Mailing statement. Prepare and sign a Mailing Statement, Form 3602, for each mailing. The statement must be prepared by typewriter, ink, or indelible pencil to show your address, permit number, class of mail, number of pieces in the mailing, and weight of single piece. For third-class bulk mailings, additional information required by the Mailing Statement must be shown.

(f) Payment of postage. You must pay for each mailing when it is presented at the post office, or make an advance deposit of enough to cover more than one mailing. When the deposit becomes less than enough to pay for an entire mailing, an additional amount must be deposited before any mailings are made. The postmaster will give you a receipt for each payment, on Form 3539 for second-class mail, and on Form 3603 for other classes, Credit for postage is not allowed. Postage on a mailing must be paid by only one method; that is, postage may not be paid partly in money and partly by postage stamps.

§ 34.6 Additional services. Mail with printed postage impressions may be registered, or sent as insured or c. o. d. mail.

§ 34.7 Improper use of printed postage impressions. Mail bearing printed postage impressions must not be distributed otherwise than through the mails, and will not be accepted at any post office except that shown in the impression. Matter bearing printed postage impressions must not be used as enclosures.

PART 35—PHILATELY

Sec.
35.1 The Philatelic Agency.
35.2 New stamp issues.
35.3 Airmail first-flight covers.
35.4 Stamp exhibits.

AUTHORITY: §§ 35.1 to 35.5 issued under R. S. 161, 396; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369.

§ 35.1 The Philatelic Agency—(a) Establishment and purpose. The Philatelic Agency was established on November 25, 1921, to make available to stamp collectors United States postage stamps of selected quality. Stamps sold by the Agency are the best available, having been selected for good centering, and freedom from tears and other flaws.

(b) Stamps available. In addition to stamps of the ordinary series, the Agency has for sale commemorative, airmail, special delivery, special handling, postage-due, and Migratory-Bird Hunting stamps. To get a list of items available for sale, send a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request to the Philatelic Agency, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C. The list is revised when a new stamp is announced or an old one withdrawn.

(c) Order for stamps. All stamps are for sale at face value, plus return postage at the first-class rate. Registration of stamp shipments is recommended but not required. Address your order to the Philatelic Agency.

(d) Remittance. Remittance should be by money order or certified check. Postage stamps, personal checks and foreign or mutilated money are not acceptable. If you send cash, register your letter.

§ 35.2 New stamp issues—(a) Notification. Issuance of new stamps is announced by notices displayed in the lobbies of post offices, and through the press and philatelic periodicals.

(b) First-day sale. A post office selected because of some historical connection with the person or event commemorated is authorized to have exclusive sale of a new stamp on its first day of sale. All other post offices may sell the stamp the following day.

(c) First-day covers. (1) First-day covers are envelopes bearing a new stamp cancelled on its first day of sale with a special die reading "First Day of Issue." If you want first-day cancellations of a new stamp, send addressed envelopes to the postmaster in the city where the new stamp is to be placed on sale, with remittance to cover the cost of stamps (see § 35.1 (d)).

(2) Cover envelopes should be of ordinary letter size and each must be properly addressed. Place an enclosure of medium weight in each envelope, and either turn in the flap or seal it. Endorse the envelope, enclosing the covers to the postmaster, "First-Day Covers." Put a pencil notation in the upper right corner of each cover to show the number of postage stamps to be stuck there.

(3) With orders for first-day covers, do not include requests for uncanceled stamps.

§ 35.3 Airmail first-flight covers—(a) Cachets authorized. Official cachets are authorized when airmail service is inaugurated on a new airmail route, segment of a new route, or at a new stop point on an existing route. Notice of the flight is published as far in advance of the inaugural date as practicable.

(b) How to get first-flight cachets. Address covers to receive first-flight cachets to the postmaster at the office where service is to be inaugurated, prepaid at the airmail rate. Include a letter requesting the postmaster to hold the covers for the first flight and apply the cachet. Put an enclosure of medium weight in each envelope to obtain a better impression and leave a space approximately 2½ by 2½ inches on the left of the address side for the cachet. After cachets have been applied, covers will be flown to a designated office for backstamping and then forwarded to their destinations.

(c) Restrictions. Double postal cards and double post cards intended for return reply purposes are not acceptable as first-flight covers. No provision is made for point-to-point covers.

§ 35.4 Stamp exhibits—(a) Loan exhibits. The Post Office Department has a set of valuable stamp exhibit frames which are available for display at stamp exhibitions and conventions. These are sent upon request to national and international exhibits as well as to the conventions of the larger stamp societies. Requests should be addressed to the Division of Philately, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C.

(b) Philatelic exhibit. The Philatelic Agency maintains a comprehensive exhibit of United States postage stamps, containing die proofs of all domestic stamps since 1847. There are also approximately 40,000 stamps of other countries in this exhibit, from every postal administration in the world. Equipment used in the production of postage stamps, such as a plate and transfer roll, is shown to illustrate methods of manufacture. Philatelic publications are on file for the benefit of students and collectors.

§ 35.5 Stamp booklet. The Post Office Department publishes a booklet entitled "Postage Stamps of the United States," containing reproductions and information of interest to collectors on all United States stamps issued from 1847 to the latest revision date. The booklet, which is revised from time to time, may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. The price of the current edition is 65 cents a copy.

§ 36.1 Postmarking dies for advertising purposes—(a) Description. Advertising cancellations are applied to stamped mail by use of special dies in postal canceling machines. The cancellation is placed to the right of the postmark circle and is used to deface the postage stamp or stamps. See § 35.2 (c) of this chapter for first-day cover cancellations.

(b) Use. These special dies are used in place of regular canceling dies for canceling postage stamps on letter mail.

§ 36.2 Conditions. (a) The event to be advertised must:

(1) Be for some national purpose for which Congress has made an appropriation, or

(2) Be of general public interest and importance, and

(3) Endure for a definite period of time, and

If approved, arrangements will be made by the Department for manufacture of the die hub and the postmaster instructed as to its use. The manufacturer will bill the sponsor direct for cost of the die hub. Remittance in settlement must be sent to the manufacturer and not to the Department. The special die hub becomes the property of the Post Office Department and shall not leave the custody of the service.

§ 36.5 Revocation. Authorization to use any special cancellation for advertising will be revoked in the event it is necessary to use special postmarking dies for purposes of the Government.

PART 37—POSTAGE PREPAYMENT AND REFUNDS

§ 37.2 Refunds—(a) Conditions that justify refund. When postage or special service fees have been paid on mail for which no service is rendered, or collected in excess of the lawful rate, a refund may be made.

(b) Application. A written application should be submitted to the postmaster together with the envelope or wrapper, or the portion thereof having names and addresses of sender and addressee, canceled postage and postal markings, or other evidence of payment of the amount of postage and fees for which refund is desired. At first-class post offices the application should be made on Form 3533.

(c) Meters. The postage value of unused units set in a postage meter surrendered to the post office to be checked out of service may be refunded or, if desired, an equivalent amount will be transferred to another meter used by the same permit holder. If the meter is withdrawn from service because of faulty mechanical operation, a postage adjustment or refund will be withheld pending report of the meter manufacturer of the cause of faulty operation. If the meter is damaged by fire, a refund or transfer of postage will be made only if the registers are legible, or can be reconstructed by the meter manufacturer.

(d) Metered postage impressions. Unused metered postage impressions that are complete and legible, accompanied by an application in duplicate, within 1 year from the dates appearing in the impressions, will be considered for refund of 90 percent of their postage value. Such unused impressions may include those on labels or stickers that have not been stuck to wrappers, but no refund will be made for impressions on stickers that do not show the name of the post office and the date. See Part 33 of this chapter regarding complete and legible metered postage impressions.

(h) Airmail. A refund of the difference between the airmail rate and the appropriate surface mail rate for the class of matter involved may be refunded when an airmail article fails to receive air transportation due to fault of the postal service.

(i) Special services. (1) Special delivery and special handling fees may be refunded when the article fails to receive the special service for which the fee has been paid.

(2) Registered, insured, and c. o. d. fees are not refundable after the mail has been accepted by the post office even though the article is subsequently withdrawn from the mailing post office.

(3) The fees paid for restricted delivery of registered, insured, or c. o. d. mail, and the fee paid for return receipt on registered or insured mail, may be refunded when failure to render service is the fault of the Postal Service. (See § 51.4 (e) of this chapter.)

(1) Registry service. First-class post offices, and stations and branches of first-class offices, maintain window service for the registration of mail and the delivery of registered mail until 6 p. m. Offices other than first-class maintain such service during the hours observed by the principal business houses.

(2) Money-order service. First-class offices maintain window service for the transaction of money-order business from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; second-class offices from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.; and Postmasters will not disclose the names of box holders to any person outside the Postal Service.

(b) How to rent a box. Submit a Post Office Box Application, Form 1092½, to the postmaster with the names of two references. A Reference Verification, Form 1092, will be sent to each reference. When the application is approved by the postmaster, a box will be assigned.

(2) Annually. When a box is rented on an annual basis, the rent must be paid on a pro rata basis for the remaining days in the quarter in which it is first rented, and for the remaining full quarters within the fiscal year ending June 30. Thereafter, the rent may be paid annually before July 1 of each year.

(e) Use of box—(1) Individuals. An individual renting a box may have placed in it:

(4) Public institutions. Mail addressed to inmates of a public institution may be deposited in the box rented by it, if consistent with its rules.

(5) Associations. An association or society may rent a box, but it may not be used for individual members, other than officers addressed by their official titles.

(6) Hotel or boarding house. Mail addressed to guests or transient broadders at a hotel or boarding house should be placed in the box assigned to it or its proprietor.

(7) Mail addressed to box number. Mail addressed only to a box number may be delivered to the box holder as long as no improper or unlawful business is conducted in this manner.

(f) Keys and key deposits. A deposit of 22 cents is required for each key furnished. Renters of lock boxes are not permitted to use any keys except those regularly issued through the post office, and must return all keys when a box is surrendered.

(g) Restrictions—(1) Not rented for improper purposes. A box will not be rented to anyone who the postmaster has good reason to believe will use it for the purpose of deception, for immoral or improper purposes, or for the conduct of a fraudulent or lottery business.

(2) Not rerented to persons who misuse. A box will not be rerented to anyone who does not take proper care of it, or who disregards the rules concerning its use.

(b) Where carrier deliveries are provided. General-delivery service is provided at offices having carrier-delivery service for transients and patrons who are not permanently located. Persons intending to remain for 30 days or more in a city having carrier service should file their names and street addresses at the post office so that their mail may be delivered by carrier unless lock-box service is desired. Persons residing in cities having carrier-delivery service may for good and sufficient reasons satisfactory to the postmaster receive their mail at general-delivery windows.

§ 41.4 Unauthorized use of post office premises. Advertisements, circulars, or notices relating to any private business, of a political character, or concerning any election, shall not be placed on any portion of post office premises.

PART 42—WHO MAY CARRY LETTERS

Sec.
42.1 Postal service a monopoly.
42.2 What are letters.
42.3 Permissible carriage of letters.

AUTHORITY: §§ 42.1 to 42.3 issued under R. S. 161, 396, 3980, 3989, 3990, 3991, 3993, 4026 as amended, 62 Stat. 776, 777, 5 U. S. C. 22, 369, 18 U. S. C. 1694, 1695, 1696, 1697, 39 U. S. C. 495, 497, 498, 499, 500, 700.

§ 42.1 Postal service a monopoly. The Post Office Department has a monopoly over the transportation of letters for others over post routes. This monopoly was created prior to the adoption of the Constitution and has existed, with varying provisions, continuously from that time to the present. This subchapter defines the types of matters which constitute letters and hence which are subject to the monopoly. It sets forth the types of transportation covered under the monopoly. It also prescribes exceptions to the monopoly.

§ 42.2 What are letters—(a) Definition of letters. (1) A letter is generally defined as a message in writing and may be written in any language, or in a code. It need not be in handwriting but may be written by a system of checking from a list of printed statements or punching holes or by point print or in raised characters used by the blind.

(2) For purposes of the exercise of the postal monopoly, the term letters may embrace circulars inasmuch as the term circular is defined to be a printed letter which is being sent to several persons in identical terms.

(3) A writing is not a letter unless addressed to or intended for some particular person or concern.

(4) In addition to communications of a purely personal nature, the word letter includes any matter conveying live, current information between the sender and the addressee. If the sender expects or intends the addressee to act, rely or refrain from acting on the information, the information is live and current.

(5) A letter may be in a sealed envelope, in an unsealed envelope or not in an envelope at all.

(6) Factors of weight and size do not exempt letters from being subject to the Postal monopoly.

(7) A telegraphic message is not a letter.

(b) Rulings on letters. The examples set forth in this subchapter do not comprise every type of matter which would fall either within or without the scope of letters covered by the Postal monopoly. The sender or carrier of matter who has any doubt as to whether such matter is or is not a letter may obtain, upon request, a specific ruling from the Solicitor of the Post Office Department.

(c) Examples of letters—(1) Orders. Orders for merchandise to be filled by the recipient are letters. Orders are also letters when forwarded by a salesman or a store to the main office to be filled. Orders include requisitions from one department of a business house on another department, when carried over post routes.

(2) Bills and statements of account. Bills and statements of account are letters when sent by business concerns or persons selling goods or rendering service to their customers. This includes store accounts, premium notices, water bills, bank statements and receipts and receipted statements of account when sent from a creditor to the debtor.

(3) Reports. Reports are letters when sent from the person, office or firm making the report to the person, office, firm or governmental agency to whom the report is made. Examples are:

Income or other tax returns.
Proofs of loss filed by an insured under an insurance policy.
Monthly and weekly reports of business transactions made to a central office.
Reports of insurance agents to their companies' home offices.

(4) Applications. An application transmitted from the applicant to the person or governmental agency to whom it is made is generally a letter. Examples are:

Application for driver licenses and automobile licenses and other permits.
Applications for loans.
Contest entries.

(5) Interoffice communications. Any written or printed matter sent between offices of a concern, over post routes, which conveys to the addressee office live, current information upon which the latter is expected to act, rely or refrain from acting, constitutes a letter. The following are examples of such letters:

Requisitions which are orders from one department to another department within the same organization.

All types of matter sent from a branch store to the main office to supply information upon which charges and credits to the branch store or office are made or to verify the accuracy of items in the accounts between the main office and branch office or store.

Retail price lists, catalogs, bulletins and notices sent to advise a store or branch office of the price the latter should charge its customers or to advise the latter of discounts, market quotations, and the like.

(6) Checks and drafts. Bank checks are letters if they show upon their face or by stubs attached to them or by statement sheets accompanying them any information in explanation of such checks.

(d) Examples of matter not letters—(1) Commercial papers. Commercial papers are not classed as letters since they are valued as evidence of rights of the holder rather than for any information they may carry when shipped from one person to another. Such commercial papers include contracts, stock certificates, promissory notes, bonds and other negotiable securities, insurance policies, title policies, abstracts of title, mortgages, deeds, leases and articles of incorporation.

(2) Legal papers and documents. Legal papers and documents are not letters. This class of matter is intended for use in law suits or formal quasijudicial proceedings, orders of court and the like.

(3) Official records. Examples of official records which are not letters are: birth and death certificates, election ballots, and tally sheets, lists of registration of voters and certificates to practice certain professions.

(4) Drawings, etc. A picture or other visual representation of a physical thing, actual or projected, would not be a letter. Examples are drawings, blueprints, maps and plat surveys.

(5) Advertising and directory materials. Catalogs are not letters except as stated in paragraph (c) (5) of this section. Directories and unaddressed advertising handbills or circulars are not letters.

(6) Interoffice communications. Examples of interoffice communications which are not letters are:

Carbon copy of a letter previously sent to the same address if it contains no information not in the original.

Matters sent for filing and storage only and not intended for the recipient's own use.

Matters sent for auditing to determine whether charges and credits are correct, when the results of the audit are not used to adjust accounts within the organization.

Data sent to a central office for preparation of customers bills if the data is returned to the sender and no part of the information is retained by the central office.

(7) Checks and drafts. Bank checks in their ordinary form containing only the names of the drawer, payee, bank upon which drawn, amount of money and date of issue are not letters. An exception to this is stated in paragraph (c) (6) of this section. Checks, notes and drafts sent by banks to other banks for collection or payment are not letters. Canceled checks and drafts may be returned to the drawer without being classed as letters.

(8) Matters sent for auditing or preparation of bills. Freight bills, invoices, paid bills, sales slips, receipts, records of receipts and disbursements and the like are forwarded for the sole purpose of having them audited internally on behalf of the sender are not letters. Such matter becomes letters when the person or office which receives them takes any corrective action or adjusts accounts between the sender and addressee, or otherwise makes use either of the material forwarded or the results of the audit. This same rule applies to material sent to a central office for the sole purpose of preparing customers statements, unless other use is made or action taken by that central office. The subsequent mailing of the bills to the customers by the central office would not cause the working matter sent to that office to be considered letters. Similarly, matter forwarded for the performance of purely mechanical work such as photostating or mathematical computation would not constitute letters.

(9) Old correspondence and other matters sent for filing, storage, or destruction. Old correspondence, records and any other type of matter sent from one office to another for filing, storage or destruction are not letters since there is no purpose of communicating any intelligence to the addressee. The matter so sent will be considered as a letter if it is sent for the purpose of establishing a file from which the addressee may at some time take information on which it will then act, rely or refrain from acting.

(10) Examination papers. Examination papers forwarded for scoring to a central scoring agency are not regarded as letters provided the scoring agency does not make use of the scores or other information derived from the papers. Examination papers with scores marked on them would normally be considered letters when returned to the school or person who previously sent them for scoring or when forwarded to a third person who may be expected to take action based on the results of the examination. Any subsequent use of the examination papers, after the scoring by the central agency, places them in the category of letters.

(11) Manuscript and news items. Manuscript intended for publication when not accompanied by any matter in the nature of personal correspondence is not a letter. Mere news matter prepared by press correspondents for the columns of their publications are not letters. News matter to be used for the purpose of radio broadcasting is not a letter.

§ 42.3 Permissible carriage of letters—(a) Exemptions from postal monopoly. Under certain conditions, letters may be carried outside the postal system without payment of U. S. postage.

(b) Current business of carrier. (1) Letters which relate to the current business of a carrier do not come under the Postal monopoly. These are letters written by or addressed to officers or employees of the carrier, in their official capacities, on the business of the carrier.

(2) Any business of the carrier is deemed to be its current business when it comes up in such a way as to call for a current communication.

(3) This exemption applies only where the employees of the carrier are used to carry their employers letters between offices but the use of an independent contractor who makes regular trips between any two points on a post route is not permissible.

(4) The different units of a railroad system or other system of carriers, as long as they are separate, independent operating units are, third parties to each other and consequently are not considered a single carrier for the purpose of this exemption.

(c) Cargo documents. (1) A carrier may transport letters which relate exclusively to some part of the cargo of the same conveyance or to some article carried at the same time by the same conveyance. This exemption permits a carrier to convey, without the payment of postage, letters such as invoices, bills of lading, shippers bills, way bills, freight bills, and the like, when they accompany shipments to which they exclusively relate.

(2) Receipts evidencing delivery of goods by a carrier are not letters.

(3) Live, current information in a letter, extraneous to the shipment it accompanies, takes it out of the exemption for letters which relate to some article carried at the same time.

(d) Carriage without compensation. Letters may be transmitted by private hands without compensation. A person or firm engaged in the transportation of goods or persons for hire cannot be considered "private hands without compensation." The phrase just quoted denotes transportation of a letter which does not take place in the course of business of the person or firm carrying the letter.

(e) Special messengers. (1) A special messenger may be employed, for the particular occasion only, to transmit letters when not more than 25 letters are involved. A special messenger is one who at the request of either the sender or the addressee of the letter, picks it up from the sender's home or place of business and carries it to the addressee's home or place of business.

(2) If, however, letters are picked up by one messenger and taken to a central office for delivery by another, neither the messenger picking up the letter nor the messenger delivering it to the addressee could then be considered a special messenger.

(3) This exemption as to the use of special messengers is restricted to isolated instances in which there is no regularity in use by the sender or addressee of the particular messenger or the organization by which he is employed.

(4) A messenger or a carrier operating regularly between fixed points is not a special messenger.

(f) Where postage is paid. (1) Letters may be carried by an individual, express company, or any other person outside the mails to any point within or without the United States provided the conditions specified in this section are followed.

(2) Each letter carried outside the mails must be placed in a sealed envelope bearing the appropriate amount of postage. The amount of postage required must be the same as would have been required had the letter been sent through the mails at the first-class rate or by air if so carried. The amount of postage need not include registry or insurance fees even if the letter is privately insured. If postage is in the form of stamps, they must be canceled with ink by the sender. The sender must write the date of the letter on the envelope, or the person carrying it must write on the envelope the date he received the letter. The name and address of the person for whom the letter is intended must be written on the envelope.

(3) Letters which the sender is entitled to send through the mails without a charge for postage may be sent in a similar manner outside the mails without the payment of postage. This would apply in the case of certain official Government mail and mail of certain diplomatic and consular officers of other nations. If the free mailing privilege does not extend to airmail then such letters must bear the appropriate air mail postage, if sent by air express.
